1017. This is a prophecy from the Holy Prophet that within a few years the Muslims would conquer vast territories, and there would be standing armies who would be sent for war in cases of emergency. They would seek for remuneration and salary for themselves. If they received salary, they would not be martyrs as they would not receive the rewards of a martyr. See how that prophecy have been literally fulfilled, and how self-less were the martyrs in days of yore. The next hadis corroborates this view. This shows that everybody in Islam should be soldiers on a voluntary basis in order to have rewards of a martyr.

54. Mu'az reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Battle is of two kinds. As for (the battle of) one who seeks the pleasure of Allah, obeys the commander, spends the most valuable property, has easy dealings with cosharer and avoids dispute, everything, his sleep and his wakefulness, is a reward. As for one who fights for heroism, vanity and show and disobeys the commander and spreads dissension in the earth, he will surely not come back with full hand. 1018

In order therefore to get full rewards of martyrdom, intention must be pure and disinterested attended with no personal name and gain.

1027 Instrmuents of war

For want of scientific inventions in early days, instruments of war were of crude forms. Duels or hand to hand fights were then the common things attended with boastings, heroism and rash dashings. The most important instruments of war at that time were arrows, swords, lances, shields, horses, mules and camels. There were coats of mails to protect the soldiers from attacks. The Arabs are skilled in the art of archery, and the Holy Prophet gave special importance to shootings in actual fightings. From that it is seen that guns, machine-guns etc. are also allowed in war. Horse-riding was recommended by the Holy Prophet. Swords were used either on horse back or on foot. Hazrat Ali had a famous sword named 'Zul-fiqer'. This sword acquired a special fame in Islam as it helped the propagation of Islam and saved it many times from utter crush. Music was not in vogue in war in general form at the time of the Prophet, but the latter Caliphs freely used it to encourage the soldiers in actual fighting. Regarding standards of war, the Holy Prophet attached special significance. He always used standards which were the symbols of unity of Allah and Brotherhood of the Faithful. In the battle of Badr, the Holy Prophet had three banners—one white and two black. Sometimes, a banner marked with the cresent was used as it is a symbol of prosperity in view of the fact that it grows and grows till it attains full light.

This is called Jalab. Janab is entirely contrary. The payer goes to a distant place and informs the Collector to go there and take Zakat. Both these things have been prohibited as they cause hardship both to the Collector as well as to the payer. Each must be present in his own house, so that collection may be feciliated. Janab is used also in horse races as discussed in note 689.

over horse; that is, they cannot destroy their good breed. It is agreed that except the first, everything is now common among Muslims.

1036. This proves that the modern instruments of war which are more powerful should be resorted to in Jihad. The Muslims should not stick only to the old weapons of war which are less powerful. The Holy Prophet himself laid such instructions for the guidance of his followers coming next to him.

1037. Actual fight

In case of actual fight, the most important rule is that attack shall be made when actually attacked. In other words, no Muslim shall be aggressive, but he should be fighting for only defence. (103, 110). This completely shatters the allegations that Islamic Jihads are aggressive. The Holy Prophet directed strict observance of international laws in the actual battle field. No woman and children are to be killed—23:11. No uproar shall be made in fight —23:108. There should be secret signal of attack to fellow soldiers which shall be unintelligible to enemies—23:105. The soldiers shall undergo training for actual fight in the battle-field—23:104. Arrays of flanks and lines should be formed—23:104. There shall be a banner of war which should be in charge of a man—23:106. Fight should begin after early morning prayer with rest at midday and at afternoon-prayer—23:119. In actual fighting, prayer must be performed in the manner indicated in note 1989. If possible, fighting should be undertaken after the afternoon prayer—23:189. Battle is a stratagem. Therefore, no policy should be made public before the actual warfare. There is however a great deal of difference among the jurists whether deception may lawfully be practised or not —23:101, 100. Women should accompany the soldiers for nursing the wounded and dressing the killed.

OTHER CONTENTS. Battle of Tabuk was fought in intense heat—23.100 ; fight against Banu Mustaliq—23.102 ; date-garden of Banu Nazir burnt—23:115 ; fighting in Khaiber—23:117

The Holy Prophet fought it in intense heat and made a very long march through deserts and enormous enemies. Then he suddenly came upon the Muslims. He commanded them to make martial preparations of their arms and then informed them the purpose he had in view. —Bukhari.

1038. Tauriah is to publish a thing quite different from the real thing which one wishes to undertake. This is the policy in war as war is a deception The battle of Tabuk was the last battle of the Prophet that occurred in 9A.H. with the Roman Empire. The Prophet returned safe without any fight. Tabuk is a place, 18 stations off from Medina towards the north.

1039. War is a deception. In other words, it is unanimously lawful to practise all sorts of tricks in war—sometimes retreating to give assurance to the other party that those retreating are fearful. It does not however encourage breach of contracts and treaties and breach of securities and trusts. It also means that nobody in war can be sure of success. It is a deception in as much as glory and pride of a king vanishes like lightning in a war.

1046. Humanitarian Laws.

It is Islam which framed positive humanitarian rules in warfares and thereby minimised their horrors. Now-a-days, conquest of a country is always attended with murder, pillage, looting, debauchery and general massacre, but the Prophet issued strict orders. He strictly enjoined the commanders of armies not to kill women, children, oldmen and the diseased, not to cut down trees that are fruit-bearing, nor animals whose flesh is eaten, not to demolish churches synagogues, cloisters and mosques in which Allah's names are much remembered, not to treat the captives of war cruelly but to feed them and clothe them as the captors eat and clothe themselves, not to mutilate or disfigure the corpses of the fallen and the dead, to observe treaties and accept terms of peace and to sheath the sword when Islam is accepted or Jizya is offered. Mr. Ameer Ali quotes in the Spirit of Islam (p. 81): The following instructions were given to the troops despatched against the Byzantines by the Holy Prophet: 'In avenging the injuries inflicted upon us, molest not the harmless inmates of domestic seclusion, spare the weakness of the female sex; injure not the infant at the breast or those who are ill in bed. Abstain from demolishing the dwellings of the unresisting inhabitants, destroy not the means of their subsistence, nor their fruit trees, and touch not the palm.

121. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah forbade to kill women and children. —Agreed.

122. Sa'b-b-Jasamah reported that the Messenger of Allah was asked about the inmates of the houses of the polytheists who were sleeping, at night, whether their women and girls should be killed. He said: They come from them. In a narration: They come from their fathers. 1047

—Agreed.

عَنِ الصَّعْبِ بْنِ جَثَّامَةَ قَالَ سُئِلَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم عَنْ اَهْلِ الدِّيَارِ يُبَيَّتُوْنَ مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِيْنَ فَيُصَابُ مِنْ نِّسَاءِهِمْ وَ ذَرَارِيِّهِمْ قَالَ هُمْ مِنْهُمْ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ هُمْ مِنْ اٰبَائِهِمْ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

123. Samorah-b-Jundub reported that the Holy Prophet said: Kill the old men of the polytheists and keep their young men (that is children) alive. 1048

—Tirmizi, Abu Daud.

عَنْ سَمُرَةَ بْنِ جُنْدُبٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ اقْتُلُوْا شُيُوْخَ الْمُشْرِكِيْنَ وَاسْتَحْيُوْا شَرْخَهُمْ اَيْ صِبْيَانَهُمْ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَاَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

124. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said: March in the name of Allah, and with the succour of Allah and over the religion of the Messenger of Allah, kill not the emaciated old, nor the young children, nor the women, and deceive not; collect your booty, do good and show kindness, because Allah loves those who do good to others.

—Abu Daud.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَالَ انْطَلِقُوْا بِسْمِ اللّٰهِ وَبِاللّٰهِ وَعَلٰى مِلَّةِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ لَاتَقْتُلُوْا شَيْخًا فَانِيًا وَلَا طِفْلًا صَغِيْرًا وَلَا امْرَاَةً وَلَا تَغُلُّوْا وَضُمُّوْا غَنَائِمَكُمْ وَاَصْلِحُوْا وَاَحْسِنُوْا فَاِنَّ اللّٰهَ يُحِبُّ الْمُحْسِنِيْنَ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

1047. This means that when no distinction can be made in darkness between children, women and grown-up polytheists, there is no harm in killing the inmates of a house from outside, but when there are clear signs of distinction, children and women of the polytheists shall not be killed.

1048. The old men of extreme age incapable of fighting are not meant here. It is

125. Solaiman-b-Boraidah reported from his father that whenever the Messenger of Allah appointed a commander over an army or infantry, he used to give him directions regarding his powers: To fear Allah, and to treat the Muslims well under him. Then he used to say: Fight in the name of Allah in the way of Allah. Fight with those who disbelieve in Allah. Fight, plunder not, nor be treacherous, nor cut off ears and noses, nor kill children. When you meet your enemy from among the polytheists, invite them to three terms or conditions. To whichever of these they respond to you, accept from them and withhold from them. [1049] Then invite them to Islam. If they respond to you, accept from them and withhold from them. Then call them to shift from their houses to the houses of the Refugees, and inform them that if they do that, there is for them what is for the Refugees, [1050] and against them what is against the Refugees.

unlawful to kill them like women and children. But the old men who actually take up arms or meet enemies can lawfully be killed.

1049. The three conditions are the following. acceptance of Islam, payment of Jizya if not Islam is accepted, and thirdly war.

1050. The Refugees would get 'Fai properties' i. e. those properties which are gained without fight in consideration of their leaving hearth and home for the Prophet.

If they decline to shift from them, inform them that they are surely like desert Muslims. Allah's sanction which is prescribed for the believers will be passed on them, and there will be nothing of booty and Fai for them except that they will fight along with the Muslims. If they decline, ask Jizya from them. If they respond to you, accept from them and withhold from them. If they decline, seek assistance from Allah and fight with them. When you lay siege to the inmates of a fort and if they wish that you shonld make for them the covenant of Allah and the covenant of His Messenger, don't make for them covenant of Allah and the covenant of His Prophet, but make for them your covenant and the covenant of your companions, because breaking your covenants and the covenants of your companions is easier than your breaking covenant of Allah and the covenant of His Messenger. When you besiege the inmates of a fort and if they wish you to come down to them according to the sanction of Allah, don't come down to them according to the sanction of Allah but come to them with your sanction, because you 1052. Security.

In the actual warfare, if any person seeks shelter to a Muslim, it is his bounden duty to give him shelter and security. Nobody has got any right either to kill or molest him so long as he is under the roof of the Muslim. The Quran therefore declares with a solemn voice: If one of the idolaters seeks protection from 1051. The Holy Prophet prohibited to kill anybody at the time of war without discriminating whether a believer is going to be killed or an unbeliever. you, give him protection till he hears the word of Allah, then take him to his place of safety (9:6Q). This verse completely repudiates the allegation that Islam was preached by force, because if he is taken to his place of safety, there is no chance of forced conversion. There are innumerable examples of protection and security offered to those who sought shelter with the Prophet or with any of his followers. Akramah, son of Abu Jahl fled to Yemen after the conquest of Mecca. He sought afterwards mercy and shelter to the Prophet. Whereupon he sent words of security. to him. Then Akramah returned and was received by the Prophet as a friend. On the day of the conquest of Mecca, the Prophet gave protection to Abu sufiyan and those who sought protection with him in the house. Nay, he gave general amnesty to all of his enemies without even a single reproach. Fo further examples of security, see note 2434.

He asked: Who is she? I said: I am Omme Hani, daughter of Abu Talib. He said: Welcome to Omme Hani! When he finished his bath, he got up and prayed eight rak'ats being covered with a single cloth. Then he turned (from prayer). I asked: O Ms. of Allah! the son of my mother (Ali) thinks that he would kill a man, son of Hubairah whom I gave protection. The Holy Prophet said: We also give protection whom you have given, O Omme Hani.

1055. International laws in war.

As there are defined duties in Islam between individuals and individuals, so is the case between nations; and one nation has got to respect the rights and obligations of another nation. This is the true basis of international rights and obligations. So the rights of nations and their obligations to each other in no wise differ from those existing between individuals. Hence it is necessary according to Islam that international laws should be observed by all nations and estates in order to secure permanent peace and increase the ever-growing prosperity of the world. A few of such laws are given below. (1) No ambassador should be killed; (2) no treaty shall unjustly be broken (see next section); (3) no unjustifiable aggression shall be made on weaker nations; (4) a nation has got as much right for worldly business as another nation has got; (5) humanitarian laws in warfare (discussed in section 4) shall be observed. These are the grand superstructures on which Islamic international laws are chiefly based.

1053. Hurairah was the infidel husband of Omme-Hani from whom she separated after she accepted Islam, and the man to whom refuge was extended was son of Hurairah. Hazrat Ali wanted him from Omme-Hani to be killed. So she approached the Prophet who gave the necessary security for his life.

131. Nu'man-b-Mas'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah said to two persons who came from Musailamah: Behold, by Allah, but for the fact that ambassadors are not to be killed, I would have smitten your necks. 1056 —Ahmad, Abu Daud.

1056. Musailamah was an imposter claiming the office of a prophet during the life time of the prophet of Islam. He was trying his level best to check the progress of Islam and to establish a religion of his own. The two persons that came from Musailamah were Abdullah-b-Nawwahah and Ibn Osal. They came to the Prophet and said: We bear witness that Musailamah is the messenger of Allah. At this stage, the Prophet was enraged and said what has been narrated above.

1057. Treaties and Peace

The greatest and the foremost principle that was taught by the Holy Prophet was peace. His very religion Islam means peace. Therefore peace is the key note of Islam from beginning to end. In order to establish peace on a firm and solid footing, he laid the foundation of an Universal Brotherhood which is the real basis of international peace and treaty. The Quran declared: The believers are but brethren; therefore make peace between your brethren—49:10Q. And if two parties of the believers quarrel, make peace between them—49:7Q. He not only left lip-sermons but established rules and regulations which, if followed, would have brought ever-lasting peace both in this world and the next. That is why he defined duties of a man in his various capacities. Above all, he showed how peace can be brought about among the contending religions of the world by declaring—Don't abuse those whom they take up as gods besides Allah—6:109Q. Such an Apostle of peace cannot advocate tyranny in war. As war is sometimes unavoidable for the foundation of permanent peace by punishing those who bring disorder in the land, it is indispensibly necessary. Still the Prophet was the last man to take up the sword. It is only when the sword was necessary for self defence that he used to take up arms. In the midst of war also, his instruction was not to attack first but as a counter challenge to attack from enemies. Whenever there was any offer of peace and cessation of hostility, he at once unsheathed his sword with his followers according to this behest of the Holy Quran: And if they incline to peace, then incline to it and trust in Allah. He is the Hearing, the Knowing; and if they intend to deceive thee, then certainly Allah is sufficient for thee—8:61, 62Q. Allah invites you to the abode of peace—10:25Q. In order to effect peace, he not only agreed on equal terms but if any humiliating condition was imposed, he readily accepted it. This was the case in the truce of Hudaibiyya. One of the conditions of this truce was that if one among the Meccans came over to the Holy Prophet, he would return him to the Quraish though he would be a Muslim, but the Quraish would not return a Muslim. That was a treaty which truly gave the Prophet a real opportunity for preaching Islam in right earnest. The Quran refers to this truce by saying: Certainly Allah was pleased with the believers when they swore allegiance to you under the tree, and He knew what was in their hearts; so He sent down tranquility on them and rewarded them with a near victory—42:18Q.

After establishment of peace as result of war by making treaties with enemies, it is one of the greatest sins to violate the terms. The Holy Quran says: Don't make mischief in the land after its peace—7:56Q. Disturbance is severer than murder —2:191Q. Surely the vilest of animals in the sight of Allah are those with whom you make an agreement; then they break their agreement every time and they don't fear—8:55-56Q. Breach of treaty does not appear in a people but Allah throws fear into their hearts, nor do a people break a treaty but the enemy becomes powerful over them—26:359w. Treaties on no account shall be violated—23:140.

132. Amr-b-Auf-al-Mujani reported from the Holy Prophet who said: Compromise is lawful among Muslims except a compromise which makes a lawful thing unlawful or an unlawful thing lawful. And the Muslims

A man came riding on an Arab horse or Turkish horse and said: Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest, fidelity and no treachery. They reconnoitered when lo! he was Amr-b-Abasah. Muwayiah asked him about that. He said: I heard the Ms. of Allah say: Whoso has got a treaty between him and a people must neither unloosen the treaty, nor make it tight till its term expires or he is thrown to them on an equal footing. He said: Then Muwayiah returned with the people. 1058 —Tirmizi, Abu Daud.

1059. It appears from this that Islam was not preached by force but by its intrinsic value and by the great magnetic personality of the prophet. He also wanted that international law should be respected. This man was sent at the time of a treaty between the Prophet and the Quraish.

1060. Islam respects treaties and obligations. Those convenants which were made before Islam were ordered to be observed but renewal of a convenant in Islam as is opposed to the spirit of Islam was forbidden.

His riding camel stopped and so the people said: Go on, go on; Qaswa has stopped, Qaswa has stopped. The Messenger of Allah said: Qaswa has not stopped, and that is not her nature, but One who stopped the elephant has stopped her. 1061 Afterwards he said: By One in whose hand there is my life, they (Meccans) will not seek a term from me by which they will magnify the sacred things of Allah except that I should grant it to them. 1062 Afterwards he gave it a move and then it jumped up and turned aside from them, till it landed at the farthest end of Hudaibiyyah upon a ditch of scanty water which the people began to drink little by little. The people were not there for long till they dried it up. Then complaint of thirst was made to the Prophet. So he drew out an arrow from his 1061. This has got a reference. Just before the Prophet's birth, Abraha, the Abyssinian king, marched towards Mecca to destroy the Ka'ba with camels, but camels could not proceed and were destroyed. In other words, Allah stopped the camels, and it was not His intention that there should be war and blood-shed at Mecca.

When they were in that condition, Budail-b-Waraqah al Khuzayi came with a party of Khuza'a tribe and then Urwah-b-Mas'ud came and pushed on negotiation, till he said "when Sohail-b-Amr came", and the Prophet said: Write this down: "what Muhammad, Messenger of Allah agreed thereupon". Then Sohail said: Had we recognised that you were the Ms. of Allah, we would not have prevented you from the house (Ka,ba), nor would have fought with you, but write down "Muhammad, son of Abdullah". Then the Holy Prophet said: By Allah, I am surely Messenger of Allah, and if you believe me as false, write down Muhammad, son of Abdullah. Sohail then said: And on a term that no man, though he might be upon your religion, shall come to you but you shall return him to us. When he (Ali) finished the necessary writing, the Ms. of Allah said to his companions: Get up and then make sacrifice, next shave (your hairs). Afterwards some believing women came. Then the Almighty Allah revealed: O those who believe! when the believing women come to you as refugees—the verse. The Almighty Allah prohibited them to return them (women) and he orderd them to return dowry to them (husbands). Afterwards he returned to Medina. Then Abu Basir, a man of the Quraish, came to him while he was a Muslim. They sent two men to search for him, but he (Prophet) surrendered him to the two men. They came out with him till when they reached Zul-Halifa, they landed down to eat fresh dates which they got. Then Abu Basir said to one of the two men: By Allah, O so and so, certainly I see that this sword of yours is an exellent one. Show me that I may have a look at it. Then he snatched it from him and stroke him till he was cold (with death). The other man fled away till he came to Medina and entered the mosque running. Then the Prophet said: He has seen (an object of) fear. He said: By Allah, my companion certainly has been murdered, and I was surely to be killed. Afterwards Abu Basir came and the Holy Prophet said to him: Woe to his mother! Kindler of war! would that there would have been some body for him! When he heard that, he perceived that he would hand him over to them (Quraish). Then he slipped out till he came to the sea-shore. Abu Jandal-b-Abi Suhail fled there and met Abu Basir. No man of the Quraish who was a Muslim began to come out but to meet with Abu Basir till they formed a party. By Allah! they did not hear of any caravan (of merchandise) that came out for the Quraish towards Syria but confronted them and killed them and took away their properties. Then the Quraish sent to the Prophet reminding him of Allah and blood-tie and to send to them saying—whoso comes to me will be safe. Then the Prophet sent to them.

138. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported that the Messenger of Allah made treaty with the Quraish on the Day of Hudaibiyyah over three things: On condition that whoso of the polytheists would come to him, he would return him to them, but whoever of the Muslims comes to them, they would not return him; and on condition that he would come to Mecca next year and would stay there for three days, and would not enter there except by sheathing lances, swords and bows and like that. When they wrote terms, they wrote also this "what Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah, has agreed thereon". They said: We don't agree to it. CHPTER XXIII

1064. Booty

(a) Booty belongs to the soldiers. Booties are the properties acquired in the battle field as a result of war. They differ from Fai acquisitions in the sense that whereas the former is acquired in war, the latter is acquired without war. The question of Fai has been dealt with in note 1085. In pre-Islamic Arabia, the commander of an army used to take ¼th of the booties acquired in a war. That was known as مرباع The remainder used to be taken at random by the soldiers. In other countries, the booty went to add to the coffers of the king. After the battle of Badr, the verse dealing with the booties was first revealed. The verse introduced the rule for the first time that the spoils of war would be the property of the soldiers who actually take part in the battle. Previously it went either to the coffers of the victorious king or commander even though he did not join in the actual fight. That is one of the reasons why the soldiers of Islam fought tooth and nail. They would get Paradise in case of death in a holy war, and booties in case of conquest. Zihad is therefore the best source of all acquisitions. See note 880.

(b) Distribution of Booties. The distribution of booties has been ordered by the Holy Quran in the following ways. The Quran says: And know that whatever thing you acquire in war, $\frac{1}{5}$th of it is for Allah and for the Apostle and for the near of kin and for the orphans and the needy and the way farer—8:41Q. The remaining $\frac{4}{5}$ths will be divided among the warriors who actually have taken part in the battle—23:171. The generally accepted opinion is that the Prophet's $\frac{1}{5}$th share as stated in the Quran used to be sub-divided by the Prophet into five divisions, reserving $\frac{1}{25}$th share for the Holy Prophet, $\frac{1}{25}$th for his near kinsmen, and $\frac{2}{5}$th for the orphans, the needy and the way-farers. As to the Prophet's $\frac{1}{25}$th share, it appears from traditions 23:146, 179, 168 that it was used for the poor and towards benefit of the Muslims in general. After the Prophet's demise, the entire $\frac{1}{5}$th share would go to the Public Exchequer to be spent for the good of the community as a whole and for the benefit of the poor, the distressed and the needy. Sometimes special concessions in booties can be given to brave soldiers—23:147, 150. There should be no sale of a booty before division—23:—170, Each horseman will get 2 shares while a foot man one share—23:161. For purposes of necessary consumptions, enjoyment of booty is allowed before division—23:176.

(c) Booties acquired in wars. In the battle of Muraisi with Banu Mustaliq, the booties gained were nearly 200 camels and 5000 goats. In the campaign of Hunain, the booties that fell to the hands of the Muslims were 24000 sheep, 4000 silver coins and innumerable camels. In the battle of Badr and Uhud, the booties were also great.

Contents. One who squanders the properties of zakat and booty will go to Hell—23:151; the sin of treachery in booty is great—23:152; Muhammad is the greatest Prophet—23:157; goods of a treacherous man are to be burnt—23:167; even a thread of booty shall not be stolen—23:177, Muaz-b-Afa,ṛ and Muaz-b-Amr killed Abu Jahal—23:180.

142. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said: Booty was not lawful for anybody previous to us. That was because Allah saw our weakness and helplessness, and so He made it lawful for us. —Agreed.

142a. Abu Qatadah reported: We came out with the Prophet in the year of Hunain. When we met, there grew a panic among the Muslims. Then I saw one of the polytheists overcoming one of the Muslims. I gave him a stroke from his back over the chord of his shoulder with the sword and cut off his coat. He approached me and caught such a hold on me that I perceived an air of death therefrom. Then the death overtook him. He then gave up his hold on me. I met there after Omar-b-al-Khattab. I said: What is the matter with the people (that they flee away)? He said: Decree of Allah. Then

Afterwards the Prophet uttered the similar thing. Then I got up. He asked: What is the matter with you, O Abu Qatadah? I informed him. A man said: The man has spoken the truth, and his goods are with me. Let him be given satisfaction from me.[1037] Abu Bakr said: No! by God! 1085. Fai Property

Fai is a property of the unbelievers as accrues to the Muslims without war. About this kind of property, the Holy Quran says: And whatever Fai Allah gave to His Apostle from them, you did not press forward against it any horse or riding camel, but Allah gives authority to His Apostles against whom He pleases, and Allah has power over all things. And whatever has Allah given to His Apostle as Fai from the peoples of the towns, it is for Allah and for the Apostle, and for the near of kin and the orphans and the needy and the way-farer, so that it may not be a thing taken by turns among the rich of you, and whatever the Apostle gives you accept it and from whatever he forbids you, keep back—59:67Q. It appears, therefore, that Fai means such of the properties of the unbelievers as accrues to the Muslims without war. It is not to be distributed like booty among the soldiers but it is for "Allah, His Apostle, near of kin, the orphans, the needy and the way-farers". It is to be divided just like $\frac{1}{5}$th of the Prophet's share of the booty (see note 1064). After the demise of the Prophet, this property formed part of the Public Treasury spent for the poor Muslims and good of the community. It appers however that some Caliphs apportioned the whole of this property for their personal comforts till Omar II restored it to its former use. The Holy Prophet used the properties of Banu Nazir for arms and ammunitions (23:188), Fedak for the travellers and Khaiber properties for his family and the Muslims in general—23:193. It was spent in the discretion of the Prophet for the good of Islam in general. It was not to be inherited. Once Hazrat Fatema claimed it before Abu Bakr who refused it to her on the ground that no Prophet can be inherited. This is indicated by the sentence "so that it may not be a thing taken by turns among the rich of you."

187. Malek-b-Aus reported that Omar-b-al-Khattab said: Verily Allah has particularised His Prophet regarding this Fai which He had not given to anybody besides him. Afterwards he read: Whatever Fai Allah has given from them upon His Prophet—up to His verse "Almighty". 1086 This became therefore the special property of the Apostle of Allah to meet, out of this property expenses of his family for one year, and then to take what remained and put it in the treasury of the property of Allah. —Agreed.

1088. Jizya tax

(a) What is Jizya? Jizya is a tax that is taken from the free non-Muslim subjects of a Muslim government whereby they ratify the compact that ensures them protection. The Holy Quran says: Fight those who do not believe in Allah,..... out of those who have been given the Book, until they pay the Jizya in acknowledgment of superiority and they are in a state of subjection—9:29Q. Though the followers of the Book have been mentioned here, the tax is applicable in the case of all non-Muslims. The Holy Prophet realised it from the Magians of Bahrain—23:196, from Ukaidar, the Christian chief of Duma—23:198, from the Christian ruler of Ayla, from the Jews of Jarba and Azruh and from the Chrishtians of Najran.

(b) Reason of this tax. The Muslims had to pay zakat as a contribution towards the public Treasury for maintenance of law and order and to guard the frontiers from foreign aggression at 2½ p. c. of their hoarded wealth. In addition, they had to do active military service as a compulsory measure and fight battles of the state not only at home but in foreign countries as well. The non-Muslims were free from military service as a general rule, nor they had to pay anything for the up-keep of the military and the protection of the estate, and they led a life of peace and tranquility in a settled rule. For this reason, the tax of Jizya was imposed on them according to the direction of God in consideration of the above exemptions and protection as Zimmis. Whenever the Muslim commanders defeated an enemy, they called the vanquished foe to admit their defeat by offering a token tribute in sad contrast with the war indemnities of the present day. Thus repetition of aggression was safeguarded and in return protection offered on cessation of hostilities. It is thus an act of mercy towards a vanquished foe. It was not an alternative measure for acceptance of Islam. It was only in acknowledgment of subjugation as the Quran stated.

(c) Exemptions from Jizya. The following classes of persons were exempted from Jizya: (i) all females, (ii) males who have not attained maturity, (iii) old people, (iv) people whom disease had crippled, (v) the paralyzed, the blind, the poor who could not work for themselves, (vi) the slaves who were working for their freedom, (vii) the monks, and (viii) all non-Muslims who join the military service.

(d) Rate of Jizya. It was comparatively less than the zakat. It was originally one dinar [2] —23:196, but later on, it was raised to 4 dinars in case of rich people—23:330w. There were thus three grades of people who had to pay graduated scale of tax from one to four dinars in proportion to their wealth.

Other contents. It is impolitic to have two religions in one land—23:197. No Jizya and 'Ushar' on the Muslims—23:199.

1094. Captives of War

(1) Meaning of Captives of War. Captives of war are those who are taken prisoners as a result of holy war and on no other occasion. This definition excludes those men and women who are taken prisoners in normal times or after hostility ceases and war terminates. The captives of war must be overtaken in the actual war-field. With the cessation of hostilities, there is stop of taking prisoners. In the light of the above interpretation, the Quran says: So when you meet in battle those who disbelieve, then smite the necks until when you overcome them, then make them prisoners.....until the war lays down its weapons—47:4Q. This has been made more clear by the following verse prohibiting the Holy Prophet to take prisoners in normal times: It is not fit for a Prophet that he should take captives unless he has fought and triumped in the land. You desire the frail goods of this world, while Allah desires the hereafter—8:67Q. This verse gives also an indication that the enemies who surrender themselves unconditionally without any war or bloodshed cannot be taken prisoners.

(2) Subsequent treatment to war-captives. The Quran lays down the ordinance of two alternative measures for the captives of war. It says: Then either set them free as a favour, or let them ransom themselves—47:4Q. This ordinance is applicable only when the war or hostility ceases. In other words, it is not strictly applicable with regard to prisoners when the battle is going on undecisively in the actual war-field and when there is every chance of the prisoners joining the enemy's camp in case they are set free. In the case of the latter prisoners, they are at the mercy of the commander. They may either be killed or kept in detention. Some traditions in the section will prove it. This is considered as part of warfare and hence there may be extreme penalty as the universal rule of war. With regard to the treatment of captives when the war terminates, there are the above two measures. Question may arise as to the propriety of the measure of ransom as price of freedom. This is the international law of war that the guilty persons must be punished. Whereas the other nations gave a reign of terror by indiscriminate massacres of the war prisoners even after cessation of hostities and let flow the torrents of blood through the streets, the Holy Prophet did not take such inhuman measures but set them free either without any ransom or with ransom. In the latter case, some punishment was necessary in oder to stop further aggression on the infant Commonwealth of Islam and make them realise the indemnities of war-guilt. Otherwise the greatest crime goes unpunished which is not the object of a practical religion like Islam. Those who cannot ransom themselves, they may be set free as an act of grace or they may be put to the service, either of teaching boys or some other thing conducive to the welfare of the community. Those who can not be set free can be retained in household until occasion arises for their manumission. This class has been know as "slaves" in Islam about whom I shall discuss later on. During this period of detention, prisoners of war must be treated with kindness and fairplay.

(3) Prophet's treatment towards captives of war. What treatment did the captives receive in the hands of the Prophet? Surely he was guided in the greater interests of Islam by the Quranic principles as above enunciated. Let us, however, recall some particular instances.

In the battle of Badr, 70 prisoners fell to the hands of the Muslims. Some of them were released without ransom by the clemency of the Prophet and some with ransom—23:113, 111.

1. For further light, see section 18 of this Chapter and section 4 of Chapter 2.

This treatment was meted out at a time when Islam stood in danger of total annihilation. The poor who could not afford to ransom themselves were required to teach ten children each in consideration of their liberty. The solvent gave generally 4000 dirhams per head. Hazrat Abbas (Prophet's uncle) who was a captive received no different treatment but had to pay more. The Prophet's son-inlaw Abul A's, husband of Jainab, received alemency by the offer of a necklace of Jainab presented to the latter by Khadija. The necklace was subsequently returned to the owner. Each companion got 2 or 4 captives with instruc tions of good and fair treatment regarding accommodation, food and clothing. Suhail b-Amr, a prisoner, was of eloquent tongue and used to spread disaffection against Islam. Hazrat Omar suggested that two of his teeth should be extracted. The Prophet replied : I have not come to mutilate men. Musab-b-Umair's brother was one of the captives. He said : Blessings be on the Helpers ! they made us ride while they themselves walked, they gave us bread to eat when there was little of it contending themselves with dates. The Holy Prophet once adorned them all with clothes.

In the Battle of Hunain, 6000 prisoners fell to the hands of the Muslims but they were all released with the concurrence of the companions of the Prophet. Among the prisoners, there was a man from the tribe of Halima, the Prophet's foster mother. His intercession on behalf of the people was fruitful. There was also the daughter of the world renowned charitable man Hatem Tai. She was sent to her house with due honour and respect.

In the Battle of Muraisi, there were 600 prisoners. They were all set free without any ransom. In this way, the Prophet showed the most sympathetic treatment towards the captives.

(4) Captive women and girls. In the actual war-field in the midst of hostilities, according to some jurists, some concessions were sometimes given to soldiers for recreation. Captive virgin girls in war were once made lawful for the soldiers for copulation—23:340w. If any woman was pregnant, or in the course of menstruation, or had not attained maturity, she was not lawful for such purpose until the pregnancy is finished, or the menstruation ceases, or maturity is attained—23:340w. When war terninates, their case is somewhat different. It has been discussed in section 13.

205. Abu Hurairah reported that the Holy Prophet sent a cavalry towards Najd. They came with a man of Banu Hanifa called Somamah-b-Osal, the chief of the inhabitants of Yamamah. They tied him with a pillar out of the pillars of the mosque. Then the Apostle of Allah came out to him and asked: O Somamah! what is near you? [1036] He replied: O Muhammad, I have got good for me. If you kill (me), you will kill a man of blood, [1037] and if you show favour, you will show favour to a grateful man, and if you seek wealth, ask and you will be given therefrom as much as you like. Then the Apostle of Allah left him till there came the next morning. Then he asked: O Somamah! what is near you? He said: I have got what I told you. If you show favour, 1035a. Banu Quraizah was a tribe of the Jews settled at Medina long before the Prophet migrated there. They broke treaties after treaties and joined with the enemies in the battle of the Allies. The Prophet therefore laid siege to this place for 25 days. When the Jews referred the matter to Sa'ad-b-Mu'az, he ordered that they should be killed. Sa'ad was in alliance with the Jews and hence he was trusted in preference to the Prophet.

1036. 'What is near you' means—what treatment do you expect from me or what do you pray for?

1037. 'You will kill a man of blood' means that you will kill an honourable man whose murder will not go unavenged. His men must take retaliation for his murder.

you will show favour to a grateful man ; and if you kill, you will kill a man of blood, and if you wish for wealth, ask and you will be given therefrom as much as you like. Whereupon the Apostle of Allah left him till there came the next morning. He asked him : What is near you, O Somamah ? He said : I have got what I told you. If you show favour, you will show favour to a grateful man ; and if you kill, you will kill a man of blood, and if you wish for wealth, ask and you will be given therefrom as much as you like. Then the Apostle of Allah said : Let Somamah be set free. Then he went to a place of scanty water [1098] near a mosque, had a wash and then entered the mosque and uttered : I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah and I bear witness that Muhammad is His servant and His Messenger. O Muhammad, by Allah, there was no face upon the surface of the earth which I disliked more than yours, but now your face has become to me dearest of all the faces ; by Allah, there was no religion I hated

His father Mut'em showed kindness to the Prophet by driving away the inhabitants of Tayef from molesting and oppressing the Holy Prophet. There the Prophet rememberd Mut'em with a grateful heart.

He arrested them suddenly and gave them life, and in a narration: "He set them free". 1102. Hawazin is a tribe who accepted Islam after the battle of Hunain in which they were defeated. 24000 sheep, 4000 silver and nearly 6000 captures fell in to the hands of the Muslims. The Prophet divided among his companions the booties including the captives. After that they turned Muslims and prayed for their people. The Holy Prophet requested his companions to return the captives.

said: For faults of your ally Saqif. Then he left him and departed. He called out to him: O Muhammad, O Muhammad. The Prophet then took compassion on him and returned. He asked: What is the matter with you? He said: Verily I am a Muslim. He said: If you tell this and control your own affair, you will attain full success. He said that the Holy Prophet had ransomed him in exchange of two men whom Saqif made captives. 1103 —Muslim.

211. Ayesha reported that when the Meccans went for the ransom of their captives, Zainab sent a property to ransom Abul A's. She also sent therein her necklace which was with Khadijah who gave it to her as dower of marriage with Abul A's. When the Holy Prophet saw it, his compassion was greatly moved and he said: Informe me whether you would set her captive tree for her and return her that which belongs to her. 'Yes' said they. Prophet then asked him to let free the way of Jainab to come to him. The Holy Prophet sent Zaid-b-Haresah and a man from the Ansars and said:

1104 Zainab was the Prophet's daughter and Abul A's was nephew of Khadiza and husband of Zainab. He was a polytheist and fell a prisoner in the hands of the Prophet in the battle of Badr Abul A's was then set free. On his return to Mecca, he accepted Islam and migrated with Zainab to Medina He was killed in the battle of Yamamah.

1105. It means that if the children are good, even the fire will protect them though it has got destroying effect. Some interpret it by way of curt and inhuman reply by the Prophet. The man who advocated the case of the orphans and the poor and whose love for the children was proverbial could not give such a curt reply. Mr. Ameer Ali says: It originated most probably from the sobriquet of SIBYAT-UN-NAR (children of fire) applied to the children of Okba. Okba himself belonged to the tribe of Ajlan, a branch of which inhabited certain villages near Safra, and was known by the name of Bani-un-Nar (children of fire). The sobriquet was derived from this circumstance and the story of Mohammed's reply from the nick-name."

1106. In the battle of Badr, 70 unbelievers were killed and 70 were taken as captives to the Prophet. He was consulting with Abu Bakr about them. Abu Bakr advised them not to kill them. Hazrat Omar gave opinion that they should be killed. The Holy Prophet gave option to his companions either to kill them or to accept ransom.

214. Atiyyah al-Qurazi reported: I was among the captives of Quaizah. We were presented before the Holy Prophet and they were examining. Whoever had his hair grown was killed, and whoever had not, was not killed. Then they uncovered my lower part and found it without growth (of hair). They then made me among the captives. 1107 —Abu Daud, Ibn Majah, Darimi.

215. Ali reported that some slaves came to the Apostle of Allah, that is on the day of Hudaibiyyah before the treaty. Their masters wrote to him saying: O Muhammad, by Allah, they did not go to you out of a desire for your religion but they went out fleeing from serfdom. Some people said: O Ms. of Allah! they have spoken the truth, return them to them. Then the Messenger of Allah got enraged and said: O congregation of the Quraish, why should I not see you desisting (your hand from slaves) till Allah sends down upon you one who will smite your neck for their account.

If ransom was preferred, the Prophet said that 70 Muslims would be murdered next year. This was a great prophecy which was literally fulfilled, as in the battle of Uhud which took place one year after, 70 Muslims were killed and the Muslims met with a reprisal at the start.

They began to say : We are Sabeans, we are Sabeans. Then Khalid began to put them to death and make them captives. He allotted one captive to every one of us till one day Khalid passed order to put to every captive under us to death. I said : By Allah ! SECTION 12

111. Expulsion of the Jews from Arabia

(I) Jewish Settlements in Pre-Islanim Arabia. The Jews settled in or about the city of Yasreb (the old name of Medina) after migrating from the persecutions of the Babylonian, Greek and Roman empires. Banu Nazir held colony at Khaiber, Banu Quraiza at Fidak and Banu Qainqua near Medina. They lived in fortified cantons. When the Prophet migrated to Medina, he entered into a treaty with the Jews. Violating this treaty, they secretly helped the enemies at the battle of Badr. When the Muslims were victorious, their jealousy grew into regular enemity. There were also many incidents and fracas resulting in deaths. The Prophet, having disgusted with the violation of the treaty, laid siege to the fort of Banu Qainuqa for fifteen days. Afterwards they were expelled from Medina and they thereafter settled in Syria in 2 A. H.

This was exactly the case with Banu Nazir. They attempted once on the life of the Prophet and sided with the enemies secretly. They were asked to renew agreement but they did not comply. This was taken as open war. Hence they were banished from their land. That took place at 4 A. H.

Then the Banu Quraiza fared no better. They took part in the battle of the Allies after breaking their previous treaty with the Prophet. They were warned but they did not listen to it. After the battle, the Prophet laid siege to their fort. After some resistance, they surrendered in 5 A. H. About the punishment to be meted out to them for their repeated treacheries, they were asked to choose their own course. The Jews chose Sa'ad as their arbiter. He passed the sentence of death on 300 males, the females and children were taken captives and their property was confiscated. Had the Jews chose the Prophet as arbiter, their sentence would been lenient i.e. at best exile.

In 7 A. H. the fort of Khaiber was laid siege to as the Jews there with the refugees of Banu Nazir began to patch up plots against Islam. They conspired with the powerful tribe of Ghatafan in order to attack Medina. They even gave poisoned food to the Prophet the effects of which the Holy Prophet felt to the last day of his life. For this reason, Khiber was conquered but the Jews were allowed autonomy on certain conditions. After the Prophet's holy demise, the Jews began to trouble the Caliphs and began to practise treachery with the Muslims. Once they threw down Umar's son Abdullah from the top of a house. For all these reasons, Hazrat Omar banished the Jews of Khaiber from their stronghold and were allowed to settle in Syria. Thus the land of the whole of the Arabian Peninsula consisted of Muslims and Muslims alone and the banner of Islam was hoisted over every house in the vast land.

(2) It is impolitic to have two religions in one land. The Holy Prophet declared as the greatest politician and statesman that it is impolitic to have two religions in the same land (23:197). This grand message has been left as a rich heritage for the modern politicians. In order to ensure lasting permanent peace in Arabia and to establish Islam on the firmest basis, this foresighted advice to his companions was left. Therefore he left positive instructions to banish the Jews, Christians and other non-Muslims from Arabia. As a precautionary measure, no non-Muslim has since been allowed to enter the cities of Mecca and Medina.

217. Abu Hurairah reported: While we were in the mosque, The Apostle of Allah came out and said: March against the Jews. So we came out with him till we came up to a school-house. Then the Apostle of Allah got up and said: O congregation of the Jews, accept Islam and you will be safe. Know that this land is for Allah and His Apostle and

218. Ibn Omar reported that Omar got up as one delivering sermon. He said: Verily the Apostle of Allah was administrator of the Jews of Khaiber over their properties. He said: We have kept you on a condition upon which Allah kept you, 1112 and indeed I have considered their expulsion proper. Then Omar invited opinion of the public over that. One of Banu Abil Haqaiq came and said: O Commander of the faithful! you expel us, while Muhammad accommodated us and was administrator over (our) properties. Omar said: Do you think that I have forgotten the saying of the Apostle of Allah—"How shall it be with you when you will be expelled from Khaiber and when your camel will run with you night after night"? He said: This was a joke of Abul Qasem

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَامَ عُمَرُ خَطِيبًا فَقَالَ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَانَ عَامَلَ يَهُودَ خَيْبَرَ عَلَى أَمْوَالِهِمْ وَقَالَ نُقِرُّكُمْ عَلَى مَا أَقَرَّكُمُ اللّٰهُ وَقَدْ رَأَيْتُ إِجْلَاءَهُمْ فَلَمَّا أَجْمَعَ عُمَرُ عَلَى ذٰلِكَ أَتَاهُ أَحَدُ بَنِي أَبِي الْحُقَيْقِ فَقَالَ يَا أَمِيرَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَتُخْرِجُنَا وَقَدْ أَقَرَّنَا مُحَمَّدٌ وَعَامَلَنَا عَلَى الْأَمْوَالِ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ أَظَنَنْتَ أَنِّي نَسِيتُ قَوْلَ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَيْفَ بِكَ إِذَا أُخْرِجْتَ مِنْ خَيْبَرَ تَعْدُو بِكَ قَلُوصُكَ لَيْلَةً بَعْدَ لَيْلَةٍ فَقَالَ هٰذِهِ كَانَتْ هُزَيْلَةً

1111. It appears from this that the Mosque was the centre of all political and religious activities of the Prophet, and that the Jews had organised schools for learning unlike the Arabs. This was uttered at the time when Banu Nazir was expelled from Medina. The Jews of Medina were meant by this tradition.

1112. The Jews were allowed to stay at Khaiber on condition that they would pay half the produce of their lands to the Holy Prophet and in addition Jizya tax.

1115. Emancipation of Slaves

(1) Who are called 'slaves' in Islam? As has already been stated in note 1094, the prisoners of war who were not let free but were divided among the warriors and kept under their care and maintenance were called by peoples other than the Muslims as slaves. Islam, however, does not recognise any class of human beings as slaves because that is opposed to the fundamental principle of the universal brotherhood in which all Muslims participate on equal terms of rights and privileges. It declared: All believers are brethren. So no Muslim can legally be a slave, whether he is a prisoner of war or comes from a slave dynasty. Those captives of war who are unbelievers and who have not been set free are considered as a separate class known by the name of "What your right hands possessed—ما ملكت ايمانكم". This description of acquiring a class of men by force supports the view that those who are generally called slaves are really prisoners of war retained without grant of freedom. Besides the above prisoners of war, there were regular slaves existing from before the time of Islam. They were markettable and heritable and were considered as properties like sheep and cattle. They had no legal status and led a life of unmitigated drudgery in the hands of the pitiless masters. The task of improving the hard lot of these wretched creatures fell on the World Prophet.

(2) How to emancipate the so-called slaves. The Islamic teachings gave a death-blow to the perpetual serfdom of the slaves. It took a gradual step towards abolition of slavery as a contrary policy by setting all the prisoners free, whenever and wherever they were caught, irrespective of the time and magnitude of offences and by emancipating all slaves at a time would have produced an utter collapse of the infant common-wealth. He, however, framed rules of emancipation which greatly helped that purpose. Some of the rules are the following :—

(i) A prisoner of war or a slave by birth in pre-Islamic times no longer remained a slave if he accepted Islam. The cases of Hazrats Bilal, Zaid and others are good instances.

(ii) Those who purchased their freedom by money were let off as free men.

(iii) Those who were unable to pay money were sometimes asked to teach as a price of their liberty.

(iv) For certain sins of omissions and commissions, they were allowed liberty.

(v) The Prophet passed order that the slaves would be able to purchase their liberty by the wages of their service.

(vi) If masters were asked to write down term of freedom by the slaves, they were to yield to it. The Quran says: And as for those who ask for a writing from among those whom your right hands possessed, give them the writing—24:33Q.

(vii) Zakat was to be spent for freeing the captives—9:60Q.

(viii) Money from the State Exchequer was to be spent for their freedom. The Quran says: And give them out of the wealth of Allah which He has given you—24:33Q.

(ix) A fugitive fleeing to the territories of Islam should be considered as enfranchised.

(x) A child of a slave woman shall follow the status of the father. In this way, there would remain no system of slavery.

(xi) The mother of the above child shall become free after the death of her husband.

(xii) Slavery by purchase and sale was discountenanced. This was strictly followed at the time of the Prophet and the four Caliphs, but later on some of the Caliphs and kings reverted to the old practice and had some rules drawn up by some jurists under their influence which still confuse many minds.

(xiii) Nothing is dearer to Allah than emancipation of slaves—27:39Qw ; 22;37 ; 25:14.

(c) Treatment towards Slaves. Besides the above rules, the Prophet laid down instructions for manumission of slaves in exchange of getting rewards, and for good treatment towards them.

(i) The masters were to address the male and female slaves as "my young man" and "my young maid".

(ii) The masters were forbidden to exact more work than is just and proper,

(iii) All slaves were to be dressed, clothed and fed exactly as their masters and mistresses.

(iv) No mother was to be separated from the child, nor brother from brother, nor father from son, nor husband from wife, nor one relative from another.

(d) Slave women and girls. Regarding those captives of war who were females, the question is whether cohabitation can legally be had with them. The Quran clearly lays down: And marry those among you who are single and those who are fit among your male slaves and your female slaves—2:42Q. Again the Quran says:

See note 165 for details.

Do not compel your slave girls to prostitution when they desire to keep chaste, in order to seek the frail good of this world's life—24:33Q. These verses clearly indicate that when war ceases, the slave women and girls, when taken at home, cannot be used for sexual intercourse without regular marriage. Look at the case of the Prophet. He did not keep any captive woman of war without marriage. Then turning again to another verse of the Quran, we find that marriage is necessary to legalise intercourse with captive girls. It says. Marry only one or what your right hands have possessed—4:3w. It appears from another verse which enjoins marriage with all including captives except some relations within prohibited degrees—1:24Q. This was repeated in the verse: (He may marry) of those whom your right hands have possessed from among your believing maidens—4:25Q. There is mention of fornication in the above verse if the slave girls are not taken lawfully in marriage. From the above, it is evident that without marriage, no slave girl can be used for sexual luxury.

CHPTER XXIV

1129. Oath

(a) Oath and its kinds. Oath means a solemn promise given or taken in the performance or avoidance of a thing. An oath is taken to make an assertion more convincing. Oath is of three kinds: Gamus (غموس), Lagudah (لغوة) and Munaqedah (منعقدة). The first kind is a false oath over a thing that is past or present. For example, a man takes oath by saying: I have certainly seen such and such an incident. Such an oath-taker commits sin but there is no expiation for him except repentance. The 1128. Muslim also narrated this tradition with a slight difference in language.

Holy Quran says: And fulfil the covenant of Allah when you have made a covenant and do not break the oath after its confirmation, and you have indeed made Allah a surety for you. Surely Allah knows what you do—16:91Q. Lagudah is an oath over a past or present affair but is proved to be a misconjecture out of mistake as "Certainly Zaid is coming," while the fact is the contrary. Such an oath-taker commits no sin. The third kind Munaqedah is an intentional oath to do or not do a thing in future. It is wajeb to fulfil it—24:6.7.

Random oaths are not sinful. The Quran says: Allah will not call you to account for what is vain in your oaths, but He will call you to account for what your hearts have earned—2:224Q. This is an unintentional swearing in ordinary conversations. Intentional swearing shall not be resorted to without any thought of fulfilling it. The Quran says: And do not make your oath a means of deceit between you lest a foot should slip after its stability and taste evil because you turned from Allah's way—16:94Q.

(b) Formulas of oath. An oath may be taken by using the names of Allah or any of His attributes excepting His wrath, knowledge and mercy, such as "By Allah." The word Insha-Allah (إن شاء الله—If Allah wills) does not form a solemn oath—24:19Q. "By One in whose hand there stands the life of Muhammad" was the usual form of oath-taking of the Prophet—21:17. God took oath in the last verses of Quran in another form. A man is, however, debarred from swearing by the Quran (Hedayah). No oath shall be taken by the names of the father and mother (24:2), nor by the names of idols (24:5) nor by religions other than Islam (24:5), as such oaths constitute polytheism—24:14.

(c) Expiation of oath-breaking. Expiation is compulsory whether the oath or vow is wilful or under a deception of memory. This is according to Imam Abu Hanifa. The Quran also says: Allah sanctioned for you expiation of your oaths—66:2Q. Imams Shafeyi and Malek hold that in case of abinitio illegal things, expiation is not compulsory. The general rule is that oath shall not be broken. God confirms it in verse 16:91Q.

If, however, an oath is in connection with an unlawful thing, it must be broken but expiation is necessary. An oath regarding wife can be broken with expiation—24:9. About expiation of an oath, the Quran says. Its expiation is the feeding of ten poor men out of the moderate food you feed your families with, or their clothing, or the freeing of a captive, but whoso cannot find (means), then fasting for three days. This is the expiation of your oaths when you swear. And guard your oaths—5:89Q.

4. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso swears and says in his swearing "In the name of Lat and Ujja", let him say "There is no god but Allah"; and whoso says to his companion "Come, I shall play with you", let him speak the truth. —Agreed,

5. Sabet-b-Zuhhak reported that the Apostle Allah said: Whoso swears falsely in the name of a religion other than Islam, becomes just as he said, 1180 and there is no vow for a man in what he does not control. Whoso commits suicide in the world with anything will be punished therewith on the Resurrection Day. Whoso curses a believer is like one who murders him; whoso imputes infidelity to a believer is like one who murders him; whoso demands a false claim to have increase therewith, Allah will give him no increase but poverty.

—Agreed.

6. Abu Musa reported that the Apostle of Allah said: By Allah, I shall not, if Allah willing, take an oath and then see another thing better than it, except that I shall make expiation for my oath and do one which is better. 1181 —Agreed.

7. Abdur Rahman-b-Samorah reported that the Apostle of

عَنْ ثَابِتِ بْنِ الضَّحَّاكِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ حَلَفَ عَلٰى مِلَّةٍ غَيْرِ الْاِسْلَامِ كَاذِبًا فَهُوَ كَمَا قَالَ وَلَيْسَ عَلٰى ابْنِ اٰدَمَ نَذْرٌ فِيْمَا لَا يَمْلِكُ وَمَنْ قَتَلَ نَفْسَهُ بِشَيْءٍ فِي الدُّنْيَا عُذِّبَ بِهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ وَمَنْ لَعَنَ مُؤْمِنًا فَهُوَ كَقَتْلِهِ وَمَنْ قَذَفَ مُؤْمِنًا بِكُفْرٍ فَهُوَ كَقَتْلِهِ وَمَنِ ادَّعٰى دَعْوٰى كَاذِبَةً لِيَتَكَثَّرَ بِهَا لَمْ يَزِدْهُ اللّٰهُ اِلَّا قِلَّةً * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عَنْ اَبِي مُوْسٰى قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِنِّيْ وَاللّٰهِ اِنْ شَاءَ اللّٰهُ لَا اَحْلِفُ عَلٰى يَمِيْنٍ فَاَرٰى غَيْرَهَا خَيْرًا مِّنْهَا اِلَّا كَفَّرْتُ عَنْ يَمِيْنِيْ وَاَتَيْتُ الَّذِيْ هُوَ خَيْرٌ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ

1180. This is because another religion is preferred other than Islam which is derogatory to the dignity of the best religion. Outward forms for showing respect to Islam must be observed. Abu Hanifa and others say that in case of breach of oath like this, expiation becomes binding but Imams Malek and Shafeyi hold otherwise. They say however that the man commits sin in that case.

1181. The meaning is that if I take an oath not to do a thing but subsequently it appears to be better, then my duty is to give expiation for breach of oath and to do the thing which appears better.

رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم يَا عَبْدَ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنَ سَمُرَةَ لَا تَسْأَلِ الْإِمَارَةَ فَإِنَّكَ إِنْ أُوتِيتَهَا عَنْ مَسْأَلَةٍ وُكِلْتَ إِلَيْهَا وَإِنْ أُوتِيتَهَا عَنْ غَيْرِ مَسْأَلَةٍ أُعِنْتَ عَلَيْهَا وَإِذَا حَلَفْتَ عَلَى يَمِينٍ فَرَأَيْتَ غَيْرَهَا خَيْرًا مِنْهَا فَكَفِّرْ عَنْ يَمِينِكَ وَأْتِ الَّذِي هُوَ خَيْرٌ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فَأْتِ الَّذِي هُوَ خَيْرٌ وَكَفِّرْ عَنْ يَمِينِكَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

Allah said: O Abdur Rahaman-b-Samorah, don't seek to rule, because if you are appointed to it on demand, you are entrusted with it; and if you are appointed without demand, you are given help over it; and when you take an oath and then consider that the other thing is better than it, then atone for your oath and do what is better. In a narration: Do what is better and atone for your oath. —Agreed.

8. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso takes an oath and then sees another thing better than it, let him expiate for his oath and let him do (the latter). —Muslim.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ أَنَّ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم قَالَ مَنْ حَلَفَ عَلَى يَمِينٍ فَرَأَى خَيْرًا مِنْهَا فَلْيُكَفِّرْ عَنْ يَمِينِهِ وَلْيَفْعَلْ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

9. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Insistence of any of you in his oath about his wife is more sinful near Allah than payment of its expiation which Allah has made binding upon him. [1182] —Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم لَأَنْ يَلَجَّ أَحَدُكُمْ بِيَمِينِهِ فِي أَهْلِهِ آثَمُ لَهُ عِنْدَ اللهِ مِنْ أَنْ يُعْطِيَ كَفَّارَتَهُ الَّتِي افْتَرَضَ اللهُ عَلَيْهِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

10. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Your oath shall be about what your companion seeks you to speak the truth. [1183] —Muslim.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم يَمِينُكَ عَلَى مَا يُصَدِّقُكَ عَلَيْهِ صَاحِبُكَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1182. This means that to take oath about a lawful thing with regard to family-members is more sinful than its breach. A man takes oath that he will not go to his wife for one month. That should be broken, because it is a greater sin. Atonement of sin must, however, be made. By this, there is indirect hint that domestic peace is absolutely necessary in a family for progress in all walks of life.

1183. The companion here is the oath seeker. Oath must be taken on that particular

11. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Oath is according to the intention of the oath-giver. —Muslim.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم اَلْيَمِيْنُ عَلٰى نِيَّةِ الْمُسْتَحْلِفِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

12. Ayesha reported that this verse was revealed: Allah will not overtake you for careless talk in your oath, for a man's saying "No, by Allah", "Yes, by Allah". 1184 —Bukhari.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ اُنْزِلَتْ هٰذِهِ الْاٰيَةُ لَا يُؤَاخِذُكُمُ اللهُ بِاللَّغْوِ فِيْ اَيْمَانِكُمْ فِيْ قَوْلِ الرَّجُلِ لَا وَاللهِ وَبَلٰى وَاللهِ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

13. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Don't swear in the name of your fathers, nor of your mothers, nor of the partners; nor swear in the name of Allah unless you are truthful. —Abu Daud, Nisai.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم لَا تَحْلِفُوْا بِاٰبَائِكُمْ وَلَا بِاُمَّهٰتِكُمْ وَلَا بِالْاَنْدَادِ وَلَا تَحْلِفُوْا بِاللهِ اِلَّا وَاَنْتُمْ صَادِقُوْنَ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

14. Ibn Omar reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Whoso takes oath in name other than of Allah sets up indeed a partner with Him. 1185 —Tirmizi.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللهِ صلعم يَقُوْلُ مَنْ حَلَفَ بِغَيْرِ اللهِ فَقَدْ اَشْرَكَ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

15. Boraidah reported that the Ms. of Allah said: Whoso takes oath in the name of trust, is not of us. 1186 —Abu Daud, Nisai.

عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم مَنْ حَلَفَ بِالْاَمَانَةِ فَلَيْسَ مِنَّا * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ) thing which is the bone of contention.

1184. It is the practice of the Arabs that they say almost in every talk—No, by Allah; or yes, by Allah. This is however not an oath in the proper sense of the term but a careless talk which is mentioned in the Quran and for which there will be no punishment.

1185. The author of Mazhere Hoque expresses the opinion that if an oath is taken without definite intention but out of daily habits, there will be no Shirk and consequently no sin.

1186. This was forbidden as it is the practice of the People of the Book.

"I am free from Islam," he becomes as he has said if he is a liar; and if he is truthful, he will never return to Islam in peace.[1187] —Abu Daud, Nisai, Ibn Majah.

20. Abul Ahwas Auf-b-Malek reported from his father who said: I asked—O ms. of Allah, inform me about my cousin to whom I come begging but who does neither give me, nor keep my relationship. Afterwards he stands in need to me then comes to me and begs of me, but I have taken oath not to give him, nor to keep blood 1187. If a man takes an oath by saying "If I do not do this, I shall be free from Islam." he commits a sin. If a man utters this, he indeed becomes dissatisfied with Islam; and if a truthful man utters this, his Islam will be bad.

He said : Make amends for your oath. —Nisai, Ibn Majah.

1138. Vow (نذر)

Vow is akin to oath. Vow is a thing which is made binding on a person on whom it was not binding previously. It becomes binding (واجب) on the vow-taker to fulfil his vow provided it does not concern a thing which is illegal according to the Shariat of Islam. Imam Abu Hanifa and Ahmad hold, however, that even in case of a vow with regard to an illegal thing, expiation is necessary (24:29). Vow (نذر) is not lawful except for the sake of Allah. It cannot legally be made in favour of a Pir (spiritual guide), dear friend, saint, angel, Prophet, or any man or thing. If, however, it is taken in such a form as "If Allah cures me, I shall pay Rs 100 towards the construction of a mosque, or for any other religious purpose," it is lawful. The expiation of vow is the same as in oath—24:24.

21. Abu Hurairah and Ibn Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Don't take vow, because a vow does not control anything over Pre-destination,

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ وَابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تَنْذِرُوْا فَاِنَّ النَّذْرَ لَا

22. Ayesha reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso takes a vow to obey Allah, let him obey Him; and whoso takes a vow to disobey Him, let him not disobey Him. —Bukhari.

23. Imran-b-Hussain reported that the Apostle of Allah said: There is no fulfilment of a vow about sin, nor about what a servant does not control. In a narration—There is no vow in disobedience to Allah. 1140 —Muslim.

24. Oqbah-b-Amer reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The expiation of a vow is expiation of an oath. —Muslim.

25. Ibn Abbas reported: The Holy Prophet was delivering sermon, when lo! he was by the side of a man standing. He asked about him. They said: Abu Israil. He took a vow that he would remain standing; he would neither sit nor take shelter under a shade, nor talk but keep fast. The Holy Prophet said: Give him

1139. The miser does not give almis unless compelled by unforseen calamities. At that time, he takes a vow of charity provided a certain calamity is removed.

1140. A vow regarding commission of a sin is disallowed. No expiation is required in case of breach of such a vow according to Imam Malek and Shafeyi but expiation is required according to Imam Abu Hanifa.

26. Anas reported that the Apostle of Allah said to an old man who was being led by his two sons. He asked: What is the matter with him? They said: He made a vow that he would walk. He said: Verily Allah is free from this self-inflicment, and he ordered him to ride. Agreed upon it. And In a narration of Muslim, from Abu Hurairah, he said: Ride on, O old man, because Allah is free from want of you and of your vow. 1142

عَنْ اَنَسٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم رَاٰى شَيْخًا يُهَادٰى بَيْنَ ابْنَيْهِ فَقَالَ مَا بَالُ هٰذَا قَالُوْا نَذَرَ اَنْ يَّمْشِيَ قَالَ اِنَّ اللّٰهَ عَنْ تَعْذِيْبِ هٰذَا نَفْسَهٗ لَغَنِيٌّ وَاَمَرَهٗ اَنْ يَّرْكَبَ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ ارْكَبْ اَيُّهَا الشَّيْخُ فَاِنَّ اللّٰهَ غَنِيٌّ عَنْكَ وَعَنْ نَذْرِكَ *

27. Ibn Abbas reported that Sa'ad-b-Obadah asked decision about a vow which was due from his mother who died before she had fulfilled it. He gave decision to him that he should fulfil it on her behalf. 1143 —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ سَعْدَ بْنَ عُبَادَةَ اسْتَفْتَى النَّبِيَّ صلعم فِيْ نَذْرٍ كَانَ عَلٰى اُمِّهٖ تُوُفِّيَتْ قَبْلَ اَنْ تَقْضِيَهٗ فَاَفْتَاهُ اَنْ يَّقْضِيَهٗ عَنْهَا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1141. Fasting in fulfilment of a vow for the whole year is allowed except for the sheduled five days.

1142. According to Imam Shafeyi, no expiation in case of such breach is necessary. Imam Abu Hanifa says that there is expiation of the sacrifice of an animal in such a case. It is said by the Sunni Ulemas that in case of a vow of pilgrimage, it becomes binding to fulfil it on the part of an able-bodied man.

1143. According to this decision, Sa'ad supplied drinking water to the people. According to Sunni law, the heirs are bound to fulfil a vow of their predecessor if it concerns with the property left by the deceased. If it can not be fulfilled by such property, it is not binding.

28. Ka'ab-b-Malek reported: I asked: O Ms. of Allah, verily my repentance is that I should give away in charity the whole of my property to Allah and to His Apostle. The Prophet said: Keep something of your property; that is better for you. I said: I shall then keep my share which has been acquired at Khaiber. 1148a —Agreed,

عَنْ كَعْبِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم اِنَّ مِنْ تَوْبَتِي اَنْ اَنْخَلِعَ مِنْ مَالِي صَدَقَةً اِلَى اللهِ وَ اِلَى رَسُولِهِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم اَمْسِكْ بَعْضَ مَالِكَ فَهُوَ خَيْرٌ لَكَ قُلْتُ فَاِنِّي اُمْسِكُ سَهْمِي الَّذِي بِخَيْبَرَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

29. Ayesha reported that the Ms. of Allah said: There is no vow in transgression. Its expiation is expiation of oath. —Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Nisai.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم لَا نَذْرَ فِي مَعْصِيَةٍ فَكَفَّارَتُهُ كَفَّارَةُ الْيَمِينِ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

30. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso takes a vow without naming it, its expiation is the expiation of an oath; and whoso takes a vow in transgression, its expiation is expiation of an oath; and whoso takes a vow which he cannot fulfil, its expiation is expiation of an oath; and whoso takes a vow which he can fulfill, let him fulfil it. —Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

1148a. When the Holy Prophet went to the expedition of Tabuk, Ka'ab-b-Malek, Mararah-b-Rabi, and Hilab-b-Ummayyah kept behind and did not join the expedition. When the Prophet returned from Tabuk with success, he ordered his companions to stop conversations with the above three persons. They then became repentant, and their repentance was accepted by Allah in the following verse:—And upon the three who kept behind etc (9:118Q), The repentance here mentioned is in this connection. This shows that beyond 1rd, no property can be disposed of if there is heir. This is a sound policy from worldly point of view.

31. Sabet-b-Zuhhak reported that a man took a vow at the time of the Apostle of Allah to sacrifice a camel at Bowalah. He came to the Ms. of Allah and informed him. The Holy Prophet said: Is there any idol from the idols of the Days of Ignorance to be worshipped? 'No' said they. He said: Is their any festival out of their festivals? 'No' said they. The Messenger of Allah said: Fulfil your vow, because there is no fulfilment of a vow in disobedience to Allah, nor in what the son of Adam does not control. —Abu Daud.

عَنْ ثَابِتِ بْنِ الضَّحَّاكِ قَالَ نَذَرَ رَجُلٌ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنْ يَنْحَرَ اِبِلًا بِبُوَانَةَ فَاَتَى رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَاَخْبَرَهُ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم هَلْ كَانَ فِيهَا وَثَنٌ مِنْ اَوْثَانِ الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ يُعْبَدُ قَالُوا لَا قَالَ فَهَلْ كَانَ فِيهَا عِيدٌ مِنْ اَعْيَادِهِمْ قَالُوا لَا فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَوْفِ بِنَذْرِكَ فَاِنَّهُ لَا وَفَاءَ لِنَذْرٍ فِي مَعْصِيَةِ اللّٰهِ وَلَا فِي مَالَا يَمْلِكُ ابْنُ اٰدَمَ * (ابوداود)

32. Amr-b-Shuaib from his father who from his grandfather reported that a woman asked: O Ms. of Allah, verily I took a vow to strike you upon your head with 'daf'. He said: Fulfil your vow.[1144] —Abu Daud.

عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ اَبِيهِ عَنْ جَدِّهِ اَنَّ امْرَاَةً قَالَتْ يَا رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ اِنِّي نَذَرْتُ اَنْ اَضْرِبَ عَلَى رَاْسِكَ بِالدُّفِّ قَالَ اَوْفِي بِنَذْرِكِ * (ابوداود)

33. Jaber-b-Abdullah reported that a man stood on the Day of Victory and asked: O Ms. of Allah, I took a vow for the Almighty and Glorious Allah that if Allah give you victory over Mecca, I shall say prayer in the Holy House (of Jerusalem) of two rak'ats. He said:

عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ اَنَّ رَجُلًا قَامَ يَوْمَ الْفَتْحِ فَقَالَ يَارَسُولَ اللّٰهِ اِنِّي نَذَرْتُ لِلّٰهِ عَزَّوَجَلَّ اِنْ فَتَحَ اللّٰهُ عَلَيْكَ مَكَّةَ اَنْ اُصَلِّيَ فِي بَيْتِ الْمَقْدِسِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ

1144. To this tradition, Razin added: She said: I took a vow that I would sacrifice in such a place etc. as in the above tradition. This also shows that to beat 'daf' is lawful.

Pray here. Then he asked him again. He said: Pray here. Then he asked him again. He said: Pray here. Then he asked him. He said: In that case, the affair is yours.

—Abu Daud.

34. Ibn Abbas reported that the sister of Oqbah-b-Amer took a vow to make pilgrimage on foot while she was not capable of doing it. The Holy Prophet said: Verily Allah is free from walking of your sister. Let her ride and offer a young camel for sacrifice. Abu Daud and Darimi narrated it. And in a narration of Abu Daud: The Holy Prophet ordered her to ride and to send offering. And in his (another) narration: The Holy Prophet said: Verily Allah does not gain anything for trouble of your sister. Let her make pilgrimage by riding, and let her make expiation for her oath. 1145

35. Abdullah-b-Malek reported that Oqbah-b-A'mer asked the Prohhet about his sister who took vow that she would make pilgrimage barefooted, and bear-headed. He said: Bid her, let her take veil, and let

36. Sayeed-b-Musayyeb reported that there was a heritage for two brothers of the Ansars. One of them asked another for partition. He said: If you repeat asking me about partition, the whole of my property will be on the floor of the Ka'ba. Omar said to him: Verily the Ka'ba is free from your property. Make expiation for your oath and speak to your brother (about it), because I heard the Ms. of Allah say: There is no oath on you and no vow in transgression of Allah, nor in breaking connection with kith and kin, nor in what he does not control. —Abu Daud.

37. Imran-b-Hussain reported: I heard the Ms. of Allah say: Vow is of two kinds: Whoso has vowed in obedience (to Allah), that is for Allah, and there shall be fulfilment therein; and whoso has vowed about transgression, that is for the devil, and there shall be no fulfilment therein, and its expiation will be the expiation of oath. —Nisai.

1146. This shows that women shall put on veil even at the time of "Ihram", while the males shall remain uncovered of head. Veil has therefore been sanctioned by Islam, and this is really Purdah which is termed in our country.

342w. Abu Lobabah reported that he asked the Holy Prophet: Verily my repentance is that I should leave the land of my people wherein I committed sin, and dispose of the whole of my properties in charity. He said: ⅓rd is lawful for you. 1147 —Razin.

عَنْ اَبِي لُبَابَةَ اَنَّهُ قَالَ لِلنَّبِيِّ صلعم اِنَّ مِنْ تَوْبَتِي اَنْ اَهْجُرَ دَارَ قَوْمِي الَّتِي اَصَبْتُ فِيهَا الذَّنْبَ وَاَنْ اَنْخَلِعَ مِنْ مَالِي كُلِّهِ صَدَقَةً قَالَ يُجْزِئُ عَنْكَ الثُّلُثُ * (رَزِينٌ)

343w. Muhammad-b-Muntasher reported that a man took a vow to sacrifice himself if Allah saves him from his enemy. He asked Ibn Abbas who said to him: Ask Masruq. He asked him and he said to him: Don't sacrifice yourself, because if you are a believer, you will be killing a believing soul; and if you are an unbeliever, you will be hastening towards the fire. Purchase a ram, and sacrifice it for the poor, for verily Isaac is better than you. and he was ransomed with a ram. He then informed Ibn Abbas. He said: Thus I wished to give you decision. —Razin.

عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُنْتَشِرِ قَالَ اِنَّ رَجُلًا نَذَرَ اَنْ يَنْحَرَ نَفْسَهُ اِنْ نَجَّاهُ اللّٰهُ مِنْ عَدُوِّهِ فَسَاَلَ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ فَقَالَ لَهُ سَلْ مَسْرُوقًا فَسَاَلَهُ فَقَالَ لَهُ لَا تَنْحَرْ نَفْسَكَ فَاِنَّكَ اِنْ كُنْتَ مُؤْمِنًا قَتَلْتَ نَفْسًا مُؤْمِنَةً وَاِنْ كُنْتَ كَافِرًا تَعَجَّلْتَ اِلَى النَّارِ وَاشْتَرِ كَبْشًا فَاذْبَحْهُ لِلْمَسَاكِينِ فَاِنَّ اِسْحَاقَ خَيْرٌ مِنْكَ وَفُدِيَ بِكَبْشٍ فَاَخْبَرَ ابْنَ عَبَّاسٍ فَقَالَ هٰكَذَا كُنْتُ اَرَدْتُ اَنْ اُفْتِيَكَ * (رَزِينٌ)

1147. When the Holy Prophet laid siege to the fort of Banu Quraizah, the Jews asked for a companion of the Holy Prophet and not the Prophet to act as mediator. Abu Lobabah was selected by the Jews for the purpose. He went to the Jews who honoured him with due honour. He was moved to compassion and told the Jews secretly that the Prophet would have put them to death, if he was not selected as mediator. The verse was then revealed regarding Abu Lobabah: O those who believe, don't commit treachery with Allah and His Prophet and your (Q). Afterwards he became repentant and took a vow of not removing himself from a corner of the mosque. He tied himself to a post for seven days. Then his repentance was accepted.

CHAPTER XXV

1148. The Laws of Crimes

(a) Meaning of Hudud. The penal laws of Islam are called Hudud which is a plural of Had meaning restraint or limit. Hence Had means a restrictive ordinance respecting lawful and unlawful things. In Jurisprudence, Hudud means all laws of crimes of which punishment has been prescribed in the Holy Quran. The offences whereof the punishments have not been prescribed by the Holy Quran are generally called T'zir (minor crimes) or Oqubah (punishment). The punishment of these minor crimes has been left entirely at the discretion of the rulers or Imams, and consequently of the judges and magistrates of the Estate.

(b) All violations of the divine laws are not punishable in this world. The violation of the important rights of men in general is punishable. The object of Islam is peace with God and peace with His creation. The violations of the laws breaking peace with God and the violations of the laws breaking peace with the lower animals and plants have got no prescribed ordinances in the Quran. The Hudud or the laws of crimes are only concerned with the violations of the principal rights of men. The general principle of punishment is retaliation but there is the reservation of forgiveness. An individual whose rights have been encroached may forgive or waive his right of retaliation but the Estate or its officers cannot do. In the British law, the right of mercy and pardon goes to the head of a Government but it is otherwise in Islam. Only the person wronged can forgive. Islam therefore gives a right in the oppressed person. Islam says that Allah will not forgive an encroachment upon the rights of the fellow-beings unless the persons affected forgive. Even God Himself delegates the power of forgiveness to the injured. Hence the governments may emulate His example by not interfering with the rights of the oppressed people. The Quran says: And the punishment of evil is the punishment proportionate thereto, but whoso forgives and amends, he shall have his reward from Allah—42:40Q. So God gives an opportunity to mankind of exercising the virtue of forgiveness.

(c) Everybody, Muslim or non-Muslim, is equal in the eye of the criminal laws. Muslims or non-Muslims are equally liable for commission of the ordained crimes and there is not the slightest distinction in God-made laws. The Holy Prophet said that the former generations were punished as the criminals coming from upper class were let off without punishment while the criminals coming from the lower class were punished. The Prophet said: Whoso kills a covenanted man, shall not perceive the odour of Paradise (25:10). The Quran says: Whoso kills anyone, unless it be for man-slaughter or mischief in the land, it is as it were he slew all men—5:32Q. This verse does not speak of only the Muslims, but also of the people in general. The Prophet said: Their property is like our property and their blood is like our blood (25:10). Once the Prophet said: Had Fatima committed theft, I would have cut off her hands (25:2). Hazrat Ali said: The blood of the Zimmi (protected non Muslim) is like the blood of the Muslim; his goods and chattles are like those of the Muslims (The spirit of Islam). Amongst the Muslims themselves, there is the same equality in the execution of the ordained sentences. The Prophet said: The Muslims—their bloods are equal (3:95). The only distinction that can be made is with the execution of the sentences for minor crimes which have been left at the discretion of the judges and magistrates. In these latter cases, respectable men may be shown clemency according to extrenuating circumstances of the crimes—25:101.

(d) The major crimes for which punishments have been ordained are the following: (1) Murder, (2) dacoity and rebellion, (3) wheredom, (4) theft, (5) accusation of whoredom. They have been separately discussed in their appropriate sections.

1. Ali reported from the Holy Prophet who said: Whoso عَنْ عَلِيٍّ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ مَنْ commits an ordained crime, his sentence is hastened in this world. Then Allah is much more just than that He should make the punishment double on His servant in the next world. Whoso commits an ordained crime and then Allah conceals it from him and pardons him, Allah is more honourable than that He should return to a thing which He has pardoned.

1149. Plead in ordained crimes

Pleading in the major crimes is unlawful. The Quran says : And let not pity for them detain you in the matter of obedience to Allah if you believe in Allah and the last day—24:2Q. It appears, therefore, that in order to secure peace and order in the land, punishment of the crimes must be meted out, and there shall be no pleading for remission thereof. The Prophet also prohibited pleading in the major crimes against truth. He said : He who guides towards good has got a portion of it, and he who guides towards bad has got a portion of it. It appears therefore that pleading for a good cause and truth brings reward, while pleading for bad cause and for establishing a false case brings sin and ruin.

2. Ayesha reported that verily as for the Quraish—the affair of a woman of Mukhjumiyah tribe who had stolen gave them much anxiety. They said: Who will plead for her to the Ms. of Allah? They said: Who will dare it than Osamah, son of Zaid, who is a favourite of the Ms. of Allah. Then Osamah pleaded to him. The Ms. of Allah said: You plead for a crime out of the ordained crimes of Allah! Then he got up and delivered sermon. Afterwards he said: Verily those who were before you were destroyed because when a noble man from them committed theft, they let him off, and when a weak man committed theft from among them, they executed sentence on him. By Allah, had Fatemah, daughter of Muhammad, committed theft, I would have cut off her hand.

—Agreed.

3. Abbullah-b-Omar reported: I heard the Ms. of Allah say: Whoso's pleading prevents a sentence out of the ordained sentences of Allah, he has indeed opposed Allah; and whoso contends in an unlawful thing while he knows it (as such), will continue to be in the wrath of Allah till he leaves it; and

1150. The sentence of murder

The sin of murder is great. It is rather the greatest sin so far as the violation of the rights of the follow-bings is concerned. Hence the extreme penalty of law has been prescribed for murder. In other words, there is the sentence of death in case of culpable homicide. This is the general law of Islam. Islam, however, unlike any other system of law, gave a right in the heirs of the murdered person to forego the sentence of death prescribed by law and take sufficient indemnity for murder. Blood-money is therefore a good substitute for capital punishment because the loss by murder of a sole bread-winner to old and helpless parents is hardly compensated by the hanging of the murderer. The Quran says: And whoever is slain unjustly, We have indeed given to his heir authority—7:33Q. The heirs may even remit the money and show an act of clemency. This forgiveness is regarded as a great meritorious act in the eye of religion. The Quran says: O you who believe! retaliation is prescribed for you in the matter of the murdered person, the free for the free, the slave for the slave, the female for the female; but if remission is made by anyone of his (aggrieved) brother, then blood-wit should be paid accor- to usage, payment should be made to him in good manner. There is life for you in the law of retaliation, O man of understanding, that you may guard yourselves—2:178, 179. The Quran again says; Whoso forgives and amends, he shall have his reward from Allah—42:40Q.

Scanning the verses a little, it is seen that the murderer shall be put to death. If a free man is the murderer, he himself is to be put to death irrespective of the status of the murdered person who may be a slave, or a woman or a non-Muslim. In pre-Islamic Arabia, there was distinction. By this verse the distinction was removed. In the Indian Penal Code, the heirs of the murdered person gets nothing, nor are they given any right of forgiveness. It is only Islam that gives a legal right on the oppressed persons. It is for the people who argue to abolish capital sentence to judge as to which law is better. This is so far as the culpable homicide is concerned. With regard to unintentional murder, there is no capital sentence. Only blood-wit has been prescribed. The Quran says: And it does not befit a believer to kill a believer except by mistake, and whoso kills a believer by mistake, he should free a believing slave and blood-movey should be paid to his people unless they remit it as alms; but if he be from a tribe hostile to you and he is a believer, the freeing of a believing slave suffices, and if he is from a tribe between whom and you there is treaty, the blood-money should be paid to his people along with the freeing of a slave, but he who cannot find a slave should fast for two consequitive months—4:92Q. If the murderer is doubtful, blood-money may be ordered to be paid. Where the murderer cannot be discovered, blood-money shall be paid from the State Treasury.

It appears from the tradition 25:14 that a Muslim shall not be killed for the murder of a non-Muslim. This is however applicable in a state of unrest and not in normal and peaceful times. (See note 1160). This is also clear from hadis no 25:10.

5. Abdullah-b-Mus'ud reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The murderer of a Muslim bearing witness 'that there is no god but Allah and that I am the Messenger of Allah' is not lawful except for one of the three (reasons): life for a life, a married adulterer and a retrogade from his religion—one who leaves the united body [1151] —Agreed.

8. Meqdad-b-al-Aswad reported that he asked: O Messenger of Allah! informed me that,

Murder of a Muslim is unlawful except for three reasons; (1) for the murder of a man unjustly and without right; (2) for commission of adultery in marriage wed-look; (3) for retrogession from the religion of Islam i.e. a rebel. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that a woman rebel cannot be lawfully murdered.

1152. There are duties towards Allah and duties towards His creatures. The first thing of the former kind of duties that will be asked on the Resurrection Day will be about prayer; and the first thing of the second kind will be about shedding of unlawful blood.

1153. 'Broad minded in his religion' means that he will be under kindness and favour of Allah till he does not shed unlawful blood. As soon as he sheds unlawful blood, he looses the mercy of the Almighty.

He said: Don't kill him. He asked: O Ms. of Allah, verily he cut off one of my hands. The Messenger of Allah said: Don't kill him; if you kill him, he will be in your position before you have killed him, and you are in his position before he uttered what he uttered. 1154 —Agreed.

1157. In Sahihs, Bukhari and Muslim, there is a tradition of this import but not embodied in these words The Holy Prophet read the first portion of this hadis on the day of the conquest of Mecca. Khuja'a killed a man of Huzail in exchange of a man of his own who was killed in the Days of Ignorance. The Holy Prophet paid his blood-price in order to avoid disturbance between the two peoples. According to this hadis, it is seen that the heir of a murdered man has got two courses open to him—either to kill the murderer or to take blood-price. This is the view of Imams Abu Hanifa, Shafeyi Malek and Ahmad. Imam Malek holds however that blood-price is not lawful unless with the consent of the murderer.

1158. Imam Abu Hanifaf differs rom all in this respect that retaliation short of murder cannot be taken. This was done, according to him, from a political point of view.

He replied: By One who split up seeds and created breath, there is nothing with us but what is in the Quran, except understanding which a man is given regarding his Book and what is in the scripture. I asked: And what is in the scripture? He said: (Payment of) blood-money, setting free of a captive, and not to kill a Muslim in exchange of an unbeliever. 1160 —Bukhari.

1160. It means that there is everything in the Quran, but understanding of the Quran is given to few who are truly learned in religion. Majority of the companions, their successors, and the three Imams—Malek, Shafeyi and Ahmad—hold that no Muslim can lawfully be killed for a polytheist whether he be under protection of Muslims or at war. But Imam Abu Hanifa and his followers hold the contrary.

16. Amr-b-Shuaib from his father from his grand-father from Soraqa-b-Malek reported: I was present before the Messenger of Allah while he was giving blood-price to a father from his son, but no son was given such price from his father. 1161 —Tirmizi (Weak).

It is, however, agreed that if a son kills a father, he should be killed in exchange. Imams Shafeyi, Abu Hanifa and Ahmad hold on the basis of this tradition that a father cannot be killed in exchange of a son. Imam Malek holds the contrary with certain modification. This rule also holds good in case of mother, grand-mother, father and grand-father.

1163. Blood-wit

It has already been stated that blood-wit as a good substitute for capital sentence has been prescribed. The Holy Quran has not prescribed any fixed standard of blood-money. It is to be paid according to usage and circumstances of each case and pecuniary condition of the heirs of the murdered person. Diyyat (blood-wit) is of two kinds—Mugallazah and Mukhaffalah. According to the first kind, the diyyat is 100 camels of various ages. This is according to Imam Abu Hanifa and Abu Yusuf. The second kind prescribes 1000 dinars (nearly Rs. 1759), or 100,00 dirhams (Rs. 2500) as indemnity. Now-a-days, the value of money has been greatly increased. Hence the heirs of a murdered person should get, if Islamic law is followed, not less than Rs. 10,000 which is a good substitute for capital sentence. The compensation for minor crimes short of death has been prescribed in tradition 25:25.

21. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah gave decision about a child in the womb of a woman of Banu Lihyan which fell down dead with the blood-wit of a slave or a slave-girl. Afterwards the woman against whom the decree was passed for blood wit died. The Holy Prophet decided that her heritage will devolve on her

22. Same reported: Two women of Huzail fought with each other. One of them threw a stone against the other and killed her and what was within her belly. The Holy Prophet gave decision that the blood-wit of the unborn child is the blood-wit of a slave or a slave-girl, and he gave decision for blood-price of the woman upon her murderer and made it (blood-price) a heritage to her children and those with them. —Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ اقْتَتَلَتِ امْرَأَتَانِ مِنْ هُذَيْلٍ فَرَمَتْ إِحْدَاهُمَا الْأُخْرَى بِحَجَرٍ فَقَتَلَتْهَا وَمَا فِي بَطْنِهَا فَقَضَى رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم أَنَّ دِيَةَ جَنِينِهَا غُرَّةٌ عَبْدٌ أَوْ وَلِيدَةٌ وَقَضَى بِدِيَةِ الْمَرْأَةِ عَلَى عَاقِلَتِهَا وَوَرَّثَهَا وَلَدَهَا وَمَنْ مَعَهُمْ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

23. Mugirah-b-Shu'bah reported that two women were quarreling with each other. One of them threw a stone or the stick of a tent against another and thus caused miscarriage of her child in womb. Then the Messenger of Allah gave decision for the blood-wit of a slave or a slave girl for the child, and fixed it upon the paternal relations of the woman. This is the narration of Tirmizi, and in a narration of Muslim: He said that a woman assaulted her companion

1165. Gurrah is equivalent to $\frac{1}{20}$th of the blood price or 500 dirhams. What happened in this case was that two women quarrelled with each other and threw stones. As a result, the pregnant woman suffered abortion. The compensation fixed by the Prophet on the guilty woman was 500 dirhams or Rs. 125 nearly. This devolved on her paternal relations after the death of the guilty woman.

with a stick of tent while she was pregnant and thus killed her. He narrated : One of them belonged to Banu Lihyan. Then the Holy Prophet fixed the blood-price of the murdered woman over the paternal relations of the woman who killed, and 500 dirhams for what was in her womb.

And therein it was : A man shall be killed for (the murder of) a woman. And therein it was : For the (murder of) a soul, there is indemnity of 100 camels, and 1000 dinars upon the owners of gold ; and for a nose which has been cut off from the root, its indemnity is 100 camels, and there is indemnity of murder in case of two teeth, there is indemnity of

29. Amr-b-Shuaib reported from his father from his grandfather that the Messenger of Allah delivered a sermon in the year of Victory. Next he said: O men! there is no covenant in Islam, and whatever covenant existed in the Days of Ignorance, Islam does not help but to bind it more. The believers are one hand against others; the nearest of them take refuge with them, and the farthest of them return to them; their infantry return to those who are sitting. No believer shall be killed in exchange of an unbeliever. The blood-wit of an unbeliever is half of that of a Muslim. There is no Jalab and no Janab and their Zakat will not be levied except before their houses. In a narration, he said: The blood-price of a covenanted non-Muslim is half of that of a free man. 1166 —Abu Daud.

1168. Sin of Murder

Besides the sentence of death or of payment of the blood-money, there is still a great punishment reserved for a murderer to be meted out on the Resurrection Day. The Quran says: He who does this (murder) will find a requital of sin, the punishment shall be doubled for him on the Resurrection Day, and he shall abide therein in abasement—25:68, 69. To murder a man unjustly is a great sin. The Quran repeatedly prohibited it. It says: And do not kill a soul which Allah has forbidden except for a just cause—17:33Q; 6:152Q. In order to magnify the sin of murder, the Quran says: For this reason, We prescribed to the children of Israil that whoso murdered a soul, it is as though he murdered all men; and whoso kept it alive, it is as though he kept alive all men—5:32Q. The gravity of the sin of culpable homicide can easily he guessed from the above verses. The Holy Prophet said: Had the inmates of heaven and earth shared in the murder of a believer, Allah would have thrown them all unto the fire—25:52. The Quran supports this sense. It says: And whoever kills a believer intentionally, his punishment is hell; he shall abide in it, and Allah will send His wrath on him and curse him and prepare for him a painful punishment—4:93Q. From these verses as well as from the traditions under this section, it can be easily imagined that Islam holds out murder as the greatest crime known to human society. Consequently every Muslim should take special attention to keep sanctity of the person and property of his fellow-beings.

Exceptions: In the following cases, however, the murder is lawful and no sin is attached to such act:—

(1) Murder of a person who killed another person without any just cause.

(2) Murder of a rebel or a rebellious dacoit.

(3) Murder of a married person who committed adultery with a woman, or of a married woman with a man. [1]

Contents. Provision is stopped for murder—25:7; sword to be sheathed against one who utters the formula of faith in battle-field —25:8, 9; everything is in the Quran—25:14; abettor to murder is to be imprisoned—25:346w.

1171, Apostacy from Islam merely by itself does not call for capital punishment as it is opposed to the Quranic rule "There is no compulsion in religion"—2:256Q. It therefore applies to an apostate who either joins the enemies' camp, or creates disturbance in the land or fights against Muslims. This interpretation is made clear in hadis no 25:79 where the third man fit to be murdered is said to be at war with Allah and His Prophet.

In Sharhi Sunnat, he added in its first portion*: He said: I came to the Messenger of Allah with my father. He saw my father behind the Ms. of Allah. 1172. It appears apparently from this hadis that the sin of murder is never forgiven like polytheism. This is however contradictory to the Quranic verse: Verily Allah does not forgive that anything should be set up with Him, but He forgives what is besides that to whom He pleases (4:43Q). It has therefore been said by the theologians that it is mentioned here by way of extreme threat of murder.

1178. Suicide

The Holy Prophet said: Whoso kills himself with a thing will be punished on the Resurrection Day therewith—24:5. From this as well as from the traditions of this section, it appears that the sin of suicide is not less than that of murder. He will permanently reside in Hell, as he killed a soul which remembered Allah, or which, if alive, would have remembered Him. Suicide is the result of pangs and overwhelming anxieties which are in turn so many boons for leading a man to Paradise. (See note 67).

55. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso hurls himself down from a mountain and thus kills himself will be in the fire hurling himself down

1177. This means that I'man or faith prevents a believer from killing any person in ambush or treacherously. A true believer cannot perform such an act of secret murder.

The Almighty Allah said: My servant hastened himself to Me and so I made Paradise unlawful for him. —Agreed.

He said: He has forgiven me owing to my migration to His Prophet. He asked: What is with me that I see you with your hands covered? 1185. Oaths for avoidance of the liability of murder

If a person claims a right of retaliation for a murder upon another, and the latter denies it, an oath must be administered to him on his denial. If he takes it, and the charge of murder is not established against him, he shall be declared innocent of the charge. If the murderer is not detected, then oath must be administered to the people to whom he belongs. In case of a denial of oath, a collective fine shall be imposed if the case be not established ; because although a refusal to take an oath is a confession, yet it is attended with a degree of doubt.

1186. Murder of rebels and apostates.

(a) Who are rebels and apostates? Rebles are those who bring disorder in a land by rising against the constituted authorities or established laws of the land. In Islamic Jurisprudence, such laws are the laws of Islam prevalent in a Muslim government. As Allah loves peace and sent His Apostle as the great harbinger of peace, He has strongly condemned rebellion, disorder and dissension in the society, and He has therefore sanctioned the extreme penalty of law i.e. death for the perpretrators of the crime according to the exigencies of time and circumstance. This is the political weapon of Islam for suppressing rebellion and disorder. This also includes dacoity and murder. The Holy Quran says: Rebellion is greater than murder—2:217Q. Don't bring disorder in the land after its peace —7:53Q. Rebellion has been made grossly unlawful by the Quran. It says: My Lord has prohibited.....sin and rebellion without just cause—7:33Q. Surely Allah forbids indecency, evil and rebellion—16:90Q. The Prophet said: There is no sin, which hastens punishment in this world along with what is in store for him in the hereafter except rebellion and severence of blood-tie—2.119. Such being the strong condemnation, severe punishment has been prescribed in the following verse: The sentence of those who wage war against Allah and His Apostle and strive to make mischief in the land is only this that they shall be murdered, or crucified, or their hands and feet shall be cut off on opposite sides, or they shall be imprisoned. There is disgrace for them in this world, and in the hereafter they shall have a severe punishment except those who repent before you have them in your power—5:33Q. This was repeated in hadis 25:79.

Now turning to the case of Apostates, it is seen that they are Murtads who turn away from their religion of Islam after they have accepted it. What is the prescribed sentence for them? In Fatwae Alamgiri, there is an elaborate discussion on this point.

Let us, however, independently deal with this subject in the light of those discussions. What does the Quran say about these apostates? It says: O you who believe! whoever from among you turns back from his religion, then Allah will soon bring a people. He shall love them and they shall love Him—5:54Q. He who disbelieves in Allah after his having believed, not he who is compelled while his heart is at rest on account of faith, but he who opens his chest for disbelief, on them is the wrath of Allah, and they shall have a grievous chastisement—16:106Q. And whoso of you turns back from his religion and then dies while an unbeliever—these it is whose works shall go for nothing in this world, and in the hereafter they will be the inmates of the fire; therein they shall abide—2:217Q. There are some other verses but in all of them there is no prescribed sentence for simple apostacy from the faith of Islam. The reason is obvious. The Quran says: There is no compulsion in religion—2:256Q Hence for the offence of simple apostacy, the Quran cannot prescribe any sentence as it cannot be contradictory. It appears, however, that the jurists prescribed death sentence for the apostates in accordance with the verse 5:33Q. The jurists meant those apostates for this sentence who turn away from the religion of Islam and join the enemies in crushing the infant common-wealth of Islam. The contents of the verse 5:33Q clearly indicate it. This has been made clear by the tradition 25:79. It says: Murder for three causes is lawful—fornication after marraige, fighting with Allah and His Prophet, or for murder. The hadis "whoso changes his religion, kill him (25:74)" should be read along with hadis no. 25:79 and 25 77. In 25:77, the extreme sentence was given because the apostates killed some men. There is not a single instance in which an apostate was killed simply for his apostacy attended with friendship for the Muslims. Hence the apostates for which capital punishment has been prescribed are those who join the enemies and wage war against Islam or create disturbance in the land. [1]

74. Akramah reported that some 'Zindiqs' were brought before Ali. He burnt them. 1188. In living among the polytheists, the Muslims take risks upon their lives. So the Holy Prophet prohibited the Muslims to live among the polytheists permanently. Islam is the symbol of monotheism and as such monotheism and polytheism are diametrically opposed to each other and therefore Muslims and non-Muslims can not live together with perfect observation of religious observances. The last sentence means that the Muslims and the non-Muslims who quarrel with each other should live at such a distance that the fire of the Muslims may not be seen by non-Muslims and vice-versa. When, however, there is emity, there is no harm in living closer still. It appears that the Muslim army here killed a section of the Muslims who used to pray.

86. Abdur Rahman-b-Abd-Allah reported from his father who said : We were with the Apostle of Allah in a journey. He went on his call of nature. We saw a pigeon with two young ones. We took the young ones and then came to the pigeon but it began gave fluttering. Thereupon the Holy Prophet came and said : Who is giving anguish to it on account of her young ones ? Return its young ones to it. And he saw a village of ants which we burnt. He asked : Who has burnt this ? We said : We. He said : He should not punish with the fire except by the Lord of the fire.

1190. Adultery

(a) Sentence of Adultery. Adultery or fornication has been expressly made unlawful by the Almighty Allah as otherwise the society would have been reduced to chaos and disorder. The Holy Quran proclaims : And do not go near fornication. Surely it is an indecency and evil as a method—17:32Q. And do not compel your slave girls to prostitution when they desire to keep chaste—24:33Q. Regarding the sentence of adultery, the Quran says : The adulteress and the adulterer, flog each of them, giving a hundred stripes ; and let not pity for them detain you in the matter of obedience to Allah if you believe in Allah and the last day, and let a party of the believers witness their chastisement (24:2Q). In case of slave-girls, the punishment is half. The Quran says: "And when they (slave-girls) are taken in marriage, then if they are guilty of fornication, they shall suffer half the punishment which is inflicted upon free women—4:25Q. It appears from these clear verses that the ordinance for adultery in case of free married and unmarried men and women are 100 stripes, and that for slaves and female slaves 50 stripes. In meting out this punishment, the Quran draws attention to the fact that forgiveness on the part of one to whom wrong is done is, however, the best. It says: And the recompense of evil is punishment proportionate thereto, but whoso forgives and amends, he shall have his reward from Allah—42:40Q. Thus the Quran recognises the Jewish law of tooth for tooth in some cases as well as the law of Jesus, of turning another face in case one is slapped.

Some traditions occurring in this section prove beyond the shadow of doubt that in case of married male and female, the sentence is nothing short of death or extreme penalty of law; and in case of unmarried men and women, 100 stripes as the Quran lays down. This apparent contradiction between the Quranic verse and tradition has been explained by a few jurists by saying that the verse of stoning to death has been abrogated during life time of the Prophet and therefore it did not find place in the Quran. The verse is said to have run as follows:—

When a man and woman (both married) commit adultery, stone them both; an exemplary punishment from Allah, and Allah is Powerful, Wise. The majority of theologians, the four Imams (Abu Hanifa, Shafeyi, Malek and Ahmad) and other learned jurists hold that the order for stoning to death still exists. The question was raised before the Prophet when it was referred to him. He as the best interpreter of the Quran said that, according to the Book, a married adulterer and a married adulteress shall be put to death. Who can be a greater authority in interpreting the Quran than the Prophet himself? This ordinance was carried out by Hazrats Abu Bakr, Omar and other Caliphs that came after them (25:88). Had the capital sentence in case of married culprits been abrogated, these Caliphs would not have followed the command of the Prophet. Although capital sentence has got no clear mention in the Quranic verses now extant, there is no doubt that there is indication of such a capital sentence in the following verse. "And those who commit indecency from your wives, take four witnesses from you against them. If they witness, keep them imprisoned within the houses till death overtakes them or Allah makes out a way for them (4:15Q) Here there is the sentence of death. Way has been interpreted as the prescribed sentence. In addition to this verse, there are clear authentic traditions to show that the order of capital sentence is still in force. The Prophet said It is unlawful to shed the blood of a Muslim except for one of three causes—apostacy, adultery after marriage and murder—25:45,79. This was the law of the Jews, and the Holy Prophet retained this law out of fear that there might be laxity of morals in latter days. In suitable cases, banishment or exile, or both together, may be passed on such a criminal—25:87.

This ordinance alone is a solution of recent increase of abductions, adultery, fornication, debauchery and indiscriminate criminal and indecent assaults on the females. The measure seems to be the most severe but the evil is also the most heinous creating a great disturbance in the society. It has been found that lenient dealings with the criminals of this sort give more encouragement for doing these misdeeds. No measure short of extreme penalty can stop these offenders. Slight punishment shows indeed a very low standard of sexual moral sense of the people. This shows that the Prophet had the greatest moral sense in the world and he attached the greatest value to morality. Let the critics of the Prophet's character ponder now over this point in judging the true character of the Prophet. The breach of the greatest trust which is imposed in a man or a woman, the breach which ruins families, destroys house-hold peace, deprives innocent children of their loving mother, a beloved husband of his dear wife, is not looked upon as seriously as the breach of trust of a few pounds. This lack of sexual morality gives a sense of too much severity in the Islamic sentence in the minds of the modern educated men.

(b) Proof necessary for establishing the crime. For the capital sentence, there is, however, required a very strict proof. The Holy Prophet meted out capital sentence almost always in case of confessions of these crimes corroborated either by confessions for four times or four independent witnesses. The witnesses must be examined and they must be eye-witnesses to the actual occurrence and not merely infer it from the circumstances. In case the witnesses cannot establish the crime or speak lies, they are to be punished with 80 stripes. If there are no four witnesses, one witness followed by confessions for four times in four different postures is necessary (see 24:4 to 7Q). In view of strict proof necessary to establish such an offence, the utmost secrecy with which these crimes are committed and the absence of any confession of crimes, the extreme penalty of law can hardly be meted out.

(c) The sentence of adultery in Islam is just. In societies other than Islam, fornication or adultery of a major woman or girl, whether married or unmarried, is not a criminal offence. Hence a grown up girl or woman can easily fornicate without impugnity or fear of punishment. The females are not at all punished for their wilful disrespect for chastity. This indeed sets up the passions of the young men who put extremely low value upon sexual morality. The most precious jewel of chastity in a woman's crown of virtue can be compensated for a few pounds. Let every government follow the noble example of Islam regarding the sentence of adultery in the case of males and females. Until and unless the females are sentenced with the males, there will be no stop to fornication, kidnapping or adultery.

86. Abu Hurairah and Zaid-b-Khalid reported that two persons began to quarrel before the Messenger of Allah. One of them said : Decide between us according to the Book of Allah. Another man said : Yes, O Ms. of Allah, decide between us according to the Book of Allah and give me permission to speak. He said : Narrate. He said : Verily my son was his labourer and he committed adultery with his wife. Some gave us decision that my son should be stoned to death. I gave him ransom of 100 goats, and one slave-girl of mine. Then I asked the learned men who informed me that my son should be inflicted with 100 stripes and be banished for one year, and that his wife should be stoned to death. The Ms. of Allah said : Beware ! by One in whose Hand there is my life, I must decide between you according to the Book of Allah. As for your goats and slave-girl, they must be returned to you ; as for your son, he shall be given 100 stripes and banishment for one year. As for you, O Onais, bring this woman at morn. If she confesses, then stone her to death. Then she confessesed, and so she was put to death. 1191 —Agreed.

The Messenger of Allah stoned to death and after him we also stoned to death. And stoning to death in the Book of Allah is a truth against one out of males and females who commits adultery in a married state, in case proof is established or there occurs pregnancy or confession. —Agreed.

1191. In order to mete out the ordained punishment, one confession is necessary according to Imam Shafeyi, but according to Imam Abu Hanifa 4 confessions are necessary. With regard to banishment for a year, that is said to be in the discretion of the ruling power according to exigencies of the time, and not included within Had or prescribed sanction.

1192. There are three modes of ascertaining the truth of adultery: by confession by pregnancy and by positive proof.

89. Amr-b-Shuaib reported from his father from his grandfather who said that a man got up and said: O Ms. of Allah, So and so is my son. I had sexual intercourse with his mother in the Days of Ignorance. Then the Prophet said: There is no permission in Islam. The affair of the Days of Ignorance has gone. Child is for the bed; and for the fornicator, there is stoning to death. —Abu Daud.

1193. Way stands for 'Had' or prescribed sanction. The word explains the Quranic verse—And those who commit indecency from your wives, take four witnesses from you against them. If they witness, keep them imprisoned in the houses till death overtakes them or Allah makes out a way for them (4:20Q) It appears from this tradition that there are 100 stripes in addition to stoning to death. This is however contradictory to hadis no 25:87. The companions, their successors and majority of jurists held that stripes in addition to stoning has got no force.

Don't you find in the Torah in the matter of stoning to death? They replied: We put them to disgrace, and they are whipped. Abdullah-b-Salam said: You have lied. Verily there is therein stoning to death. Then they brought the Torah and spread it out. One of them put his hand over the verse of stoning to death and read what was before and after it. Abdullah-b-Salam said: Raise up your hand. So he raised up his hand when lo! there was therein the verse of stoning to death. They said: He has spoken the truth, O Muhammad; therein is the verse of stoning to death. Then the Holy Prophet passed order about them both and they were stoned to death. In a narration, he said: Raise up your hand. So he raised up lo! therein appeared the verse of stoning to death. He said: O Muhammad, there is the verse of stoning to death in it but we conceal it among us. Then he passed order about them, and they were stoned to death. 1194 —Agreed.

1194. It appears from this tradition that the non-Muslims under Muslim rule should be governed by their respective laws and not by the laws of the Muslims. How catholic is the spirit of Islam and how grand is the pronouncement! It can not be dreamt even by the rulers of the 20th century who are introdueing their own laws of crimes Had there been administration aocording to this principle, much of communal jealousies and blood-shed would have been stopped. It is also clear that non-Muslims trusted the Prophet in matters secular and this throws a flood of light upon the integrity and justice of the Prophet. It is also deduced from this that Muhammad received revelations from Allah, as he, being totally illiterate, said

92. Abu Hurairah reported that a man came to the Ms. of Allah while he was in the mosque and addressed him: O Ms. of Allah, verily I have committed adultery. Thereupon the Prophet turned aside from him. He also turned aside half of his face which was in front of him and said: I have committed adultery. He turned aside from him. When he deposed four times, the Ms. of Allah called him and asked: Are you mad? 'No' said he. He asked "Are you married?" 'Yes' said he, 'O Ms. of Allah'. He said: Take him and stone him to death.' Ibn Shihab said: The man who heard Jaber-b-Abdullah saying (this) informed me —we then stoned him to death at Medina. When one stone was thrown at him, he fled away till we caught hold of him in a field. Then we stoned him to death till he died.[1195] he said to him: Perhaps you have kissed, or touched, or looked. 'No' said he, 'O Ms. of Allah.' He said: Have you committed adultery with her? (He did not said it metaphorically). 'Yes' said he. Whereupon he passed order for stoning him to death.

1195. Here the Prophet required corroboration of confession four times, because no man said falsehood about a crime which goes towards putting him to death.

He said: Woe to you! go back and seek forgiveness of Allah and turn to Him penitently. Then he went to a place not far off and afterwards came and said: O Ms. of Allah, make me pure. The Prophet said like that, till when it was four times, the Prophet told him: From what shall I purify you? He said: from fornication. The Prophet asked: Is he a mad man? He informed him that he was not a mad man. Then he enquired: Has he drunk wine? A man got up and took smell from him but found no air of wine from him. He asked: Have you Confession of a mad man is void, and therefore punishment can not be meted out to him. This extreme punishment was necessary in order to establish the kingdom of morality for which the Prophet stood. In a narration of Bukhari reported by Jaber after his word 'yes', the following occurs: He said: yes. Then he passed order regarding him and he was stoned to death.

committed adultery? 'Yes' said he. Then he passed order about him, and he was stoned to death. Afterwards a woman of Gamed of the tribe Azad came to him and said: O Ms. of Allah, make me pure. He said: Woe to you! go back and seek forgiveness of Allah and return to Him penitently. She said: You wish to turn me back as you have turned Ma'ez-b-Malek. She was conceived by adultery. He asked: Are you? 'Yes' said she. He said to her: (Go) till you put down what is in your belly. She said : O Prophet of Allah, this I have weaned away, and it has taken food. He then handed over the child to one of the Muslims and passed order about her. A pit was dug for her up to her chest and he ordered the people and so they stoned her to death. Khalid-b-Walid came with a stone and threw it at her heed. The blood streaked out over the face of Khalid who rebuked her. Then the Prophet said : Tarry, O Khalid, by One in whose Hand there is my life, she has repented such a repentance that had a collector of taxes repented in such a way, he would have been certainly forgiven. Then he passed order about her and said (funeral) prayer over her, and she was then buried. —Muslim.

I feared that if I should inflict strife on her, I might be killing her. So I stated it to the Ms. of Allah who said: You have done well. Muslim narrated it. He again turned away from him, and again he came from the other side and said : O Ms. of Allah, he (his body) has committed adultery. Then he passed order about him at the fourth time. He was taken out in a field and was stoned. When he felt the touch of a stone, he fled away running till he passed by a man with whom there was a stick of a camel. He beat him therewith and the people also beat him till he died. They mentioned it to the Ms. of Allah that he fled away when he felt the touch of the stones and touch of death. The Holy Prophet said : Why did you not leave him ? And in a narration : Why did you not let him off, so that he might have turned to Him repentedly and Allah also might have turned to him. 1197

This extreme penalty only depends upon confession and proof by four witnesses. This tradition shows that the Prophet's heart was full of kindness but he was bound by the laws of God.

the subject is more correct than the previous ones (25:106, 107) and was followed by the learned men.

1206. Near and distant means either near and distant relations, or the strong and the weak or near and distant places. This appeal of the Prophet about enforcing this rigorous law of adultery, if followed in modern times, would have solved the problem of women protection.

of Allah. He turned away from him and then he came and said: O Ms. of Allah, verily I have committed adultery, enforce the ordinance of Allah upon me, till he uttered it four times. Then the Ms. of Allah said: Verily you have uttered it four times; then with whom (you committed)? He said: With so and so. He asked: Have you had sexual intercourse with her? 'Yes' said he. He asked: Have you peretrated unto her? 'Yes' said he. He asked: Have you cohabited with her? 'Yes' said he. Then he passed order to stone him to death. He was taken out in a field. When he was being stoned, and he perceived the touch of stone, he became perturbed and went out running. Abdullah-b-Onais met him and his companions overtook him. A bone of a camel was taken for him and he beat him therewith and killed him. Afterwards he came to the Prophet and narrated that to him. He said: Why have you not let him off, so that he might have repented and Allah also have accepted it? —Abu Daud.

By Allah, I have got certainly more wrath than him, and Allah has got more wrath than me. And on account of Allah's wrath, He prohibited indecencies of what is open and what is hidden. There is none to whom an excuse is more liking than to Allah. On account of this, He sent warners and bearers of good news. And there is none to whom praise is more due than Allah. On account of this, Allah has promised Paradise.

He enquired: What do you intend by this saying? He said: I wish that you should make me pure. Then he passed order about him and he was stoned to death. The Holy Prophet heard two of his companions say—one of the two to his friend—Look to this man whom Allah kept concealed. His soul did not leave him till he was stoned to death the stoning to death of a dog. He remained silent from them and afterwards walked for an hour till he passed by the carcass of an ass with its swollen legs. He asked: Where is so and so? He said: We are the two, O Ms. of Allah. SECTION 11

Theft deprives a man of one's hard-earned money and property. Therefore it is an encroachment upon the property of a man without any justifiable reason and causes unrest in a society. Thieves are a menance to peaceful society and are looked upon with terror. With a view to put them under guard, stricter measure has been ordained. The Quran says—And as for the man who steals and the woman who steals cut off their hands as a punishment for what they have done, an exemplary punishment from Allah; and Allah is Mighty, Wise. But whoso repents after his transgression and reforms himself, Allah will turn to him mercifully, for Allah is Forgiving, Merciful—5:38, 39Q. If theft is committed for the second time, the second hand shall be cut off, and if for the third time, one leg shall be cut off, and if for the fourth time the other leg shall be cut off (25:127). Theft which calls for cutting shall be in relation to such property which is in careful protection of a man. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, theft of 10 dirhams (approximately Rs. 2/8/-) or its equivalent property calls for cutting, but according to Imam Shafeyi theft of ¼th of a dinar or 3 dirhams (nearly 12 as) or its equivalent property calls for cutting. In the light of the present day civilization, cutting of bodily lims for crimes appears both barbarous and cruel. Owing to this notion, the records of thieves and dacoits are growing in number and no amount of police vigilance can check crimes of thefts and burglaries. It is satisfactory to note that owing to this extreme punishment there is practically a stop to these crimes in countries governed by the law of Islam specially in Arabia. If a criminal dares to commit such crimes repeatedly, he becomes dangerous to the society and as such Islam deprives him of his bodily limbs so that he may not move and repeat such crimes.

1209 In case a man is found cohabiting with another's wife, the first can lawfully be killed according to the majority of learned jurists provided the case is proved by four witnesses. If it is not proved, there is no killing.

No cutting. There is no cutting of hand in case of thefts in the houses of relatives within prohibited degrees, nor for theft committed in a journey, expedition or holy war—(25:127), nor nor theft committed by a servant or slave—25:133, 353w ; nor for criminal misappropiation ;—25:127 ; nor theft committed by a marauder or dacoit (25:126).

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ لَا تُقْطَعُ يَدُ السَّارِقِ إِلَّا بِرُبُعِ دِينَارٍ فَصَاعِدًا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

121. Ayesha reported from the Holy Prophet who said : The hand of a thief shall not be cut off except for ¼th of a dinar and upwards. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَطَعَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم يَدَ سَارِقٍ فِي مِجَنٍّ ثَمَنُهُ ثَلَاثَةُ دَرَاهِمَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

122. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet cut off the hand of a thief for a shield, price of which was three dirhams. —Agreed.

123. Abu Hurairah reported from the Prophet who said: Allah has cursed the thief who steals an egg, (his hand shall be cut off) and who steals a rope, his hand shall be cut off. 1211

—Agreed.

125. Amr-b-Shuaib reported that the Messenger of Allah was asked about hanging fruit. He replied: Whoever steals anything therefrom after it is protected by a fencing and it reaches the value of a shield, there is cutting upon him.

—Abu Daud, Nisai.

عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ شُعَيْبٍ عَنْ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ اَنَّهُ سُئِلَ عَنِ الثَّمَرِ الْمُعَلَّقِ قَالَ مَنْ سَرَقَ مِنْهُ شَيْئًا بَعْدَ اَنْ تُؤْوِيَهُ الْجَرِيْنُ فَبَلَغَ ثَمَنَ الْمِجَنِّ فَعَلَيْهِ الْقَطْعُ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

127. Same reported that the Prophet said: There is no cutting

عَنْهُ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ لَيْسَ

1211. It appears that for less than ¼th. of a dinar, the hand of a thief has been ordered to be cut off. It is however explained by saying that egg or rope referred here was not less in value than the fixed standard. Some however say that this was prevalent at the beginning of Islam before the verse of cutting was revealed.

1212. Fruits meant here are fruits of trees. Imam Abu Hanifa applies this principle over a treacherous man, or arioter or one who causes dislocation of hand. 1218 —Tirmizi, Nisai, Ibn Majah and Darimi narrated it. And he narrated in Sharhi Sunnat that Safwan-b-Umayyah came to Medina and slept in the mosque and prepared his sheet as pillow. Then a thief came and stole his sheet. Safwan overtook him and came with him to the Ms. of Allah. He passed order for cutting off his hand. Safwan said: I did not wish this. It is a charity for him. Then the Ms. of Allah said: Why did you (not tell him) before you came with him? Ibn Majah narrated like it from Abdullah -b-Safwan, and Darimi from Ibn Abbas.

in case of milk, meat and other food stuffs which are liable to speedy damage. He also holds that for such negligible things as grass, fruits, fish, oil, salt and other things, there shall be no cutting. If the sloten property is given as a gift by the owner subsequent to theft, the hand of the thief shall not be cut off. Contrary is the opinion of Imam Shafeyi and Ahmad.

1218. Imam Shafeyi acts up to this tradition. Imam Abu Hanifa holds, however,

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ جِيءَ بِسَارِقٍ إِلَى النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ اقْطَعُوهُ فَقُطِعَ ثُمَّ جِيءَ بِهِ الثَّانِيَةَ فَقَالَ اقْطَعُوهُ فَقُطِعَ ثُمَّ جِيءَ بِهِ الثَّالِثَةَ فَقَالَ اقْطَعُوهُ فَقُطِعَ ثُمَّ جِيءَ بِهِ الرَّابِعَةَ فَقَالَ اقْطَعُوهُ فَقُطِعَ فَأُتِيَ بِهِ الْخَامِسَةَ فَقَالَ اقْتُلُوهُ فَانْطَلَقْنَا بِهِ فَقَتَلْنَاهُ ثُمَّ اجْتَرَرْنَاهُ فَأَلْقَيْنَاهُ فِي بِئْرٍ وَرَمَيْنَا عَلَيْهِ الْحِجَارَةَ * (أَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

123. Jaber reported that a thief was brought to the Prophet. He said: Cut him (his hand). And then it was cut. He was brought for the second time. He said: Cut him (his hand). Then it was cut off. Afterwards he was brought for the third time. He said: Cut him (his leg). And then it was cut off. Afterwards he was brought for the fourth time. He said: Cut him (his leg) and then it was cut off. He was then brought for the fifth time. He said: Kill him. So we took and killed him. Afterwards we dragged him and threw him in to a well and threw stones over him [1214]

131. Abu-Omayyah-al Makhjumi reported that a burglar that for a theft for the third time, the thief shall be imprisoned till he dies or makes full repentance. It is said that the companions also are unanimous in this matter as above.

1214. Kitabi says that this tradition has been abrogated by the traditions (25:43,79) stating that except for three things, murder, fornication and apostacy, killing is unlawful. Some say that the thief was renegade or creator of dissension in the world. Murder may also be meted out from a political point of view.

was brought before the Holy Prophet. He made a confession, but no property was found with him. Then the Ms. of Allah asked: What property of yours have you stolen? He said: 'Yes'! He repeated it twice or thrice every time making confession. Then he passed order about him and he was cut off (hand). Then he was brought and the Ms. of Allah said to him: Seek forgiveness to Allah and make repentance to Him. He said: I seek forgiveness of Allah and make repentance to Him. Then the Messenger of Allah said thrice: O Allah, return to him.

1218. Sentence of Wine-drinking.

Wine-drinking was prohibited when the Holy Prophet migrated to Medina. The punishment of drinking wine was not prescribed by the Holy Quran. It is only in Hadis that it is found. In the hadis also, there is no definite sentence ordained for this crime. It varies according to the nature of offence, and the degree of plague. cholera, small-pox and other serious infectious diseases will break out and death-roles will be high, how men should conduct themselves, whether they should flee away or stay where they will happen to be. Deaths will increase so much that the land for a grave will be dearer than the price of a slave. Regarding a thief stealing a coffin (cloth), Imam Abu Hanifa says that his hands shall not be cut off. The three Imam hold to the contrary.

intoxication and public nuisance created therefor and the recurring habit of drinking. The sentence was sometimes in the form of mild rebuke and sound advice—25:139. Even the drunkard was sometimes let off with no punishment when he was truly repentant of what he had done with a future promise of not doing the same thing again—25:137. In almost all cases of wine-drinking, the Holy Prophet's order of sentence was beating with shoes, sticks and hands—25:13 ',137. This was generally followed during his time and the Khilafat of Abu Bakr, and of Omar in its early part. In case of grave nature where the degree of intoxication was greatest and there was disturbance of public peace, a penalty of 4'1 to 80 stripes was inflicted—25:137. This was resorted to in rare cases. In cases where wine-drinking was attended with adultery and fornication, the highest punishment of death or of 1'0 tripes was meted out to him according to the law of adultery. The highest number of stripes used to be inflicted on habitual drunkards who could not turn away from drinking was 80 tripes. The sin of wine-drinking and specially of habitual drinking is great and its punishment on the Resurrection Day has been noted in the next section. During the latter part of Hazrat Omar's reign, the general law was to inflict 40 to 80 stripes on the drunkards—25:137.

Punishment is not to be inflicted during intoxication, as the object of punishment in the form of reformation is frustrated in that case. It is only when he recovers and gains intellect that the sentence should be executed. In order to prove the offence, two competent witnesses or one confession is necessary.

136. Anas reported that the Holy Prophet beat with staff and shoes for wine-drinking; and Abu Bakr inflicted 40 stripes. In a narration of his from the Prophet: He used to beat for wine-drinking 40 stripes with shoes and stick. —Agreed.

1219. Wine.

(a) Prohibition: Wine-drinking has been declared unlawful by the Holy Quran and Hadis. While the Holy Prophet was at Mecca, it was not strictly prohibited. It was only deprecated at that time as the verse shows: O you who believe! don't go near prayer when you are intoxicated until you know what you say—4:43Q. Thereafter the verse definitely prohibiting wine-drinking was revealed. It runs thus: O you who believe! intoxicants... are only an uncleanliness, the devil's work; shun it therefore that you may be successful—5:90Q. On the day when the prohibition was proclaimed, the lanes and streets of Medina were seen filled up with wine and wine-bottles. Even the very pots and jars in which wine were kept were declared unlawful for a time. This prohibition has been emphasised in traditions (6:177,224w; 34:15,17:28; 33:18), and traditions of this section. Besides drinking, use of wine has also been discouraged. In medicines, wine should be avoided as far as possible (25:162), because wine itself is a disease. It is no excuse that a little quantity of wine does no harm as the Holy Prophet said: That of which a large quantity intoxicates is unlawful in its little quantity—25:155. Cold climate also is no excuse for wine-drinking—25:161. It appears, however, that in cases when dead-bodies are lawful to save life, wine is also lawful. Trading in wine is also prohibited—25:166.

(b) Reasons of Prohibition. There are manifold reasons for prohibition of intoxicating liquors. Wine is injurious from both temporal and spiritual points of view. Temporal—(i) It covers intellect and power of discerning right from wrong. There is no act which a man cannot commit when he loses his sense and wisdom. This temporary covering over the intellectual region has got necessary repercussion on mind which can produce many diseases hitherto unknown to a drunkard. (ii) Wine irritates and rouses the bodily limbs, but that is for a very short period. This irritation is inevitably followed by paralysis and complete collapse resulting in major cases in heart failures. Many cases have been reported in medical journals that death by Neumonia were the inevitable results of many habitual drunkards.

(ii) It is also a veritable evil from economic point of view, as it forms a chief source of the drainage of money from the coffers of a drunkard. The Quran deprecates this unnecessary drainage of money by saying : Verily those who spend extravagantly are the brothers of the devils (17:27Q). Spiritual—(i) wine is the mother of all sins—29:404w. There is no sin which a drunkard cannot commit when he loses intellect, because he loses his power of control and self-restraint and lets loose the god of Cupid to satisfy his sexual luxury. This is extremely harmful for the onward march of soul towards progress. (ii) It keeps a man off from remembrance of Allah which is the object of man's creation in this world. (iii) It no less contributes to the incitement of enmity and hatred between fellow-beings which are bad both from temporal and spiritual points of views. The Quran supports the above views saying : The devil only desires to cause enmity and hatred to spring up in your midst by means of intoxicants and games of chances, and to keep you off from the remembrance of Allah, and from prayer ; will you then desist—5:91Q.

In short, the harms done by wine-drinking are greater than its benefits. The Holy Quran testifies to this assertion in.

unequivocal terms and instructs us to follow what stands heavier when good and evil of a thing is measured. The Quran says : They ask you about intoxicants and games of chance. Say : In both of them there is a great sin and means of profit for men, but their sin is greater than their profit—2:219Q.

Punishment in the Next World. There are great many traditions in this and other sections which threaten the drunkards and specially habitual drunkards with punishment in the Next World. A drunkard will drink the impurites of the Hell-dwellers—25:150. His prayer will not be accepted for 40 days from the date of drink—25:154, and his repentance is not usually accepted. He will drink hot water—25:355Q. A habitual drunkard has been condemned even with deprivation of Pradise—25:163, as he is no better than an idol-worshipper by denying Allah's command—24:164.

Other Contents. Card-playing and games of chance are unlawful —25:162 ; disobedience to parents and a man's encouraging prostitution discouraged—25:163, 354w ; Prophet is an universal guide and a mercy—25:355w ; severer of blood-tie and a believer in sorcery will get no Paradise—25:356w.

1228. Minor Crimes (تعـــذير).

Ta'zir means prohibition. Technically it means an offence for which punishment has not been prescribed by the Holy Quran and Hadis. It is entirely left in the hands of the judges and magistrates who are at liberty to determine the extent and form of punishment in each case with reference to the circumstances. The main object is correction and reformation of the offender. If, instead of reformation, there is recurrence of the offence, a sterner measure is justifiable. The sentence of minor crimes may include slight beating, rebuke, imprisonment and imposition of fine. It is said by Imam Abu Hanifa that the greatest number of floggings in such cases is 39, and the lowest three.

CHAPTER XXVI

1229. Government and Administration.

(a) What is the necessity of a government ? Some individuals make up a family, some families a society, some societies a nation, and some nations or societies constitute a government. The importance of the establishment of a government lies in the fact that when conflicting and clashing interests arise among the different nations and societies, there must be a paramount power to quell these disturbances and restore law and order. In absence of any supreme power or central authority, the animosities between rival groups grow ahead and develop into regular strifes, feuds and frequent blood-sheds. This was exactly the case in pre-Islamic Arabia when there were internecine quarrels and long-drawn battles between tribes and tribes with no central authority to control these unruly elements. It was the Prophet who welded together the heterogeneous elements into one homogeneous whole and founded a common-wealth with himself as the supreme authority of the land. He unified all the tribes unner a common banner, the banner of Islam and formed a Shariat, a code of all codes without any distinction of class and creed. The land of daily strifes and feuds was turned by establishment of a well-administered government into a land of Paradise.

(b) Which peoples are blessed with the reins of a government ? God blesses those peoples with the responsibility of a government who are just and good. The Quran says : As for the land, My righteous servants will inherit it. This is a message to a people who are righteous—21:105Q. So there is a distinct and clear message from the Greatest God that the righteous and just will hold the reins of government of a land. In another verse, it has been said that the government goes to a people who answer the distressed and the oppressed and remove their evils. The Quran says : Or, who answers the distressed one when he calls upon him, and removes the evil and He will make you successors in the land—35:39Q. Allah said to Abraham : I will make you a leader of men. He asked : And of my offspring ? He said : My covenant does not include the unjust—2:214Q. God says in the Quran reminding us of His promise : Allah has promised to those of you who believe and do good that He will certainly make them rulers in the earth as He made rulers those before them—24:55Q. Thus this verse prophesies the establishment of the kingdom of Islam. It has been repeated in 27:82Q, 35:39Q, 20:423w, 425w. Then when a good and righteous people or nation is invested with ruling authority, it continues in them so long as they remain just and maintain peace in the land. The Quran says in support of this theory : Verily Allah does not change the condition of a people until they themselves change their own conditions (13:11Q). God says in another verse : It may be that your Lord will destroy your enemy and make you rulers in the land. Then He will see you how you act—7:129Q. The Prophet said : He will try you how you act—2:42. The Quran says : And He it is who has made successors in the land and raised some of you above others in ranks that He might try you by what He has given you—6:166Q. And your Lord is self-sufficient, Lord of mercy. If He pleases, He may take you off and make whom He pleases successors after you, even as He raised you up from the seed of another people—6:134Q. He (God) causes such of His servants to inherit it (land) as He chooses—7:128Q.

From the above verses, it is abundantly clear that the righteous servants of God who are just and kind are given ruling powers and administrative charges. They continue to hold the reigns of a government till they remain righteous and just. As soon as they fall into evil ways, become engrossed in luxuries and injoy oppression on the subjects under their care, there arise signs of their down-fall till they are totally crushed to give place to a new people who are more just and righteous. As is the rise and fall of an individual, so is the rise and fall of a nation. In this way, history repeats itself. When the ruling powers before Islam were degenerated and forgot their duties, when the Ceasars and Chosroes were steeped in cruel tortures on subjects, God was pleased to raise the Muslim people to rule over a major portion of the globe and to carry justice. Indeed they were acclaimed as harbingers of peace by the down-trodden and the oppressed. The Muslims were thus the masters of the world so long as they were just and righteous. As soon as they fell from the higher standard of justice and morality, they were replaced by a still more just people. It is now in the hands of the Muslims themselves to regain the lost administrative powers by becoming united, righteous and just and remaining steadfast to their Quran and Hadis.

(c) What form of government is favoured by Islam? The Quran itself laid down, 14 hundred years ago, about the form of Government. It says: And their government is by counsel among themselves—42:38Q. Here the government with a council has been emphasised. Islam, at the same time, did not forget to place one man at the supreme command responsible for efficient administration of the country. That man is elected by the people from the people for the people on the widest possible franchise. It did not lay down that the son of a king would be a king or that ruling authority would continue in a hereditary line quite distinct from the common people. Thus it is seen that Islam gave a good-bye to monarchical form of government on the hereditary or dynastic basis but established in its stead true democratic form of government by electing the best available man in the Estate as a ruler assisted by a consultative body composed of the best pious men available. How far it is successful as a method, the modern democratic tendencies of the world have proved. The man will be selected not on the speculative basis but on his proved past services and proved integrity of character and piety. The Quran lays the basis of this selection in this verse: The most honourable of you near Allah is the most righteous of you—(49:13Q). In this sense, the Prophet prohibited his followers to invest any woman or boy with ruling authority. In Islam, there is no bar of a slave or a commoner to become a king if he is duly elected to the office of the head of the Common wealth. Even a negro slave, if placed in command, must be obeyed according to a saying of the Prophet—1:108. Thus the widest democratic form of government with an elected chief at its head is the rule in Islam. The Prophet established the little common wealth of Islam when he migrated to Medina comprising the Jews, the Muslims and the people of Medina with himself as its head. This continued till his death. He did not nominate his successor, but Hazrat Abu Bakr was elected to be the first Caliph in Islam. After Abu Bakr's death, Omar was elected and assumed the title of Ameerul-Mu'menin (Commander of the Faithful). In this way the heads continued to be elected till it was replaced unfortunately by hereditary kingship. We find in history that there were no regular legislative assemblies attached to a Muslim government to make laws for the efficient administration of a country. The reason is obvious. The Quran, Hadis and Fiqh gave a complete code of laws, a social code, a rural code, a political code, an economical code, a criminal code, civil code and a religions code. Indeed it is a code of life, a perfect code adaptable to the people of all ages and climes. Hence no legislation in Islam is necessary and consequently no need of legislative councils. What is required is only a council of ministers to appear and interpret the laws according to circumstances. Thus though Islam sanctioned democratic form of government, it was not for legislation but for carrying on administration according to the true spirit of Islam.

The council of ministers were to give counsels. The Quran makes compulsory to take counsels from the ministers. It says: Take counsel from them in the affair—3:15Q. Give to one another counsels of goodness and piety—58:9Q. The Holy Prophet also had had his council of ministers who were always consulted in important measures. There is another peculiarity in Islamic form of government. It is a government mixed with religion. The divorce of politics from morality and godless diplomacy do not find support in Islam. The temporal and spiritual head was centered in the same person. The most pious man was the head of the Commonwealth and Imam of the mosque. This statesman-like policy of the Prophet has now been abandoned by the modern Sultans and Caliphs and consequently there is degenaration in morality and uprightness resulting ultimatey in the loss of temporal and spiritual powers. Unless the Prophet's method is adopted, there will always be the inevitable clash among the clergy, the ruling authorities and the legislators.

(d) Allegiance to the elected Ameer. As soon as an Ameer is elected by a majority of votes, all in the country must owe allegiance to him. It is compulsory and binding on the part of everyman in the government. The Quran declares: Obey Allah, and obey the Apostle and those in authority from among you—4:59Q. Oath of allegiance in outward forms is essential for ordered and peaceful government. The oath of allegiance prescribed by the Quran is the following: We will not serve anyone but God, we will not steal, we will not commit adultery, we will not kill our children, we will not slander, we will not disobey the Prophet (now the elected chief) in anything that is right—60:12Q. Compare the modern oath of allegiance to this form and see which is better. The binding character of the oath of allegiance has been stressed in another verse: Surely those who swear allegiance to you (Prophet) do but swear allegiance to Allah, the hand of Allah is upon their hands; so whoever breaks, he breaks it only to the injury of his own soul—48:10Q. According to the above form, the Prophet took oaths of allegiance whenever there arose a commotion in the minds of his companions. These were called Baitur Redwan at Hudaibiyyah and Baitul Aqaba at Mecca. Even women are allowed to come to take oath of allegiance—60:12Q.

The Prophet repeatedly declared that even if a negro slave be placed in command, he must be obeyed—2:108, 109. If a subsequent Caliph or Ameer declares himself at the head of the government, allegiance can not be taken away from the first chief. An attempt at compromise should be made if a quarrel arises. If it fails, the aggressor must be killed with his followers by a regular fight—26:15. The Quran says: And if two parties of the believers quarrel, make peace between them but if one of them acts wrongfully towards the other, fight that which acts wrongfully until it returns to Allah's command; then if he returns, make peace between them with justice and act equitably. Surely Allah loves those who act equitably—49:9Q. The question is how far the oath of allegiance should extend. According to the Prophet, every grievance of the subjects must first be communicated to the state authorities for redress without broadcasting it abroad with a ting of disloyalty. The Quran prohibits this: And when there come to them news of scarcity and fear, they spread it abroad, and if they had referred it to the Apostle and to those in authority among them etc—4:83Q. Allegiance is also due to an Ameer even if his actions may not be liking to some individuals—26:18. It is only in case of an order for commission of sins that allegiance must be shaken off (26:18), because God's law cannot be broken. If the Muslim Ameer does not promulgate prayer, obedience is not compulsory—26:21, 24. But when the right of men are not duly restored, obedience to the Ameer still subsists—26:26. Except in these cases, the head of a Governmet should be obeyed even though he belongs to a foreign faith. A non-Muslim king therefore falls under the above descriptions. The Prophet said: Whoever disobeys the king, disobeys the Prophet —26:1. He also said that one who dies without allegiance is a rebel and dies a death of the Days of Ignorance—26:20, 25. He who disgraces a ruler, disgraces Allah—26:31.

(e) Some rules for the guidance of the Caliphs. Administration is the most onerous task and greatest responsibility is placed on its chief. He is either a shadow of Allah or a viceroy (khalifa) of Allah, or a devil according he is just or unjust. Consequently, there is a great merit in good and just administration and a great sin in bad and unjust administration. In order to be a good ruler, he must have, before his mind's eye, the following things. (1) He shall take the world as a temporary resting place for preparation for the everlasting next world. (2) He shall try therefore by just administration to acquire as much religious merits as possible before his death. (3) He shall take himself as a mere servant of the people and a trustee for his subjects. These things, if kept by a ruler constantly in mind, will go to make him the most successful man in administration. A ruler shall observe also the following rules. (1) He shall love for his subjects what he loves for himself. (2) His door should always remain open for hearing grievances and for redress of wrongs. (3) Justice coupled with mercy shall be the key note of administrative policies. (4) If the ruler is a Muslim, he shall observe the religions rites of Islam. (5) His ministers must be pious, truthful and sincere. (6) He must have strict eye on the Govt. officers. (7) He shall frame rules for prompt and speedy trials. (8) He shall look to every community with an eye of equality so far as justice is concerned. (9) The people under administrative charge shall be governed according to their respective laws (25:91). Muslims shall be governed according to the laws of the Quran, Hadis and rules of equity and justice—23:74.

(f) Merits of good rule and sin for bad rule. The Prophet declared that a just Sultan is the shadow of Allah on earth—26 57. He will remain under the shade of Allah on the Resurrection Day very near to Him—26:43,51. The Caliphs are really representatives of the Prophet so far as the kingdom of God on earth is concerned. Therefore they should turn to Allah and His Prophet for light and guidance. Allah is kind to a ruler who is kind to his subjects—26:26. Negligence of duties on the part of a ruler will make himself to lose Paradise—26:25. Every ruler will appear before God handcupped for rendering accounts of his administration till he is let off for satisfactory answers—26:35. Allah will not speak with a king who was prone to falsehoods—26 40.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ

1230. How excellent is the teaching of the Ms. of Allah. Everyone has been made responsible for members and things under his charge. Even a wife has been given the high position of a queen of the household. The servant has not been neglected. He is the guardian of the household properties in his charge. If these instructions would have been followed literally, the world would have solved its various complex problems in a way which has hitherts not heen approached by politicians of any clime.

1231. The task of administration is very difficult and without the help of God, it can not be carried on. Hence to seek to rule is bad.

1232. If means that leadership and administrative powers are sweet at the beginning like a suckling woman who gets relish in being suckled. Their ends are however bitter when they are snatched away. The king is then like the weaning woman to whom weaning is quite distasteful. In other wards, leadership and ruling power should not be sought. There is a great responsibility therein.

1284. If appears from this invocation of the Prophet that the government of an alien race under whom Providence has placed the Muslims will go on well if the Muslim subjects are given a fair deal in all departments of administration. If, however they neglect their legitimate rights, there will always be trouble and unrest within the country.

20. Abu Hurairah reported : I heard the Messenger of Allah say : Whoso goes out of allegiance and keeps himself separate from the united body, dies a death of the Days of Ignorance, and whoso fights under a blind banner getting enraged for tribal glory, or calling for (keeping) tribal glory, or helping for tribal glory and then 1262. The last sentence means that no Muslim shall take up arms against a ruler. If however there is clear poof according to the Quran and Hadis that the ruler is to be disobeyed in the particular circumstances and he is a kafir or disbeliever, it is lawful on the Muslims to take up arms against him. Imam Abu Hanifa says that an Imam shall not be forsaken inspite of his commission of great and small sins, but Imam Shafeyi holds the contrary. This is also applicable in case of Govt. officials.

1263. The Quran does not inflict on men what is beyond their capacity and powers. It says : Allah does not impose upon a soul a duty, but to the extent of its ability—2:286Q. So there is no obedience in what one is not capable of doing.

21. Auf-b-Malek al-Ash'jayi reported from the Messenger of Allah who said: The best of your Imams are those whom you love and those who love you, and those to whom you send blessings and those who send blessings to you. The worst of your Imams are those whom you hate and those who hate you, and those whom you curse and those who curse you. We asked: O Ms. of Allah, shall we not then over throw them at that time? 'No' said he, 'till they establish prayer among you; [1264] no, till they establish prayer among you except one over whom a governor is appointed. He will then see whether he does anything in transgression of

'No' said he, 'so long they pray ; no, so long they pray' ; that is, one who dislikes with his heart and rejects with his heart. —Muslim.

23. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported : The Messenger of Allah told us : Certainly you will see soon after me customs and affairs which you will not find agreeable. They asked : O Ms. of Allah ! what then do you enjoin on us ? He said : Give them their dues and pray to Allah for your dues. 1265

1266 This is a clear statement by the Holy Prophet in a hadis agreed to by Bukhari and Muslim that the Prophet Muhammad is the last in the link of the Prophets and that there will be no Prophet after him. The allegation of the Qadiani sect that Mirza Golam Ahmed of Qadian (India) is a Prophet is negatived by this, and no Muslim can be a follower of such a heretical creed It appears also from this that Islam combines both temporal and spiritual powers and does not teach its followers to keep aloof from the affairs of the world.

1270. Merits of good rulers

[See note 1229f]

37. Abdullah-b Amr reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Verily the just persons near Allah will be upon pulpits of light on the right side of the Merciful, and both His hands are right hands of those who are just in their orders and in their family, and what they are given to rule. —Muslim.

1271. Those noble men have been meant here who oppress the weak and do not care to follow the tenets of Islam and its democracy. Islam says that there is no distinction between man andman, but these noble men make distinction. The true noble man is he who is the most pious and dutiful (49:13 Q).

41. Abdur Rahman-b-Abdullah from his father reported: We were with the Messenger of Allah in a journey. He went for his call of nature. Then we saw a pigeon with its two young ones. We caught hold of its young ones and then the pigeon came and began to flutter. The Messenger of Allah came and enquired: Who has given trouble to this for its young ones? When there came the seventh day, he said: I give you admonition to fear Allah in your secret affair and its open; do good when evil is done unto you; don't beg anything of anyone even though your staff falls down, and don't like possession of trust property and don't be a judge between two men. —Ahmad Baihaqi.

365w. Abu Omamah reported from the Messenger of Allah who said: There is no man who rules the affairs of ten men or more than that, but the Almighty and Glorious Allah will resurrect him as a treacherous man on the Resurrection Day with his hand upon his neck. His piety will either set him free, or his sin will destroy him. Its beginning will be blasphemy, its middle repentance and its end disgrace on the Resurrection Day. [1273]

366w. Muwayiah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: O Muwayiah, if you are invested with administration, fear Allah and do justice. He said: I did not cease to think that I would be tried with administration on account of the saying of the Apostle of Allah, until I was given the trial. [1274]

1273 This gives a great warning to the tyrannical rulers and governors, They will all be brought handcuffed before God. Then the kind rulers will be set free, while the oppressors will be hurled down unto the Hell fire.

1274 It is well known how literally the prophecy was fulfilled. Muwayiah became 367w. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Verily the Sultan is a shade of Allah 1275 on earth. Every oppressed man out of His servants take shelter to him. 1275. A Sultan or king is the shadow of Allah on earth. As Allah distributes rain, sunshine and all other things equally to all irrespective of caste and creed, likewise the supreme duty of a king is to follow the attributes of God and make no difference in the administration of justice. Allah is a friend of the poor and the needy. So also a king should be a friend of the poor and the needy.

1276. Duties of officers.

Officers as public servants must, according to the Instruments of Instructions of the Holy Prophet, administer justice to the people. They are ordered not to shut up their doors against the public. They must hear their grievances and redress the wrongs done to them by anybody. They must conduct themselves in such a way that the public may remain satisfied with them in all their affairs. The Prophet instructed his officers not to ride on best horses, nor eat thin flour, nor put on fine dress, nor shut up their doors at the time of the needs of men. If they disobeyed these instructions, they received due punishment. They were ordered to deal gently with the people, to give ease to them and to administer their comforts. They shall be pious, moral, righteous and honest. They shall not take anything beyond their salaries and allowances. They cannot even receive presents as presents may possibly come to them by virtue of their office. In short, they must carry on their duties in the way of Allah for establishing peace and tranquility with ultimate responsibility to God and to the head of the common-wealth.

Muwayiah appointed a man in charge of the needs of the people. Abu Daud, and Tirmizi narrated it. In a narration reported by him and Ahmad: Allah will shut up the doors of heaven at the time of his hope, need and poverty.

46. Abu Musa a'-Ash'ari reported that the Messenger of Allah said: A trust-worthy Muslim treasurer is he who gives what he is ordered, full, compble, with self-satisfaction therefor. He then gives it to one for whom he is ordered, he being one of the distributers of charity. —Agreed.

1278. Breach of duty

There is a great sin in breach of trust. The Prophet said: Every one of you is a king and evereyone of you will be asked about his subjects. The Imam who is a king over the people will be asked about his subjects—26:1 In this way, the head of a family is the king over his family, a servant is a king over his master's properties. In case, the trust is broken, there is breach of duty with consequence of sin and punishment. The Prophet said: Don't act treacherously with Allah about His pledge—1: 0. The inmates of Paradise are three—a king, just, truth and merciful—4:2. The dwellers of hell are three—a treacherous man whose avarice is not secret to him etc—4:2. The believer may have many defects except breach of trust and falsehood—1:13w. When you find a man committing breach of trust in the way of Allah, burn his commodities and beat him—4:219. Collector of illegal taxes will not center Paradise. So from the above verses, it appears that breach of trust is a very serious thing in the eye of Islam, specially in State affairs. If the officers receive bribe, it is also a breach of trust. The Messenger of Allah cursed the bribe-taker and bribe-giver—4:300. Even a needle can not be taken by any officer from the State Treasury.

48. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Verily (as for) a treacherous man, a standard will be raised for him on the Resurrection Day. It will be declared: This is the treachery of so and so. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَالَ اِنَّ الْغَادِرَ يُنْصَبُ لَهٗ لِوَاءٌ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ فَيُقَالُ هٰذِهٖ غَدْرَةُ فُلَانِ بْنِ فُلَانٍ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

49. Anas reported from the Prophet who said: For every treacherous man, there will be a standard on the Resurrection Day with which he will be recognised. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ لِكُلِّ غَادِرٍ لِوَاءٌ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ يُعْرَفُ بِهٖ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

50. Abu Sayeed reported from the Prophet who said: For every treacherous man, there will be a standard on the Resurrection Day near his buttock. In a narration: For every treacherous man, there will be a standard on the Resurrection Day which will be raised up in proportion to his treachery. Behold! there is no treacherous man in treachery greater than a ruler over the public. —Muslim.

1279. Appointments

As a rule, appointments did not go, at the time of the Prophet and the rightly-guided Caliphs, by canvassing, but posts were offered to deserving men, regard being had to their past services, proved integrity and honesty, and firm-rooted uprightness and justice. Consequently the best characters were appointed in the State services. At the time of the Prophet, these officers were a band of angels posted to respective stations to carry out the Divine Command and to establish the kingdom of God on earth. The Prophet's principle of appointment has gradually been recognised by the modern governments.

عَنْ اَبِي ذَرٍّ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اَلَا تَسْتَعْمِلُنِي قَالَ فَضَرَبَ بِيَدِهِ عَلٰى مَنْكِبِي ثُمَّ قَالَ يَا اَبَا ذَرٍّ اِنَّكَ ضَعِيْفٌ وَ اِنَّهَا اَمَانَةٌ وَ اِنَّهَا يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ خِزْيٌ وَ نَدَامَةٌ اِلَّا مَنْ اَخَذَهَا بِحَقِّهَا وَ اَدّٰى الَّذِي عَلَيْهِ فِيْهَا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ لَهُ يَا اَبَا ذَرٍّ اِنِّي اَرٰكَ ضَعِيْفًا وَ اِنِّي اُحِبُّ لَكَ مَا اُحِبُّ لِنَفْسِي لَا تَاَمَّرَنَّ عَلٰى اِثْنَيْنِ وَلَا تَوَلَّيَنَّ مَالَ يَتِيْمٍ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

51. Abu Zarr reported: I said: O Ms. of Allah, will you appoint me a collector? He narrated: Then he struck upon my ankles with his hand and afterwards said: O Abu Zarr, you are a weak man while it is a trust; and it will be disgrace and repentance on the Resurrection Day except for one who takes it duly and fulfil what is entrusted to him therein. O Abu Zarr! verily I find you weak and I love for you what I love for myself. Don't rule over two men and don't be a guardian over the property of an orphan. —Muslim.

عَنْ اَبِي مُوْسٰى قَالَ دَخَلْتُ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ اَنَا وَ رَجُلَانِ مِنْ بَنِي عَمِّي فَقَالَ اَحَدُهُمَا يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اَمِّرْنَا عَلٰى بَعْضِ مَا وَلَّاكَ اللّٰهُ وَ قَالَ الْاٰخَرُ مِثْلَ ذٰلِكَ فَقَالَ اِنَّا وَاللّٰهِ لَا نُوَلِّي عَلٰى هٰذَا الْعَمَلِ اَحَدًا سَاَلَهُ

52. Abu Musa reported: We went to the Prophet, I and two men of my cousins. One of them said: O Messenger of Allah, make me governor of some land over which Allah gave you power. The other said like that. He said: By Allah, we appoint none in this post who seeks it, nor anyone who is greedy for it. Ina narration, he said: We do not appoint those in our post who wish it.

1280. Administration of justice

(a) Exhortation to do justice. The Quran definitely gives us advice to be maintainers of justice in many verses: O you who believe! be maintainers of justice bearers of witness for Allah's sake though it may be against your ownselves, parents or near relatives—4:135Q. O you who believe! be upright for Allah, bearers of witness with justice and let not the hatred of a people incite you to act inequitably. Act equitably; that is nearer to piety—5:8Q. Allah loves those who do justice—4:13Q. When you judge among men, judge with justice—4:58Q. When you speak, be just though you speak against a relative. Verily Allah enjoins justice and doing of good, and giving away alms to the kindred; and He forbids indecency, evil and rebellion—16:90Q. There are innumerable verses exhorting the Muslims to do justice.

(b) All are equal in the eye of law. It appears from above that justice should be done to all people where justice is due. In the administration of justice, there shall be no distinction between the strangers and the relatives, between the Muslims and the non-Muslims and between the high and the low. All stand equal in the eye of Islamic law of justice. There is no such reservation as "The king can do no wrong," or "The king is above all party politics." The king is as much subject to law as a commoner and must appear before the Qazi for trial. Indeed the Prophet maintained a very high standard of justice and laid down rules to that effect. See note 2434 (iv) for further light.

(c) Rewards for justice and punishment for injustice. The upright judges in the sight of Allah will be upon the pulpits of light on the right side of the Merciful—26:37. The dearest of men to Allah is a just ruler—26:39. They will find shade under the shade of the Throne—26:362W.

(d) Duty of judges. In Islamic law, a judge deals with all cases—civil, criminal and military. There is no separate udiciary as all stand equal in the eye of law. No question therefore arises for separation of the executive from the judiciary. Under the circumtances, a judge has got to perform a great responsible task. Sometimes he is asked to summon before him the high dignitaries of the estate, the members of the royal blood and the ministers. In dispensing justice, he must be sober, calm and cool. Nothing should ruffle his hind from the path of recti ude. If he does wrong, he is not only responsible to the people but also to God. He must not deliver judgment while he is in an angry mood—2 :55. If he tries hard to do justice, he is helped by God in coming to a just conclusion. He must not feel kindness in awarding the ordained sentences for the prescribed crimes. The Quran definitely laid down this instruction : Let not pity detain you in the matter of obedience to Allah—24:2Q. He must not accept any present or bribery from the parties to a case. He must decide disputes and cases with as much speediness and promptness as possible, as to delay justice is a part of injustice. Above all, he shall administer justice without making any distinction between the high and the low, the rich and the poor, king and no king.

55. Abu Bakrah reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: No judge shall pass a decree between two men while he is angry. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي بَكْرَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُولُ لَا يَقْضِيَنَّ حَاكِمٌ بَيْنَ اثْنَيْنِ وَهُوَ غَضْبَانُ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

56. Abdullah-b-Amr and Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When a judge wishes to pass a decree, and then strives hard and decides justly, there are two rewards for him; but when he wishes to pass a decree, and then strives hard but commits mistake, there is one reward for him. —Agreed.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو وَاَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَا قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا حَكَمَ الْحَاكِمُ فَاجْتَهَدَ وَاَصَابَ فَلَهُ اَجْرَانِ وَاِذَا حَكَمَ فَاجْتَهَدَ وَاَخْطَاَ فَلَهُ اَجْرٌ وَاحِدٌ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

57. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet said: Whoso is appointed a judge among men has indeed been slaughtered without a knife. —Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

He said: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Whoso is appointed a judge and decides with justice, it is proper to turn away from him with full hand, and he should not be approached after that. Tirmizi narrated it. In a narration of Razin from Nafe', it is reported that Ibn Omar said to Osman: O Commander of the Faithful, I shall not decide between two persons. He said:

He said : As for my father if anything was difficult to him, he asked the Messenger of Allah ; and if the Messenger of Allah felt difficulty, he asked Gabriel (Peace be on him) ; but I find none whom to consult with. I heard the Messenger of Allah say : Whoso takes refuge with Allah takes refuge with a great thing ; and I heard him say : Whoso takes refuge with Allah, I give refuge to him ; and verily I seek refuge with Allah from your appointment of me as a judge. Then he pardoned him. Osman said : Don't inform anybody.

373w. Sayeed-b-al-Musayyeb reported that a Muslim and a Jew quarelled with each other before Omar. He saw justice in favour of the Jew. So Omar gave him a decree therefor. Then the Jew said : By Allah, you have decided with truth. Then Omar beat him with a stick and said : What has informed you ? Then the Jew said : By Allah, we find in the Torah that there is no judge who judges with truth but an angel is by his right hand and an angel by his left-hand side, helping him and giving means of help for truth so long as he

1281. Trials and Evidences

(a) Burden of Proof. According to Islam, the burden of proof is generally upon the complainant or the plaintiff, because the plaintiff seeks to establish a claim, or the complainant a crime. This burden comes into operation as soon as the accused or the defendant takes an oath denying any liability or commission of crime. If however, there is admission, it may be taken as true ; but in case of crime, it must be corroborated either by repeated confessions or independant witnesses. The burden then shifts to the other side. If the defendant denies to take oath. a decree will be passed against him—26:90, 96, 100.

(b) Testimony of Witnesses. In Islam, there are certain fixed number of witnesses in special crimes. For instance, 4 witnesses are necessary in order to establish a case of adultery to the exclusion of women witnesses. The Quran says: And those who accuse free women and then do not bring four witnesses, flog them 80 stripes and do not ever admit any evidence from them—24:4Q. In another verse, it is said ; Why did they not bring four witnesses of it ? But as they have not brought witnesses, they are liars before Allah—24:13Q. In case of bonds, handnotes, mortgages etc, the Quran prescribes two witnesses. It says : And call in to witness from among your men two witnesses ; but if there are not two men, then one man and two women from among those whom you choose to be witnesses, so that if one of the two errs, the second of the two may remind the other and the witnesses should not refuse when they are summoned—2:282Q. In other cases, two men or one man and two women are required. In some cases, one witness was held sufficient to establish a case upon oath—26:95. In case of the balance of evidence on both sides, permission must be taken into consideration—26:102. In absence of evidence on either sides, the claim should be dismissed on oath of the defendant denying the claim, or an accused shall be acquitted on his taking oath denying the commission of the crime—26:104. It is incumbent upon the witnesses to bear testimony, nor is it lawful for them to conceal a fact within their knowledge. The Quran says: And the witnesses should not refuse when they are summoned—(2:282Q). It says also: Conceal not your testimony. Whoso conceals it, his heart is certainly sinful—2:283Q. The Hanifi law says that testimony in cases of crimes inducing corporal punishment is not obligatory (واجب) for two reasons. Fitsly, it is in accordance with the Prophet's action. The Prophet said to a person that had borne testimony in such a case: Verily it would have been better for you if you had concealed it. He said: Whoso conceals the vices of his brother Muslim, shall have a veil drawn over his own crimes in the two worlds by Allah. According to Hanifi law, if a property or claim is involved in a case, the fact must be stated in such a way as may not incur corporal punishment. The best witness is one who comes without request and summons to depose a fact—26:67. The Quran says: They (witnesses) shall both swear by Allah saying: We will not take for it a price, though he may be a relative, and we will not hide the testimony of Allah—5:106Q.

(c) Inadmissible Evidence. The deposition of the following persons is not to be accepted according to the Prophet:—(1) blind man, (2) a slave, (3) a slanderer against chastity of women, (64:4Q), (4) a fornicator, (5) a murderer, (6) a thief, (7) a dacoit, (8) a drunkard, (9) a near relative (son, grandson, father or grandfather, husband or wife, master or slave), (10) public singers and public women, (11) usurers, (12) heretics. Testimony of a bastard or enuch is, however, admissible—26:111, 112.

(d) Punishment for false oath and testimony. It has been rather put down in note—383. The Prophet said that Paradise is unlawful for one who has taken false oath and thereby takes the properties of others—26:61,62,107,106. Hell is destined for one who prefers a false claim—26:66. False oath or false evidence is a great sin. It is like setting up partnership with Allah 26:110.

The Quran says: Give up false evidence (2:283Q).

And do not conceal testimony; and whoso conceals it, his heart is surely sinful—2:283Q. Besides these warnings, a definite sentence for the slanderers of chastity of women has been prescribed. The sentence is 80 stripes—24:4Q.

65. Ibn Abbas reported from the Prophet who said: If the people were given according to their demand, people would have demanded the bloods of men and their properties; but oath is upon the defendant.[1282] —Muslim.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ لَوْ يُعْطَى النَّاسُ بِدَعْوَاهُمْ لَادَّعَى نَاسٌ دِمَاءَ رِجَالٍ وَ اَمْوَالَهُمْ وَلٰكِنَّ الْيَمِيْنَ عَلَى الْمُدَّعٰى عَلَيْهِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

66. Ibn Mus'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso swears upon a deliberate oath, while he is a trangressor therein taking therewith the properties of a Muslim, will meet Allah on the Resurrection Day while He will be wrathful on him. Then the Almighty Allah revealed in support of that: Verily those who purchase for a small price the covenant of Allah and their oaths—up to the last verse. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ حَلَفَ عَلٰى يَمِيْنِ صَبْرٍ وَ هُوَ فِيْهَا فَاجِرٌ يَقْتَطِعُ بِهَا مَالَ امْرِئٍ مُسْلِمٍ لَقِيَ اللّٰهَ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ وَ هُوَ عَلَيْهِ غَضْبَانُ فَاَنْزَلَ اللّٰهُ تَعَالٰى تَصْدِيْقَ ذٰلِكَ اِنَّ الَّذِيْنَ يَشْتَرُوْنَ بِعَهْدِ اللّٰهِ وَ اَيْمَانِهِمْ ثَمَنًا قَلِيْلًا اِلٰى اٰخِرِ الْاٰيَةِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

67. Abu Omamah reported that the Prophet said: Whoso takes the right of a Muslim with his oath, the fire becomes binding for him and Paradise unlawful

عَنْ اَبِيْ اُمَامَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنِ اقْتَطَعَ حَقَّ امْرِئٍ مُسْلِمٍ بِيَمِيْنِهٖ فَقَدْ اَوْجَبَ اللّٰهُ لَهُ النَّارَ وَ حَرَّمَ عَلَيْهِ

1282. Baihaqi added the following:—Proof is upon the plaintiff and oath is upon the defendant. In other wards, the onus of proof is upon the plaintiff, and the defendant is to take an oath that plaintiff's claim is not true. In case the defendant does not take oath, plaintiff gets a decree, and in case he takes oath, plaintiff must prove his case.

68. Omme-Salamah reported that the Prophet said: I am only a man and verily you quarrel before me, and perhaps some of you may be more eloquent with his arguments than others that I may give decree in his favour according as I hear from him. Whoso is therefore given a decree by me for him on account of something out of the properties of his brother, he shall not take it, and verily I shall then cut a piece of the fire for him. —Agreed.

a land of mine. The man of Kindah said: That is my land and is in my possession. He has got no right therein. The Holy Prophet asked the Hazrami: Have you got proof? 'No' said he. He said: Then there is his oath for you. He said: O Ms. of Allah, verily the man is a transgressor. He will not care over what he will swear and he has got attention of nothing. He said: There is nothing for you except that from him. Then he went to swear. The Prophet said when he went behind: If he swears over his property in order to devour it unjusty, Allah will meet him while He would be turning His face from him.

He said: To whomsoever I give a decree for anything out of the rights of his brother, I cut a slice of the fire for him.

1284. This shows that the latter people will be too fond of litigations, giving depositions and taking oaths. This tradition pronounces that the best of the people among the Muslims were the Prophet's companions and the subsequent two generations called Tabeyins and Tab'ye-Tabeyins.

The two men, each of them both, said: O Messenger of Allah! this right of mine is for my companion. 'No' he said, 'but retire you both, and divide among yourselves and take the right as between two brothers and then divide it into two portions, and each of you should then make it lawful for his companion out of you both. In a narration: He said: I decide between you both with my decision about what has not been revealed over me. —Abu Daud.

81. Al-Ash'as-b-Qais reported: There was a land belonging to me and one of the Jews. He denied it to me. So I took him before the Messenger of Allah. He asked: Have you got proof? 'No' said he. He asked the Jew: Take oath. I said: O Ms. of Allah, in that case he will swear and will go away with my property. Then the Almighty Allah revealed: Those who purchase the covenant of Allah and their oath for a small price—the verse. 1285

The man of Hazramaut said: O Ms. of Allah, verily my land has been usurped by force by the father of this man, and it is now in his possession. He asked: Have you proof? 'No' said he, 'but I shall administer him an oath. By Allah, he does not know that the land is mine. His father took it from me by force'. 87. Amr-b-Shuaib reported from his father from his grandfather that the Messenger of Allah said: Deposition of a treacherous man or a woman is not lawful, nor of a fornicator or a fornicatress, nor of a man having enmity with his brother. He also rejected the deposition of a man who is pleased with the members of his family. —Abu Daud.

1287. One sentenced cannot lawfully depose. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that even after repentance, his evidence is not admissible while the other three Imams hold the contrary. An enemy's deposition is not acceptable. A slave who attributes his freedom to another than the rightful man cannot lawfully depose. The last sentence means that a father cannot depose for a son or vice versa, or a master for a slave or vice-versa. The reason is that it will innure to the benefit of the deponent.

So when an affair overcomes you, say : Allah is sufficient for me ! and how good is the One trusted. —Abu Daud.

1289. Provisions of Govt. officers

Government servants are as a rule debarred from following any vocation of life. Hence justice requires that they must be given provisions for the maintenance of themselves and their families. The Prophet laid instructions for their salaries. In addition, each of them must be given, according to the Prophet's instructions, a free quarter to live in, an orderly to help him and a wife to keep him morally strong. Besides these and other incidental expenses, nothing is allowed to them. If they take anything other than that, it will be considered as bribery. Whatever an officer gets, little or much, must be deposited in the State Exchequer. In default, he will be committing breach of trust.

92. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet said: I shall neither pay you, nor shall I deny you. I am a divider (of provisions). I place where I have ben ordered (to place).[190] —Bukhari.

96. Mua'z reported: The Ms. of Allah sent me to Yemen. When I took the journey, he sent after my footstep and I was made to return. He said: Do you know why I have sent for you? You must not take anything without my permission, because that will be a breach of trust. Whoso commits breach of trust

98. Adi-b-Amirah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: O you men! whoever of you is appointed to a work for us and then conceals from us even a needle therefrom, or what is above it, is a treacherous man. He will come therewith on the Resurrection Day. A man from among the Ansars got up and said: O Ms. of Allah! Accept your appoitment from me. He asked: What is that? He said: I have heard you say such and such. He said: I am saying that: "Whoso is appointed to a post by us, let him

CHAPTER XXVII

1296. Marriage

(a) Marriage. Marriage is the union of two souls for love and two bodies for procreation and legalising of children. Man is free and therefore, it is argued, that he can claim a free intercourse with every woman. If this theory is accepted, it will mean disorder and chaos in the society leading ultimately to destruction of human civilization. In that case, he is nothing but only a beast. The limitation to free love and free intercourse by marriage is for the ultimate benefit of human devolopment as a whole and particularly for the progress of human civilization. Marriage engenders love at first for wife, then for children, then for kith and kin, then for the society and ultimately for the human race as a whole. The real unit of human civilization is the family and there can be no family if there is no marriage. 'Free love' creates no responsibility, no ownership of property and no kith and kin. If free love is allowed indiscriminately and lasts for nearly a century, the world will be a field of chaos, blood-shed and social disorder of the first magnitude.

(b) Benefits of marriage. Marriage contributes to many-sided progress of a man, physical, mental, social, moral and spiritual. In an unmarried stage, these things can not be achieved in all perfections. There is therefore a great deal of distinction between a bachelor and a married man, or an unmarried woman and a married woman.

(1) Physical benefit. We see daily around us how a man was erewhile sickly and suffering from various diseases but as soon as he got married, his diseases generally disappeared within a short time. This is also true in case of girls and women. Marriage is, therefore, the best medicine for certain kinds of diseases in grown-up men and girls. It also contributes to the physical beauty of the married couple.

(2) Mental benefit. Marriage gives peace of mind. The Holy Holy Quran says: And out of His signs there is that He creates mates for you from yourselves, that you may find peace of mind in them; and He put between you love and compassion. Surely there are signs in this for a people who reflect (30:21Q). By marriage, an idle man is turned to an active man, a spend-thrift prugal and the hard-hearted kind. It is therefore a harbinger of new thoughts, ideas, responsibilities and obligations. It sets up the mind to thoughts aud actions which were dormant before marriage.

(3) Social benefit. Marriage creates a family consisting of children and wife. Families create society and the progress of a family means the progress of the society. Marrige creates a new company of kith and kin, because sons and daughters go to create new families. Hospitalities, fellow-feeling, kindness and mutual help become binding among these relations. Marriage therefore gives impetus to what is called "Social virtues". Marriage gives the rights of inheritance and ownership in property to the nearest relations. The Quran therefore says: And He it is who has created man from water, and then He has made for him blood and marriage relationships—25:54Q.

(4) Moral benefit. Marriage is a great medicine for checking unruly sexual passions and falling to sins and crimes. The Holy Prophet said: It shuts up eye-sight and guards private parts (17:1). It is well-known that out of sexual passions, many great sins are committed in this world. If it is satisfied by marriage, many a crime will disappear from the world. It contributes thus to moral welfare of individuals, families and societies.

(5) Spiritul benefit Moral progress leads to spiritual progress which then leads ultimately to the Blessed Company.

(c) Harms of marriage. The following are some of the harms that may possibly arise out of marriage.

(1) The married man becomes rather weak in lawful earnings as he is required to meet the increased needs of a family life.

(2) He is to look after the maintenance, education and other necessary things of the family which he was not bound to do before marriage.

(3) A great strain is put upon him by the wife and the members of the family in the form of sufferings and mental anxieties in many ways.

(d) What is true renunciation ? Is it not to marry ? The answer is simply an emphatic no. The instict of passion is provided by nature not only in man but in all animals, so that by procreation of children and animals, the world can go on from years to years. Go against nature and you will certainly pay the penalty of your rash action. See plants. They are provided with flowers and with portions like generative organs. Insects come, dive inside flowers to gather honey, come out covered with some powder called 'pollen' and go unto other flowers mixing pistil into them and thus there arises fecundatton of seeds. All the religious presonalities except Jesus Christ were married to one woman or more. Unless marriage is contracted, nature must satisfy itself by unnatural means—muster bation, pollution etc. which are highly injurious to heath. Once three men praying throughout the night and fasting all day long came to the Holy Prophet. He instructed them to marry in order to have perfection—1:76. True renunciation is to marry and then to remain aloof from attachment of the world.

(e) Marriage in Islam. A Muslim marriage is a civil contract based on mutual consent of the bride and bridegrom, as distinguished from the sacramental form of marriage. Most of the incidents of contract are consequently applicable to such a marriage, for example, consideration of marriage in the form of dower, breach of the contract by divorce, giving of legal rights and obligations on the contractual parties, and bestowing no greater power on the husband than what the contract provides in a lawful manner. A Muslim marriage requires no priest and no sacramental rights. At best, the registration of mutual consent may be done. A woman has got absolute right in her acquired properties before and after her marriage. In addition, she has a distict lien upon her husband's property for her ante-nuptial settlements.

(f) Nature of injunctions for marriage. The Quran gives the order of marriage in the following verse : And marry those among you who are single and those who are fit among your male slaves and your female slaves. If they are needy, Allah will save them from want out of His grace. And Allah is Ample-giving, Kind. And tell those who do not find a match to keep chaste until Allah makes them free from want out of His grace—24:30Q. It appears from the above verses that marriage is the natural law. It may be delayed for two reasons, for not finding a suitable match and for finding no means wherewith to maintain her. If the conditions are removed with the finding of a match and also the means of maintenance, God's direction is then to contract a marriage. The reason given is "that you may not deviate from the right course—4:3Q". The jurists have, however, laid down the following rules. When the sexual passion is so strong that there is every chance of a man falling into sin, marriage then becomes Farz (binding). When the sexual passion is very strong, marriage is Wajeb. When the passion remains in normal degree, it is Sunnal Muakkadah. Marriage becomes Makruh when there are no means for maintenance and when no suitable match is found.

absolute monasticism. The Holy Prophet rejected it as opposed to human nature. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that marrige life is better for piety.

1301. Private parts and belley are the two principal doors of sins. The one is greatly saved by marriage and another by suitable provision in life.

1302. This is with regard to the amount of dower, clothes and other expenses.

1303. Things to be sought in marriage.

The foremost qualification of a bride is as the Quran says: Marry such women as seem good to you—4:3(Q). It appears therefore that the bridegroom and the bride's mutual choice has got the greatest consideration. If this is lacking though there are other qualifications, marriage should not be contracted as, after all, marriage is the union of two souls and unless they are pleased with each other, the very purpose of marriage is frustrated. In traditions, we find that the following qualifications of a bride should be sought. The bride should be (1) a Muslima, (2) chaste (27:9), (3) virgin (27:10), (4) beautiful, (5) accomplished, (6) having sweet tongue and good manners, (7) possessing property, (8) having child-bearing capacity and affectionate nature and (9) equal respectibility. According to Hanifi Law, equality is an important condition of marriage in points of family, religion, freedom, character, fortune and profession, because the desirable ends of marriage, such as cohabitation, society and friendship, cannot be completely enjoyed excepting by persons who are each other's equals, as a woman of high rank and family would abhor society and cohabitation with a mean man.

7. Abu Hurairah reported: A woman is married for four things; for her property, for her accomplishments, for her beauty and for her religion. Select one having religious temperament. May your hands be rubbed with dust! 1304

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم تُنْكَحُ الْمَرْاَةُ لِاَرْبَعٍ لِمَالِهَا وَلِحَسَبِهَا وَلِجَمَالِهَا وَلِدِيْنِهَا فَاظْفَرْ بِذَاتِ الدِّيْنِ تَرِبَتْ يَدَاكَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1304. A woman is queen of the household (26:1). In order to justify her conduct as queen, she must have principally two virtues—affection for children and their upbringing, and responsibility for her husband's properties vested in her charge.

8. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The best women are those that ride on camels, the virgin women of the Quraish, most affectionate to children in infancy and most dutiful towards husbands regarding properties in their (husband's) possession 1805

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم خَيْرُ نِسَاءٍ رَكِبْنَ الْاِبِلَ صَالِحُ نِسَاءِ قُرَيْشٍ اَحْنَاهُ عَلٰى وَلَدٍ فِيْ صِغَرِهٖ وَاَرْعَاهُ عَلٰى زَوْجٍ فِيْ ذَاتِ يَدِهٖ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

10. Jaber reported : We were with the Prophet in a battle. When we returned in a caravan, we came near Medina. I said to the Prophet : O Ms. of Allah ! verily I have been newly married to a bride. He asked : Have you married ? 'Yes' said I. He asked : Whether a virgin or a widow ? I said : Rather a widow. He said : Why not a virgin, so that you may play with her

1307. Females unlawful for marriage.

The females prohibited for marriage are the following. The Quran says (4:23Q) : Forbidden to you are your (1) mothers, (2) and your daughters, (3) and your sisters, (4) and your paternal aunts, (5) and your maternal aunts (6) brother,s daughters, (7) and sister's daughters, (8) and your mothers that have suckled you, (9) and your foster sisters, (10) and mothers of your wives (11) and your step daughters who are in your guardianship born of your wives to whom you have gone in, but if you have not gone in to them, there is no blame on you, (12) and the wives of your sons who are of your own loins, (13) and that you should have two sisters together except what has already passed, (14) and all married women except those whom your right hands possess. These are fourteen females that have been prohibited for marriage. Fiqh or Islamic Jurisprudence has enlarged the scope and the Hedayah expanded these prohibitions and classed them into three groups: Prohibition owing to (i) consanguinity, (ii) fosterage, (iii) and affinity. (i) Mother includes all females ascendants both in the male and the female line i.e. father's and mother's sides; daughter includes all female descendants howlowsoever i.e. daughter of son, or daughter of daughter etc. Father's sister and mother's sister include grand father's and grand mother's sisters and so on.

(ii) The female relations that are prohibited for marriage on account of consanguinity are prohibited also on account of fosterage. There are certain exceptions to this rule which will be found in the Hedayah, Durre-Mukhtar or Mr. Ameer Ali's Mohammadan law. There is difference of opinion as what constitutes forterage. The child is considered as suckling up to the age of two years. The Quran says: And the mothers should suckle their children for two complete years to make complete the time of suckling—2:233Q.

(iii) The relation on account of marriage affinity are like those on account of consanquinity. Thus wife's mother includes wife's grand mother and so on; daughter includes her daughter's daughter. Step mother are also prohibited as the Quran says: Marry no women whom your fathers married.

There is another prohibition. A Muslim cannot marry an idolatress. The Quran says: And do not marry the idolatresses until they believe; and certainly a believing slave girl is better than an idolatress even though she would please you, and do not give (believing women) in marriage to idolaters until they believe, and certainly a believing slave is better than an idolater even though he should please you—2:221Q. It appears, however, from another verse that a woman of the people of the Book (Ahli-Kitab) can lawfully be taken in marriage, but no Muslim woman can be given in marriage to a man from the people of the Book. The Quran says: And the chaste from among those who have been given the Book before you are lawful for you—5:5(). The people of the Book has been explained by the jurists to be the a Jews and Christians. So a Muslim may marry a Christian or Jewish girl, while a Muslim woman cannot marry a Jew or a Christian. What is the reason of denouncing the idolatresses? The disastrous influence exercised by idolatry over the people of the Arabian Peninsula led the Prophet to do this with the sole object of keeping idolatry absolutely independant out of Islamic body politics. Islam requires that no union should have the introduction of idolatry in a Muslim household. A Muslim woman with a non-Muslim has been forbidden for political reasons. There is another prohibition. Two sisters cannot be married at the same time.

13. Abu Hurairah reported that the Holy Prophet said: A woman and her paternal aunt cannot be united, nor a woman and her maternal aunt.

—Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يُجْمَعُ بَيْنَ الْمَرْاَةِ وَعَمَّتِهَا وَلَا بَيْنَ الْمَرْاَةِ وَخَالَتِهَا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عن ام الفضل قالت ان نبي الله صلعم قال لا تحرم الرضعة او الرضعتان وفي رواية عائشة قال لا تحرم المصة والمصتان -

The same law applies to relations by fosterage and relations by birth regarding marriage.

1309. Her uncle was Aflah, brother of Abul Aqis. As brother's daughter is unlawful for marriage, so foster's brother's daughter is unlawful, but uncle's daughter is not unlawful. Hamzah was uncle and foster brother of the Prophet. Sowaibah, a slave-girl of Abu Lahab, suckled them both Four women suckled the Prophet—Amina, Halifa, Sowaibah and Omme Aiman.

1310. One or two sips of milk do not make marriage unlawful or gives any right incidental of fosterage. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, one or two sips make marriage unlawful, because the Quran says—'And your mothers who suckled you.' Imam Shafeyi extends the number to five.

1311. Imam Ahmad says from this that one witness is sufficient to establish fosterer age, but Imam Abu Hanifa holds that two male witnesses or one male and two female witnesses are necessary.

18. Ayesha reported: There were ten well-defined sucklings which made (marriage) unlawful in what was revealed in the Quran. Afterwards five well-defined sucklings were abogated. Thereafter the Messenger Allah died, and that was about which he was reading the Quran.

19. Oqbah-b-Hares reported that he married the daughter of Abu Ehab-b-Abdul Aziz. A woman came and said: I have indeed suckled Oqbah and the girl that is married to him. Oqbah said to her: I don't know that you have suckled me, nor you have informed me. He then sent for Abu Ehab and asked him. They said: We did not know that she suckled my daughter. He then rode to the Messenger of Allah at Medina and asked him. The Holy Prophet exclaimed: How? It was said: Oqbah divorced her and she married another husband. 1812

1317. Sight of Bride and Bridegroom

In Christian societies, there is betrothal between a man and a girl before marriage followed sometimes by sexual intercourse. This is a completely unsatisfactory method of selection of mates. It is free love in the garb of wooing. On the other hand, there are practices in some societies just opposite. Islam took the middle course. It allowed a man or a girl to select his or her mate after sights and glances and not beyond that. From traditions 27:20, 31, 32, it is quite clear that the parties are completely free to have a glance at each other. This instruction is neglected in Muslim societies generally in India, following strict notion of purdah. Guardians should arrange for a sight ceremony so that the bridal parties may not afterwards repent. The Holy Quran also supports this by the verse: Marry such women as seen good to you (4:3Q.) This selection is however impossible if facility is not given for mutual look. The jurists also unanimously approve this principle of sight. Marriage is a contract and consequently it follows that the two parties must have look at the thing for which the contract is made.

According to Imam Abu Hanifah, it is lawful to have a sight of the bride and bridegroom before marriage. Imam Malek holds that it is lawful with permission of the bride. Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad hold it lawful either with permission or without permission.

29. Abu Hurairah reported that a man came to the Prophet and said: I intend to marry a woman of the Ansars. He said: Have a look at her, because there is something (defective) in the eyes of the Ansars.[1313] —Muslim.

1319. Consent in marriage.

Marriage is a contract. Therefore it can be performed by those who are capable of entering into a contract. In other words, grown up boys and girls can by themselves contract marriage in presence of witnesses. With regard to the minors, marriage can be solemnised by guardians of the minors on their behalf, but in this respect the minors have got option on their attainment of maturity either to ratify the contract of marriage or to repudiate it. This is called Khairul Bulug (خير البلوغ). To be more particular, girls and women for marriage may be classed under four heads.

(1) A grown-up woman previously married (ثيب بالغة). In this case, marriage without consent is unanimously void.

(2) A grown-up virgin girl (بكر بالغة). Except Imam Shafeyi, all the Imams hold that marriage without her consent is not lawful.

(3) A minor previously-married girl (ثيب صغيرة). Except Imam Shafeyi, the Imams hold that her marriage by her guardian is legal without her consent.

(4) A minor virgin girl (بكر صغيرة). All are unanimous in holding that a guardian can get her married without her consent. In the case of a major virgin girl, silence before the witnesses is a sufficient indication of consent ; while in the case of a widow or divorced woman, express consent is necessary.

33. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger af Allah said : A previously married woman shall not be married till she gives consent, nor a virgin be married till her consent is sought. They asked: How shall be her permission? He said: If she remains silent. 1920 —Agreed.

عن أبي هريرة قال قال رسول الله
نعم لا تنكح الأيم حتى تستأمر ولا تنكح

34. Ibn Abbas reported that the Messenger of Allah said: A previously married woman is more a guardian for herself than her guardian, and a virgin should be asked permission about herself; and her permission is her silence. In a narration: He said: A previously married woman having consummation has got greater right to herself than her guardian, and a virgin shall be asked of her consent; and her permission is her silence. —Muslim.

35. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet said: A grown-up girl shall be asked permission about herself. If she is silent, it is her permission; and it she declines, there shall be no compulsion on her.

—Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai.

الْبِكْرُ حَتَّى تُسْتَأْذَنَ قَالُوا يَا رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ وَكَيْفَ إِذْنُهَا قَالَ أَنْ تَسْكُتَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ الْأَيِّمُ أَحَقُّ بِنَفْسِهَا مِنْ وَلِيِّهَا وَالْبِكْرُ تُسْتَأْذَنُ فِي نَفْسِهَا وَإِذْنُهَا صُمَاتُهَا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ الثَّيِّبُ أَحَقُّ بِنَفْسِهَا مِنْ وَلِيِّهَا وَالْبِكْرُ تُسْتَأْمَرُ وَإِذْنُهَا سُكُوتُهَا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ الثَّيِّبُ أَحَقُّ بِنَفْسِهَا مِنْ وَلِيِّهَا وَالْبِكْرُ يَسْتَأْذِنُهَا أَبُوهَا فِي نَفْسِهَا وَإِذْنُهَا صُمَاتُهَا۔ (مُسْلِمٌ)

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم الْيَتِيمَةُ تُسْتَأْمَرُ فِي نَفْسِهَا فَإِنْ صَمَتَتْ فَهُوَ إِذْنُهَا وَإِنْ أَبَتْ فَلَا جَوَازَ عَلَيْهَا۔ (التِّرْمِذِيُّ وَأَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

1920 AYYAM signifies a woman who was previously married but now she has got no husband owing to death or divorce. It appears from this that consent in either case is essentially necessary in a valid marriage; without it, marriage is absolutely void. AYYAM may be a virgin or not a virgin. In the latter case, she is called SAYYEB in Arabic. In other wards, she had sexual intercourse with her former husband. Here by the word ayyam, the latter has been meant.

1321. Option of Puberty (خير البلوغ)

A minor, when given in marriage, has the option of repudiating the marriage when she attains puberty. The jurists make one exception to this. They say that when a minor is given in marriage by a father or grandfather, the minor cannot revoke the marriage. It appears however that it is against the express teaching of the Holy Prophet in view of what is narrated in traditions—27:36,37. In these two reported cases, the girl's wish was given precedence, as there cannot be forced love. It appears, however, that the jurists meant those marriages irrevocable as have got equality in rank, position age and suitability. Where, however, the father or grandfather carelessly or wickedly contracts a minor in marriage, the contract can be set aside by the minor. In case of a virgin girl, the ratification may be either express or implied. Repudiation must be made immediately after attainment of maturity and before cohabiting with the husband. A decree is necessary.

36. Ibn Abbas reported that a virgin grown-up girl came to the Messenger of Allah and narrated that her father had given her in marriage, which was disliking to her. The Messenger of Allah gave her option.

37. Khansa'a-bn-Khejam reported that her father gave her in marriage while she was a woman having consummation. She disliked it, and so she came to the Prophet. He annulled his marriage. And in a narration of Ibn Majah : Marriage of her father.

(اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

1322. Guardianship for mrraiage

As has already been pointed out, no guardian for a grown-up girl (virgin or previously married) is necessary, but in the case of a minor, it is necessary. Imams Malek and Shafeyi hold that a guardian for marriage is essential in the case of both grown-up girls and minors in the sense of an agent for settling terms between the bride and bridegroom. In this sense, guardian is good no doubt, but in no case can it be said that a marriage is void or invalid without consent of the guardian if the grown-up girl consents. The Quran says in this connection : And when you divorce women, and they end their term of waiting, do not prevent them from marrying the husbands when they agree among themselves in a lawful manner—2:232Q. This verse clearly indicates that inspite of guardian's consent, marriage of a major girl with her consent would be valid.

The right of guardianship belongs successively to the (1) father, (2) paternal grandfather how highsoever, and (3) brother and other male relations on the father's side in the order of inheritance enumerated in the Table of Residuaries (note 980). In default of paternal relations, the right devolves upon the mother and other paternal relations within the prohibited degrees.

1324. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that this tradition is applicable in the case of girls and lunatics, while Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad hold that marriage is not valid without permission or consent of the guardian.

1325. This seems to be contradictory to the explanation of Imam Abu Hanifa. He explains away this by saying that the hadis is applicable to minor girls or slaves.

43. Samorah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whoso female in given in marriage by two guardians, she is for the first one among the two ; and whoso holds a sale to two persons, it is for the first one out of the two. 1328 —Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai, Darimi.

1330. Witnesses

The Quran says : And call in two witnesses from among your men, but if there are not two men, then one man and two women—2:282Q. So in a contract of marriage, two witnesses at least are essential. It is however better to have the marriages registered to furnish the best testimony and to remove all doubts. A marriage contracted without witnesses is merely invalid (Fasid) but not void (Batil). The Shias and Imam Malek hold marriages valid even if they are contracted without the witnesses. It seems that this view is incorrect in view of the clear Quranic verse in case of contract and the hadis of Tirmizi. The witnesses must be present when the proposal and acceptance are made and consent is given. The witnesses must be free, sane, major and Muslims.

1327. Imam Abu Hanifa says that marriage may be performed without witnesses. Imam Shafeyi holds that no marriage can validly be done without guardian of marriage.

1328. This rule applies in case guardians are equal in degree of relationship. In default, the guardian who is a nearer relation shall prevail.

44. Ibn Abbas reported that the Holy Prophet said : The fornicatresses are those who marry by themselves without witnesses. 1329 —Tirmizi.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ اَلْبَغَايَا الَّتِي يُنْكِحْنَ اَنْفُسَهُنَّ بِغَيْرِ بَيِّنَةٍ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

1331. Proclamation of marriage.

Marriage by itself is a proclamation among the public to the effect that two souls have united for procreation and legalising of children and that others have got no right to interfere in the conjugal relations of the married couple. The greater is its publicity and proclamation, the greater is its merit. If, however, there are no proclamation and no witnesses, it is nothing but clandestine sexual relations amounting to fornication, even though there is mutual consent. The Quran therefore says : "Taking them in marriage, nor fornicating, nor taking them for paramours in secret (4:24, 5:5Q). For this reason, the proclamation of marriage by beating of dafs (drums) and other lawful plays and songs within moderate limits, and holding marriage-feasts have been encouraged by the Holy Prophet. The traditions of this section will fully corroborate the view.

45. Rubay-bn-Muawwej reported that the Prophet came and entered to my house when I was betrothed. He sat upon my bed like your sitting near me. The young girls began to beat daf and sing about those who were killed on the Day of Badr among my forefathers. At that time, one of them sang :

عَنْ رُبَيِّعِ بِنْتِ مُعَوِّذٍ قَالَتْ جَاءَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم فَدَخَلَ حِيْنَ بُنِيَ عَلَيَّ فَجَلَسَ عَلٰى فِرَاشِيْ كَمَجْلِسِكَ مِنِّيْ فَجَعَلَتْ جُوَيْرِيَاتٌ لَنَا يَضْرِبْنَ بِالدُّفِّ وَيَنْدُبْنَ مَنْ قُتِلَ مِنْ اٰبَائِيْ

1329. 'It is more correct' says Mishkat 'that this tradition be raised up to Ibn Abbas'. In other words, it was said by Ibn Abbas.

Then the Prophet said: Verily the Ansars are a people among whom there are songs. (It would have been better) if you had sent with her those who could have sung "To thee we have come! To thee we have come! So to us welcome! And to thee welcome! [1332]

51. A'mer-b-Sa'ad reported: I went to Qarajah-b-Ka'ab And Abu Mas'ud al-Ansari in a marriage when lo! some girls were singing. I asked: O companions of the Ms. of Allah and warriors of Badr, is this done in your presence? He said: Sit down if you like and hear with us; and if you dislike, go; verily it has been made lawful for us—amusement at the time of marriage.

—Nisai.

1332. The last portion is a piece of poetry recited by the Holy Prophet. It seems from this that poetry, songs and rhythmical tunes were not discouraged by him, but rather good things have been greatly encouraged. It is only with regard to evil songs or poetries which bring a sense of immorality that the ban was laid. See note 797 for full discussion.

1333. Dower

(a) What is dower ? Dower is a consideration of the contract of marriage. It is essential to the validity of a marriage. The Quran says : O Prophet ! surely We have made lawful to you your wives whom you have given their dowries—33:50Q. It appears therefore that dowry is compulsory in a marriage. Another verse runs : And there is no blame on you to marry them when you give them their dowries—60:10Q. Dower is an essential part of marriage, but it is not invalid if is not paid or contracted before marriage. The Quran says : There is no blame on you if you divorce women when you have not touched them, or appointed for them a dower—2:23 :Q. The Holy Quran also says : And your women—give their dowries as a free gift, but if they of themselves be pleased to give up to you a portion of it, then eat it with enjoyment and pleasure—4:4Q. This is quite contrary to Hindu system of marriage where girls are to pay huge sums to husbands in consideration of marriage. This principle leads to celibacy of young girls. Islamic law gives advantage to women and increases their prestige and independence. Dower is a great check for free use of husband's oppression.

(b) Amount of dower No hard and fast rule has been laid down by the Quran about the amount of dower. It is to be adjuged according to the social position of the parties, their wealth, their personal qualifications, and conditions of the human society. The Quran says : one wealthy according to his means and one straitened in circumstances according to his means—2:236Q. It may be a ring (27:54), or a stipulation to teach the Quran—(27:54), or shoes (27:58), or two handfuls of barley or dates (27:57). It may even be fixed on condition of accepting the religion of Islam (27:61) The dower of Umme Habibah in marriage with the Prophet was fixed at 4000 dirhams. Dowry of Prophet's daughters was nearly 500 dirhams for each. Dowry may be increased or decreased after marriage by mutual agreement (4:24Q).

(c) Prompt and Deferred dowries. The latter jurists divided dowry into two portions : one payble on demand called Mahr Mu'ajjal (مهر معجل) and another payable at death or dissolution of marriage by divorce called Mahr Muajjal. (مهر مؤجل). There is no such clear distinction either in the Quran or Hadis. Where no dowry has been fixed, it is to be adjudged according to the amount settled in one's family and the condition of the husband. This is called Mahr-Misal or customary dower.

(d) Dowry and consummation. After consummation, the wife becomes entitled to full dower ; and before consummation only half, or a mere present in case of separation before consummation.

52. Ibn Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah forbade Shigar, [1934] and Shigar is a man's giving his daughter in marriage on condition that another would give his daughter in marriage to him, and that there should be no dower between them. In a narrtion of Muslim : There is no Shigar in Islam. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم نَهٰى عَنِ الشِّغَارِ وَالشِّغَارُ اَنْ يُزَوِّجَ الرَّجُلُ ابْنَتَهٗ عَلٰى اَنْ يُّزَوِّجَهُ الْاٰخَرُ ابْنَتَهٗ وَلَيْسَ بَيْنَهُمَا صَدَاقٌ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ قَالَ لَا شِغَارَ فِي الْاِسْلَامِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

He said: I have got nothing but this trousers of mine. He said: Seek, though it be a ring of iron. Then he searched but did find nothing. The Prophet asked: Have you got anything of the Quran with you? 'Yes' said he, "such and such a verse". He said: I give her in marriage to you for what is with you from the Quran. In a narration, he said: Go, and I have got her married to you. So teach her from the Quran. [1934a] —Agreed.

There he turned a Christian, but his wife remained in Islam. The Negus gave her afterwards in marriage to the Prophet on a dower of 4000 dirhams. She was the daughter of Abu Sufyan. The occurrence took place at 7 A. H.

1337. Khutbah

Khutbah or delivery of sermon is another factor towards proclamation of marriage, besides what it contributes towards invocation of blessings on the newly married couple. This is a sermon to the couple in short, how they should behave in the married state and what are their rights and obligations towards each other. It also makes them understand that the marriage is no less a factor for saving them from the evils of the devil and for taking them nearer and nearer to God. Earthly love is then transferred into heavenly love.

The sermon consists of Tashahhud and three verses of the Holy Quaran as set forth in the hadis of Ibn Mas'ud below.

62. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Every marriage wherein there is no 'Tashahhud' 1337a is like a hand cut off.

—Tirmizi (Approved, Rare).

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم كُلُّ خُطْبَةٍ لَيْسَ فِيْهَا تَشَهُّدٌ فَهِيَ كَالْيَدِ الْجَذْمَاءِ * اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ (حَسَنٌ غَرِيْبٌ)

63. Same reported that the Prophet said: Every affair of a serious nature which is not undertaken without praise of Allah is cut off (from blessing). 1338 —Ibn Majah.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم كُلُّ اَمْرٍ ذِيْ بَالٍ لَا يُبْدَءُ فِيْهِ بِالْحَمْدِ لِلّٰهِ فَهُوَ اَقْطَعُ * (اِبْنُ مَاجَةَ)

64. Abdullah b-Mas'ud reported: The Prophet of Allah

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ عَلَّمَنَا

1337a. Tashahhud is the bearing of witness to the unity of God and prophethood of Muhammad (P. H.).

1338. Thus in Islam, a Muslim is dedicated entirely to the Almighty. He has got nothing in him except through God and no merit unless it is supplied from above. The Quran therefore says: My prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the worlds.

taught us to recite "Tashahhud" in prayer and Tashahhud in necessity. He said : Tashahhud in prayer is : All worships and prayers and wealth are due to Allah. Peace be on you, O Prophet, and mercy of Allah and His blessings. Peace be on us and the righteous servants of Allah. And I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah, and I bear witness that Muhammad is His servant and His Apostle. Tashahhud in necessity is: All praise is for Allah and we seek help from Him, and we beg forgiveness to Him, and we seek refuge to Him from the evils of our passions ; whomsoever Allah guides, there is none to misguide him ; and whomsoever Allah misguides, there is none to guide him ; and I bear witness that there is no god but Allah, and I bear witness that Muhammad is His servant and Messenger. He read three verses : O you who believe ! fear Allah with His due fear and don't die unless you are Muslims (3:101Q). O those who believe ! fear Allah to whom you demand one another's right and also relationship. Surely Allah is a great Watcher over you— 4:1Q. O those who believe ! fear

1340. Marriage Feast (وليمة)

Walimah is a feast arranged on the occassion of marriage. It comes from the root الوَلِيْم meaning to join together. This is so called as it is held on the occasion of joining the wife and husband together. Majority of the jurists hold that it is sunnat, while a few hold that it is Mustahab (commendable), and a few Wajeb (compulsory). This feast should invariably be given by the husband as is seen in the traditions.

The Mazhare-Haq mentions that feasts should invariably be held on eight occasions: Marriage-feast called walimah, feast for an issue called Khurs (خرس), feast for castration called E'zar (اعذار), feast for building a house called Wakirah (وكيرة), feast for arrival of a traveler called Naqiah (نقيعة), feast towards warding off calamities called Zimah (ضيمة), feast for naming a boy called Aqiqah (عقيقة) and feast for entertainments called Ma'odobah (مادبة). All these feasts are Mustahab except Walimah which is Sunnat.

65. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah saw a sign of yellow colour on Abdur Rahman-b-Auf. He asked : What is this ? He replied : Verily I have married a woman on a measure of 5 dirhams of gold.

1339. In Jame' of Tirmizi, the three verses have been fully explained by Sufyan as-Sauri. Ibn Majah added after his word 'All praise is due to Allah'—we praise him.

He said : May Allah bless you. Give a feast even though with a goat. —Agreed.

66. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah did never feed for any of his wives what he fed for Zainab. He gave feast (for her marriage) with a goat. —Agreed.

67. Same reported that the Holy Prophet gave feast when Zainab, daughter of Jahsh, was brought to his house. The people ate bread and meat to their hearts' content. —Bukhari.

68. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah emancipated Safiyyah and married her and made her emancipation a dowry. He gave feast for her with dates mixed with curd. —Agreed.

69. Same reported that the Holy Prophet stayed for three nights between Khaiber and Medina, and Safiyyah was first brought there. So I invited the Muslims to a feast of his, and there was no bread therein or meat, and there was therein nothing except that he ordered for dinner cloths. These were then spread ; and dates, cheese and ghee were served thereon. —Bukhari.

1341. The Prophet, being the greatest of the noblemen of Arabia, did not at all besitate to take a slave-girl in marriage. This clearly illustrates that in marriage matters also, there should be no distinction in society.

70. Safiyyah-bn-Shaibah reported that the Holy Prophet gave marriage-feast for some of his wives with two 'mauds' of wheat. [1842] —Bukhari.

The Ms. of Allah then said: O Abu Shuaib, verily a man has followed us. He said: If you wish, you may give him permission; and if you wish, you may leave him. He said: No, rather I shall give him permission. —Agreed.

75. Safinah reported that a man invited Ali-b-Abi Taleb to a feast. He prepared the feast for him. Fatimah said: Had we invited the Messenger of Allah, he would have taken food with us. So he called him, and he came. He placed his hands upon the sides of the door and saw a coloured screen hung up in a corner of the house. So he returned. Then Fatimah said: I followed him and said: O Ms. of Allah, what has turned you back? He said: It is not for me or for a Prophet to enter a decorated house.

1343. This proves that none should attend a feast without being invited or receiving permission of the host, and none shall take another with him to take feast if the latter is not invited.

1345. Imam Ahmad interprets the persons as those who vie with one another in feeding out of vanity and pride.

382w. Imran-b-Hussain reported that the Messenger of Allah prohibited to accept food of the transgressors. 1846

1347. Sexual Intercourse

The following rules of sexual intercourse should be observed. (1) Before actual coition, hold conversations of sexual love and give caresses and kisses. Play and toy in order to rouse sexual organs for easy cohabitation. (2) Before the act is begun, recite the following :— بسم الله العلي العظيم الله اكبر الله اكبر (In the name of Allah, the Almighty and Great. Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest). اللهم جنبنا الشيطان و جنب الشيطان مما رزقنا (O Allah ! protect us from the devil, and keep the devil aloof from what Thou hast provided us). (3) Don't turn the face to wards the west. (4) At the time when semen runs out, think of this verse or its meaning :— الحمد لله الذي جعل من الماء بشرا فجعل نسبا و صهرا (All praise is for Allah who created man from water. Then He made for him blood and marriage relationship—25:54Q. (5) Don't let out your semen very soon at least before the overy of your wife comes out. This is made much easier when wife's passions are roused up by kisses and caresses and other tactful ways. (6) Try to enter semen into uterus and don't throw it outside without any excuse. (7) Before your second coition, sexual organs must first be cleansed and washed. (8) Abulution should be made after coition. (9) Coition should be avoided as far as possible in the nights of the new moon, full moon and at the end of the luner month (Ihya of Imam Gazzali). (10) Sexual intercourse is desirable when the husband and the wife both show inclination for it, and no forcible coition should take place. When a man calls his wife to bed and she declines, angels curse her and Allah remains displeased with her—2:5 ,61. (11) Coition must always be made with the male organ and the female vaginal canal and never through the rectum—25:112. Let it, however, be understood that any posture for coition may be taken namely, sitting, standing, leaning on one side etc. The Quran says: Your wives are a tilth for you ; so come to your tilth as you like—2:223Q.

Prohibitions. On the following occasions, sexual intercourse is unlawful. (1) Intercourse during continuance of the menses of the wife. The Quran says: They ask you about mensturation. Say, it is a little harmful. Therefore keep aloof from women during their menstrual discharge and do not go near them until they are clean—2:212Q. (2) After child-birth till the stoppage of blood nearly up to the 40th day. (3) During the hours of fasting from the appearance of whiteness till the setting of the sun. Intercourse during night is not prohibited even during the fasting month (4) Unnatural intercourse either with a male or with an animal is unlawful—25:106.

Generally speaking, sexual intercourse is desirable when the passions of the husband and the wife are high. It is the duly of the wife to win her husband's mind by submitting to his sexual desire, and whenever a husband casts a glance at a woman with passion, he should at once go to his wife and satisfy his lust. Nobody should whip a wife and then cohabit with her in the night. This is not love but lust. If a man promises not to go unto his wife for four months, and if in the mean-time, he does not have sexual intercourse with her, the wife will be considered as divorced if not taken in the mean time.

1351. A man is not allowed to have intercourse with his wife during menstrual period and by her rectum.

1352. Muzaher is one who likens the back of his wife to the back of his mother. When this is done, sexual intercourse becomes unlawful till expiation is made, but this does not make complete separation. The Holy Prophet abolished this Pre-Islamic custom.

He said: O Ms. of Allah, I saw the whiteness of the two buttocks in full moon-lit night and then I could not check my passion from having intercourse with her. The Holy Prophet laughed and directed him not to come near her till he atones. —Ibn Majah, Tirmizi (Approved, Correct, Rare).

1354. Birth Control

There has recently been a movement about birth-control and introduction of various devices to check conception. This movement is chiefly due to free love ; and in case of marriage, to get rid of marital responsibilities and obligations. Birth-control is thus opposed to God's intention. Marriage has been defind as the union of two bodies for procreation of children. If birth control is widely practised, there will be a speedy end of population. For this reason, there has recently been a less number of population in countries where birth control methods are frequently used. Some of the Estates offered rewards to parents who can produce a number of children.

In some special cases, however, it can be used in the form of Azal which is the taking out of semen when it is about to come out and throwing it outside. In this case also, consent must be obtained from free women. In case of captive girls, no consent is necessary. This form of birth-control may be practised in urgent cases, namely, when the wife is seriously ill. Birth-control by the introduction of sexol, pessaries, rubbers and other methods are totally forbidden as many diseases may arise out of these practices.

91. Abu Sayeed al Khudri reported : We came out to the Prophet in the battle of Banu Mustaliq. We acquired captive girls out of the girls of the Beduin Arabs. We were eager for women, and our long absence (from home) became impatient to us. We loved Ajal and so we wished to do Ajal. We said that we practised Ajal while the Messenger of Allah was behind our backs before we asked him. Then we asked him about it. He said : There's no harm on you if you do not do it. There's no breath that will be created up to the Resurrection Day but it has already come in to existence. [1356] —Agreed.

[1857] Then I turned my attention towards Rome and Persia who were then doing Gaila-intercourse during the suckling period of children and that did not do their children any harm. Then they asked him about 'Ajal'. The Ms. of Allah said: That is secret burying alive of children. And that is: When those who were buried alive will be asked for what sin they have been killed (81:9-10Q) [1858] —Muslim.

Hazrat Ali interpreted 'Ajal' as abortion, and in this case the child was already with life. The Arabs before Islam used to kill their infant daughters when they were born. 1360. Unnatural intercourse

This is the intercourse of a man with a male or a beast, or with a woman by her rectum. In the case of a man's cohabitation with another man, the Holy Prophet said : Whomsoever you find doing the deed of the people of Lot, kill the doer and one on whom it was done—25:106. Verily the most fearful of what I fear over my people is the action of the people of Lot—25:108. It is well-known from the Quran how the people of Lot were destroyed as they were inordinately engrossed in coming to males with lust. Inspite of Lot's warnings, they could not avoid their habits and so they received a grievous punishment in the world. The Quran says : And Lot, when he said to his people : What ! do you commit an indecency which none in the world has done before you ? Certainly you come to males in lust besides the females. Nay, you are an extravagant people. So We delivered him and his followers except his wife. She was one of those who were drowned. We rained upon them a (heavy) rain. Consider then what was the end of the guilty—7:80 to 84Q. The Almighty and Glorious Allah will not look to a man who comes to a man (with lust) or to a woman by her rectum—25:112. Regarding intercourse of a man with a beast or an animal, the Holy Prophet said : Whoso comes to an animal (with lust), kill him. Regarding intercourse by the rectum of a woman, it has been strongly condemnd by traditions—25:112,27:83,84,85.

1361. Chastity.

Chastity is a great virtue in a man or a woman. A chaste woman is a great asset to a husband, and a chaste husband to a woman. Unchastity in any form has been made unlawful by the Holy Quran. It says : Say : My Lord has prohibited indecencies, those of them that are apparent as well as those that are concealed—7:33Q. The Quran says that everyone will be destroyed except those who guard their private parts except in the case of their wives and those whom their right hands possess – 70:29,30Q. In order to check free intermingling of men and women, the following preventive measures have been taken:—Say to the believing men that thy cast down their looks and guard their private parts. That is pure for them ; surely 1060a. All the four Imams agreed that the man shall not be killed though the animal may be killed. It was a mere threat.

Allah is aware of what they do. And say to the believing women that they cast down their looks and guard their private parts and not display their ornaments—24:30,31Q. Paradise is unlawful for a husbandman who allows his females to prostitute—25:1[63],354w. Allah will not talk with an old fornicator on the Judgement Day 26:40. There is even fornication of limbs—32:6. See note 456 for control of passions and note 1190 for sentence of fornication and adultery.

1363. Polygany

(a) Polygamy was prevalent in ancient societies. The Medes, Babylonians, Assyrians, Parsians and the Israilites practised polygamy and there was no restriction as to the number of wives they took. The Talmud of Jerusalem restricted the number on the consideration of ability of the husband to maintain wives. Among the Athenians, the most civilized and cultured nations of antiquity, the wife was a mere chattel, marketable and transferable and subject of testamentary disposition. Thus morganatic marriages were prevalent among the aristocracy and the clergy. Moses, Abraham, David, Solomon and other great prophets took several wives.

(b) Islam did nothing but put a limit to polygamy. Monogamy is the rule in Islam, while polygamy is an exception. The Quran clears up this idea by saying: Mary such women as seem good to you, two, three or four ; but if you fear that you cannot do equal justice to them all, you should marry only one—4:3Q. Thus it is seen that the condition of equal treatment among several wives has been laid in order to the desirability of a monogamous life. It has again been emphasised by the Quran saying: And you have not in your power to do justice among the wives though you may covet it, but be not disinclined from one with total disinclination, so that you leave her as if hanging in the air—(4:129Q). From these two verses, it is clear that Islam enjoins taking only one wife but it keeps reservation and safe-guard for four to meet cases of emergency. As Islam gives us a perfect code of marriage without any necessity of future legislation, it kept its laws elastic in order that they may be adaptable in every circumstance and in every condition of society.

Special cases. After the battle of Uhud, when male members were killed, the widows were large in numbers. Polygamy was therefore introdued in order to give a protection to the helpless widows. This measure also saved immorality of the society that would have possibly been created by the existence of a large number of young widows. After the European war, the necessity of polygamy was keenly felt. Prostitution is in the increase with the advancement of civilization, and morganatic and left handed sexual intercourses are prevalent in the present societies and eating them like a canker with its concomitant increase of bastardy. These are unknown to countries where polygamy is prevalent. Indeed man is polygamous in nature. It is Islam which legalised up to a certain limit the number of such polygamous intercourse. Therefore polygamy is surely better then secret associations with women.

The following conclusions are therefore drawn from what has been stated above.

(1) Prostitution can be abolished by the introduction of polygamy. Prostitution is absent in Islamic countries on account of polygamy in marriages.

(2) Secret promiscuous connection and social and indecent crimes can be efficiently checked by the introduction of polygamy to the welfare of the society. If physical preservation is necessary, moral preservation is no less necessary.

(3) Monogamy is the general rule, while polygamy is a reservation for abnormal circumstances, as for example, decrease of population, constant illness of the wife etc.

Turns among several wifes. If a man has got several wives at a time, there must be strict neutrality in outward treatments, such as in articles of food, clothing and accommodation. Companionship with wives must also be equally divided in a month. Control of mind is in the hand of Allah and so a man is not guilty if his mind naturally turns to one wife, but he can treat equally with all his wives regarding residence and company.

1363. Mu'ta Marriage

Muta (متعه) or temporary marriage is a marriage which is cantracted for a fixed time, say a month, a year or some days with some dower specified. It has recently gained currency among the Shias. It is absolutely illegal. This kind of marriage, the Shias establish, on the basis of tradition 27:115 reported by Ibn Mas'ud. But all the companions agreed that the Prophet once allowed temporary marriage for three days at war time but he afterwards cancelled his order. This is supported by the traditions in this section. Ibn Mas'ud and Ibn Abbas retracted their opinions afterwards when they were informed of its illegality by the other companions.

So he used to marry a woman for a time which he would have considered to remain. SECTION 19

1371. Pardah (الحجاب)

The institution of Pardah or seclusion of women from the outside world by confining them within the four walls of a house as is now prevalent in India was quite unknown to original Islam and its teachings. Nevertheless blame is thrown upon Islam that it has perpetuated female seclusion thereby debarring all doors of physical and mental progress. The Quran says: Say to the believing men that they cast down their looks and guard their private parts, that is purer for them. Surely Allah is aware of what they do. And say to the believing women that they cast down their looks and guard their private parts and not display their ornaments except to their husbands, or their fathers, or the fathers of their husbands, or their sons, or sons of their husbands, or their brothers, or the sons of their brothers, or their sister's sons, or their women, or those whom their right hands possess, or male servants not having received of women, or the children who have not attained knowledge of what is hidden of women, and let them not strike their feet, so that what they hide of their ornaments may be known ; turn to Allah, all of you, O believers, so that you may be successful—24:30,31Q. O Wives of the Prophet ! You are not like any other woman. If you fear God, be not soft in your speech lest he in whose heart is a disease yearns, and speak good word. And stay in your houses and do not display your finery like the displaying of the Dark Age—33:22Q. The above rule is only for the wives of the Prophet. Still it is really a rule of life for all Muslim women and promotes purity of heart and chastity in the relations between the sexes. They are not forbidden to speak to men but as a safe-guard to all possible inclinations of the heart to evil thoughts, they are told not so indulge in soft and amormous conversation with the opposite sex. "O Prophet ! say to your wives and your daughters and the women of the believers that they let down upon their bosombs their over-garments. This will be more proper that they may be known and thus they will not be given trouble ; and Allah is Forgiving, Merciful."—33:59Q. "O you who believe, let those whom your right hands possess and those of you who have not attained puberty ask permission of you three times, before the morning prayer, and when you put off your clothes at mid-day in summer and after the prayer of the night fall, these are the three times of privacy for you ; neither it is a sin for you, nor for them besides these, some of you must go round about waiting upon others. Thus does Allah make clear to you the communications and Allah is Knowing, Wise. And when the children amongst you have attained puberty, let them seek permission as those before them sought permission. Thus does Allah make clear to you the communications and Allah is Knowing, Wise. And as for those women who are advanced in years and who do not hope for a marriage, it is no sin for them if they put off their clothes without displaying their ornaments and if they restrain themselves it is better for them and Allah is Hearing, Knowing—24:58Q. In the first verse, the Quran speaks of man and woman to have their looks cast down and so have their private parts guarded from being attacked or violated. This is quite apparent, therefore, that if women were totally forbidden to go out of their houses, men would not have been required to cast down their looks and to guard their private parts. In a society in which women never appeared in public, the injunction to men to have their looks cast down would have been meaningless; and if women would never leave their houses, the injunction to women to have their looks cast down would have been impossible. Thus Islam gives permission to men and women to go out of their houses. The restrictions to men are that they should cast down their looks when they see a woman and that they guard their private parts. The restrictions of the women are the following :—

(1) They will cast down their look.

(2) They will guard their private parts.

(3) They will not display their limbs except what is (i.e. hands and face), and they can display their ornaments to near exposed relatives mentioned in the verse.

(4) They should cover themselves by an external wrapper or an over-coat; and their exposure of neck, bosom and arms is forbidden.

(5) They should not strike ornaments over their feet as the use of the ornaments whose sounds may be audible is prohibited. Thus a Muslim woman has the liberty of going out but without any magnificent dress and ornaments. They must not expose any limb except hands, face and feet. They are however not allowed free intercourse and intermingling with men. In the third verse also, it is made clear that the women should keep within their houses and whenever any man of full age comes, he should seek permission first before he enters the house. Thus it indicates that personal and family privacy are of the utmost importance in the betterment of social relations and their non-observance leads to all kinds of false reports.

It appears therefore from what has been stated above that Islam adopts a via media between the total casting off of the veil followed by free intermingling of sexes both outside and inside houses on one hand and the imprisonment within four walls of a house on the other. Pardah is a Persian word and connotes that it is a national local custom. It came in to vogue during the Ommeyyade Caliph Walid II (Short history of the Saracens. p. 69). What the Quran enjoins on both men and women is decent dressing and deprotment. Pardah, as popularly understood, is possible only among the upper and the middle classes. On the other hand, the labouring class of women who toil hard for their daily food are not expected to observe it. Islam, being perfect, has not left the labouring class without legislation. Even during the Prophet's life time, women used to be taken by the Arabs in holy wars. Omme Aliyyah accompanied the Prophet in seven wars, Safia killed a Jew at the time of the battle of the Ditch, Hazrat Ayesha took part in the battle of the Camel after the death of the Prophet. Women attended congregational prayers in the mosque. But still the Hijab (or the household privacy or the outward decorum) is sometimes necessary, not because women are considered unworthy of confidence, but on account of the sanctity of conjugal happiness and domestic peace or to regulate the intimate relationship of husband and wife. There is every chance of a bitter end in case strangers are freely allowed in a family.

In order to prevent every chance of falling in to evil ways, the following restrictions have been put by the Prophet to the movement of women :

(1) It is not lawful to cast look to the private parts of a woman except hands, faces, and feet. There is exception only in the case of wives and slave-girls. No female can lawfully look towards another female so far as the private parts are concerned.

(2) The private part of a free woman is the entire body except the face, two hands and two feet.

(3) A judge can see any limb he likes for decision in a case before him.

(4) It is lawful to have a first glance at a woman but not a second one (27:21).

(5) A woman may go out covering his entire body (27:26) but not in nudity or semi-nudity (27:32),and not by displaying fineries.

(6) A woman shall not remain alone with a man, because the devil then comes in—27:35.

(7) No man shall visit a woman duing the absence of her husband from home.

(8) No man shall enter a house without previous permission of the owner of the house. If permission is refused, he shall return.

117. Jaber reported My aunt was divorced thrice. She then intended to get her date-trees. A man threatened her for her coming out. She came to the Prophet who said: Yes, Take your date trees. It is perhaps she will make gift or do some good act. —Muslim.

1374. First sight at a strange woman is lawful, but the next sight is unlawful.

1375. This means that just as a private part remains covered, so woman should cover herself from top to bottom. When she comes out, she usually recives glances from the public. Therefore she should be more covered with Pardah when coming out. Sight of a private part sends thrill into the body. Therefore as the sight of a woman generally sends a thrill in body, she is regarded as a private part.

The jurists hold it lawful for a man to have a first glance on a woman or of a woman on man. This is seen from the hadis in which Hazrat Aycsha was seen looking play of slaves when she was only 16 years of age at 9 A.H. This was after the verse of screen was revealed.

1379. Divorce

(a) Divorce among the ancient nations. All nations except Hinduism had addopted the institution of divorce in marital relations, because it is a corrollary to contractual form of marriage. The Hebraic law, the Athenians, the Romans, the Hebrews, the Shammites and others upheld this doctrine in various forms. But in all these forms, the husband was the predominant authority with no efficient check on his power. The Christians and Jews also recognise this institution. Islam reformed all these forms of divorce and gave it a most complete and satisfactory form. It gave women certain rights of divorce which were not given by any legislators. At the same time it put a check on divorce by saying : Of all the things allowed, the most abominable to Allah is divorce—27:149,148.

(b) Divorce is a necessity in abnormal circumstances. The institution of divorce in Islam is a means of dissolving the contract of marriage in abnormal circumstances. This dissolution is only possible in a contractual form of marriage, but not in its sacramental form as in Hinduism. According to the latter, marriage is the sacred union of two souls for life, whether there is agreement or disagreement between the couple or whether the husband oppresses the wife or not. Divorce becomes a necessity when the husband and the wife are not pulling on well for a length of time. It is a seer foolishness to keep them tied up in matrimonial bond when it is unpleasant to both. It rather enhances the sufferings of the couple and their children rather than increase their happiness. Therefore it is a natural law that the dissatisfied couple should be separated from the marriage tie for the welfare of the household, children and society. In instituting this doctrine of divorce, Islam did more good to women as men may take several wives in case of disagreement with the first wife but a woman can not. If a husband is impotent, or if a wife or husband generally resorts to adultery, it is a nuisance to keep them tied up in marriage bond specially when all efforts to bring about a compromise prove unavailing. If the husband or wife becomes permanently diseased or unfit for sexual intercourse, justice demands a divorce.

(c) Condemnation of free use of divorce. Divorce is not a passing whim but the result of a settled determination. Though the institution of divorce has been kept as a sort of reservation in abnormal circumstances, yet the scriptures condemned its free use in the most emphatic terms. The Prophet said : With Allah, the most detestable of all lawful things is divorce (27:137). The Quran says : If you hate them (wives), it may be that you dislike a thing while Allah has placed abundant good in it—4:19Q. Before actually taking recourse to the fatal step, the parties must be asked to try for coming to a settlement: And if you fear a breach between the two, then appoint a judge from his people and a judge from her people. If they both desire agreement, Allah will effect harmony between them—4:35Q. There is also another restriction. It can not be effected during the period of menstruation, because in the meanstrual period, there is no chance of conjugal relationship. It can be done only at the time of Tohr or the period of purity after menstruation.

(d) Principle of divorce in Islam. The Quran says: O Prophet! when you divorce women, divorce them for their prescribed time, and calculate the number of the days prescribed, and be careful of your duty to Allah, your Lord. Don't drive them out of their houses, nor should they themselves go forth. So when they have reached their prescribed time, then either retain them with kindness or separate them with kindness—65:12Q. It appears from this verse that if a divorce takes place, it becomes irrevocable only after the prescribed time and that no divorce is valid if not made revocable within the prescribed time. In other words, a wife can be taken back for sexual embrace within the prescribed time but not beyond it. That is indicated by the words "So when they have reached their prescribed time, then either retain them with kindness or separate them with kindness". It is also clear that before expiration of the fixed time, no divorce is irrevocable. Now what is the time prescribed for making a divorbe irrevocable? It is three courses in case of menstruating and consummated women, or three months in cases of women whose menstruation has stopped or the time up to delivery in case of pregnant woman. The Quran says: And the divorced women should keep themselves in waiting for three courses—2:228Q. And as for those of your women who have despaired of menstruation if you have doubt, their prescribed time is three months, and of those who have not had their courses; and as for the pregnant women, their prescribed time is that they lay down their burdens—65:4Q.

What does the prescribed time of waiting mean? It is merely a period of temporary separation during which conjugal relationship may be re-established. Thus the period of waiting is only a chance given to the couple for reunion and to make divorce revocable before the prescribed time is reached. This is corroborated by other verses as follows: And their husbands have a better right to take them back during that (period) if they wish for reconciliation—2:228Q. Here it has been distinctly stated that the divorce is revocable within the prescribed time. It has been corroborated by another verse: Divorce is for two times, then keep (them) with goodness or let (them) go with kindness—2:229Q. It means that the husbands must make their decision final after the completion of two divorces and before the completion of the third divorce, within which he should take back his wife. That is only possible in case there is time of two courses or two months to consider. In case of Talak-i-Bidat (divorce by immediate utterance of the divorce formula three times) there is no time for consideration and hence it is against the sipirt of the Quran and Hadis. It is nothing but taking the verses of Allah as a mockery. The Prophet condemned it (27:154). The Quran rather warned the people to adopt this method saying: And do not take the verses of Allah as a mockery (2:231Q). From what has been stated above, the following conclusion is drawn. Every possible attempt must first be made for reconciliation between the married couple before the completion of the prescribed period. The judges from the parties should arrive at a compromise for domestic peace. If the husband dislikes a wife, he was commanded by Allah not to dislike her. If still after that, there is disagreement, then he may divorce once in one Tohr (period after menstruation) and make her separate in bed. If still there is no compromise, then there is one divorce for the second time in the second Tohr. If still there is no compromise and no conjugal relationship, it must be undersood that there will be no reunion and the relationship of husband and wife is at the final melting pot. Hence after the third reading of Talak or the passing of course at the third month (and in case of pregnant woman till delivery), the Talak becomes irrevocable. This is the spirit of Islamic law of divorce. It appears from this that it is a reservation for an emergency case. Another factor of this divorce in Islam is that she got as much right for divorce as the husband has. There are instances in traditions about the rights of women for divorce. The Quran says in the verses of divorce: And they (wives) have got rights similar to those against them in a just manner—2:228Q.

(d) The Present Sunni forms of Divorce. There are three principal forms of divorce as recognised by Sunni law irrespective of the teachings of the Quran and Hadis. They are (1) Talak-i-Ahsan, (2) Talak-i-Hasan, (3) and Talak-i-Bid'at.

(1) It is effected by a single declaration of talak followed by abstinence from sexual intercourse for the prescribed time.

(2) It is effected by a declaration of talak repeated three times, once during each successive Tohr.

(3) It is effected by repeating talak words for three times in immediate succession or within one tohr. It is not supported by the Quran and Hadis. The earlier it is abolished from the society by legislation, the better; because it has got another concomittant factor called I'la which will be described later on.

The first two forms of divorce are revocable and take effect on the completion of the period of Iddat, while the latter is irrevocable and takes effect immediately.

(e) Some other forms of divorce. (1) Divorce by writing. It becomes irrevocable in absence of words showing a different intention and takes effect immediately on execution of the document whether the formula is uttered or not. This is according to Hanifi law.

(2) Talak by La'an or imprecation. It also takes effect immediately after La'an is taken (see note 1388 for details).

(3) Divore by Mubarat. In this case, a divorce is effected by mutual consent of husband and wife. This Talak becomes irrevocable immediately after the consent takes place.

(4) Divorce by Khula. It is a right of divorce given by the husband to the wife on the occurrence of a contingency. If the contingency arises, the wife may choose to dissolve the marriage. For example, it has been stipulated that if a husband takes a second wife, the first wife will have the right of divorcing herself from the husband. It becomes irrevocable immediately it is done or a decree of a court is obtained.

(5) Dissolution of marriage. The marriage can also be dissolved by Qazi on the ground of husband's impotency, husband's long absence from conjugal relationship, want of maintenance and other reasonable causes for judicial separation. Apostacy from Islam operates also as a dissolution of marriage.

(f) Incidents following divorce. Within the period of, waiting the husband is bound to maintain the wife and her children begotten by him. The Quran says: And their maintenance and their clothing must be born by the father according to usage—2:233Q. (2) The wife is bound to suckle the children up to the completion of 2 years (2:233Q). (3) The wife can not marry another person until after completion of iddat—2:235Q. (4) The wife is bound to observe iddat if the marriage is consummated. (5) The wife becomes entitled to deferred dower, and prompt dower if not paid. If the marriage was not consummated, she is entitled to only half dower (33:49Q).

(5) In case of death within the period, both inherit to one another if the divorce does not become irrevocable.

(6) The parties cannot remarry in case of irrevocable divorce by the second husband and the completion of a fresh period of Iddat.

(g) Procedure of divorce. Divorce must be effected in presence of two witnesses. The Quran says: And call two upright witnesses from among you, and give upright testimony for Allah—65:2Q. It may be done orally or by writing attended with actual utterance of divorce. A divorce by compulsion is no divorce (27:145), but Imam Abu Hanifa held a contrary view on the basis of tradition 27:146. The other Imams support the tradition 27:145.

(H) Ila, Zihar and Tahlil. These were practies of the Pre-Islamic days. Ila means swearing. In this case, the husband used to take oath that he won't go to his wife for sexual connection. This was resorted to as many times as a husband liked thereby keeping the wife in suspense sometimes during the whole of her life. The Quran prohibited it and says that in this case, if the husband does not assert his conjugal relationship within four months, the wife would be divorced. The Quran says: In the case of those who swear that they will not go unto their wives, the waiting period is four months. Then if they go back, Allah is Forgiving, Merciful. And if they resolve on a divorce, then Allah is surely Hearing, Knowing—2:226Q. See note 1388 for further light.

Zihar occurs when a man says to his wife: Thou art to me as the back of my mother. In this way, the wife was kept separate for an unlimited period. The Quran abolished it saying: As for those who put away their wives by likening them to the backs of their mothers, they are not their mothers—55:1Q He was ordered to set free a slave, or to fast two consecutive months or to feed sixty people if unable to fast—58:3Q.

Tahlil means legalising. It was a pre-Islamic custom which still prevails in some Muslim societies. It is illegal and does not find support in the Quran and Hadis. It is effected in this way. When the wife is divorced irrevocably and the husband wants her back, he enters into a contract with a third person for marrying her and divorcing her immediately after a sexual intercourse. The Prophet cursed such contracting parties (22:151). See note 1386 for details.

In case a wife chooses herself, it becomes, according to Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad, Talak Rajiy (revocable divorce), and according to Imams Abu Hanifa and Malek, irrevocable divorce.

(divorce). Then the Messenger of Allah asked: Have you not intended but one (divorce)? Rokanah said: By Allah, I did not intend but one (divorce). The Messenger of Allah then returned her back to him. Afterwards he divorced her for the second time at the time of Omar, and the third time at the time of Osman.

Imams Malek, Shafeyi and Ahmad hold that in case of i'la, there is divorce after completion of the period of 4 months. Imam Abu Hanifa says that if the husband resumes intercourse within 4 months, there will be no divorce ; but if not, it will be a divorce.

1: 89. Divorce by Li'an

Li'an literally means mutual cursing. Technically it signifies a form of divorce by means of invoking curse. In such a case the husband accuses the wife of adultery but he has got no witness to prove it, and the wife denies it. Both the husband and the wife go, therefore, to a Qazi (judge) and take to mutual cursing. There shall be accusations of adultery for four successive times and the wife must deny the accusation each time it is uttered. At the fifth time, the husband invokes curse upon himself if he is false, and the wife upon herself if she is false in the denial of adultery. After the parties have thus proceeded, they are separated forever by the decree of the Qazi. The Quran says: As for those who accuse their wives and have no witnesses except themselves, evidence of one of these should be taken four times, bearing Allah to witness that he is of the truthful ones; and the fifth time that the curse of Allah be on him if he is one of the liars. It shall avert the punishment from her if she testifies four times, calling Allah to witness, that he is one of the liars, and at the fifth time that the wrath of Allah be on her if he is one of the truthful—24:6-9Q. This is not applicable in four cases as enumerated in tradition 159.

155. Sahl-b-Sa'ad reported that Owaimer-al-Ajlani asked: O Ms. of Allah, inform me about a man who found a man (committing adultery) with his wife, whether he should kill him and so they (heirs of the killed) should kill him, or how he should act. The Messenger of Allah said: Certainly revelation has come about you and your wife. Go and bring her. Sahl said: Then we both took to mutual cursing within the mosque while I was with the people near the Ms. of Allah. When he was free, Owaimer said: If I retain her, I would be lying against her, O Ms. of Allah. Then he gave her three divorces. The Prophet said: Look; if she gives birth to a child, black of eye-balls, and fat of buttocks and fleshy of hind parts, I will not think of Owaimer but that he has spoken the truth about her. And if she

1393. Period of waiting

It has been noted in the article of divorce. Briefly speaking, in case of consummation of marriage, the period of waiting after divorce is three courses. In absence of this incident of menses as in the case of young girls and old women, the iddat is three months after divorce. In case of a pregnant woman, the iddat is up to the time of delivery. If there is no consummation of marriage, there is no iddat. There is a little difference in case of slaves and slave girls. In place of three courses, they have got to wait for two courses, and in absence of menses for one month.

162. Abu Salamah reported from Fatimah-bn-Qais that Abu Amr-b-Hafs gave her irrevocable divorce while he was absent. His agent sent her a measure of barley. This made her enraged. He said: By Allah, you have got nothing against us. She came to the Prophet and mentioned it to him. He said: There is no maintenance for you. 1394 Then he directed her to observe the period of waiting in the house of Omme Sharik. Afterwards he said: She is a woman whom my companions often visit. Complete your period near the son of Umme Maktum as he is a blind man and you will be able to put off your clothes. When you will reach your time, inform me. She said: When I reached my time, I told him that Muwayiah-b-Abu Sufyan and Abu Jaham sought me in marriage. The Holy Prophet said: As for Abu Jaham, he does not put down his staff from his shoulder; and as for Muwayiah, he is a very poor man having no property. Take Osamah-b-Zaid in marriage.

1394. According to this tradition, there are no maintenance and accommodation for a woman divorced irrevocably. Hazrat Omar and Imam Abu Hanifa held that she is entitled on the basis of this verse "Accommodate them where you live. (Q) Imam Ahmad follows this tradition allowing her only accommodation. He is supported by two other Imams. They also base their decision on the above verse which allows only accommodation and not maintenance.

In a narration* : Her husband gave her three divorces, and so she came to the Prophet. He said : There is no maintenance for you unless you are pregnant.

For this, the Prophet gave her permission, that is for her shifting (to another place). In a narration : She asked : What is for Fatimah ? SECTION 23

1400. Widow marriage.

The nature of man requires another wife in case of the death of the former wife. This is true in the majority of cases. Hence all the great religions of the world allowed remarriage of men. Do we find this natural law in all the religions in the case of helpless women ? Their nature also wants a second husband in case of the death of the first one. Therefore as a matter of course, they should be remarried. It is unnatural to think that a widow of 15 to 20 years would pass her whole life by killing her natural sexual appetite. It is therefore with a sense of justice that the widow remarriage or the divorced woman's marriage has been recognised by Islam. The Quran says : And as for those who die and leave wives behind, they should keep themselves in waiting for four months and ten days, and when they have fully attained their term, there is no harm on you for what they do in a lawful manner, and Allah is aware of what you do (2:240Q). In case of the remarriage of divorced women, the Quran, says : And when you have divorced women, and they have waited their terms of waiting, do not prevent them from taking husbands when they agree among themselves in a lawful manner (2:232Q). The tradition 170 allows also this remarriage. Let us enumerate some of the benefits that we derive 1396. This shows that on the occurrence of the third course, the divorced wife is debarred from inheriting her husband's property.

from this remarriage. (1) Firstly, the natural sexual appetite of the widows and the divorced women is satisfied. (2) secondly, the society is saved from moral corruption. If physical preservation is the primary factor, moral preservation is no less important. If this is not observed, the inevitable result is secret and back-door attempts for satisfaction of sexual lust. Failing this, the widows enter a life of shame and open polution. In this way, if there arise brothel houses in every village and town, the whole atmosphere becomes surcharged with corrupt airs bringing in chaos and disorder in societies. Thus prostitution was abolished by Islam and remarriage introduced. (3) In absence of widow marriage, there is decrease in the population to an alarming extent threatening ultimately to the total extinction of a society which has got a bar to widow remarriage. (4) The widows become generally helpless after losing their dear husbands. They can by themselves provide their own maintenance and comforts with the greatest difficulty. Hence they get guardians by remarriage for their due maintenance and comforts. The new husbands stand as pillars to the protection of their life and honour. [1]

170. Meswar-b-Makhramah reported that Sobaiata al Aslamiyah was subject of blood after child birth for some nights after the death of her husband. She came to the Prophet and sought his permission to get married. He gave her permission and then she was remarried. —Bukhari.

CHAPTER XXVIII

1401. Acknowledgement and legitimacy

The general principle of legitimacy is that a child is for the bed. In other words, any child born in marriage wed-lock is presumbed to be legitimate until the contrary is proved. The jurists framed rules that conception should begin within marriage and that a child born six months after marriage is presumed to be legitimate, and if less than six months illegitimate.

There is another principle of legitimacy i.e. acknowledgement. A child, legitimate or illegitimate, always inherits a mother, but legitimacy is a condition of inheriting the father. When legitimacy cannot be established, acknowledgement is recognised to confirm a legitimate descent. The father must acknowledge his son and the son must confirm it if major. He must not be known to be the son of another person or an illegitimate issue out of illegal intercourse. This principle applies also to daughters.

A great punishment has been, however, promised to a child who denies his real father and acknowledges a false father and to a man who denies his real son or acknowledges an illegitimate or false son as his real son.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ عُقْبَةُ بْنُ اَبِي وَقَّاصٍ عَهِدَ اِلَى اَخِيْهِ سَعْدِبْنِ اَبِي وَقَّاصٍ اَنَّ بْنَ وَلِيْدَةِ زَمْعَةَ مِنِّي فَاقْبِضْهُ اِلَيْكَ فَلَمَّا كَانَ عَامُ الْفَتْحِ اَخَذَهُ سعد فَقَالَ اِنَّهُ ابْنُ اَخِي وَقَالَ عبدبن زمعة اَخِي

1. Ayesha reported that Oqbah-b-Abi Waqqas left death-instruction to his brother Sa'ad-b-Abi Waqqas: Jam'ah the son of Walidah belongs to me. Take him to you. When the year of victory came to pass, Sa'ad took him and said: He is the son of my brother. Abd son of, Jam'ah, said: Heis my brother.

فَتَسَارَقَا إِلَى رَسُولِ اللهِ صلعم فَقَالَ سَعْدٌ يَا رَسُولَ اللهِ إِنَّ أَخِي كَانَ عَهِدَ إِلَيَّ فِيهِ وَقَالَ عَبْدُ بْنُ زَمْعَةَ أَخِي وَابْنُ وَلِيدَةِ أَبِي وُلِدَ عَلَى فِرَاشِهِ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم هُوَ لَكَ يَا عَبْدُ بْنَ زَمْعَةَ الْوَلَدُ لِلْفِرَاشِ وَلِلْعَاهِرِ الْحَجَرُ ثُمَّ قَالَ لِسَوْدَةَ بِنْتِ زَمْعَةَ احْتَجِبِي مِنْهُ لِمَا رَأَى مِنْ شَبَهِهِ بِعُتْبَةَ فَمَا رَآهَا حَتَّى لَقِيَ اللهَ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ هُوَ أَخُوكَ يَا عَبْدُ بْنَ زَمْعَةَ مِنْ أَجْلِ أَنَّهُ وُلِدَ عَلَى فِرَاشِ أَبِيهِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

Both went to the Messenger of Allah. Sa'ad said: O Ms. of Allah! verily my brother left death-instruction to me about him. Abd, son of Jam'a, said: (He is) my brother, and the son of Walidah is my father. He was born in his bed. Then the Messenger of Allah said: He is for you, O Abd, son of Jam'ah. The child is for the bed, and for the fornicator is stoning to death. Afterwards he said to Saudah, daughter of Jam'ah: Conceal him on account of what he sees of his likeness to Utbah. He did not see her till he met Allah. In a narration, he said: He is your brother, O Abd, son of Jama'a, because he was born upon the bed of his father. 1402 father that the Messenger of Allah gave decision about every child that is ascribed to its father after his death and that is claimed for him, and his heirs claim it. He gave decision that he who is born of a slave-girl over which his father had ownership on the day he cohabited with her, is attached to one for whom he is ascribed ; and there is for him nothing from what has been partitioned before him from the heritage. And whatever heritage has devolved on you which has not been partitioned, there is for him its share. And he will have nothing if his father to whom his relationship is ascribed denies him. If he is born of a slave-girl whom he does not possess, or of a free woman with whom he had illicit intercourse, relationship cannot be ascribed, nor can he inherit though relationship is ascribed to him, even if he himself acknowledges him. He is the child of adultery whether by a free woman or by a slave-girl.

1405. Majority

According to the general principles of Islamic law, a boy attains maturity at the first appearance of Ihtilam (ejaculation of semen), and a girl attains puberty at the appearance of the menstrual blood or Ihtilam. If these things do not appear in a boy or a girl, he or she shall be presumbed to have attained majority at the completion of the 15th year. It is generally supposed that Ihtilam can not occur below the age of 12 years in case of a boy and 9 years in case of a girl. It appears from the following verse that Islam gives a separate age in some circumstances for management of properties. The Quran says: And test the orphans until they attain puberty. Then if you find in them intellect, make over to them their property—4:6Q. And do not give away your property which Allah has made a support to the weak of understanding—4:5Q. Thus Bulug is sufficient for purposes other than for management of properties, while in the latter case, Rushd (or dawn of sufficient intellect) is necessary. This principle has been recognised by the British Indian law.

9. Ibn Omar reported: I appeared to the Ms. of Allah in the year of Uhud while I was a boy of 14 years. He turned me back. Afterwards I appeared before the Prophet in the year of the Trench, while I was a boy of 15 years. Then he gave me permission. Omar-b-Abdul Aziz said: This (age) is the distinction between the warriors and the young. —Agreed.

1406. Guardianship of person and property of a minor.

(a) Guardian of the person of a minor. It appears from the verse 6:4 quoted in the article in the previous section that a guardian of a minor's property is necessary till he reaches the age of intellect. It goes without saying that a guardian of the person of a minor is also necessary. According to Islam, there is the following in order of preference for the guardianship of a minor boy up to seven years of age and of a girl up to puberty :— (1) Mother, (2) mother's mother, how high soever, (3) father's mother, h. h. s., (4) full sister, (5) uterine sister, (6) consanguine sister, (7) full sister's daughter, (8) uterine sister's daughter, (9) consanguine sister's daughter, (10) maternal aunts, (11) paternal aunts, (12) father, (13) father's father h. h. s. (14) full brother, (15) consanguine brother, (16) full brother's son, (17) consanguine brother's son, (18) full paternal uncle, (19) consanguine paternal uncle, (20) full paternal uncle's son, (21) consanguine paternal uncle's son. All females lose the right of custody if they marry a male not related to the child within the prohibited degrees or otherwise wicked. The right of guardianship above the age of seven years in case of a boy and puberty in case of a girl falls in the order enumerated from number (12) above.

(b) Guardianship of the property of a minor. The following persons are legal guardians of a minor's property in order of preference :—(1) Father, (2) father's executor or nominee, (3) father's father, (4) father's father's executor or nominee. In default of the above, a guardian is appointed by the court from the persons enumerated from number (14) above.

10. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported that the Prophet entered into a treaty on the Day of Hudaibiyyah on three conditions—on condition that if anyone of the polytheists came to him, he would return him to them, and if anyone of the Muslims went to them, they would not return him ; on condition that he would enter it in the following year and stay there for three days. When he came to it (Mecca) and the fixed time elapsed, he came out. The daughters of Hamjah followed him proclaiming : O uncle, O uncle. Ali overtook her and caught her by her hand. Ali, Zaid and Ja'far began to quarrel about her. Ali said: I have taken her as she is the daughter of my uncle. Ja'far said: She is daughter of my uncle and her mother s sister is my wife. Zaid said: She is daughter of my brother. The Prophet handed her over to her mother's sister and said: Mother's sister is in the place of a mother. He then told Ali: You are of me and I am of you. He said to Ja'far: My appearance and character resemble with those of yours. And he said to Zaid: You are our brother and our master. —Agreed.

11. Amr-b-Shuaib reported from his father from his grandfather that a woman asked: O Ms. of Allah, my belly was a resting place of this son of mine, my breast a drinking place for him, and my lap a soothing place for him, but his father divorced me and wishes to snatch him away from me. The Messenger of Allah said: You have got better right to take him till you are not remarried. 1408 —Ahmad, Abu Daud.

1407. Hazrat Hamzah was uncle and foster brother of the Prophet. Hazrat Ja'far was brother of Ali and Zaid-b-Sabet was a freed slave of the Prophet. Everybody wanted to maintain the daughter of Hamzah She was given to her mother's sister. It appears also from this that the Holy Prophet tried to please everyone by some descriptions or other. It is also seen that the slaves were treated by the Prophet not only as brothers but sometimes as masters.

1408. If a widow is married to a man outside the prohibited degrees, her guardianship

13. Same reported that a woman came to the Prophet and said: Verily my husband intends to go away with my son while he gave me water to drink and gave me benefit. The Prophet said: This is your father and this is your mother. Take the hand of any of them which you like. He took the hand of his mother and so she went away with him.

14. Hilal-b-Osamah reported: While I was sitting with Abu Hurairah a Persian lady came to him, with a son while her husband divorced her and both claimed him. She then spoke in Persian to him saying: O Abu Hurairah, my husband intends to go away with my son. Abu Hurairah said: Caste lottery about him. He spoke with her about it. Her husband then came and said: Who disputes with me about my son? Abu Hurairah said: O Allah, verily I don't say this, except that I was sitting with the Prophet. Then a woman came to him and said: O Ms. of Allah, verily my husband wishes to go away with my son, while he did me some service, and gave me drink from the well of Abu Enabah. (And according to Nisai: From sweet water). Then the Prophet said: Cast lots about him. Her husband said: Who is here to dispute with me about my son? Then the Ms. of Allah said: This is your father, and this is your mother. Take the hand of either of them whom you like. Afterwards he caught the hand of his mother. —Abu Daud, Nisai, Darimi.

1403. This is a boy who attained maturity. He was therefore asked to choose either of the two-father or mother. According to Imams Abu Hanifa and Shafeyi, the child has got no option, but according to others he has got option.

CHAPTER XXIX

1410. This World and the Next World*

(a) What is the significance of this World? This world means in this article the life in this world, and the next world means the life in the next world. The life will exist even though the body is separated by death. It will reap the fruits of actions it did in this world, either punishment or reward as it did evil or good in this world's life. In the next world, there will be no place for sin and evil-doing ; while in this world there are two things—either leading a life of virtue or sin. Therefore this world consists of a portion of the nature of the next world. He who leads a next-wordly life by living in this world is a true man. He who takes the side of this world is doomed to eternal perdition in the next world. It follows therefore that this world can be converted by every man unto the nature of the next world if he remembers the Almighty God always in this world. Such a man cannot be called a wordly man thugh he lives in this world. The great mystic Persian poet gave the best explanation of this world. He says "What is world ? It is to remain forgetful of God. Wealth, wife and children are not world." In other words, if somebody living in the midst of his wives, properties and children does not forget God, but if what he does, he does to please God or in obedience to His order and the order of His Prophet, he cannot be called a wordly man ; on the other hand, if religious acts, such as prayer, pilgrimage, fasting etc., are performed with complete forgetfulness of God and with intent to gain things of this world by capturing the imagination of the people, he may be properly called a truly wordly man. This is the true significance of Dunya (world). Such a wordly man does everything with complete forgetfulness of the next world, the ultimate object of men. What are the things of this world which can possibly divert our attention and efforts from the remembrance of Allah ? The Quran gives us a short list : The love of desires of women and sons and hoarded treasures of gold and silver and well-bred horses, cattle and tilth, is adorned for men. These are the commodities of this world, and Allah is He with whom is the good goal of life—3:13Q. In another verse, it has been repeated : Know that this world's life is only sport and play and adornment and boasting among yourselves and a vying in the multiplication of wealth and children—57:20Q. It appears from the above verses that Dunya is nothing but to be completely engrossed in these things without remembering the Almighty.

*This subject has been brought here as we are proceeding from the wordly things towards things of another life in the next world. This section has been devoted to transitory nature of this wordly abode and the everlasting life of the hereafter. Then will follow the events before and after death.

(b) What is this world in comparison with the next world? The Holy Prophet answered it: Had the world been to Allah equivalent to the value of the wing of a gnat, He would not have given a sip of drink therefrom to a polytheist—2:10. This world's life is very short, say 80 years. An active life is still less. The life of the next world is eternal and everlasting, say 10000000000000000000 years. Therefore the life of this world is nothing in comparison with the eternal life of the next world. If for bad actions of these 80 years, one is to suffer for millions and millions of years, it will be the most unfortunate thing. Take an example. A man was extremely thirsty in a hot climate and took ice to quench his thirst. Just at that moment, another man came there and wanted the ice in lieu of an equal weight of gold. He took the permanent thing gold in place of ice which is of a very short duration. He suffered of thirst, but still preferred what is durable. Thus the real wise man is he who suffers in this world for a short while to have the everlasting rewards of the hereafter. Prophets, innumerable in number, were sent to warn the people of the transitory nature of this world and eternity of the hereafter. But still the people were heedless of these warnings. The majority of them rejected the happiness of the millions and millions of years to the preference of the happiness of 80 years. They have taken earth in place of gold. They have preferred this very short life to the eternal life in the next. What then do we find in the Quran about the nature of these two worlds?

Say: The provision of this life is short, and the hereafter is better for him who fears God—4:77Q. The world, the whole of it, is a commodity—1:39. The parable of those who take guardians besides Allah is as the parable of the spider that makes for itself a house, and certainly the frailest of the houses is the spider's house. Had they but known!—29:41Q. Are you content with this world's life and not with the hereafter? But the provision of this world's life compared with the hereafter is but insignificant—9:38Q. And the life of this world is nothing but a sport and a play; and as for the next world, that is certainly a life; had they but known it!—29:64Q. The likeness of this world's life is only like water which We send down from the cloud, then the herbage of the earth of which men and cattle eat grows luxuriantly therby, until when the earth puts on its fineries and it becomes adorned and its people think that they have power over it, Our command comes to it by night or by day, render it as reaped seed produce, as though it had not been in existence yesterday; thus do We make clear the communications for a people who reflect—10:24Q. Allah therefore calls you to the alode of peace—10:25Q. There is for you in the earth an abode for rest and a provision for a time—7:24Q.

(c) Love of this world is the root of all sins. The Holy Prophet declared: The love of the world is the root of all sins (28:409w). As this world is nothing in comparison with the next world, love of this world signifies ignorance and lack of wisdom, while those who sell this world for the next are really learned and wise. To love the world is to love the Hell-fire that destroys or to love a bad woman who can easily turn round and kill the lover. It's no use to practice virtue with a deep attachment for this world. It is just like driving away the sparrows from a tree to avoid noise. If the sparrows are once driven away, they will again come to the tree. Thus the noise will not stop. If the tree is however cut at its root, the sparrows will never come again. Similarly if the tree of love of this world is cut from the soil of mind, virtues may thrive peacefully. Love of this world and love for the next world are inconsistent things. Two cannot live together in one mind just as darkness and light or water and fire cannot live together. It follows therefore that one who wishes to have the next world must renounce love and attachment of this world, and one who wishes to have this world, must renounce the hereafter. Which is then preferable to be given up? Surely it is the short-lived life of this world always full of troubles and agonies. Hear what the Quran says: Whoever desire this worlds life and its fineries, We will pay them in full their deeds therein, and they shall not be made to suffer loss in respect of them. These are they for whom there is nothing but fire in the hereafter, and what they wrought in it shall go for nothing, and vain is what they do—11:15Q. Whoever desires the gain of the hereafter, We will give him more of that gain; and whoever desires the gain of this world, We give him of it, and in the hereafter he has no portion—42:20Q. The Holy Prophet said: Whoso loves his world injures his hereafter ; and whoso loves his hereafter, injures his world. So prefer what will last for ever to what will perish—29:398w. The natural tendency of common men is to love this world i.e. what he gets in cash. The Quran asserts this fact : Nay, but you love the present life and neglect the hereafter—75:20Q. But there are men who sell the comforts of this short span of life for those of the eternal life. The Quran says : Surely Allah has purchased from the believers their persons and their properties in exchange of Paradise for them ; they will fight in the way of Allah , so they kill and are killed, a promise which is binding on Him in the Torah, the Gospel and the Quran, and who is more faithful to his promise than Allah ? Rejoice therefore with the sale which you have made, and that is the mighty achievement—9: 111Q. God gives happiness in the future abode to those who are not proud, and are humble. The Quran says : As for the future abode, We assign it to those who have no desire to exalt themselves in the earth or to make mischief—28:83Q.

(d) Some sayings and examples of dedicated lives. Jesus Christ said : The world and the hereafter are enemies to each other. However much you please the one, you thereby displease the other. The two cannot live together as water and fire cannot. Jesus had no house in the world to live in and did not marry. Prophet Noah lived for about 1000 years. Still he said : The world is a hut having two doors ; through one, the people come in and though another they go out. The great saint Hasan Basri said : There is none in the world who will not repent for either of these three things at the time of his death : He could not enjoy what he earned, his hopes and aspirations remained unfulfilled, he could not do sufficient virtuous acts for the next world. Imam Gazzali said : A true wordly man shall have four things in mind : Everlasting grief, continuous engagements, constant wants and unlimited hopes. The Prophet said : My relation with this world is nothing except like that of a rider who wants rest under a tree, then takes rest and leaves it —29:18. The true wise man is he who takes leave of the world before the world takes leave of him. The mad man is he who wishes to find leisure for divine worship after settlement of wordly affairs. The Prophet said : Die before your death. The Quran gives us a warning by saying : Those who take their religion for an idle sport and a play, this world's life deceives them, so to-day We shall forget them as they forgot the meeting of this day of theirs and as they denied Our communications—7:51Q. The Quran gives us therefore the following instructions : And do not prolong your eyes towards what We have provided of different kinds of them, of the splendour of this world's life that We may thereby try them thereabout, and the provision of your Lord is better and more abiding.—20:131. Here we have been prohibited to prolong our eyes towards the riches and comforts of others in exchange of the next world ? Once the people went to gift a house to Jesus Christ. He gave permission to build a house for him on water. They expressed wonder at this. Then he said : Thus it is impossible to love God with attachment of the world in heart. The saint Fazil said : I don't wonder at him who constructs a building and sometime after dies, but I wonder more at those who do not take lessons from this.

In accordance with the teachings of the Holy Prophet, his followers turned so many saints and hermits and led lives of extremely simple character. Hazrat Omar was the Caliph of Islamic Commonwealth that extended his rule in his time over the Persian, Byzatium and Egyptian Empires in addition to the Peninsula of Arabia. Many a time, he went without food and cloth, because he could not earn them with his own labour owing to his constant engagement in Estate affairs. On being asked by his daughter Hafsa to lead a more comfortable life, he replied : "How shall I be able to reach my two predecessors (Prophet and Abu Bakr) if I do not follow their foolsteps. Prophet John used to wear coarse gunny bags all throughout his life. Once he put on a fine cloth being requested by his mother. At once the revelation came : O John ! hast thou renounced Me and adopted the world ? Whereupon he threw off the cloth and put on the gunny bag. The Tazkiratul Aulia gave a graphic descriptions of many saints that renounced the world and adopted the next world as their goal of life. The life of Wais Qarni is also a fine illustration. He lead a life in this world that is proverbial for its simplicity and attachment for the Prophet.

1. Mustaored b-Shaddad reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: By Allah, what is this world in comparison with the next world except (like) the parable that some one of you puts his finger in sea, and then let him look what it returns with. 1411

2. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Undone is the owner of dinars, the owner of dirhams and the owner of clothes. If he is given, he becomes pleased; and if he is not given, he becomes displeased, sorry and miserable; and when he is pricked with a thorn, it is not taken out. Happy is the man who takes hold of the rein of his horse in the way of Allah; his head is dishevelled, and his feet are dust—laden. If he remains on guard he remains on guard; and if he remains in charge of water, he remains in charge of water. If he seeks permission, he is not given permission; and if he intercedes, his intercession is not accepted. —Bukhari.

3. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri reported that the Messenger of Allah

عَنْ اَبِي سَعِيْدِنِ الْخُدْرِيِّ اَنَّ رَسُولَ

said: Of what I fear for you after me, there is that which will be held out to you out of the grandeures of this world and its fineries. A man enquired: O Apostle of Allah, does wealth bring evil? Then he remained silent till we thought that he would receive revelation. He (narrator) said: He cleared off his sweat and said: Where is the questioner?— as if he praised him. He said: Wealth does not bring evil. Whatever the field grows, nothing goes in vain, and it does not draw near but those that eat the greens. They eat till their waists grow fat. They remain in sun-shine, and so they pass urine and stools and then return and eat (grass). Verily this property is green, sweet. Whoso acquires it lawfully and places (spends) it lawfully, how excellent is his labour. And whoso acquires it unlawfully is like one who eats and is not satisfied, and it will be a witness against him on the Resurrection Day. 1412

اللّٰهِ صلعم قَالَ اِنَّ مِمَّا اَخَافُ عَلَيْكُمْ مِنْ بَعْدِي مَا يُفْتَحُ عَلَيْكُمْ مِنْ زَهْرَةِ الدُّنْيَا وَ زِيْنَتِهَا فَقَالَ رَجُلٌ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اَوَ يَاْتِي الْخَيْرُ بِالشَّرِّ فَسَكَتَ حَتّٰى ظَنَنَّا اَنَّهٗ يُنْزَلُ عَلَيْهِ قَالَ فَمَسَحَ عَنْهُ الرُّحَضَاءَ وَ قَالَ اَيْنَ السَّائِلُ وَ كَاَنَّهٗ حَمِدَهٗ فَقَالَ اِنَّهٗ لَا يَاْتِي الْخَيْرُ بِالشَّرِّ وَ اِنَّ مِمَّا يُنْبِتُ الرَّبِيْعُ مَا يَقْتُلُ حَبَطًا اَوْ يُلِمُّ اِلَّا اٰكِلَةَ الْخَضِرِ اَكَلَتْ حَتّٰى اِمْتَدَّتْ خَاصِرَتَاهَا اِسْتَقْبَلَتْ عَيْنَ الشَّمْسِ فَثَلَطَتْ وَ بَالَتْ ثُمَّ عَادَتْ فَاَكَلَتْ وَ اِنَّ هٰذَا الْمَالَ خَضِرَةٌ حُلْوَةٌ فَمَنْ اَخَذَهٗ بِحَقِّهٖ وَ وَضَعَهٗ فِيْ حَقِّهٖ فَنِعْمَ الْمَعُوْنَةُ هُوَ وَ مَنْ اَخَذَهٗ بِغَيْرِ حَقِّهٖ كَانَ كَالَّذِيْ يَاْكُلُ وَلَا يَشْبَعُ وَ يَكُوْنُ شَهِيْدًا عَلَيْهِ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1412. Cattles take grass as they find it without discrimination of right or wrong. So men enjoy properties of men without any discrimination whether they are lawful or unlawful. As cattle eat grass profusely and then catch disorder of bowels, so men enjoy God's gifts of nature without having the least regard for needs and requirments and thus they fall preys to various diseases. As too much food destroys the system, so also too much love for fineries of this world destroys the spiritual progress.

4. Amr-b-Auf reported that the Apostle of Allah said: By Allah, it is not poverty that I fear for you, but I fear for you lest this earth should spread for you, as it was spread for those who were before you, so that you should covet for it as they coveted for it, and it will destroy you as it destroyed them. —Agreed.

1413. The meaning is that the people do not prize their leisure as the most valuable. They are always discontent with their present conditions. They wait for better things in future. They should however remember that the future may bring greater mishaps and misfortunes. It may bring untold riches which mislead men, or pressing poverty which makes one forgetful of his duties towards God and duties towards men, or illness which may take him to the grave or leave him unfit for work. The slogan of men should therefore be: Work and work in the living present with God overhead and heart within.

He remained silent and bore it to himself; till when its owner came and saluted him in the midst of men, he turned away from him several times, till the man perceived his anger there about and his displeasure therein. This appeared too troublesome to his companions. He said: By Allah, I don't certainly disobey the Messenger of Allah. They said: He (Prophet) came out and saw your dome. SECTION 2

1426. Fear and Weeping

From what has been described in the previous article about the transitory nature of the wordly vanities and the warnings and descriptions given about the horrors and punishments of the hereafter, there arises naturally a fear in mind resulting in repentance and weeping for our past misdeeds and the possible future sins into which we have every chance of falling through the machinations of the devil. This is fear what is technically called التقـــوى Taqwa (God-fear), and the fearful man is called المتقي (God-fearing man).

(a) Significance of God-fear. A tiger is feared because of its possible harms. God, however, is Rahman (Merciful). Therefore hope in His unbounded mercy removes fear of Him from many a mind. Besides what is feared cannot be loved. So how can God be loved if He is feared ? The solution of this question is no doubt difficult but let us try to clear this anomaly a bit. A little boy does not naturally love his father and mother because they threaten him with punishment if he does not read attentively. He loves those who do not threaten him and oppose him in his free movements. When the boy will be mature in understanding and advanced in years, he will begin to love his father and mother more than his old associates because of their sincere desire for his welfare from his boyhood. Thus real love results in the final stage out of fear in the initial stage. Similar is our fear in the initial stage of our religious life in order that love of God may be attained at the end either in this world or in the hereafter. Take another instance. An executioner is feared by a man because he is going to inflict punishment on his person. That is why it cannot be said that he is cruel. He is merely obeying the command of the judge. If he had not committed crime, he would have no cause of fear. Therefore true God-fear means the fear of the punishments that will follow as a matter of course out of the violation of God's laws. It cannot be said that God is feared because

He is cruel. So practically fear of God means fear of the violation of God's laws and their consequent punishments. It is a God's law that fire will burn. God says that anybody doing sinful acts will also be burnt by the fire of Hell. Therefore fear of falling into fire or of other punishments as a result of commissions and ommissions is called God-fear.

(b) Means of raisings God-fear in mind. There are principally three means of exciting fear of God in mind.

(1) Firstly, the knowledge of God as the Almighty and All-powerful Being and the knowledge of one's own absolute weakness, helplessness and inability. One must have knowledge of the nature of the thing before fear of that thing is generated in mind. For example, a man fears a tiger or a snake because he knows its real nature of harm from before. A little child will not fear it because of its ignorance in its real nature. At the same time, the man in presence of the tiger must know that he is completely helpless at that moment before the huge ferocious tiger and that he is unable to save himself. Similarly in order to create true fear of God in mind, one must recognise that he is absolutely helpless and that God can do every thing with him whatever He likes. Thus knowledge of God is the first step of fear. The Quran therefore says that only the learned fear Allah : Surely the learned among His servants fear Allah—35:28Q.

(2) Secondly, a man must keep company with the religious and God-fearing men. This is no less useful as association has got a great influence. A child learns to fear a tiger or a snake by seeing others to fear it. So also a child in religion learns to fear God by association with the God-fearing men.

(3) Thirdly, a man must read the lives of God-fearing men. Lives of these saints give a great incentive towards religious frame of mind and ennoble us.

(c) Results of God-fear: If fear of God can be generated in mind in a greater degree, the result is wonderful. All attachments from the worldly things vanish away and the mind turns sincerely to the thoughts of the hereafter and the remembrance of Allah. To explain it more fully, it may be said by way of an example that a man meets a girl in a jungle and wishes to have her sweet company. Suddenly he meets a huge tiger in front of him. Surely it is natural on his part to give up all charming thoughts about the girl and to take to his heels immediately to save his life. Similarly fear of infernal punishment and of wrath of God for misdeeds remove attachment for the world and keep oneself engaged in the constant remembrance of God.

(d) One must give up fear of men in order to achieve true fear of God. A true Muttaqi does not fear anything in the world but God. Man-fear and God-fear are two inconsistent things. If there is fear of men, there is no fear of God because he violates God's orders to please men. If however, there is fear of God, he does not fear men as he pleases God even by displeasing men. So the best thing is to have the Creator by one's back instead of His creation. This was clearly illustrated in the life of the Prophet. The Quran repeatedly declares that only the Creator is to be feared and not the created. Therein lies a great wisdom. It says: Don't fear them but fear Me that I may complete My favours on you—2:150Q. This was repeated in verses 5:3Q; 33:37Q; 5:4Q; 9:18Q. Again in another verse: When fighting is prescribed for them, lo! a party of them fear men as they ought to have feared Allah or even with a greater fear—4:77Q. Fear Allah and let everybody look to what he sent in advance for the morrow—54:18Q.

(e) Merits of fear and weeping. Fear of God is an excellent attribute in a man. Indeed it has been rightly said by the Prophet that fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. The Quran therefore says: The wise among His servants fear Allah—35:28Q. Fear is like fire which burns the animal passions in us and restrains us from committing sins and evils. Weeping is like rain which washes off all sins. It is a sign of a sincere heart. It is also a sign that the prayer of a man has been accepted by God. As fire and water mixed together in proportionate degree create a wonderful force (called steam), likewise the fire of fear and the water of tears arising out of fear of God create a spiritual force which carries a man onward to the spiritual world. The Quran says: There are mercy and guidance for those who fear for the sake of their Lord—

7:154Q. He (God) is well-pleased with them and they are well-pleased with Him. That is for one who fears his Lord—98:8Q. He accepts only fears—22:37Q. Verily the most honourable of you in the sight of Allah is the one who is the most God-fearing among you —49:13Q. And for him who fears to stand before his Lord, are two gardens—55:46Q. The Holy Prophet said: Do you know what will stand foremost to lead men to Paradise?—Fear of Allah and god conduct—4:91. Nothing is dearer to Allah than two drops—one drop of tears out of fear of Allah, and one drop of blood in the way of Allah—4:117. The fire shall not touch one who weeps out of fear of Allah till milk returns to its udder—4:118. As for one who fears Allah, all in the world fear him; and he who does not fear Allah fears all in the world. Let them laugh little and weep much as a recompense of what they did—9:82Q. A saint said: Do you laugh when your burial cloth has already come out from the palace of God. [1]

(f) Some examples of ideal fear and weeping. [2] When Azazil (devil) was driven out of heaven, angels Gabriel and Mickael began to weep for long out of fear. Gabriel told the Prophet: I have never seen the angel Mickael laughing. Since the Hell was created, Mickael is in constant fears and, therefore, he could not laugh. When the Prophet Abraham prayed, his mind was filled up with so much fear that the noise of fear coming out of his heart was heard from a distance of even one mile. The Prophet David wept once for continuous forty days after placing his forehead on the ground and took meal once in every 7 days. His tears flowed down on earth to such an extent that grass began to grow therefrom. His hymns mixed with fear and weeping were attended to by men and even animals. Prophet John from his earliest years kept himself always engaged in divine worship in the mosque of Jerusalem. Once he was thirsty and so went to a fountain and took water to drink. At once he remembered the punishment of the next world and said: O Lord! I am greatly thirsty, but still I won't touch water till I know my condition in the next world. He wept so much out of fear of Allah that a portion of the flesh of his face fell down and it assumed a fearful look. The Holy Prophet Muhammad (Ayesha reported) wept almost in every night out of fear of Allah, so much so that often Bilal had to call him for morning prayer. Besides the Prophets, the companions and the followers of the Prophet showed also no less fear of God.

Hazrat Abu Bakr said: Would that I were a bird, I could have escaped from the burden of administration. Abu Zarr said Would that I were a tree, I could have avoided the burden of account in the next world! Hazrat Ayesha said: Would that I were not born in the world! Hazrat Omar used to fall often in swoon out of fear of God. Once he was travelling on a camel and Suddenly heard a man reading some verses from the Quran: "Certainly the punishment of the Lord will come to pass—52:7Q," he fell down Suddenly from his camel out of fear and remained motionless for some hours. When Hazrat Ali made ablution, he used to become stupified with fear. Being asked, he replied: You do not know before Whom I am going to stand in prayer. The saint Ma'sur once heard a man reciting the following verses of the Quran: The day on which We will gather those who fear the Merciful in groups, and We will drive the guilty to Hell in thirst—19:85Q., Suddenly he fell down senseless and ultimalety breathed his last. The saint Attab Salma did not laugh or look towards heaven for a continuous period of 40 years. Once his look was raised up to heaven. At once he fell down senseless. The saint Hasan Basri, Wais Qarni, Rabia, Omar-b-Abdul Aziz and innumerable followers of the Prophet led their lives in constant fear of God and of their fate in the next world.

36. Zainab-bn-Jahsh reported that the Prophet one day went to her frightfully, saying: There is no god but Allah, and woe to the Arabs for the evils which are near. There has been an opening to-day in the block of Agog and Magog like this. He then joined his fingers round his thumb and

By Allah, if you had known what I know, you would have laughed little and wept much, and you would not have enjoyed women on beds, and you would have certainly come out to the hills seeking refuge to Allah. Abu Zarr said: Would that I would have turned a tree to be sewed!

When a believing man is buried, the grave says to him: Welcome! Be happy! Behold! if I were dear to thee than those who walked over my back, then I will befriend thee to-day when thou hast come to me. Thou wilt soon see my treatment with thee. He said: Then it will extend itself in the twinkling of an eye and a door will be opened for him towards Paradise. When a sinner or an unbeliever is buried, the grave will address him: No welcome! no greeting! Behold! if thou wert more enraged to me than those who walked over my back, I would befriend you to-day when thou hast come to me, and thou wilt soon see my treatment with thee. He said: Then it will compress till his sides will interchange. (He reported that the Prophet said—with his fingers). It will then admit some limbs in the hollow of others. He reported that 70 sepents will he stinging him. If one of them would have given out a breath unto this world, nothing would have grown till the world existed. They will contiune to sting him and scratch him till he will be taken to render account. The Holy Prophet said: Verily

1431. Latter Days and Warning

The Holy Prophet left nothing to mention which will occur up to the Day of Resurrection. These prophecies of the Holy Prophet have been elaborately put down in the beginning of the Fourth Book. Here there are some prophecies which relate to the latter conditions of the Muslims. The substance of the traditions in this section relating to those prophecies is given below: The Muslims will be numerous in numbers in latter days but the numbers of true Muslims will be very few (29:51). Nobody will fear the general Muslims, and weakness and love of world will overtake them subjecting them to the mercy of currents and cross-currents of political games—29:59. The Prophet is the first boatman of the ark of Islam, Mehdi in the middle, and Jesus Christ is in the enn—29:426w. There will be at first rule by prophethood, then by Khilafat, then by kingdoms, then by disorganised rule and at last by Khilafat in the line of Prophethood—29:423w, 425w. The Muslims in latter times will follow the Jews and the Christians at every step—29:52. The Muslims will be masters of the world but bad people will ultimately gain upperhand in all affairs—29:53,54. The latter Muslims will take morning and evening strolls with fine dresses and sticks like tails. They will have luxurious dishes and lofty buildings with fine screens over the doors—29:56,61. The rulers will be bad, the rich miser, and the females will lead the males—29:58. The few who will be true Muslims will find it extremely difficult to maintain faith—29:57. The latter kings will give utmost trouble and anxieties to the Muslims—29:62. The people will treat with people, openly as friend but secretly as enemies—29:64. There will arise a section of the Muslims who will hold the use of silk, drink of wine and singing with musical instruments as lawful—29:65. They will care thousand times more for their world than for their religion. They will wear soft skin dresses of sheep and goats. Their tongue will be sweeter than honey but their heart cruel. Calamities will then fall on them—29:68. There will be no house of clay but unto which Islam will not enter—1:14w, and their best property will be sheep and cattle—1:78.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم اِنَّمَا النَّاسُ كَالْاِبِلِ الْمِائَةِ لَا تَكَادُ تَجِدُ فِيْهَا رَاحِلَةً * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

51. Ibn Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah said : The people are like one hundred camels in the midst of which you will seldom find one fit for riding [1432] —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِيْ سَعِيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم لَتَتَّبِعُنَّ سَنَنَ مَنْ قَبْلَكُمْ شِبْرًا بِشِبْرٍ وَ ذِرَاعًا بِذِرَاعٍ حَتّٰى لَوْ دَخَلُوْا حُجْرَ ضَبٍّ تَبِعْتُمُوْهُمْ قِيْلَ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللهِ اَلْيَهُوْدَ وَ النَّصَارٰى قَالَ فَمَنْ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

52. Abu Sayeed reported that the Messenger of Allah said : You must follow the practices of those who were before you, step by step, foot by foot, so much so that if they enter in to the belly of a lizard, you will follow them. He was questioned : O Prophet of Allah, are they the Jews and the Christians ? He said : Whoelse (besides them) ? —Agreed.

1432. This is a prophecy that there will be innumerable Muslims in latter times, but there will be found hardly a Muslim whose association will be good to be sought and who will be truly devout and pious. Such is the time we are living in at present.

53. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When my followers will walk with vanity and the sons of kings, the princes of Persia and Byzantium, will serve them, Allah will give authority to the wicked over the good. [1488]

—Tirmizi (Rare)

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا مَشَتْ اُمَّتِي الْمُطَيْطَاءَ وَخَدَمَتْهُمْ اَبْنَاءُ الْمُلُوكِ اَبْنَاءُ: فَارِسَ وَ الرُّومِ سَلَّطَ اللّٰهُ شِرَارَهَا عَلٰى خِيَارِهَا - اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ (غَرِيبٌ)

54. Huzaifah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The Hour shall not occur till you kill your leader and strike one another with your swords, and the worst of you will inherit the world. —Tirmizi.

عَنْ حُذَيْفَةَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ لَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ حَتّٰى تَقْتُلُوا اِمَامَكُمْ وَ تَجْتَلِدُوا بِاَسْيَافِكُمْ وَ يَرِثُ دُنْيَاكُمْ شِرَارُكُمْ - (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

55. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: The Hour shall not occur till the most fortunate of men in the world will be a fool, son of a fool. —Tirmizi, Baihaqi.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تَقُومُ السَّاعَةُ حَتّٰى يَكُونَ اَسْعَدَ النَّاسِ بِالدُّنْيَا لُكَعُ بْنُ لُكَعَ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَالْبَيْهَقِيُّ)

56. Muhammad-b-Ka'ab reported: One who heard Ali-b-Abi Taleb informed me: We were sitting with the Prophet in the mosque when Musaib-b-Omair suddenly appeared before us. There was nothing on him except a long coat raised up by fur. When the Prophet saw it, he wept for one who got abundant blessing and for one who enjoyed it that day. Then the Prophet said: How will it be with you when some of you will get up at dawn with fine clothes, and return at dusk with fine clothes, and the cup will be placed before him (for wine), and another (cup) will be raised up; and you will hung up screens in your houses as the Ka'ba is screened. They asked: O Ms. of Allah, we will then be better than what we are at present. We will find leisure for divine service and find sufficient (men) for menial works. He said: No, you are at present better than what you will become at that time. 1434 —Tirmizi.

1488. Here there is a great prophecy that the Muslims would conquer the vast kingdoms of Persia and Rome. The world is to judge from the historical facts whether this prophecy was literally fulfilled. At the time of Hazrat Omar, the Muslims conquered Persia and Byzantine empires. Had he not been a true Messenger from God, he could not have uttered such a mighty pronouncement.

57. Anas reported that the Apostle of Allah said: A time will come over men when the patient of them in his religion will be like one who holds burning coal in his hand. 1435

—Tirmizi (Rare).

58. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said:

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم إِذَا كَانَ أُمَرَاءُكُمْ خِيَارَكُمْ وَأَغْنِيَاؤُكُمْ

1434. The people in latter times will be luxurious in matters of dress, food, abode, servants and slaves. There will be varied and fine dresses for morning and evening strolls, vanities of luxurious dishes and the lofty buildings of fancy. At that time, people will be worse in the eye of Allah and various economic problems will arise.

1435. In latter times, there will be very few believing Muslims, and the majority will be transgressors or nominal Muslims. At that time, the transgressors will get upper hand in this world, and so the few pious men will find it extremely difficult in living with faith.

When your rulers will be your best men, and your rich men will be philanthropic among you, and your affairs will be done with consultation among yourselves, then the surface of the world will be better for you than its bottom. And when your rulers will be the worst of you and your rich men will be misers among you, and your affairs will be done with your wives, then the bottom of the world will be better for you than its surface. 1486 —Tirmizi (Rare)

59. Saoban reported that the Prophet said : It is near that the nations will call one another against you just as the eaters call one another at their dishes. Some body enquired : Shall we be few at that time ? He said : No, you will be numerous at that time, but you will be so many rubbishes like the rubbishes of a torrent. Allah will then certainly take away fear of you from the breasts of your enemies and will certainly throw weakness in your hreats. Some body enquired : O Ms. of Allah, what will be (the cause of) weakness ? He replied : Love of this world and dislike for death 1487—Abu Daud.

1486. This shows that women are weaker in understanding than men. Husbands therefore should not always rely on the soundness of their wives' instructions.

1487. The Muslims are now nearly ⅓rd of the people of the globe, yet they are weak,

60. Iyaz-b-Hemar al Mujashiy reported that the Apostle of Allah one day said in his sermon : Behold ! certainly my Lord ordered me to teach you what you donot know out of what He has taught me this day : Every property which I have given to a servant is lawful, and I have made all of My servants devout ; [1483] but the devils came to them and led them astray from their religion, and made for them unlawful what I made for them lawful. They directed them to set up partners with Me so long I did not send an authority over them. Allah looked to the people of the world (and found them all in error) and so kept them, their Arabs and their non-Arabs, under his wrath excepting the remaining men out of the followers of the Book. He said : Verily I have sent you to try you and to try through you and sent you a Book which water shall not wash away whether you read it asleep and awake. Verily Allah ordered me to crush the Quraish, but I said : Then they will pierce through my

He was questioned : O Ms. of Allah ! how will that come to pass ? He replied : That is due to liking of some towards others and disliking of some towards others.

65. Abu Amer and Abu Malek al-Ash'ari reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : There will certainly arise some people among my followers who will consider the use of 'Khaj', silk, wine, and musical instruments as lawful ; and there shall certainly appear some people at the side of a mountain to whom a flock of sheep would come out in the morning. In a narration: He proclaimed: O children of Abd Manaf, verily the parable of myself and the parable of you is like the parable of a man who saw the enemies and went to precaution his family. He feared that they might go before him. Then he began to shout: Alas! my companions!

67. Abu Hurairah reported that when it was revealed: 'Warn your near relation', the Holy Prophet called the Quraish and so they assembled, all and sundry. He addressed: O Banu Ka'ab-b-Lubai, save yourselves from the fire; O Banu Murrah -b-Ka'ab, save yourselves from the fire; O Banu Abd Shams, save yourselves from the fire; O Banu Abd Manaf, save yourselves from the fire; O Banu Hashem, save yourselves from fire; O Banu Abdul Muttaleb, save yourslaves from the fire; O Fatimah, save yourself from the fire, and verily I don't hold control of anything from Allah, except that there is your blood-conection (with me) which I shall

In a narration agreed upon— O assembly of the Quraish, purchase for yourselves (Paradise), I don't control anything from Allah for you. O Banu Abd Manaf! I don't control anything from Allah for you. O Abbas, son of Abdul Muttaleb, I don't control anything from Allah for you. O Safiyyah, aunt of the Ms. of Allah, I don't control anything from Allah for you. O Fatimah, daughter of Muhammad, ask me as much as you like from my property, I don't control anything from Allah for you.

68. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: There will appear in latter times a people who will adorn this world in preference to the religion. They will put on for people dress of sheep skins of soft nature. Their tongues will be sweeter than sugar and their hearts will be the hearts of wolves. Allah will say: Do you deceive Me, or aganist Me do you dare? I take promise by Me:

1440. The Quran refers to this: Say, who will control anything for you if Allah intends bad for you or intends good for you. "Say—I don't control anything good for myself or bad except what Allah wishes. 'I shall soon moisten' etc. means that I shall try to keep good relation with my relatives and friends.

They will take silk, private parts, and wines as lawful. They will be provided upon that and they will be helped till they meet Allah. —Baihaqi

424w. Ayesha reported: I heard the Aposlte of Allah say: Verily the first of what will be turned down (Zaid-b-Yahya, the narrator, said; meaning Islam) will be what a pot drops down meaning wine. It was questioned: How, O Ms. of Allah, while Allah has made clear thereabout what He has made clear? He said: They will give it a name other than its name, and thus they will take it as lawful. —Darimi.

They administered both temporal and spiritual matters of the subjects. After that, there became kings who ruled only temporal side and not spiritual. Thus religion was for ever separated. This was at the time of Muwayiah and latter Caliphs Thus separation of the two sides of a man brought ultimate ruin of the Muslim empires.

SECTION I

1142. Death and Soul.

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, and all that wealth ev'r gave,
Awaits alike the inevitable Hour,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

(a) Death is inevitable. There's no escape from it. It makes no distinction between high and low, rich and poor. It lays its icy hand on the highest and the lowest. Sceptre and crown must stumble down before its inevitable onslaught. The greatest personalities of the world, past and present, were subject to this fate. Adam, Noah, Moses, Krishna, Akbar, Napolean, Alexander, and even Muhammad had to die. The highest intelligent man of the globe or the greatest scientist could not invent a plan of avoiding it. It snatches away an affectionate son from the clutches of his parents, a beloved husband from the consoling bosom of his wife, a worldly man from his enormous riches, and a powerful king from his vast kingdom. What is then this great calamity which every mortal is subject to? This is nothing but God's law that everything having breath must die. The Quran declares: Everything shall taste of death—":18-Q. Wherever you are, death will overtake you, though you remain in lofty towers—4:78Q.

(b) What does death mean? [illegible] death, we must have a clear [illegible] objects and function. [illegible]
Life is called Jibatma in [illegible]
Life infuses vigour into the [illegible] energy into the instrument [illegible] or lamps have got no life of [illegible]. When [illegible] there is no electric current, [illegible] idle. Similarly body [illegible]
The limbs freely move [illegible]. When [illegible] limbs of the body cease to [illegible]
"death" of the body. [illegible]
current in the body. [illegible]
That current is life. [illegible] than life. When there [illegible] soul remains and will remain [illegible] after death in great [illegible]. [illegible] soul is of the spiritual world. When [illegible] man is transferred from [illegible] is nothing but the human [illegible] in a man. [illegible] soul [illegible]
Quran says: O [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

(c) Evolution of man. Death is the first stage of eternal journey to heaven—31:42, as birth is the first stage of this world's journey. Before birth, there was another journey of man. His creation began from a small life-germ. Then stage by stage, it grew into a dead figure. Unto that figure, current of life was infused and it began to move. After sometime, it is ushered into this world. The Holy Quran says : Have you considered the small life-germ ? Is it that you created it or are We the creators ? We have ordained death among you, and none can prevent Us that We may change your attributes and make you grow into what you know not—56:58Q. O people ! if you are in doubt about the Resurrection, then (remember) surely We created you from a small life-germ, then from a clot of blood, then from a lump of flesh, complete in make and incomplete, that We may make clear to you, and We cause what We please to stay in the wombs till an appointed time, then We bring you forth as babies, then that you may attain your maturity, and of you is he who is caused to die and of you is he who is brought to extreme old age—22:5Q. And certainly We created man of an extract of clay. Then We made him a small life-germ in a firm resting place. Then We made the life-germ a clot, then We made the clot a lump of flesh, then We made the lump of flesh bones, then We clothed the bones with flesh ; then We caused it to grow into another creation ; so blessed is Allah, the best of the creators. Then after that, you will certainly die. Then on the day of Resurrection, you will surely be raised—23:12,16Q. Attention has been drawn, therefore, of the various stages in the law of evolution of man. By evolution, the identity of the man remains though forms change. A child of two years is the same man when it grows old. A small life-germ of one month in womb is the same man as the child of two years. Similarly this man will continue after death to have taste of another life after shaking off this material physique. A child did not know any thing in the womb as there was covering of womb. He sees clearly everything when he is brought to this world. Similarly a man does not see and know clearly everything under the cover of this material body and material world. When it will be taken off by death, the hidden secrets of nature will be perfectly brought to light before him. It is worderful to look at a man from a small life-germ to a powerful king in the world.

Similarly it will be strange to look at a man advancing to the spiritual world stage by stage.

(d) Is Death to be hoped for ? To hope for death is unlawful. The reason is twofold. Firstly, hoping for death or committing suicide means acting contrary to the wishes of Allah. Death should be left entirely in the hand of Allah at His sweet will. Secondly, by death a man is deprived of deeds which would have done benefit to himself and to the world at large, or if he is bad, he should not have hastened to receive punishment of the grave but wished for expiation of sins by living longer. Is everlasting life then desirable ? The answer also must be in the negative, as perpetual lease of life will frustrate the very object of creation of man. Horse is necessary for reaching a goal. If the goal is reached, there is no necessity of it. Similarly the object of soul is to attain the love of Allah. If the object is reached, the body is not needed in this world. If it goes astray, the earlier the body goes, the better for a man.

(e) Constant Thought of Death is Profitable. (i) As death is inevitable, man must think of it and what will occur after it. One who does not think of it lives in a fool's Paradise. About this man, the Almighty Allah said : Say, verily death from which you all flee away will surely overtake you. Then you will be taken in a world of futurity and attestation, and you will then be informed of what you did—62:8Q. Death is a great admonisher. Constant remembrance of death protects a man from sins and saves him from the transitory vanities of this world. He tries to adorn himself with all the virtues that will take him to Paradise and to avoid the sins that will take him to Hell. It gives a thought in one's mind that he is a sojourner, and as such he should have light commodities in the world. The Holy Prophet said : If you could have seen what I see, you would have wept much and laughed little—30:7. When David remembered death, he used to weep (Yahyaul Ulum). (ii) Four kinds of men in death thinking. (I) For a worldly man. Death is generally displeasing to him, as it would deprive him of his wordly riches and vanities. Therefore he gives up thought of death. By this, he removes himself further away from Allah. (2) For a man who is repentant of his past sins. He does not hate death ; but he dislikes that it should soon come to him because he is engaged in repentance for his past sins. (3) For a good man. He is glad to meet death, as it will take him soon to Allah. (4) For a truly religious man. He does not feel pleased or displeased with the advent of death as he has completely resigned himself to the will of Allah. (iii) Method of Death Thinking. Think of death at least one hour every day in a lonely place. Remove all thoughts of the world, and think of your condition and the condition of your family when you are dead. Remember the death of those who were once devoted to you. Think how they spent their life, how they were forgetful of death, the condition of their eyes, noses, teeth, hairs, and how they are now objects of food for worms. Think about the disputes and litigations that have cropped up regarding their properties after their death. Think about their wives who are now betrothed to other persons. If you have passed 40 years of your life, you have passed nearly ¼th. of it unless you die earlier. Your life's evening is then near at hand, as day's evening is near when ¾th of the day has passed away. Therefore be prepared for immedite death. Utilise every minute that passes by. The Holy Prophet said : Value five things before five : your youth before your old age, your health before your illness, your riches before your poverty, your leisure before your occupation, and your life before your death—29:8.

1443. What is Soul and Its Functions ?

(a) Soul is something accomodated only in a man. It has not been given to any created thing other than man. A cow cannot think but a man can. This is because of soul. The Almighty says : And they ask you about soul. Say : Soul is from order of Allah—17:85Q. Verily I created man from clay. So when I fashioned him and instilled in him from My Spirit—32:9Q. So soul is a special divine thing and may be compared to a borrowed light from Allah. As the original light is not reduced by the lending of lights, God is not also reduced by the innumerable lights of souls. Because of this soul, man is honoured as the lord of creation. Even Allah termed Adam as His Khalifa (Vicar). What are the functions of soul and why has it been created ? The object of soul is to attain its own original source i. e. Allah. Everything returns to its origin. Body is of earth and therefore it will return to earth, but earth cannot consume soul which will return to its origin i. e. Allah. The object of the creation of eyes is to see things of this world, of legs to walk upon, and of ears to hear. Similarly the object of creation of soul is to strive to attain Allah and to have His love. This is the natural attribute of soul. If there is defect in sight, there is disease in eye. Similarly if the heart does not move towards Allah or to obey His words, there is disease in soul. When it finds taste in striving towards Allah, it is sound and remains in natural state towards the path of progress. About this soul, the Quran says : The day on which property will not avail, nor sons, except him who comes to Allah with a sound soul - 26:88, 89Q. As we cannot conceive of Allah but in relation to His attributes, so also we cannot conceive of soul but in relation to its attributes. There is therefore good and bad soul. Soul remains normal in the beginning of life. It is afterwards by actions that it is made bad or good. The Quran says : He will indeed be successful who purifies it, and he will indeed fail who corrupts it- 91:9Q. Soul therefore takes three names in the process of evolution. In the first stage, it is called "Nafse Ammara." i. e. soul prone to disobedience and evil. The Quran says about this : Verily this soul is prone to evils 13:43Q. Then in the second stage, it develops into a moral soul called "Napse Lawwamah" i. e. self-accusing soul. It is then engaged in distinguishing right from wrong and accuses itself for every wrong done. The Quran says : Nay, I swear by the self-accusing soul—75:2Q. Then in the third stage, the moral soul develops into a spiritual soul called "Nafe-Mutmainnah" i. e. a soul pleased (with God). The Quran says about it : O soul that is at rest—89:28Q. Then after death, soul will continue to develop in the spiritual worlds.

As soul is a divine thing, divine attributes are imprinted in it. The Prophet therefore said : Imbue thyself with divine attributes. Development of these attributes or faculties of man will lead him to Paradise and bad use of these will lead him to Hell. This is good and bad use of souls. There is a great effect of physical health upon the development of mental state of a man. The latter again greatly affects the moral development which again helps the spiritual progress. Thus there is continuation of progress of a soul till it attains its object. The chief function of soul is therefore to love Allah. Whenever a rust falls on it, it should be removed from it. There is a polish for every thing and the polish of soul is the remembrance of Allah.

(b) Power of Soul. Soul has got wonderful force when properly used. It is like a small dynamite placed in a big factory or a small engine which carries millions of tons of loads. A high and cultured soul may carry millions of the people with him as the Prophets of Christianity and Islam did and are still doing. Of this magnificent power of soul, the Quran speaks : Surely We offered the trust to the heavens and the earth and the mountains ; but they refused to carry it and feared from it, and man carried it. Surely he is unjust, ignorant —33:72Q. Owing to this soul, man is the lord of creations, because the greatest power is placed in him. That power of soul is great is also seen from hypnotism and mesmerism. Majority of men are, however, idle and have got no power. What is the reason for it ? The reason is nothing but lack of knowledge in the use of soul and actual user of it. Because of our ignorance in setting up a machine, it cannot be said that the engine has lost its force. When properly used, it will take its normal force. When not used, it will remain just like a dead figure. So is the case with soul. How can then the power of soul be created ? Force or steam in an engine is generated by a fixed degree of heat and water. Out of proportion of things, electric energy is generated. In like manner, out of proportionate use of attributes imprinted on soul, there arises a power unprecedented in force. If however there is no mixture of things in proportionate degree, soul remains like water in a tank or fire in a furnace. Therefore all men should acquire soul-power after cultivation of all the virtues in a proportionate degree.

(c) Can Soul of Dead Men Correspond with us ? It is said that the soul of a dead man can inform us about its condition in the spiritual world. How is it possible ? The following will give some light into this proposition. The soul of a living man can not have knowledge of the soul of the dead, as the soul is covered by outer screens in the form of passions and wants of physical organs and of the physique itself. By death, these screens are completely removed, and hence the events of spiritual world appear vividly to souls of dead men. During life-time, it is not so possible. But a good soul may get a faint idea of the events of the spiritual world. Prophets were exceptions to this rule. They lived as dead in this world and therefore they had perfect vision. Ordinary men have got correct dreams. The Prophet therefore said : Correct dream is 46th part of prophethood 9:90. How can this take place ? The following is the explanation. Everything from the beginning to end is preserved in the Guarded Tablet (85:22Q). Things of the spiritual as well as of this world are in continuation of being reproduced from this Tablet. Souls of dead men are brought here. They can know their mutual conditions. The great Tablet is a great mirror. Our soul also is like a mirror. As a mirror can see pictures of another mirror, so one soul can see pictures of the Guarded Tablet which consists of the souls of dead men. If however there is screen over the mirror, nothing can be seen. In dream, soul sometimes becomes free from engagement of this world and physical needs ; therefore it can grasp something of the events of the spiritual world. There are however the screens of passions. Therefore, there cannot be any clear vision. The greater is the degree of purity of soul, the greater is the power of vision. The Quran says-Nay, rust has fallen upon their souls—83:14Q. If there are cloud and fog in the sky, the rays of the sun cannot reach us to give a view of all things. If there is screen of the world over the sun, it becomes night and nothing is then visible which was visible in day-time even in clouds ; likewise great sins are great screens which prevent clear vision. The Quran therefore says : Verily you were unmindful of this and then We removed your screen from you—50:22 Q.

I. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : None of you shall wish for death, whether a righteous man who perchance may add to (his) good works, or a sinner who perchance may be repentant. —Bukhari.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ لَا يَتَمَنَّى اَحَدُكُمُ الْمَوْتَ اِمَّا مُحْسِنًا فَلَعَلَّهُ اَنْ يَّزْدَادَ خَيْرًا وَّ اِمَّا مُسِيْئًا فَلَعَلَّهُ اَنْ يَّسْتَعْتِبَ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

2. Same reported that the Ms. of Allah said : None of you shall wish for death, nor shall he call for it before it comes to him; because when he dies, his hope is cut off, and certainly the age of a believer does not add but good. —Muslim.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَتَمَنَّى اَحَدُكُمُ الْمَوْتَ وَلَا يَدْعُ بِهٖ مِنْ قَبْلِ اَنْ يَّاْتِيَهٗ اِنَّهٗ اِذَا مَاتَ انْقَطَعَ عَمَلُهٗ وَ اِنَّهٗ لَا يَزِيْدُ الْمُؤْمِنَ عُمُرُهٗ اِلَّا خَيْرًا * (مُسْلِمٌ)

3. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : None of you shall wish for death on account of an injury which afflicted him. If there is no alternative action, let him pray : O Allah ! give me life so long as the life will be good for me, and take away my life when death will be good for me. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم

لَا يَتَمَنَّى اَحَدُكُمُ الْمَوْتَ مِنْ ضُرٍّ اَصَابَهُ

فَاِنْ كَانَ لَا بُدَّ فَاعِلًا فَلْيَقُلِ اللّٰهُمَّ اَحْيِنِي

مَا كَانَتِ الْحَيٰوةُ خَيْرًا لِّي وَتَوَفَّنِي اِذَا

كَانَتِ الْوَفَاةُ خَيْرًا لِّي (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

4. Obadah-b-Swamet reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whoso likes to meet Allah, Allah also likes to meet him, and whoso does not like to meet Allah, Allah also does not like to meet him. Ayesha or some of his wives said : Certainly we dislike death. He replied : That is not so ; but when death comes to a believer, he is given good news of the pleasure of Allah and His gifts. There is then nothing dearer to him than what is before him. So he likes to meet Allah and Allah also likes to meet him. And an unbeliever-when death comes to him, he is given good news of the punishment of Allah and of His chastisement. And there is nothing more detestable to him than what lies in front of him. So he dislikes to meet Allah, and Allah also dislikes to meet him. [1444] —Agreed.

عَنْ عُبَادَةَ ابْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ

صلعم مَنْ اَحَبَّ لِقَاءَ اللّٰهِ اَحَبَّ اللّٰهُ لِقَاءَهُ

وَمَنْ كَرِهَ لِقَاءَ اللّٰهِ كَرِهَ اللّٰهُ لِقَاءَهُ فَقَالَتْ

عَائِشَةُ اَوْ بَعْضُ اَزْوَاجِهِ اِنَّا لَنَكْرَهُ الْمَوْتَ

قَالَ لَيْسَ ذٰلِكَ وَلٰكِنَّ الْمُؤْمِنَ اِذَا

حُضِرَ الْمَوْتُ بُشِّرَ بِرِضْوَانِ اللّٰهِ وَكَرَامَتِهِ

فَلَيْسَ شَيْءٌ اَحَبَّ اِلَيْهِ مِمَّا اَمَامَهُ فَاَحَبَّ

لِقَاءَ اللّٰهِ وَاَحَبَّ اللّٰهُ لِقَاءَهُ وَاِنَّ الْكَافِرَ اِذَا

حُضِرَ الْمَوْتُ بُشِّرَ بِعَذَابِ اللّٰهِ وَعُقُوْبَتِهِ

فَلَيْسَ شَيْءٌ اَكْرَهَ اِلَيْهِ مِمَّا اَمَامَهُ فَكَرِهَ

لِقَاءَ اللّٰهِ وَكَرِهَ اللّٰهُ لِقَاءَهُ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1444. Meeting with Allah signifies death in the general sense of the term but its real meaning is not death but change of man from one stage to another, change of man from worldly temptations to spiritual benefits of the next world. Whoso takes the world with all its enjoyments dislikes to meet Allah and whoso takes it as a seed-ground for the future likes to meet Allah. This is not in opposition to hadis no I which says that none shall hope for death.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ تُوُفِّيَ رَجُلٌ بِالْمَدِيْنَةِ مِمَّنْ وُلِدَ بِهَا صَلّٰى عَلَيْهِ النَّبِيُّ صلعم فَقَالَ يَالَيْتَهٗ مَاتَ بِغَيْرِ مَوْلِدِهٖ قَالُوْا وَلِمَ ذٰلِكَ يَارَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ قَالَ اِنَّ الرَّجُلَ اِذَا مَاتَ بِغَيْرِ مَوْلِدِهٖ قِيْسَ لَهٗ مِنْ مَوْلِدِهٖ اِلٰى مُنْقَطَعِ اَثَرِهٖ فِى الْجَنَّةِ *

(اَلنَّسَائِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

5. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that a man out of those who were born at Medina died there. The Holy Prophet said his funeral prayer and said : Would that he should have died other than in his place of birth ! They asked : And why is that, O Messenger of Allah ? He said : Verily a man-when he dies other than in his place of birth, there is measured for him in Paradise from his place of birth upto the end of his foot-prints. 1445

6. Abu Qatadah reported that he was narrating a tradition : The Messenger of Allah passed by a dead body and said : Either a relieved man or one from whom relief is sought. They asked : O Ms. of Allah ! what is "a relieved man or one from whom relief is sought ?" He said : A faithful servant takes relief from the turmoils of the world and its troubles to the mercy of Allah ; and as for a sinful servant, men, cities, trees and beasts are relieved of him.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ اَخَذَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم بِمَنْكِبِيْ فَقَالَ كُنْ فِى

7. Abdullah-b-Omar reported : The Messenger of Allah caught hold of my shoulder and said : Live in 1445. He who dies abroad gets greater reward than that of one who dies at home. To give an idea of reward in Paradise, it has been said that the former will get a space in Paradise as spacious as the distance from his home to the place of death. This gives a great stimulus to take journey abroad for propagation of Allah's faith, or for zihad, or for actions in the way of Allah.

this world as if you are a foreigner or a sojourner. 1446 Ibn Omar used to say: When you enter into evening, don't expect (to live upto) morning, and take from your health for your disease, and from your life for your health.

(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

1446. See also 3:110. A foreigner or a traveller on a way has the following characteristics; he must not erect a permanent structure in his place of rest; he must take for his use things which are essentially necessary; he does not forget his journey's end and therefore he takes care to reach it as early as possible; he does not make permanent love with men around as he has to leave them very shortly; and in short, he does not do such things as are not becoming for a traveller on the way. So also a man should think and act in this temporary world of ours. Health and life are the best treasures of man. So he should make utmost use of them without spending a single minute uselessly. Diseases and death are coming nearer and nearer.

1447. Good thinking about Allah means expecting forgiveness from Allah after death and thinking Him with all the divine attributes in order to follow them. This thought about Allah arises however at death if a servant is devout and pious. Piety and duty are condition precedent to such thought.

10. Boraidah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : A believer dies with sweet on forehead. 1448

11. Anas reported that the Holy Prophet visited a youth while he was at point of death. He asked : How do you find yourself ? He replied : O Ms. of Allah ! I hope for Allah and I fear my sins. Then the Ms. of Allah said : These two (things) do not unite in a heart of a servant like this at a time except that Allah grants him what he hopes for, and gives him security from what he fears from. 1449

12. Haresah-b-Mudarreb reported : I went to Khabbab, while he was cauterized in seven places. He said : Had I not heard the Ms. of Allah say "None of you must hope for death," I would have hoped for it. Indeed I saw myself with the Ms. of Allah while I owned no dirham ; and verily now by the side of my house, there are 40,000 dirhams. He 1448. This has been interpreted in several ways. The most acceptable interpretation is that a believer is one who is not idle but acts and strives hard in this world up to his death. He is always active and energetic. To this effect, the Holy Quran says : We have created death and life to try who amongst them is best in actions— 47:2Q. Another author interprets it by saying that at the time of a believer's death, sweat will be found on forehead.

1449. If hope of Allah's mercy and fear of sins and punishment unite in a dying man's heart, Allah eliminates fear and keeps hope. In other words, He forgives him of his sins and grants him happinesss.

narrated: Then his coffin was brought. When he saw it, he wept and said: But no coffin was found for Hamzah except a white gown with black cloths. We said: Yes, O Ms. of Allah. He said: Verily Allah will ask the believers: Do you like to meet Me? They will reply: Yes, O our Lord. He will ask: Why? They will reply: We hoped for Thy pardon and Thy forgiveness. He will say: My forgiveness has become sure for you.

1452. Death is a reward for a believer because this world is a prison house for him owing to his living within temptations of passions, sins and worldly vanities. Death takes him out from these troubles. Hence it is a gift and a boon to a believer.

1453. In places affected by epidemics, no outsider should go there and none from the affected areas should go outside.

1445. Time & Remembrance of death.

(a) Pangs of Death. Pangs of death are great, as death is the greatest event in a man's life. These pangs can be described in full by nobody except one who has tested them. Those who have got no experience thereof can know them either from the prophets or by guess. The Holy Prophet said at the time of death : O Allah ! help me in the pangs of death or intoxications of death—3:115. Jesus Christ prayed : O assembly of disciples ! call to Allah to make these pangs easy for me (Yahya). Hazrat Ayesha said : I saw nobody on whom pain was more severe than on the Ms. of Allah—3:105. If then the pangs of death were so severe on the greatest soul of the world, our miseries know no bounds. At death, every nerve, vein, limb and even life extinguish. Imagine what a great strain falls on the body. If a limb is burnt by fire, the whole body suffers with pain and sleeplessness. In case of death all the limbs of the body and all the component parts of each limb together with life and soul will be taken out. There is in addition the ghastly appearance of the Angel of death. To a sinner, he comes with a huge body as big as the distance between heaven and earth ; but to a virtuous man, he comes with form not the least fearful. It is stated by Imam Gazzali that the angel of death receives from Allah on the 15th date of Sha'ban a list of persons who will die in the course of the following year. A dying man sees also the two angels who have recorded his sins and virtues. These angels will address a virtuous man "There's good reward for you," a sinner "There's no good reward for you". The dying man begins also to see his abode in Hell or Paradise according he is a sinner or a virtuous man—39:4,25. All these things become gradually vivid to a dying man, just as everything in the world becomes gradually visible to a child just coming to the world from the dark womb or to a man in sun-light out of deep darkness of night.

(b) Fear of I'man at death bed. Death is a Qiyamat (Doomsday) of the body. At this time, it will be extremely difficult to keep I'man unless a man was habituated to virtues. Pious men, therefore, always think of Khatema Bil-Khair (end with good). The Prophet said : Verily actions will be judged by the ultimate results—32:5. Help and be near to one another, because the inmates of Paradise will be sealed with an action of the inmates of Paradise inspite of whatever action he might have done, and verily the inmates of the Fire will be sealed with an action of the inmates of the Fire inspite of whatever actions he might have done. Two causes generally operate to bring disbelief at death-bed—introduction of innovations (Bid'at) in religious matters not approved by the Quran and Hadis, and inordinate love for the world and its fineries to the utter neglect of the Hereafter. For this reason, martyr's death is easy as he cuts off all earthly connections before his death when he enters the battle-field.

(c) Death of a believer and Kafir. Death of a believer will be easy by divine wisdom, and that of an unbeliever extremely painful. A vivid description has been given in tradition no. 30. 432w. In case of death of a believer, angel of merey will remain present. Soul of such a man will be taken to heaven while it will continue to diffuse fragance and sweet scent and will be felicitated everywhere it will pass by angels. In case of an unbeliever or Ka'ir, angels of punishment will remain present at death time. It will then be taken to heaven while it would continue to diffuse offensive odour and will be condemned and rejected. Then it will be hurled down to his grave—30:25.

(d) Duties of those present at death-bed. Every body present at death should dictate to the dying man—There is no God but Allah, and Muhammad is His Messenger and His servant—30:14. Such an atmosphere should be created with the remembrance of Allah that the dying man may have good and happy thoughts about Allah. In other words, he should have tendency towards mercy and forgiveness from Allah. A man uttering sincerely the formula of faith will enter Paradise—30:19. The chapter 'Ya'sin' should also be recited in his presence—30:20. Those present should continually speak of the good deeds of the dying man and the angels will then say "Ameen" corroborating the opinions of the people—30:15. The signs of a virtuous man are generally the following-sweat on forehead—30:10, shedding of tears and dry effect on lips.

14. Abu Sayeed and Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Dictate to your dying man "There is no god but Allah". —Muslim.

عَنْ اَبِي سَعِيْدٍ وَّاَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَقِّنُوْا مَوْتَاكُمْ لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اللّٰهُ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

15. Omme Salamah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When you are present before a sick or a dying man, say good things, because the angels corrborate what you say. —Muslim.

عَنْ اُمِّ سَلَمَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا حَضَرْتُمُ الْمَرِيْضَ اَوِ الْمَيِّتَ فَقُوْلُوْا خَيْرًا فَاِنَّ الْمَلٰئِكَةَ يُؤَمِّنُوْنَ عَلٰى مَا تَقُوْلُوْنَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

16. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : There is no Muslim whom calamity affects and then who utters what Allah has commanded him "Verily we are for Allah and to Him shall we return. O Allah ! give me refuge in my calamity and leave therefrom good for me", except that Allah will leave therefrom good for him. When Abu Salamah died, I enquired : Who among the Muslims is better than Abu Salamah, the first man with family who emigrated to the Messenger of Allah. Afterwards I uttered it. Then Allah left for me the Ms. of Allah. 1455 —Muslim.

عَنْهَا قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَا مِنْ مُسْلِمٍ تُصِيْبُهٗ مُصِيْبَةٌ فَيَقُوْلُ مَا اَمَرَهُ اللّٰهُ بِهٖ اِنَّا لِلّٰهِ وَاِنَّا اِلَيْهِ رَاجِعُوْنَ * اَللّٰهُمَّ اْجُرْنِيْ فِيْ مُصِيْبَتِيْ وَاخْلُفْ لِيْ خَيْرًا مِّنْهَا اِلَّا اَخْلَفَ اللّٰهُ لَهٗ خَيْرًا مِّنْهَا فَلَمَّا مَاتَ اَبُوْ سَلَمَةَ قُلْتُ اَيُّ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ خَيْرٌ مِّنْ اَبِيْ سَلَمَةَ اَوَّلُ بَيْتٍ هَاجَرَ اِلٰى رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم ثُمَّ اِنِّيْ قُلْتُهَا فَاَخْلَفَ اللّٰهُ لِيْ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم * (مُسْلِمٌ)

17. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah went to Abu Salamah while his eye-sight was gone and it went into the sockets. Afterwards he said : Verily (as for) a soul, when it is taken out, eye-sight follows it. Whereupon the people of his house began to weep. He said : Don't utter over yourselves but good, because the angles give approval of what you utter. Afterwards he prayed : O Allah ! forgive Abu Salamah and raise his rank among the rightly-guided ones, and leave behind his successor from his descendants among those who remain behind, and grant us pardon and him, O Lord of the universe, and give ample space for him in his grave and give light therein for him.

عَنْهَا قَالَتْ دَخَلَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم عَلٰى اَبِيْ سَلَمَةَ وَقَدْ شَقَّ بَصَرُهٗ فَاَغْمَضَهٗ ثُمَّ قَالَ اِنَّ الرُّوْحَ اِذَا قُبِضَ تَبِعَهُ الْبَصَرُ فَضَجَّ نَاسٌ مِنْ اَهْلِهٖ فَقَالَ لَا تَدْعُوْا عَلٰى اَنْفُسِكُمْ اِلَّا بِخَيْرٍ فَاِنَّ الْمَلٰٓئِكَةَ يُؤَمِّنُوْنَ عَلٰى مَا تَقُوْلُوْنَ ثُمَّ قَالَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِاَبِيْ سَلَمَةَ وَارْفَعْ دَرَجَتَهٗ فِى الْمَهْدِيِّيْنَ وَاخْلُفْهٗ فِيْ عَقِبِهٖ فِى الْغَابِرِيْنَ وَاغْفِرْ لَنَا وَلَهٗ يَا رَبَّ الْعَالَمِيْنَ وَافْسَحْ لَهٗ فِيْ قَبْرِهٖ وَنَوِّرْ لَهٗ فِيْهِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1455. Omme-Salamah was afterwards married to the Holy Prophet on account of the promise that Allah leaves better things for a man or woman if he or she speaks well of a dead husband or wife.

18. Ayesha reported that when the Messenger of Allah expired, he was covered with a striped garment. —Agreed

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ اِنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم حِيْنَ تُوُفِّيَ سُجِّيَ بِبُرْدٍ حِبَرَةٍ ـ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

19. Mu'az-b-Jabal reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whoso's last word is "There is no deity but Allah", he will enter Paradise. 1456 —Abu Daud.

عَنْ مُعَاذِ بْنِ جَبَلٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ كَانَ اٰخِرُ كَلَامِهٖ لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اللّٰهُ دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ * (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ)

1456. This may either be uttered by the tongue or by the mind, but it is better to utter it both by mind and tongue. Such a man will enter Paradise but after suffering for the sins he might have committed in the world.

20. Ma'qal-b-Yasar reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Read the chapter "Yasin" over your dying man. 1457 —Ahmad, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

عَنْ مَعْقَلِ بْنِ يَسَارٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِقْرَءُوْا سُوْرَةَ يٰسٓ عَلٰى مَوْتَاكُمْ (اَحْمَدُ وَ اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

21. Ayesha reported that the Ms. of Allah kissed Osman-b-Mazun while he was dead. He was weeping till the tears of the Prophet flowed down upon the face of Osman. 1458

—Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ اِنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَبَّلَ عُثْمَانَ بْنَ مَظْعُوْنٍ وَهُوَ مَيِّتٌ وَهُوَ يَبْكِيْ حَتّٰى سَالَ دُمُوْعُ النَّبِيِّ صلعم عَلٰى وَجْهِ عُثْمَانَ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَاَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

22. Same reported that Abu Bakr kissed the Prophet while he was dead.

23. Hussain-b-Wahwah reported that Talha-b-Bara'a fell ill. So the Prophet came to see him and said : Verily I don't see Talha but death has just now fallen upon him. So order me about him, 1459 and make haste and verily it is not proper that the corpse of a Muslim should be kept waiting among the backs of his family members.

—Abu Daud.

عَنْ حُصَيْنِ بْنِ وَحْوَحٍ اِنَّ طَلْحَةَ بْنَ الْبَرَاءِ مَرِضَ فَاَتَاهُ النَّبِيُّ صلعم يَعُوْدُهٗ فَقَالَ اِنِّيْ لَا اُرٰى طَلْحَةَ اِلَّا قَدْ حَدَثَ بِهِ الْمَوْتُ فَاٰذِنُوْنِيْ بِهٖ وَعَجِّلُوْا فَاِنَّهٗ لَا يَنْبَغِيْ لِجِيْفَةِ مُسْلِمٍ تُحْبَسُ بَيْنَ ظَهْرَانَيْ اَهْلِهٖ (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ)

1458. Osman was the first among the Refugees who died at Medina, and was buried at Zannatul Baqi. It is deduced from this that it is lawful to weep over a deadman and to kiss him before burial.

1459. Order me about him means order me to say funeral prayer over him and to bury him in the grave. It is better (Mustahab) to bury a dead body earlier, because there is every chance of the dead body being decomposed and disfigured and thereby producing disgust in the minds of the people present.

24. Abdullah-b-J'afar reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Dictate to your dying man "There is no deity but Allah, the Wise, the Generous ; glory be to Allah, the Lord of the Mighty Throne ; all praise is for Allah, the Lord of the whole universe. They asked : O Messenger of Allah ! how is it for the living ? He said : Better and better. —Ibn Majah

25. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : (As for) a dying man, the angels come to him. If the man is pious, they say : Come out, O pure soul lodged in pure body. Come out being praised, and receive good news with pleasure and fragrance and the Lord without being angry. They continue to utter it for it till it comes out. Then it is taken to heaven and an opening is given to it. It is then asked : Whose is this ? They will say : So and so's. Then it will be said : Welcome to the pious soul lodged in a pious body. Enter being praised and take good news with pleasure and fragrance and Lord without being angry. That will continue to be uttered for it till it will come to the end of the heaven wherein there is Allah. When a man is impious, they will say : Come out, O impure soul lodged in impure

It will then be accosted : "No welcome to impure soul lodged in impure body. Return being despised and verily the doors of heaven will not be opened for you. 26. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When the soul of a believer comes out, two angels meet it to take it up. (Hammad narrated : Then he mentioned about the fragrance of its air, and he mentioned about musk). He (Prophet) said : The inmates of heaven will say : Pure soul has come from the side of the earth. Blessing of Allah on you and on the body which you have haunted. Then it will be taken to its Lord. He will say : Roam with it till the end of the world. He said : As for an infidel, when his soul comes out, (Hammad said that he mentioned about its stench and mentioned about curse) the inmates of heaven will say : An impure soul has come from the side of the

Then it will come out like the most fragrant air of musk till some of them will hand it over to others, till they will come with it to the doors of heaven. They will then say : How excellent is this fragrance which has come to you from the earth. Then they will take therewith the soul of the believers. For them, there will be a greater delight on account of it than (that of) someone of you for his absent man (when he arrives). They will ask it : What has so and so done ? What has so and so done ? They will say : Leave it, and verily it was in the anxieties of the world. He will say : It has died. Has it not come to you ? They will say : It has been taken to its mother Habiyah.

1460. Habiyah is the name of the worst and the lowest hell and therefore it signifies the greatest degradation that a man can be subjected to.

As for an infidel, when death comes to him, the angels of punishment come to him with rod. They then say : Come out being displeased (with Him) and He displeasing you towards the punishment of Allah, the Almighty and Glorious. And then it will come out like the most stenchy air of a corpse, till they will come down with it to the door of the earth. اِقْرَأْ عَلَى رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم السَّلَامَ (اِبْنُ مَاجَةَ)

437w. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported : We came out with the Messenger of Allah for funeral prayer of one of the Helpers and came near the grave while it was being dug. The Ms. of Allah sat down and we also sat down around him, as if there was a bird over our heads, and in his hand was wood which bends therewith towards the earth. He raised up his head and said twice or thrice : Seek refuge with Allah from the punishment of the grave Then he said : Verily when a believing servant is about to part away from the world and approach towards the hereafter, the angels, white of faces, as if their faces are sun, descend upon him from heaven. With them there is coffin out of the coffins of Paradise and perfumes from the perfumes of paradise till they take seat near him to the distance of eye-sight. Afterwards the angel of death comes (peace be on him) till he sits near his head and says : O pure soul ! come out towards forgiveness and pleasure of Allah. He said: Then it comes out flowing like the flowing of a drop of water from a cup. Then he takes it when he takes it up, he does not leave it in his hand for the twinkling of an eye till they take it up, and place it in that coffin and in that shroud ; it then comes out of it like the most excelent fragrance of musk that is available on the surface of the earth. He said : Then they ascend therewith and they do not pass (that is with it) by any group of angels who do not but ask 'whose is this pure soul'. They reply "So and so's, son of so and so" with the best names with which they named him in the world, till they come with it to the nearest heaven and seek an opening for it. There is then an opening for them. Then those who are near it out of every heaven transfer it to a heaven that follows it, till it is taken to the seventh heaven. Then a proclaimer proclaims from heaven : My servant has spoken the truth. So spread out a bed for him of Paradise and give him a dress of Paradise and open out a door for him towards Paradise. He said : Then its air and fragrance come to him, and in his grave it is spread out to the distance of eye sight. SECTION 3

Unlike many religions, Islam formulated positive rules for washing the deceased and covering it with coffin cloth. They go to show that due reverence and respect shall be shown to a dead body irrespective of its actions in the world while alive and irrespective of its fate in the grave. A dead body shall be placed on a piece of wood and washed in such a way as is sufficient to cleanse it from external impurities. At least three washes have been prescribed preferably with soaps which stand for lot-tree leaves in days of yore. In the act of washing, the places of ablution according to order shall be taken first, and beginning should be made from the right hand side. After it is washed and cleansed, it shall be placed in a coffin-cloth or a shroud consisting generally of three white pieces—30:35. Then sweet scent and camphor shall be applied to important places of the boody and over the shroud. This will remove a sense of abhorrence for a dead-body from the minds of the public who are ready for its funeral prayer. Afterwards, it shall be placed on a bier specially made for the purpose and taken to an open space for funeral prayer. Martyrs and the killed in warfields may be coffined with their wearing cloths and their bloods as no bath in their case is necessary—30:39. According to Imam Shafeyi, there is no necessity of funeral prayer and bath in case of a martyr in the battle-field—30:62 ; but Imam Abu Hanifah holds that prayer is necessary though not bath—30:40. A pilgrim may be coffined with his Ihram clothes and with his head uncovered—30:34. A wife can lawfully wash the dead-body of her husband but the husband cannot (Behesti Jewar).

31. Omme Atiyyah reported : The Messenger of Allah came to us while we were washing his daughter. [1463] He said : Wash her thrice, five times or more than that if you think it proper, with water and lot-tree leaves, and apply camphor or something of camphor at the joints. When you finish it, call me. So when we finished, we called him. He gave his waist-wrapper to us and said : Cover her with it. In a narration : Wash her in odd numbers, three, or five, or seven, and begin from her right hand side and her places of ablution. She said : We washed her hairs three times and then we placed her on her back.

32. Ayesha reported that the Messenger of Allah was coffined with three cloths, Yemani, white, with cotton made in Sohul wherein there was no gown, and no turban. [1464]

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ إِنَّ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم كُفِّنَ فِي ثَلٰثَةِ أَثْوَابٍ يَمَانِيَةٍ بِيْضٍ سَحُولِيَّةٍ مِنْ كُرْسُفٍ لَيْسَ فِيهَا قَمِيصٌ وَلَا عِمَامَةٌ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

33. Jaber reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When someone of you shrouds his brother, let him make his shroud good.

—Muslim.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم إِذَا كَفَّنَ أَحَدُكُمْ أَخَاهُ فَلْيُحَسِّنْ كَفَنَهُ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1463. She was Jainab, daughter of the Prophet by his first wife Khadijah.

1464. This does not mean that coffin cloth should be rich and luxurious. It is sufficient if it is white, simple and sufficient so as to cover all the limbs of the body. 'Sohul' is a town in Yemen where clothes are prepared.

34. Abdullah-b- Abbas reported that a man was with the Holy Prophet. His camel trampled him while he was a pilgrim [1465] and so he died. Then the Messenger of Allah said: Wash him with water and lot-tree leaves, and coffin him in his two clothes, apply no perfume to him and don't cover his head, and verily he will be raised up on the Resurrection Day while he will be reciting "Labbaik"

—Agreed

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ اِنَّ رَجُلًا كَانَ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فَوَقَصَتْهُ نَاقَتُهُ وَهُوَ مُحْرِمٌ فَمَاتَ فَقَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اغْسِلُوْهُ بِمَاءٍ وَسِدْرٍ وَكَفِّنُوْهُ فِيْ ثَوْبَيْهِ وَلَا تُمِسُّوْهُ بِطِيْبٍ وَلَا تُخَمِّرُوْا رَأْسَهُ فَاِنَّهُ يُبْعَثُ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ مُلَبِّيًا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

35. Ibn Abbas reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Put on your white dress, because it is the best of your dresses, and coffin your dead bodies therewith. Antimony is the best of your eye-paints, because it grows hairs and increases eyesight.

—Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِلْبَسُوْا مِنْ ثِيَابِكُمُ الْبَيَاضَ فَاِنَّهَا مِنْ خَيْرِ ثِيَابِكُمْ وَكَفِّنُوْا فِيْهَا مَوْتَاكُمْ وَاِنَّ مِنْ خَيْرِ اَكْحَالِكُمُ الْاِثْمِدَ فَاِنَّهُ يَجْلُو الْبَصَرَ وَيُنْبِتُ الشَّعْرَ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

36. Ali reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Don't spend much in funeral cloth, and verily it will be destroyed a hasty destroying. [1466] —Abu Daud.

عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تُغَالُوْا فِي الْكَفَنِ فَاِنَّهُ يُسْلَبُ سَلْبًا سَرِيْعًا * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

1465. Muhrim means a man who is observing the rituals of pilgrimage or of a visit to the Holy Ka'ba. Labbaik means 'Present to God'. The Ihram clothes are two unsewn pieces—one wrapped up round the waist and another on the body. It appears from the hadis that in case a man dies in Ihram, he should be buried with his Ihram cloth as coffin and that no perfume should be applied to him. This is the mazhab of Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad, Imams Abu Haniiah and Malek hold, however, that there shall he no distinction between a pilgrim or a Muhrim in this respect.

1466. The funeral cloth will not last long. It will soon be wasted in the grave, Hence costly garment should not be used as coffin.

37. Abu Sayeed al-khodri reported that when death came to him, he called for new cloths and put them on. Then he said : I heard the Messenger of Allah say : A dead man shall be raised up in his cloths wherein he dies.

—Abu Daud.

عَنْ اَبِيْ سَعِيْدِنِ الْخُدْرِيِّ اَنَّهٗ لَمَّا حَضَرَهُ الْمَوْتُ دَعَا بِثِيَابٍ جُدُدٍ فَلَبِسَهَا ثُمَّ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُوْلُ الْمَيِّتُ يُبْعَثُ فِيْ ثِيَابِهِ الَّتِيْ يَمُوْتُ فِيْهَا *

(اَبُوْدَاوٗد)

38. Obadah-b-Swa'met reported from the Messenger of Allah who said : The best of coffins is a gown, and the best of sacrificing animals is a horned ram.

39. Ibn Abbas reported that the Messenger of Allah passed order in respect of the dead of the Uhud in order that their coats of iron and skin might be taken from them and that they might be buried with their bloods and their clothes. 1437

40. Sa'ad Ibrahim reported from his father that some food was brought before Abdur Rahaman-b-Auf while he was fasting. 1438 He said : Mus'ab-b-Omair was martyred, and he was better than me. He was buried in a sheet which, if his head was covered, kept his legs open, and if his legs

1437. According to Imam Shafeyi, no bath and funeral prayer for a martyr in the battle field are necessary, but Imam Abu Hanifa holds that funeral prayer is necessary, and not bath.

1438. Abdur Rhaman was one of the few companions who received good news of Paradise during their life-time. This hadis refers to a verse of the Holy Quran : Whoso intends this temporary world, We have given for him therein what We wish for one We like and then We have prepared for him hell in which he will enter debased and dejected. He thought that he was unfortunate as he received rewards in this world.

Afterwards what was spread for us from the world was spread (or he said: We have been given from this world what we have been given), and we feared lest our virtues hastened (rewards) for us. Then he began to weep till he left the food. —Bukhari.

1470. Funeral prayer and procession

(a) Funeral prayer called Janaja prayer is usually necessary in case of all Muslims, male or female, that have breathed in the world, or of infants who lived only for a few seconds—30:80. Taking part in this service is Farze Kefayah. If some of the Muslims would perform it, the remaining Muslims will not be held up for sin. It is however a duty of every member of the Muslim Common-wealth to attend the funeral and burial service of the deceased. Those who take part in the prayer must perform ablution. The bier shall be placed in front in an open place. When, however, it is not possible for rain or other reason, it may be held within the mosque. It can be held also for an absent deceased—30:49. The Imam shall stand generally in the middle of the dead-body facing it, and the people present will form themselves generally in to three lines—30:78, facing the Qibla. The Imam will open the prayer by reciting 'Takbir' in a loud voice and hands will be raised up to the ears and then placed as in prayer. Then the following shall be read.

1469. Abdullah-b-Ubay was the chief of the hypocrites at Medina. He was a constant danger to the little Islamic Common-wealth then existing. They were still Muslims. Inspite of their deep-rooted enmity to Islam, they received treatment from the Prophet unparalleled in the history of the world. After the death of Abdullah, Prophet gave his gown to be used as a shroud for the chief of the hypocrites and he himself led his funeral prayer. That he was a mercy for the world is seen from this example.

سُبْحَانَكَ اَللّٰهُمَّ وَبِحَمْدِكَ وَتَبَارَكَ اسْمُكَ وَتَعَالٰى جَدُّكَ وَلَا اِلٰهَ غَيْرُكَ *

"Glory to Thee, O Allah, and Thine is the praise, and Blessed is Thy name, and Exalted is Thy Majesty and there is none to be served besides Thee". After this, the Opening chapter of the Book should be read in silence by the Imam and the people—30:51. After then, the Imam shall recite the second takbir in a loud voice without the hands being raised up and then the following shall be read.

"O Allah, exalt Muhammad and the true followers of Muhammad as Thou didst exalt Abraham and the true followers of Abraham; surely Thou art the Praised, Mighty. O Allah! bless Muhammad and the true followers of Muhammad as Thou didst bless Abraham and the true followers of Abraham. Surely Thou art the Praised, Mighty.

اَللّٰهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلٰى مُحَمَّدٍ وَّعَلٰى اٰلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا صَلَّيْتَ عَلٰى اِبْرَاهِيْمَ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ اِبْرَاهِيْمَ اِنَّكَ حَمِيْدٌ مَّجِيْدٌ * اَللّٰهُمَّ بَارِكْ عَلٰى مُحَمَّدٍ وَّعَلٰى اٰلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا بَارَكْتَ عَلٰى اِبْرَاهِيْمَ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ اِبْرَاهِيْمَ اِنَّكَ حَمِيْدٌ مَّجِيْدٌ *

Afterwards the Imam shall read the third Takbir in a loud voice. It will be followed by a prayer for forgiveness of the deceased in silence in the form as recorded in traditions 30, 52, 71, 72 and 79. Then the fourth Takbir shall be recited in a loud voice by the Imam followed by Taslim which runs thus - السلام عليكم و رحمة الله (Peace be on thee, and mercy of Allah). The prayer will be thus finished with supplication.

(b) The dead-body shall then be put on the shoulders of men to be carried to its permanent resting place in a procession as a mark of respect. All present must join in this funeral procession—30:44, and march on preferably on foot—30:68. Riding has been condemned—30:68. A great reward has been promised for him who joins this procession—30:48. Whenever the dead-body passes, all must stand up to show respect to it—30:46. In this procession or afterwards, care must be taken to avoid speaking evils of the deceased and all must engage themselves in extolling its virtues.

42. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Hasten with the dead-body. If it was pious, you will be taking good in advance to it (piety) ; and if it was other than that, you will be putting off evil from your shoulders —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَسْرِعُوْا بِالْجَنَازَةِ فَاِنْ تَكُ صَالِحَةً فَخَيْرٌ تُقَدِّمُوْنَهَا اِلَيْهِ وَاِنْ تَكُ سِوٰى ذٰلِكَ فَشَرٌّ تَضَعُوْنَهُ عَنْ رِقَابِكُمْ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

43. Abu Sayeed reported that the Ms. of Allah said : When a dead-body is placed and the people carry it over their necks, it says if it was pious "Take me in haste," and if it was other than pious, it says to its family-members "Woe to it ! where do you go with it ?" Everything except man hears its voice. Had a human being heard, he would have surely fallen in swoon. —Bukhari.

عَنْ اَبِي سَعِيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا وُضِعَتِ الْجَنَازَةُ فَاحْتَمَلَهَا الرِّجَالُ عَلٰى اَعْنَاقِهِمْ فَاِنْ كَانَتْ صَالِحَةً قَالَتْ قَدِّمُوْنِي وَاِنْ كَانَتْ غَيْرَ صَالِحَةٍ قَالَتْ لِاَهْلِهَا يَا وَيْلَهَا اَيْنَ تَذْهَبُوْنَ بِهَا يَسْمَعُ صَوْتَهَا كُلُّ شَيْءٍ اِلَّا الْاِنْسَانُ وَلَوْ سَمِعَ الْاِنْسَانُ لَصَعِقَ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

44. Same reported that the Ms. of Allah said : When you see a deadbody, stand up. Whoso follows it, let him not sit down till it is put down. —Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا رَاَيْتُمُ الْجَنَازَةَ فَقُوْمُوْا فَمَنْ تَبِعَهَا فَلَا يَقْعُدْ حَتّٰى تُوْضَعَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

45. Ali reported that the Ms. of Allah said : For a Muslim over a Muslim, there are six (duties) in a just manner. He will greet him when he meets him, he will respond to his praise of Allah when he sneezes, he will visit him when he falls ill, he will follow his bier when he is dead, and he will love for him what he loves for himself.

—Tirmizi.

46. Jaber reported that a bier was passing. The Ms. of Allah got up for it, and we also stood along with him. We asked : O Ms. of Allah ! verily she is a jewess. He said : Verily death is a terror. So whenever you see a bier, stand up. 1471

—Agreed.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ مَرَّتْ جَنَازَةٌ فَقَامَ لَهَا رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَقُمْنَا مَعَهُ فَقُلْنَا يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اِنَّهَا يَهُوْدِيَّةٌ فَقَالَ اِنَّ الْمَوْتَ فَزَعٌ فَاِذَا رَاَيْتُمُ الْجَنَازَةَ فَقُوْمُوْا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

47. Ali reported : We saw the Ms. of Allah standing up and so we stood up, and sitting and so we sat-that is about a bier. 1472

عَنْ عَلِيٍّ قَالَ رَاَيْنَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَامَ فَقُمْنَا وَقَعَدَ فَقَعَدْنَا يَعْنِيْ فِى الْجَنَازَةِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1471. This shows how broad and catholic was the view of the Prophet. He did not hesitate to show respect to the dead-body of a Jewess. This proves that all dead-bodies should be honoured and respected, regard being had that they are dead-bodies belonging to no caste and creed.

1472. In a narration of Malek and Abu Daud : He stood up for a dead-body and he sat down afterwards. Without this addition, the former meant that one should remain standing till the bier passes away from sight. The latter version of Abu Daud meant otherwise.

48. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Whoso follows the bier of a Muslim out of faith and hope of reward and remains with it till he says funeral prayer over it, and then finishes its burial, certainly he will return with reward of two Qirats, every Qirat is like Uhud ; and whoso says his prayer over it and returns before it is buried, he will certainly return with one Qirat. [1473]

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنِ اتَّبَعَ جَنَازَةَ مُسْلِمٍ اِيْمَانًا وَ اِحْتِسَابًا وَ كَانَ مَعَهٗ حَتّٰى يُصَلّٰى عَلَيْهَا وَ يَفْرُغَ مِنْ دَفْنِهَا فَاِنَّهٗ يَرْجِعُ مِنَ الْاَجْرِ بِقِيْرَاطَيْنِ كُلُّ قِيْرَاطٍ مِثْلُ اُحُدٍ وَ مَنْ صَلّٰى عَلَيْهَا ثُمَّ رَجَعَ قَبْلَ اَنْ تُدْفَنَ فَاِنَّهٗ يَرْجِعُ بِقِيْرَاطٍ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

49. Same reported that the Holy Prophet gave death-news of Negus to the people on the day he died, and he came out with them to the praying place, formed ranks with them and recited four takbirs. [1474]

عَنْهُ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم نَعَى لِلنَّاسِ النَّجَاشِيَّ الْيَوْمَ الَّذِيْ مَاتَ فِيْهِ وَ خَرَجَ بِهِمْ اِلَى الْمُصَلّٰى فَصَفَّ بِهِمْ وَ كَبَّرَ اَرْبَعَ تَكْبِيْرَاتٍ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1473. Uhud is a mountain near Medina where the battle of Uhud took place. Qirat ordinarily means one-twelfth portion of a dinar (about Re 1/-), but here it means a great reward.

1474. Takbir is recitation ef "Allaho-Akbar" i.e., Allah is greatest. Negus is the official title of the Abyssinian kings. The particular king here was Ashamah اصحمہ He was at first a Christian and then a Muslim. He took special care of Prophet's companions who migrated to Abyssinia for the first time in the 5th year of the Call to avoid persecutions of the Quraish. The Holy Prophet learnt from revelation that Negus had died. The companions did not first believe, but when they heard of his death on the exact date which the Holy Prophet mentioned, they were astonished and became more attached to the Prophet. This shows that no funeral prayer as a rule can be held within the mosques. Funeral prayer can be made for an absent dead-body according to Imam Shafeyi but not according to Imam Abu Hanifah.

55. Ibn Abbas reported that the Ms. of Allah passed by a grave buried at night. He asked : When has it been buried ? They replied : Last night. He asked : Why have you not informed me ? They said : We buried it during darkness of the night. So we disliked to awake you from sleep. He then stood and we formed ranks behind him and then he prayed over it. 1480

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَرَّ بِقَبْرٍ دُفِنَ لَيْلًا فَقَالَ مَتٰى دُفِنَ هٰذَا قَالُوْا الْبَارِحَةَ قَالَ اَفَلَا اٰذَنْتُمُوْنِيْ قَالُوْا دَفَنَّاهُ فِيْ ظُلْمَةِ اللَّيْلِ فَكَرِهْنَا اَنْ نُوْقِظَكَ فَقَامَ فَصَفَفْنَا خَلْفَهٗ فَصَلّٰى عَلَيْهِ *(مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

56. Abu Hurairah reported that a black woman (or a youth) used to live in the mosque. The Ms. of Allah missed her and enquired about her (or him). They said : He died. He said : Why have you not called me ? He replied that they had thought her (or his) affair as it were insignificant. He said : Guide me to his grave. So they guided him. Then he said prayer over her and said : Verily these graves are full of darkness over their dwellers and verily Allah will lighten them for them owing to my prayer over them. 1481

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ اَنَّ امْرَاَةً سَوْدَاءَ كَانَتْ تَقُمُّ الْمَسْجِدَ اَوْ شَابًّ فَفَقَدَهَا رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَسَاَلَ عَنْهَا اَوْ عَنْهُ فَقَالُوْا مَاتَ قَالَ اَفَلَا كُنْتُمْ اٰذَنْتُمُوْنِيْ قَالَ فَكَاَنَّهُمْ صَغَّرُوْا اَمْرَهَا اَوْ اَمْرَهٗ فَقَالَ دُلُّوْنِيْ عَلٰى قَبْرِهٖ فَدَلُّوْهُ فَصَلّٰى عَلَيْهَا ثُمَّ قَالَ اِنَّ هٰذِهِ الْقُبُوْرَ مَمْلُوَّةٌ ظُلْمَةً عَلٰى اَهْلِهَا وَاِنَّ اللّٰهَ يُنَوِّرُهَا لَهُمْ بِصَلٰوتِيْ عَلَيْهِمْ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1480. The name of this man was Talha-b-Bara'a-Omair. This also corroborates that funeral prayer over a dead man after burial is lawful.

1481. The narrator was not exact in narrating whether the dead-body belonged to a woman or to a youth. Therefore 'his' or 'her' has been used.

57. Koraib, a freedman of Ibn Abbas reported from Abdullah-b-Abbas that a son of his died at Qadid or at Usfan. He said : O Koraib ! see how many persons gather for him. He said : Then I came out when lo ! people gathered for him. I informed him and so he said : You say that they are forty. 'Yes' said he. He said : Take him out because I heard the Ms. of Allah say : There is no Muslim who dies and then 40 men who do not set up anything with Allah stand for his funeral prayer but Allah accepts their pleading for him. [1482]

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ مَا مِنْ مَيِّتٍ تُصَلِّيْ عَلَيْهِ اُمَّةٌ مِّنَ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ يَبْلُغُوْنَ مِائَةً كُلُّهُمْ يَشْفَعُوْنَ لَهٗ اِلَّا شُفِّعُوْا فِيْهِ - (مُسْلِمٌ)

59. Anas reported that they passed by a dead-body and praised it with good. Then the Prophet said : It has become certain. Then they passed by another and spoke ill of it. He said : It has become certain. Omar asked : What has become certain ? He replied : You have praised it with good, and so paradise became certain for it ;

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ مَرُّوْا بِجَنَازَةٍ فَاَثْنَوْا عَلَيْهَا خَيْرًا فَقَالَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم وَجَبَتْ ثُمَّ مَرُّوْا بِاُخْرٰى فَاَثْنَوْا عَلَيْهَا شَرًّا فَقَالَ وَجَبَتْ فَقَالَ عُمَرُ مَا وَجَبَتْ فَقَالَ هٰذَا اَثْنَيْتُمْ عَلَيْهِ خَيْرًا فَوَجَبَتْ لَهُ الْجَنَّةُ وَ

هٰذَا اَثْنَيْتُمْ عَلَيْهِ شَرًّا فَوَجَبَتْ لَهُ النَّارُ اَنْتُمْ شُهَدَاءُ اللّٰهِ فِى الْاَرْضِ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ اَلْمُؤْمِنُوْنَ شُهَدَاءُ اللّٰهِ فِى الْاَرْضِ۔

60. Omar reported that the Ms. of Allah said: Whoso Muslim is witnessed by four men as good, Allah will admit him in Paradise. We enquired: And three? He said: And three. We asked. And two? He replied: And two. Then we did not ask him about one.

—Bukhari

عَنْ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَيُّمَا مُسْلِمٍ شَهِدَ لَهُ اَرْبَعَةٌ بِخَيْرٍ اَدْخَلَهُ اللّٰهُ الْجَنَّةَ قُلْنَا وَثَلٰثَةٌ قَالَ وَثَلٰثَةٌ قُلْنَا وَاثْنَانِ قَالَ وَاثْنَانِ ثُمَّ لَمْ نَسْاَلْهُ عَنِ الْوَاحِدِ۔ (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

61. Ayesha reported that the Ms. Allah said: Don't backbite the dead, as they have reached what they sent in advance.

—Bukhari

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تَسُبُّوا الْاَمْوَاتَ فَاِنَّهُمْ قَدْ اَفْضَوْا اِلٰى مَا قَدَّمُوْا۔ (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

62. Jaber reported that the Ms. of Allah was uniting every two persons out of the martyrs of Uhud under one shroud and then saying: Who among them was more attached to the Quran? When one of the two was hinted at, he put him first in the grave and said: I shall be a witness of these men on the Resurrection Day. He then passed order for their burial with their blood. He did not say funeral prayer over them, nor were they washed. 1484

—Bukhari

عَنْ جَابِرٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَانَ يَجْمَعُ بَيْنَ الرَّجُلَيْنِ مِنْ قَتْلٰى اُحُدٍ فِيْ ثَوْبٍ وَاحِدٍ ثُمَّ يَقُوْلُ اَيُّهُمْ اَكْثَرُ اَخْذًا لِلْقُرْاٰنِ فَاِذَا اُشِيْرَ لَهُ اِلٰى اَحَدِهِمَا قَدَّمَهُ فِى اللَّحْدِ وَقَالَ اَنَا شَهِيْدٌ عَلٰى هٰؤُلَاءِ يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ وَاَمَرَ بِدَفْنِهِمْ بِدِمَائِهِمْ وَلَمْ يُصَلِّ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَمْ يُغَسَّلُوْا۔ (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

1483. The attestation itself does not make one lucky of Paradise and unlucky of Hell, but this is a sign that the man would be an inmate of Paradise or Hell.

1484. Imam Shafeyi follows this hadis, while Imam Abu Hanifa follows hadis no. 38.

63. Ja'ber-b-Samorah reported that a horse without rein was brought to the Prophet. He rode upon it when he departed from the funeral prayer of Ibn Dahdah, and we were walking around him.

عَنِ الزُّهْرِيِّ عَنْ سَالِمٍ عَنْ اَبِيْهِ قَالَ رَاَيْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَاَبَا بَكْرٍ وَعُمَرَ يَمْشُوْنَ اَمَامَ الْجَنَازَةِ * (اَبُوْ دَاوُدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَالنَّسَائِيُّ)

66. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that the Ms. of Allah said : A bier shall be followed, and he who

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ ابْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَلْجَنَازَةُ مَتْبُوْعَةٌ وَلَا تَتْبَعُ

1485. In a narration of Ahmad, Tirmizi, Nisai and Ibn majah, the Holy Prophet is reported to have said : A riding man shall be behind a dead body and a footman shall be near it wherever he wishes, and a child shall be prayed for. The reporter in Masabih is Mughirah-b-Ziyad. According to Imam Ahmad, when a child is 4 months and 10 days old in the womb, funeral prayer for it shall be said if it is born dead. Imam Abu Hanifa and others hold that the child must be born alive in order to acquire a right of funeral prayer.

1486. Tirmizi says that the traditionists hold it as "Mursal." This tradition is followed by Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad. Imam Abu Hanifa holds, however, that walking behind the bier is better as it imparts admonition and shows respect to the dead-body.

67. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Whoso follows a bier and carries it three times, he has indeed fulfilled what was due from him about its right. 1488
—Tirmizi.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ تَبِعَ جَنَازَةً وَ حَمَلَهَا ثَلٰثَ مَرَارٍ فَقَدْ قَضٰى مَا عَلَيْهِ مِنْ حَقِّهَا (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

68. Saoban reported : We came out with the Holy Prophet in the matter of a bier. He saw some men riding. So he said : Are you not ashamed that the angels of Allah are upon their feet, while you are upon the backs of animals ? 1489

—Tirmizi, Ibn Majah, Abu Daud.

عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فِيْ جَنَازَةٍ فَرَاٰى نَاسًا رُكْبَانًا فَقَالَ اَلَا تَسْتَحْيُوْنَ اَنَّ مَلَائِكَةَ اللّٰهِ عَلٰى اَقْدَامِهِمْ وَ اَنْتُمْ عَلٰى ظُهُوْرِ الدَّوَابِّ *

(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَ ابْنُ مَاجَةَ وَابُوْدَاوٗدَ)

69. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet read the "Opening of the Book" in a funeral prayer.

—Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَرَاَ عَلَى الْجَنَازَةِ بِفَاتِحَةِ الْكِتَابِ *

(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَ اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَ ابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

70. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : When you pray over a dead man, make your prayer sincere for him.

—Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا صَلَّيْتُمْ عَلَى الْمَيِّتِ فَاَخْلِصُوْا لَهُ الدُّعَاءَ * (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَ ابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

1487. This hadis supports Imam Abu Hanifa's view that the bier should be followed. Tirmizi said that a narrator of this tradition Abu Ma'jed is not known 1488. It is mentioned in Sharhi-sunnat that the Prophet carried Sa'ad-b-Mu'az when he was dead between two woods.

1489. Abu Daud's narration is slightly differently worded. Tirmizi said that it was narrated as Maoquf tradition. Hadis 30:68 shows that riding is lawful behind the bier. It has been said that the rider in the former case could not walk. The jurists however agreed that there should be no riding in front of a bier.

71. Same reported that when the Apostle of Allah prayed over a dead body, he used to say : O Allah ! forgive our dead and our living, our present and our absent, our young and our old, our male and our female. O Allah ! whomsoever of us Thou keepest alive, give him life in Islam, and whomsoever of us Thou causest to die, cause his death upon faith. O Allah ! deprive us not of his reward, nor try us after him. 1490 —Ahmad, Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah.

عَنْهُ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم اِذَا صَلّٰى عَلَى الْجَنَازَةِ قَالَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لِحَيِّنَا وَمَيِّتِنَا وَشَاهِدِنَا وَغَائِبِنَا وَصَغِيْرِنَا وَكَبِيْرِنَا وَذَكَرِنَا وَاُنْثَانَا اَللّٰهُمَّ مَنْ اَحْيَيْتَهٗ مِنَّا فَاَحْيِهٖ عَلَى الْاِسْلَامِ وَمَنْ تَوَفَّيْتَهٗ مِنَّا فَتَوَفَّهٗ عَلَى الْاِيْمَانِ اَللّٰهُمَّ لَا تَحْرِمْنَا اَجْرَهٗ وَلَا تَفْتِنَّا بَعْدَهٗ *

(اَحْمَدُ وَاَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

72. Waselah-b-Asqa'a reported : The Apostle of Allah said funeral prayer over a man among the Muslims. I heard him say : O Allah ! so and so, son of so and so, is in Thy protection and in the rope of Thy neighbourhood. 1491 So save him from the trials of the grave and punishment of the fire. Thou art the Owner of grant and truth. O Allah ! pardon him and show him kindness. Verily Thou art the Forgiving, the Merciful.

—Abu Daud, Tirmizi.

عَنْ وَاثِلَةَ بْنِ الْاَسْقَعِ قَالَ صَلّٰى بِنَا رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم عَلٰى رَجُلٍ مِّنَ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ فَسَمِعْتُهٗ يَقُوْلُ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنَّ فُلَانَ بْنَ فُلَانٍ فِيْ ذِمَّتِكَ وَحَبْلِ جَوَارِكَ فَقِهٖ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْقَبْرِ وَعَذَابِ النَّارِ وَاَنْتَ اَهْلُ الْوَفَاءِ وَالْحَقِّ اَللّٰهُمَّ اغْفِرْ لَهٗ وَارْحَمْهُ اِنَّكَ اَنْتَ الْغَفُوْرُ الرَّحِيْمُ * (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

1490. Nisai narrated the tradition from Ibrahim Ash'hali who reported it from his father. His narration ended up to the Prophet's saying of "Our female." In a narration of Abu Daud, he said : Give its life upon faith, and cause it to die upon Islam. It was ended with "And don't misguide us after it".

1491. The rope here means the Holy Quran. It says : And hold fast by the rope of Allah (3:102Q). Neighbourhood signifies security or peace. The meaning of "in the rope of Thy neighbourhood" is that he be in peace owing to his long attachment with the Holy Quran.

73. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Remember the virtues of your dead and withhold from their sins. 1492

—Abu Daud, Tirmizi.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اُذْكُرُوْا مَحَاسِنَ مَوْتَاكُمْ وَكُفُّوْا عَنْ مَسَاوِيْهِمْ * (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

74. Na'fe-Abi-Galeb reported : I said prayer with Anas-b-Ma'lek over a dead body of a man. He stood in front of its head. Then they brought the dead-body of a woman of the Quraish. They asked : O Abu Hamjah ! pray over her. Then he stood in front of the middle of the bier. Ala-b-Ziyad said to him: Thus I have seen the Apostle of Allah standing for funeral prayer (over the woman) as you are standing by her, and over the man as you are standing by him. He said: Yes. 1493

عَنْ نَافِعٍ اَبِىْ غَالِبٍ قَالَ صَلَّيْتُ مَعَ اَنَسِ بْنِ مَالِكٍ عَلٰى جَنَازَةِ رَجُلٍ فَقَامَ حِيَالَ رَأْسِهٖ ثُمَّ جَاؤُا بِجَنَازَةِ امْرَاَةٍ مِّنْ قُرَيْشٍ فَقَالُوْا يَا اَبَا حَمْزَةَ صَلِّ عَلَيْهَا فَقَامَ حِيَالَ وَسْطِ السَّرِيْرِ فَقَالَ لَهُ الْعَلَاءُ بْنُ زِيَادٍ هٰكَذَا رَاَيْتَ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَامَ عَلَى الْجَنَازَةِ مَقَامَكَ مِنْهَا وَمِنَ الرَّجُلِ مَقَامَكَ مِنْهُ قَالَ نَعَمْ *

(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

75. Abdur Rahman-b-Abi Laila reported that Sahl-b-Hunaif and Qais-b-Sa'ad were seated at Qadesia, 1494 and then a dead-body was passing by them. They

عَنْ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنِ اَبِيْ لَيْلٰى قَالَ كَانَ سَهْلُ بْنُ حُنَيْفٍ وَقَيْسُ بْنُ سَعْدٍ قَاعِدَيْنِ بِالْقَادِسِيَّةِ فَمُرَّ عَلَيْهِمَا بِجَنَازَةٍ

1492. This hadis teaches the world that the virtuous acts of the dead past should be always spoken of irrespective of their castle and creed, and the evil deeds should not at all be mentioned while the dead are talked of. This catholicity of Islam is without any parallel in the history of religions. It has been said that speaking ill of the dead is a greater back-biting than that of those who are alive, because pardon may be obtained from those who are alive for the sin thus committed but it is not so in the other case.

1493. In a narration of Abu Daud, there is similar report with an addition which runs thus : And he stood by the buttock of a female.

1494. Qudesia is a place nearly thirty miles off from Kufa. It is well-known because the famous battle of Qadesia took place here at the time of the Caliph Omar. Zimmis were those non-muslim subjects who were under protection of the Muslim by virtue of conquest or treaty.

فَقَامَ فَقِيلَ لَهُمَا إِنَّهَا مِنْ أَهْلِ الْأَرْضِ أَيْ مِنْ أَهْلِ الذِّمَّةِ فَقَالَ لَا إِنْ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم مَرَّتْ بِهِ جَنَازَةٌ فَقَامَ فَقِيلَ لَهُ إِنَّهَا جَنَازَةُ يَهُودِيٍّ فَقَالَ أَلَيْسَتْ نَفْسًا *

got up. It was said to them both that it was of the inmates of this world, that is, of the protected non-Muslims. They both said that a dead body had passed by the Apostle of Allah and he stood. He was told: Verily it is a dead-body of a Jew. Then he said: Was it not a soul ? 1495

76. Oba'dah-b-Swamet reported that whenever the Ms. of Allah followed a bier, he used not to sit down till it was put down in the grave. A learned man of the Jews submitted to him and said to him: Thus we do, O Muhammad. He said : Then the Ms. of Allah sat down and said : Act in opposition to them. 1496

—Abu Daud, Ibn Majah, Tirmizi, (Rare).

عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ سِيرِينَ قَالَ إِنَّ جَنَازَةً مُرَّتْ بِالْحَسَنِ بْنِ عَلِيٍّ وَابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ فَقَامَ الْحَسَنُ وَلَمْ يَقُمِ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ فَقَالَ الْحَسَنُ أَلَيْسَ قَدْ قَامَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم لِجَنَازَةِ يَهُودِيٍّ قَالَ نَعَمْ ثُمَّ جَلَسَ * (النَّسَائِيُّ)

77. Muhamad-b-Sirin reported that a dead-body passed by Hasan -b-Ali and Ibn Abbas. Then Hasan stood up, but Ibn Abbas did not stand. Then Hasan asked: Did not the Apostle of Allah stand up for the dead-body of a Jew? 'Yes' said he, "afterwards he sat down."

—Nisai.

1496. Tirmizi said that the narrator Bishr-b-Rafe was not so confirmed.

78. Malek-b-Hubairah reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah say : There is no Muslim who dies and is then prayed for by three ranks of the Muslims but he makes (Paradise) obligatory. 1497

—Abu Daud.

عَنْ مَالِكِ بْنِ هُبَيْرَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُوْلُ مَامِنْ مُسْلِمٍ يَمُوْتُ فَيُصَلِّي عَلَيْهِ ثَلٰثَةُ صُفُوْفٍ مِّنَ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ اِلَّا اَوْجَبَ * (اَبُوْ دَاوٗدَ)

79. Abu Hurairah reported from the Holy Prophet about prayer over a dead-body : O Allah ! Thou art its Lord, and Thou hast created it, and Thou hast guided it towards Islam, Thou hast taken out its soul and Thou knowest best about its secrect and its open. We have come as intercessors. So forgive him.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ اَلطِّفْلُ لَا يُصَلّٰى عَلَيْهِ وَلَا يَرِثُ وَلَا يُوْرَثُ حَتّٰى يَسْتَهِلَّ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

1497. The narrator said : Whenever there were no sufficient men for funeral prayer, Malik used to divide those present into three lines owing to this tradition. In a narration of Tirmizi, he said : Whenever Malek-b-Hubairah used to say funeral prayer and the people present were few, he used to divide them into three lines. Then he used to say that the Apostle of Allah said : Whoso divides over it into three lines, it (Paradise) becomes obligatory. Ibn Majah narrated similar to this tradition.

434w. Abu Mas'ud-al-Ansari reported that the Apostle of Allah prohibited an Imam from standing over anything while the people are behind him, that is, lower than him. 1498

1499. BURIAL

(a) Burial is a natural and responsable system. A decent burial and not burning of the dead-body has been recommended by almost all the religions of the world. As dead-bodies must be respected, the system of burial was introduced as far back as the time of Adam. It is for the earth either to consume the dead-body or not to consume. The earth has, however, no power to consume the dead-bodies of the prophets. Body is made of earth and it is nourished by fruits and crops grown from the earth. Then it will again return to earth. This is the natural state of things, because "everything returns to its origin—كل شيء يرجع الى اصله" Soul is not from earth but from God's essence, and hence it will return to its origin. Therefore reason dictates that the best method for disposing of the dead-body is by burial.

(b) Procedure of Burial. The grave must be excavated deep in order to keep the dead-body at a safe depth from sanitary point of view. The dead-body shall then be placed upon the ground of the grave with its face turned towards the direction of the Holy Ka'ba. An invocation as recorded in tradition 30:92 shall then be read. Near the head, three stones or pieces of earth shall be placed either with the recitation of the first and the last portion of the Chapter Cow of the Holy Quran, or with the following—منها خلقنكم و فيها نعيدكم و منها نخرجكم تارة اخرى —From it We have created thee, and unto it We shall send thee back, and from it We shall raise you a second time—20:55 Q. Then bamboos or woods would be placed in a horizontal or oblong manner at a little distance above the dead-body to prevent earth from falling down, and spreading of earth will begin from the side of head—30:43 Q. When everything is complete, the earth shall be made high in the centre like the back of a camel—30:83 and water shall be spread over it 30:99. Then after invocations for the good of the deceased and forgiveness for his sins, all will depart from the place.

This is applicable in all prayers. The Imam must stand on the same level with his followers upon the ground.

(c) Abominable things. The Holy Prophet greatly disliked high constructions over the graves and condemned even plastering of graves—30:85. Inscriptions of any kind over the grave in commemoration of the deceased have been banned—30:93. Sometimes he ordered to demolish high domes over the graves—30:84. He discouraged even prayer over the graves—30:86.

REFERENCES. You cannot make those hear who are in the graves—30:220; grave is the first stage of external journey—31:8; graves not to be treated as mosques—34:147, 148, 150; grave's condition—38:620w; Prophet was buried at his place of death—44:176; Friday's death ominous—34:664.

1501. Some men take refuge to the graves of saintly men and sometimes take their permanent residence there. This is prohibited according to Islam. The construction of buildings or flower gardens in the grave-yard is prohibited. It appears also from this that reading the Quran sitting by or over the grave is also disallowed. The jurists say that up to a height of one cubit or half a cubit, pucca fencing can be raised and that pictures shall be hung up nowhere in the grave. By this act, the last remnant of idolatry has been killed.

1502. Ahmad also narrated it from Jarir-b-Abdullah. 'Lahd' is a grave which covers the dead body from superficial view from above without any artificial covering, and 'Shaq' is a grave which is straight and which exposes the dead body fully to the view before burial.

89. Hesham-b-A'mer reported that the Prophet said on the day of Uhud : Dig, make specious, make deep, make good and bury two or three in one grave and face most of them according to the Quran. 1503

عَنْ هِشَامِ ابْنِ عَامِرٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم قَالَ يَوْمَ اُحُدٍ احْفِرُوا وَ اَوْسِعُوا وَ اَعْمِقُوا وَ اَحْسِنُوا وَادْفِنُوا الْاِثْنَيْنِ وَ الثَّلٰثَةَ فِي قَبْرٍ وَاحِدٍ وَ قَدِّمُوا اَكْثَرَهُمْ قُرْاٰنًا * (اَحْمَدُ وَ التِّرْمِذِيُّ وَ اَبُوْ دَاوٗدَ وَ النَّسَائِيُّ)

90. Jaber reported that when there came the Day of Uhud, my aunt came with my father to bury him in a grave-yard. Then a proclaimer of the Messenger of Allah proclaimed : Send back the martyrs to their beds. 1504 —Ahmad, Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ لَمَّا كَانَ يَوْمُ اُحُدٍ جَاءَتْ عَمَّتِي بِاَبِي لِتَدْفِنَهٗ فِي مَقَابِرِنَا فَنَادٰى مُنَادِيْ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم رُدُّوا الْقَتْلٰى اِلٰى مَضَاجِعِهِمْ * (اَحْمَدُ وَ التِّرْمِذِيُّ وَ اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَ النَّسَائِيُّ)

91. Ibn Abbas reported that the Holy Prophet entered a grave-yard at night. Then a light was brought for him. He began from the side of Qiblah and said : May Allah bless you if you were God-fearing and the reader of the Quran. 1505

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم دَخَلَ قَبْرًا لَيْلًا فَاُسْرِجَ لَهٗ بِسِرَاجٍ فَاَخَذَ مِنْ قِبَلِ الْقِبْلَةِ وَ قَالَ رَحِمَكَ اللّٰهُ اِنْ كُنْتَ لَاَوَّاهًا تَلَّاءً لِلْقُرْاٰنِ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

1503. In other words, faces of dead men must be turned towards the Holy Ka'ba which is the Qibla of the Muslims for all affairs as directed by the Quran. It also appears that in case of neccesity, two or more dead bodies can be buried in one grave. Ibn Majah narrated it up to "make good".

1504. In other words, the dead-bodies should be taken back to the field of Uhud to be buried there. From this, it is deduced that martyrs should be buried in the battle-field and not in ordinary grave-yards. This is also commendable (Mustahab) in case of other people.

1505. It is said in Sharhi-Sunnat that its chain of narration is weak. Tirmizi says that this tradition is fair and correct.

92. Ibn Omar reported that whenever the Apostle admitted a dead-body in a grave, he used to utter : In the name of Allah, and with the help of Allah, and upon the religion of the Apostle of Allah. (And in a narration : Upon the way of the Apostle of Allah).

—Ahmad, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم كَانَ اِذَا اَدْخَلَ الْمَيِّتَ الْقَبْرَ قَالَ بِسْمِ اللّٰهِ وَبِاللّٰهِ وَعَلٰى مِلَّةِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ وَفِى رِوَايَةٍ عَلٰى سُنَّةِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ *

(اَحْمَدُ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

93. Jaber reported that the Ms. of Allah forbade plastering of graves making inscription thereon and treading. 1503

—Tirmizi.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ نَهٰى رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنْ يُّجَصَّصَ الْقُبُوْرُ وَاَنْ يُّكْتَبَ عَلَيْهَا وَاَنْ تُوْطَاَ * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

94. Qasem-b-Muhammad reported : I went to Ayesha and said : O mother ! open for me the grave of the Apostle of Allah and his two companions. So she opened for me the three graves which were neither high, nor joined to ground-level, cemented with new stones of the plain.

—Abu Daud.

عَنِ الْقَاسِمِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ عَلٰى عَائِشَةَ فَقُلْتُ يَا اُمَّاهُ اكْشِفِىْ لِىْ عَنْ قَبْرِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَصَاحِبَيْهِ فَكَشَفَتْ لِىْ عَنْ ثَلٰثَةِ قُبُوْرٍ لَا مُشْرِفَةٍ وَلَا لَاطِئَةٍ مَبْطُوْحَةٍ بِبَطْحَاءِ الْعَرْصَةِ الْحَمْرَاءِ * (اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ)

95. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported : We came out with the Messenger of Allah for funeral prayer of a man among the Ansars. We reached the grave-yard while the grave was yet being dug. Then

عَنِ الْبَرَاءِ بْنِ عَازِبٍ قَالَ خَرَجْنَا مَعَ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم مِنَ الْاَنْصَارِ فَانْتَهَيْنَا اِلَى الْقَبْرِ وَلَمَّا يُلْحَدْ بَعْدُ فَجَلَسَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم

1506. This hadis distinctly gives instructions that no inscriptions either in wood, stones or anything is allowed on graves by way of commemorations. This shows that no writing either of the Quranic verses or sayings of the Prophet over a grave is legal. Some doctors of Hanifi mazhab held it as only Makruh but lawful.

(مَالِكٌ وَاَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَ ابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

96. Ayesha reported that the Messenger of Allah said : To break a bone of a dead-man is like breaking it during life time.

—Malek, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah

عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ لِابْنِهٖ وَهُوَ فِيْ سِيَاقِ الْمَوْتِ اِذَا اَنَامُتُّ فَلَا تَصْحَبْنِيْ نَائِحَةٌ وَلَا نَارٌ فَاِذَا دَفَنْتُمُوْنِيْ فَشُنُّوْا عَلَيَّ التُّرَابَ شَنًّا ثُمَّ اَقِيْمُوْا حَوْلَ قَبْرِيْ قَدْرَ مَا يُنْحَرُ جَزُوْرٌ وَيُقْسَمُ لَحْمُهَا حَتّٰى اَسْتَاْنِسَ بِكُمْ وَاَعْلَمَ مَاذَا اُرَاجِعُ بِهٖ رُسُلَ رَبِّيْ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

97. Amr-b-al A's reported that he said to his son while he was on the point of death : When I shall be dead, no mourner and no fire shall accompany me. Then when you will bury me, spread earth over me with ease and then keep standing around my grave as long as a she-camel is slaughtered and its meat divided, till I take comfort on your account and know with what I shall reply to the messengers of my Lord. 1507 —Muslim

عَنِ ابْنِ اَبِيْ مُلَيْكَةَ قَالَ لَمَّا تُوُفِّيَ عَبْدُ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنُ اَبِيْ بَكْرٍ بِالْحُبْشِيِّ وَهُوَ مَوْضِعٌ فَحُمِلَ اِلٰى مَكَّةَ فَدُفِنَ بِهَا فَلَمَّا قَدِمَتْ عَائِشَةُ اَتَتْ قَبْرَ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنِ اَبِيْ بَكْرٍ ثُمَّ قَالَتْ وَاللّٰهِ لَوْ حَضَرْتُكَ

98. Ibn Abi Mulaikah reported that when Abdur Rahman, son of Abu Bakr, died at Hubushi (it is a place), he was carried to Mecca and buried there. When Ayesha arrived, she came to the grave of Abdur Rahman, son of Abu Bakr, and then said : By Allah, had I been present to you, you would not have been 435w. Urwah-b-Zubair reported that there were two men at Medina. One of them used to prepare oblong grave and another the contrary. They said: Whoso among the two comes first to do his deed, (they would follow him). Then one who used to dig oblong grave came and so he prepared (such) grave for the Prophet.

437w. Ja'far-b-Muhammad reported a defective tradition from

عَنْ جَعْفَرِ بْنِ مُحَمَّدٍ عَنْ اَبِيْهِ مُرْسَلًا

1503. Abdur Rahman was brother of Hazrat Ayesha. He died at Hubshi near Mecca. Hazrat Ayesha was so much overwhelmed with grief at the death of her brother that she came all the way from Medina to Mecca and recited some verses in front of the grave of her brother. This shows that a dead-body should be buried in the place where it dies. The verses occur in the original book.

438w. Jaber reported that the grave of the Holy Prophet was watered, and he who spread water over his grave was Bilal b Rabah. He began from the direction of his head till he reached his feet.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ رُشَّ عَلٰى قَبْرِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم وَكَانَ الَّذِيْ رَشَّ عَلَيْهِ بِلَالُ بْنُ رَبَاحٍ بَدَأَ مِنْ قِبَلِ رَأْسِهِ حَتّٰى انْتَهٰى اِلٰى رِجْلَيْهِ * (البيهقي)

439w. Abdullah-b-Omar reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: When someone of you dies, don't keep him confined and take him hastily to his grave, and let "the opening of the Cow" 1510 be read near his head, and "the end of the Cow" near his feet.

1509. Shafeyi narrated it up to "spread water." At the time of the placing of the first stone, Prophet used to recite—منها خلقناكم (therefrom We have created you), at the time of second stone—فيها نعيدكم (therein We shall send you back), and at the time of the third stone—و منها نخرجكم تارة اخرى (And therefrom We shall take you out another time).

1510. This is the second chapter of the Holy Quran.

CHAPTER XXXI

1511. MOURNING.

(a) Natural mourning lawful. Mourning on the death of dear ones comes out naturally in mind and is not therefore illegal. On such an event, there arise a great grief in mind and a great commotion in the whole system which produce tears in eyes and melancholy look in appearances. That grief which arises sincerely in heart as a matter of course cannot be prevented and as such not prohibited. The Holy Prophet himself wept at the death of his son Ibrahim and some of his beloved companions—31:1. Simple weeping is therefore not bad and brings no sin either on the deceased or on the weeping man or woman—31:20. But loud wailing followed by strikings of breasts, hands and feet, and tearing of clothes have been held to be abominable (31:3). Artificial mourning along with the wearing of black badges has not been recommended, so also the system of hired mourners (31:7) as such mourning is opposed to nature. There is however difference of opinion as to whether a dead-body is punished owing to the loud bewailings of the inmates of the house. Hazrat Omar, Ibn Abbas and Ibn Omar used to hold in accordance with the traditions recorded in 31:2, 14 and 15 that it is punished. But Hazrat Ayesha held that a deceased is not punished on the principle that "nobody will bear the burden of others 29:12Q. The view of Hazrat Ayesha seems to be more correct on the ground as stated by her and also on the ground that no sin attaches to a dead man after he is dead—4:29. She explained away the traditions of the opposite view by saying that there were the wailings over the unbelievers in those cases.

(b) Condolence. It is, however, a duty on every member of the Islamic Common-wealth to have condolence on the death of his brother-Muslim and to convey words of sympathy and consolation to the relatives of the deceased. The best words of condolence according to the Holy Prophet are ان لله ما اخذ وله ما اعطى و كل شيء عنده باجل مسمى (Verily what Allah has taken away is for Him, and what He has given is for Him, and everything near Him is up to a fixed time), and انا لله و انا اليه راجعون (Verily we are for Allah, and to Him we shall return). The neighbouring Muslims should supply provision to the inmates of the deceased's family at least for three days—31:13. This is the practical sign of condolence so far as the general Muslims are concerned. In case of relatives, the pain of separation is more acute, and therefore mourning for at least three days is lawful.

(c) Mourning of a widow. In case of a consummated widow, the mourning for four months and ten days from the time of her husband's death has been allowed. She is not allowed to take a second husband during this period. After it is over, there is no bar on her to take a second husband. During the period of mourning, a widow shall observe the simplest mode of life and shall indulge in no fineries of this world. She must put off her ornaments and wear simple unstriped garments. In pre-Islamic times, it was the practice among the Arabs that after the husband's death, the widow had to closet herself in a small dungeon and put on rugged and unclean clothes, had to keep the hairs small and sometimes even preferred death. At times, an animal was brought to her. She used to sacrifice it and besmear her private parts with its blood. These things were abolished by the Holy Prophet. The widow should not shift from her husband's house in this period and she shall not use perfumed oil. The cruel rigours of life that are put on a widow in some societies have been strongly condemned by the Holy Quran and Hadis.

(d) Patience and forbearance. The reward of patience and forbearance on the death of son, wife, father, mother and other dear relatives is very great. It has been fully discussed in note 365. Three children or even one child of parents who died ahead of parents will carry them to Paradise—31:5,23. Even patience at their death brings good rewards—31:10. It must be remembered however that the best time of patience is at the first news of mishap. There is no good in bewailings and lamentings as in that way the dear deceased cannot be regained but on the contrary they open the gate of ill health and indifference. Such a bewailing man should remember that too much grief is a cause of sudden death (hadis).

1. Osamah-b-Zaid reported that the daughter of the Prophet sent for him (informing) : Verily a son of mine has died, so come to us. He sent conveying greetings and saying : Verily what Allah has taken is for Him and what He has given is for Him, and to Him everything is for a fixed time. So be patient, and hope for reward. Then she sent for him giving him oath to come to her without fail. So he got up and there were with him Sa'ad-b-Obadah, Mu'az-b-Jabal, Obai-b-Ka'ab, Zaid-b-Sabet and some men. The boy was raised up before the Apostle of Allah, while his mind was bursting into grief. His two eyes became full of tears. Sa'ad said : O Ms. of Allah! what is this? He said : This is tenderness which Allah placed in the hearts of His servants, and certainly Allah shows kindness to the kind among His servants.

عَنْ اُسَامَةَ بْنِ زَيْدٍ قَالَ اَرْسَلَتْ
اِبْنَةُ النَّبِيِّ صلعم اِلَيْهِ اَنَّ اِبْنًا لِيْ قُبِضَ
فَاْتَنَا فَاَرْسَلَ يُقْرِئُ السَّلَامَ وَيَقُوْلُ
اِنَّ لِلّٰهِ مَا اَخَذَ وَلَهُ مَا اَعْطٰى وَكُلٌّ
عِنْدَهٗ بِاَجَلٍ مُسَمًّى فَلْتَصْبِرْ وَلْتَحْتَسِبْ
فَاَرْسَلَتْ اِلَيْهِ تُقْسِمُ عَلَيْهِ لَيَاْتِيَنَّهَا
فَقَامَ وَمَعَهٗ سَعْدُ بْنُ عُبَادَةَ وَمُعَاذُ بْنُ
جَبَلٍ وَاُبَيُّ بْنُ كَعْبٍ وَزَيْدُ بْنُ ثَابِتٍ
وَرِجَالٌ فَرُفِعَ اِلٰى رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم
الصَّبِيُّ وَنَفْسُهٗ تَتَقَعْقَعُ فَفَاضَتْ عَيْنَاهُ
فَقَالَ سَعْدٌ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ مَا هٰذَا فَقَالَ
هٰذِهٖ رَحْمَةٌ جَعَلَهَا اللّٰهُ فِيْ قُلُوْبِ عِبَادِهٖ
وَاِنَّمَا يَرْحَمُ اللّٰهُ مِنْ عِبَادِهِ الرُّحَمَاءَ *
(مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

2. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that Sa'ad-b-Oba'dah complained of his illness. So the Prophet came to him to see him with Abdur Rahman-b-Auf, Sa'ad-b-Abiwaqqas and Abdullah-b-Mas'ud. When he went to him, he found him in swoon. Then he said : He has just expired. They said : No, O Ms. of Allah.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ اشْتَكٰى
سَعْدَ بْنَ عُبَادَةَ شَكْوٰى لَهٗ فَاَتَاهُ النَّبِيُّ
صلعم يَعُوْدُهٗ مَعَ عَبْدِ الرَّحْمٰنِ بْنِ عَوْفٍ
وَسَعْدِ بْنِ اَبِيْ وَقَّاصٍ وَعَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ
مَسْعُوْدٍ فَلَمَّا دَخَلَ عَلَيْهِ وَجَدَهٗ فِيْ
غَاشِيَةٍ فَقَالَ قَدْ قُضِيَ قَالُوْا لَا يَا

رَسُوْلَ اللهِ فَبَكَى النَّبِيُّ صلعم فَلَمَّا رَأَى الْقَوْمُ بُكَاءَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم بَكَوْا فَقَالَ أَلَا تَسْمَعُوْنَ إِنَّ اللهَ لَا يُعَذِّبُ بِدَمْعِ الْعَيْنِ وَلَا بِحُزْنِ الْقَلْبِ وَلٰكِنْ يُعَذِّبُ بِهٰذَا وَ أَشَارَ إِلَى لِسَانِهِ أَوْ يَرْحَمُ وَإِنَّ الْمَيِّتَ لَيُعَذَّبُ بِبُكَاءِ أَهْلِهِ عَلَيْهِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

Then the Prophet burst into tears. When the people saw weeping of the Prophet, they also wept. He said : Do you not hear that verily Allah will not punish for tears of eyes, nor for grief of heart, but He will punish for this, (and he pointed out to his tongue), or He will show kindness ? And verily a dead man will be punished on account of the weeping of his family for him. —Agreed.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللهِ بْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم لَيْسَ مِنَّا مَنْ ضَرَبَ الْخُدُوْدَ وَشَقَّ الْجُيُوْبَ وَدَعَا بِدَعْوَى الْجَاهِلِيَّةِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

3. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that the Ms. of Allah said : There is none among us who beats faces and tears out shirts and cries aloud like the crying of the Days of Ignorance. —Agreed.

عَنْ أَبِي بُرْدَةَ قَالَ أُغْمِيَ عَلَى أَبِي مُوْسَى فَأَقْبَلَتْ امْرَأَتُهُ أُمُّ عَبْدِ اللهِ تَصِيْحُ بِرَنَّةٍ ثُمَّ أَفَاقَ فَقَالَ أَلَمْ تَعْلَمِي وَكَانَ يُحَدِّثُهَا أَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللهِ صلعم قَالَ أَنَا بَرِيْءٌ مِمَّنْ حَلَقَ وَصَلَقَ وَخَرَقَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

4. Abu Burdah reported that Abu Musa fell senseless. His wife, mother of Abdullah, came to him crying aloud. Afterwards he regained sense and said : while he was talking with her : Do you not know that the Ms. of Allah said : I am displeased with one who shaves (hairs), cries aloud and tears" ? —Agreed.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم لَا يَمُوْتُ لِمُسْلِمٍ ثَلَاثَةٌ مِّنَ الْوَلَدِ فَيَلِجُ النَّارَ إِلَّا تَحِلَّةَ الْقَسَمِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

5. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : There is no Muslim for whom three of the issues die and who then enters the fire except that He unlooses the Oath. [1512] —Agreed.

1512. This means that one whose three minor children died will enter Paradise. The unloosening of the oath means that if such a man enters the fire, it will be nothing but that Allah will break His oath to the effect that such man will never enter the fire.

6. Same reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Allah will say: There is for a faithful servant of Mine no reward near Me except Paradise when I cause to die his dear one out of the inmates of the world and then he seeks it (reward). —Bukhari.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُوْلُ اللّٰهُ مَا لِعَبْدِيَ الْمُؤْمِنِ عِنْدِيْ جَزَاءٌ اِذَا قَبَضْتُ صَفِيَّهُ مِنْ اَهْلِ الدُّنْيَا ثُمَّ احْتَسَبَهُ اِلَّا الْجَنَّةُ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

7. Abu Sayeed-al-Khodri reported that the Apostle of Allah cursed a female mourner and a female hearer of mourning. [1513] —Abu Daud.

عَنْ اَبِيْ سَعِيْدِ نِ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ لَعَنَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَلنَّائِحَةَ وَ الْمُسْتَمِعَةَ * (اَبُوْ دَاوُدَ)

8. Anas reported that the Ms. of Allah said: There is no believer but for whom there are two doors—one door through which his actions rise up and another through which his provision comes down. When he dies, they weep over him, and that is His saying: The heaven and earth donot weep for them. [1514] —Tirmizi.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَامِنْ مُؤْمِنٍ اِلَّا وَلَهُ بَابَانِ بَابٌ يَصْعَدُ مِنْهُ عَمَلُهُ وَ بَابٌ يَنْزِلُ مِنْهُ رِزْقُهُ فَاِذَا مَاتَ بَكَيَا عَلَيْهِ فَذٰلِكَ قَوْلُهُ تَعَالٰى فَمَا بَكَتْ عَلَيْهِمُ السَّمَاءُ وَ الْاَرْضُ* (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

9. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso has got his two minor issues [1515] among my followers dead, Allah will admit him with them

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ كَانَ لَهُ فَرَطَانِ مِنْ اُمَّتِيْ

1513. Here mourner means one who makes نوحہ - Naohah means to waep with various descriptions of the dead or to cry aloud. This was prohibited.

1514. "The heaven and earth do not weep for the unbelievers" say the Quran. It appears therefore that on the death of a believer, heaven and earth weep.

1515. FART is called preceding. It means alsoa man who goes ahead of a caravan and keeps water, storage and everything neceasary at the next station for caravan. Here it means minor child who dies before parents. The child is as it were gone to another world ahead of his parents to prepare for their enjoyments in Paradise.

in Paradise. Ayesha asked: He who has got one minor son dead from your fellowers? He said: O darling! and even he who has got one minor son dead. She asked: He who has got no minor issue from your followers? He replied: Then I am one who will precede my followers who will never be troubled like me.

—Tirmizi (Rare).

10. Abu Musa al-Ash'ari reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When a child of a servant dies, the Almighty Allah says to His angles: Have you taken out the life of My servant's child? 'Yes' they reply. He say: You have taken the life of the fruit of his heart. They say: 'Yes'. He says: What has My servant said? They say: He has praised Thee and recited Istirja'a.[1516] Allah then says: Build a house for My servant in Paradise and name it the House of Praise. —Ahmad, Tirmizi.

11. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso gives consolation to one who has got mishap, there is

اَدْخَلَهُ اللّٰهُ بِهِمَا الْجَنَّةَ فَقَالَتْ عَائِشَةُ فَمَنْ كَانَ لَهُ فَرَطٌ مِّنْ اُمَّتِكَ قَالَ وَمَنْ كَانَ لَهُ فَرَطًا يَا مُوَفَّقَةُ فَقَالَتْ فَمَنْ لَّمْ يَكُنْ لَّهُ فَرَطٌ مِّنْ اُمَّتِكَ قَالَ فَاَنَا فَرَطُ اُمَّتِي لَنْ يُّصَابُوْا بِمِثْلِي * (اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ غَرِيْبٌ)

عَنْ اَبِي مُوْسَى الْاَشْعَرِيِّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا مَاتَ وَلَدُ الْعَبْدِ قَالَ اللّٰهُ تَعَالٰى لِمَلٰئِكَتِهٖ قَبَضْتُمْ وَلَدَ عَبْدِيْ فَيَقُوْلُوْنَ نَعَمْ فَيَقُوْلُ قَبَضْتُمْ ثَمَرَةَ فُؤَادِهٖ فَيَقُوْلُوْنَ نَعَمْ فَيَقُوْلُ مَاذَا قَالَ عَبْدِيْ فَيَقُوْلُوْنَ حَمِدَكَ وَاسْتَرْجَعَ فَيَقُوْلُ اللّٰهُ اِبْنُوْا لِعَبْدِيْ بَيْتًا فِي الْجَنَّةِ وَسَمُّوْهُ بَيْتَ الْحَمْدِ * (اَحْمَدُ وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

1516. Istirja'a means to recite "Verily we are for Allah and to Him we shall return". This reward is for those believers whose children die in their presence and who utter Istirja'a, thereby keeping patience and resigning to Allah.

13. Abullah-b-Ja'far reported that when the death-news of Ja'far reached, the Holy Prophet said : Prepare food for the family of Ja'far, and there has indeed come to them what has kept them engaged. 1518 —Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

14. Mugirah-b-Shu'bah reported : I heard the Ms. of Allah say : Whoso is loudly bewailed upon will be punished on the Resurrection Day with what he was bewailed upon. —Agreed.

15. Amrah-b-Abdur Rahman reported : I heard Ayesha (and it was mentioned to her that Abdullah-b-Omar used to say : Verily a dead-man will certainly be punished on account of the cry of the living over him)

1517. Fellow-feeling, mutual sympathy and co-operation are the keynote of Islam and form the principles of Islamic brothernhood. There is a hadis "Wos : guides towards good, there is for him like the reward of one who acts up to it—4:66. Therefore the rewards of fellow-feeling are no less than those awarded to the afflicted.

1518. This indicates that friends and relatives of the family of the deceased shall feed them, until they become so framed in mind that they can cook food with their hands. This is Mustahab (laudable). Some say that food of three days should be supplied as the period of mourning legally extends to three days.

16. Abdullah-b-Abi Mulaikah reported that a daughter of Osman-b-Affan died at Mecca and we came to attend her (funeral prayer). Ibn Omar and Ibn Abbas also attended her. While I was sitting in the midst of the two, Abdullah-b-Omar said to Amr-b-Osman who was facing him: Do you not prohibit crying? Verily the Apostle of Allah said: A dead-man is certainly punished for cry of his family-members over him. Ibn Abbas said: Omar also used to say something of that. Then he narrated and said: I came out from Mecca with Omar till we were at Baidwa'a when lo! he was by the side of some riding men under the shade of samorah tree. He said: Go and see—who are these riding men? Then I looked when lo! he was Suhaib. I informed him (Omar) and so he said: Call him. Then I went to Shuaib and said: Go and meet Omar, the Commander of the Faithful. When Omar was wounded, Shuaib went to him weeping and saying: Alas brother! Alas friend! Omar said: O Shuaib! do you bewail over me while the Prophet said: Verily a deadman will certainly be punished for wail of his family members over him? Ibn Abbas said: When Omar died, I mentioned it to Ayesha. She said: May Allah be kind to Omar. No, by Allah, the Ms. of Allah did not say: Verily the dead-man will certainly be punished for wail of his family members over him, but Allah increases punishment of a polytheist for wail of his familymembers over him. Ayesha said: Sufficient for you is the Quran—"And no one will bear the burden of another". Ibn Abbas said at that time: Allah makes you laugh and weep. Ibn Abi Mulaika said: Then Ibn Omar said nothing. 1519

—Agreed.

17. Ayesha reported that when the murder of Ibn Hares, Ja'far and Ibn Rawahah reached

أَرْ تَحِلْ فَالْحَقْ أَمِيرَ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ عُمَرَ فَلَمَّا

1519. The controversy was with regard to wailing. Hazrat Omar, Ibn Abbas and Ibn Omar held that it is prohibited both for a believer and an infidel, while Hazrat Ayesha held it lawful in the case of an infidel only. He created individual responsibility for sins. In other words, the dead-man cannot be punished for wailings of others. Ibn Abbas said that it is only Allah who makes man laugh and weep and therefore a dead man is responsible. The former version accords with reason.

the Apostle of Allah, he sat down while grief could be recognised on him. I was then looking from an opening of a door, that is, a hole of a door. A man came to him and said about wives of Ja'far and mentioned about their wail. He then passed order to refrain them. He departed and came to him for the second time, (and said) that they did not obey him. He said: Prohibit them. Then he came to him for the third time and said: By Allah, O Ms. of Allah, they overcame us. She conjectured that he said: Throw dust over their faces. I said: May Allah mutilate your nose! You did not do what the Ms. of Allah ordered you (to do) and you did not spare the Ms. of Allah from mourning. [1520] —Agreed.

18. Numan-b-Bashir reported: Abdullah-b-Rawahah fell senseless and her sister Amrah began to wail: O Jabalah (mighty), and O such and such; (she was repeating it). When he recovered, he said: Don't say anything but what has already been said for me: you are such and such. He added in a narration: When he dies, don't weep over him. —Bukhari

1525. VISITING GRAVES (زيارة القبر)

(a) Visiting graves is lawful if object is lawful. Graves and cremation-grounds are true admonishers of mankind. They remind us of the inevitable hour of death, and of the transitory nature of this world and its vanities. They thereby make our hearts soft and fit for culture of all virtues. If a visit to the graves and cemetries are taken with this object in view, it is Sunnat and commendable (Mustahab). The Holy Prophet used to visit the grave of his mother and weep—31:28. He used often to slip away quietly from Ayesha's bed in the grim silence of night to the famous grave-yard "Jannatul Baqiy" where lie entombed the early martyrs of Islam. Thus a visit to the graves supplies us spritual food and incites us to do good and avoid evils. If, however, the visit is undertaken with the object of worshipping graves, or seeking favour from the inmates of graves, it is unlawful (Haram), because the object is illegal and any act in furtherance of an illegal act is unlawful. Some other objects also may lawfully be entertained in mind, such as seeking forgiveness for the deceased and blessing from the shrines of the prophets, saints and pious divines, and to keep afresh the duties towards dead relations and friends. In every week, parents' graves should be visited if possible. The Prophet said that he who visited his grave, he should be an intercessor for him and a witness (36:573w). He said : Whoso makes pilgrimage and then visits my shrine after my death, becomes like one who visits me in my life-time(36:574w).

(b) Rules. In visiting graves, the following rules should be observed. The visitor shall stand facing the graves and keeping his back towards the Holy Ka'ba and shall greet the inmates of the graves by reciting the most commonly accepted formula السلام عليكم اهل الديار من المؤمنين والمسلمين وانا ان شاء الله بكم للاحقون نسئل الله لنا ولكم العافية Peace be on you, O inmates of the graves from the believers and the Muslims and certainly we shall reach you if Allah wishes. We pray to Allah for succour for us and for you—31:29. He shall bear in mind that the graves should not be touched and kissed or the dust lying over them should not be besmeared over faces and heads. Then he shall read if he likes the chapters first and "Ikhlas (112Q)" of the Quran 3 or 7 times and bestow its merits on the souls of the deceased. He may then seek forgiveness for them. A number of innovations have cropped up in different forms in different countries which have not been corroborated by any tradition of authenticity. Some of these are the following :—distribution of charity over the graves, making gift of the Quran, reciting the Holy Quran, feeding on the 3rd or 10th or 40th day after death, and wearing black colours and badges. Muslims are, however, advised to bestow charity on the poor and the distressed on occasion of the death of a man.

(c) Women visitors. Visit of the graves by women were generally not approved—31:34, as they are very weak in heart. They are, however not strictly prohibited to visit graves, and specially the grave of the Holy Prophet at Medina.

27. Boraidah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: I forbade you from visiting graves, but visit them. And I forbade you from meat of sacrificial animals beyond three days, but keep so long it pleases you; and I forbade you from 'Nabiz' drink except in skin-reservoir, but take drink in all skin-reservoirs, but don't drink inotxicants. 1526

—Muslim.

عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم
نَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنْ زِيَارَةِ الْقُبُوْرِ فَزُوْرُوْهَا وَ
نَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنْ لُحُوْمِ الْاَضَاحِيِّ فَوْقَ ثَلٰثٍ
فَامْسِكُوْا مَا بَدَا لَكُمْ وَنَهَيْتُكُمْ عَنِ النَّبِيْذِ
اِلَّا فِيْ سِقَاءٍ فَاشْرَبُوْا فِي الْاَسْقِيَةِ كُلِّهَا وَلَا
تَشْرَبُوْا مُسْكِرًا * (مُسْلِمٌ)

28. Abu Hurairah reported that the Holy Prophet visited the grave of his mother 1527 and wept and made those around him weep. He said: I sought permission of my Lord to seek forgiveness for her but He did not give me permission; and I sought His permission to visit her grave, and He gave me permission. So visit the graves, and verily they remind death.

—Muslim.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ زَارَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم
قَبْرَ اُمِّهٖ فَبَكٰى وَاَبْكٰى مَنْ حَوْلَهٗ فَقَالَ
اسْتَاْذَنْتُ رَبِّيْ فِيْ اَنْ اَسْتَغْفِرَ لَهَا فَلَمْ
يُؤْذَنْ لِيْ وَاسْتَاْذَنْتُهٗ فِيْ اَنْ اَزُوْرَ قَبْرَهَا
فَاُذِنَ لِيْ فَزُوْرُوا الْقُبُوْرَ فَاِنَّهَا تُذَكِّرُ
الْمَوْتَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1526. In the beginning of Islam, these three things were prohibited. The graves were objects of worship of Pre-Islamic Arabs antagonistic to the doctrine of unity. The Pre-Islamic Arabs held the custom of not eating the meat of sacrificial animals out of veneration. The Holy Prophet abolished it and permitted 3 days' use of such meat and the remainder was to be distributed among the needy. It was altogether abolished in latter days of Islam when it had no want. Liquor is disallowed but Nabeez is allowed. Nabeez is prepared from a mixture of grapes and dates which is boiled until ⅔rd of it evaporates.

1527. Prophet's mother's name was Amina. When Prophet was six years old, he was taken by his mother to her father's place. When she was returnig to Mecca, she died at Abwa where she was buried.

29. Boraidah reported that the Apostle of Allah used to teach them (companions) whenever he came out to the grave-yards (saying) : Peace be on you, O inmates of the abodes out of the believers and the Muslims, and verily we shall certainly reach you if Allah pleases. We pray for succour for us and for you to Allah. 1528 —Muslim.

عَنْ بُرَيْدَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُعَلِّمُهُمْ إِذَا خَرَجُوْا إِلَى الْمَقَابِرِ: اَلسَّلَامُ عَلَيْكُمْ أَهْلَ الدِّيَارِ مِنَ الْمُؤْمِنِيْنَ وَ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ وَ إِنَّا إِنْ شَاءَ اللّٰهُ بِكُمْ لَلَاحِقُوْنَ نَسْئَلُ اللّٰهَ لَنَا وَ لَكُمُ الْعَافِيَةَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

30. Ibn Abbas reported that the Holy Prophet passed by graves at Medina. He turned his face towards them 1529 and said : Peace be on you, O inmates of graves. May Allah forgive us and you ! You have preceded us, and we are following.

31. Ayesha reported that whenever she had her night from the Holy Prophet, he used to come out to Baqiy 1530 at the latter part of night and say : Peace be on you, O abode of the believing people. What you have been promised with has come to you. You are tarried till to-morrow 1531 and certainly we 1528. This should be the prayer of all Muslims whenever they pass by or visit graves.

1529. It is clear from this hadis that in visiting graves, faces must be turned towards them. Ibn Hujr, however, differed from this view saying that faces must be turned towards the Ka'ba. The hadis must prevail. In visiting graves, Mazhare-Hoq says that the opening Chapter of the Quran should first be read and then the Chapter—Ikhlas (112 Q) three times and then prayer for the deceased souls.

1530. Baqiy is Jannatul Baqiy, the famous grave-yard of Medina where lie entombed all the brave sons of Islam. It was full of plants called 'Garqad'. See how the Holy Prophet used to depart away from his young wife to remember the Almighty.

32. Same reported that she asked : O Apostle of Allah, how shall I recite (meaning) at the visiting of graves ? SECTION 3

1532. PUNISHMENT OF GRAVE.

(a) What does grave mean ? Grave means the period from the time of death up to the Resurrection Day when judgment will take place. It is immaterial therefore to consider that the grave means only a place prepared underneath the ground. It may be a land grave, or a watery grave or any kind of grave in which a deadbody is disposed of. The Holy Quran speaks of this period as grave. It says : Then He causes him to die, then assigns to him a grave, then when He pleases, He will raise him to life again—80:21Q. This is Barzakh which literally means a period that intervenes between two things. The Holy Quran says : Until the death overtakes one of them, he says: Send me back, my Lord, send me back, haply I may do good in that which I have left. By no means! it is a word that he speaks, and before them is Barzakh (barrier) until the day when they are raised up—23:100Q. Thus grave is Barzakh meaning a period as above stated.

(b) Punishment and Enjoyment in grave. Punishment in the grave is a truth according to the Holy Quran and Hadis—31:38. Consequently pleasure in the grave is also a fact. Life in the grave is the beginning of another life just like the beginning of a man in the mother's womb. A dead man feels pain of separation from the world, while another deadman feels pleasure as he avoided the life of struggles and misfortunes. This proves that a life of torture and happiness begins in the grave as a child feels in its mother's womb heat and cold. It shows that a consciousness of a higher life has sprung up in him immediately after death. Therefore punishment in the grave means a condition of the quilty people in Barzakh. It will take its full and perfect shape on the Resurrection Day as a child takes full and perfect feelings of sufferings and enjoyments as soon as it is ushered into this world. A virtuous man will live in a semi-conscious state of happiness in his grave as if he is in dream in the midst of the sweet company of a beautiful girl. When he will be awake, he will exclaim: O woe to us! who has raised us from our sleeping place?—36:51Q. The sinner will also live likewise in the midst of huge snakes, tigers and lions as if he is in dream. He will continue to have such punishment in proportion to his evil deeds in this world just as a husbandman gathers crops from his field in proportion to his labour in cultivation. In case of an unbeliever, the punishment will be the most severe as he is disloyal to the Almighty King just as a rebel disloyal to a king meets with extreme penalty of law. The Holy Prophet gives us an idea of this severity by saying that 99 serpents of huge dimension will be continuing to bite him—31:448w. In addition, there will be the pressure of grave from all sides so much so that the bones and veins of one side of the body will be turned to another side. Even a man like Sa'ad-b-Mu'az for whom 70,000 angels joined in funeral service was subject to a pressure of the grave—31:449w. Other forms of punishment have been described in the traditions recorded in this section.

(c) Further explanations of these punishments and enjoyments. (i) Firstly, these descriptions of punishments though sometimes unintelligible to us are really truths. There is no other alternative but to believe in things which we do not see, perceive and conceive. Man has been given nothing but a little of sight, feeling and knowledge. How can he then comprehend all the secrets of nature? Do we see everything around us? Do we see what a powerful microscope sees in water and lands? Did the companions see Gabriel when the latter came before the Prophet in their midst? Besides, eye-sight depends on external light which is also insufficient to give a sight of all things. Can we comprehend radio, wireless telegraphy and other scientific inventions? If not, should we disbelieve them and hold that these are not truths? Here without belief in the divine pronouncements and inspired sayings of His Messenger, there is no other alternative. (ii) Secondly, a man has got a peculiar language of his own just as a bird or a beast has got. He can well comprehend a matter, or nature of punishment or enjoyment if it is conveyed to him in his own language, and if he is placed within physical agencies of punishment and enjoyment that are moving within his sight and knowledge. Therefore snakes and tigers as destroying agencies, and beautiful damsels and girls as pleasure-giving agencies have been described. Had the punishments and enjoyments would have been described without these things, they would have been too dry and abstract and not within clear comprehension of a man. (iii) Thirdly, these punishments and pleasures may be tried to be understood from events in dreams. Death is nothing but a continuing sleep, and events in sleep may be compared with events after death. A man sees in a dream that a huge tiger or lion is chasing him with furious speed and the man is also hastily running for fear of his life. The tiger or lion has been joined by huge serpents of gigantic figure in order to chase the man. These things continue for hours together till the man gets up from sleep. Are not these things sufficient punishments? If they continue for centuries after centuries, will they not be sufficient punishments? Similar are the punishments and pleasures in the grave. A friend of the man sees nothing but a motionless figure sleeping by his side. He does not see his runnings, shoutings, pangs and fears. Similarly we do not see and hear the punishments and happiness of the graves. Again the sleeping man sees snakes and tigers with bodies though they are not within the view of his friend reading by his side. Similarly it is not impossible to have punishments and enjoyments in the graves with bodies. (iv) Fourthly, snakes are feared not because of their bodies as such, but because of the dangerous effect of poison that is in them. Take the poison of the snake and leave aside the snake itself. Cannot a man be sufficiently punished with this poison and not with a body in which there is poison ? If it is possible, punishment and pleasure may be given spiritually without forms or agencies. (v) Fifthly, poison is an effect of the biting of an snake. Therefore it is the effect of an action that gives punishment or reward. If the action is good, the effect is reward ; if the action is bad, the effect is punishment. The snake is feared because of its poison. Similarly bad action should be feared because of its punishment at the end. Again poison brings death of body, while bad action damnation of soul. Soul is greater than body. Therefore soul-burning is greater than the burning of a limb. This will begin in the grave with the end of this physical frame. (vi) Sixthly, there is another cause of punishment and pleasure. Everything we possess in this world is an object of our attachment and love. What we love cannot be parted away from us without some sort of grief and agony. The degree of grief depends on the degree of love. The greatest object of attachment gives the greatest amount of pangs on separation. It is therefore reasonable that what we shall leave behind after death in this world will be a cause of intense heart-burning in the grave. The greater the number of commodities and goods and the greater the attachment for them, the more intense will be the agony after permanent separation by death. Therefore increase your properties or decrease. The martyrs had no attachment for the world before they joined warfare. Hence there will be no punishment for them in the grave. (Allah knows best).

35. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported from the Prophet who said : A Muslim, when asked in his grave, shall bear witness that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad is the Apostle of Allah. This is because of the verse of the Almightly : Allah makes those firm (in faith) who believed in the confirmed word [1533] in this world's life and in the hereafter. And in a narration from the Prophet, he said : Allah makes those firm who believed in the confirmed word which was revealed about punishment of the grave. He will be questioned. Who is your Lord ? He will reply : Allah is my Lord and Muhammad is my Prophet.

1535. The Holy Prophet was endowed with some special secrets of prophethood with which ordinary mortal is not blessed. Therefore he could tell plain truths about punishment of the grave.

نَعلَمُ اَنَّكَ تَقُولُ هذا ثُمَّ يفسح لَهُ فِى قَبرِهِ

سبعونَ ذِرَاعًا فِى سَبعِينَ ثُمَّ يُنَوَّرُ لَهُ فِيهِ ثُمَّ

يُقَالُ لَهُ نَمْ فَيَقُولُ اَرجِعُ اِلَى اَهلِى

فَاُخبِرُهُم فَيَقُولاَنِ نَمْ كَنَومَةِ العَرُوسِ

الَّذِي لاَ يُوقِظُهُ اِلاَّ اَحَبُّ اَهلِهِ اِلَيهِ حَتَّى

يَبعَثَهُ اللهُ مِن مَضجَعِهِ ذٰلِكَ وَاِن كَانَ

مُنَافِقًا قَالَ سَمِعتُ النَّاسَ يَقُولُونَ قَولاً

فَقُلتُ مِثلَهُ لاَ اَدرِى فَيَقُولاَنِ قَد كُنَّا نَعلَمُ

اَنَّكَ تَقُولُ ذٰلِكَ فَيُقَالُ لِلاَرضِ اِلتَئِمِى

عَلَيهِ فَتَلتَئِمُ عَلَيهِ فَتَختَلِفُ اَضلاَعُهُ فَلاَ يَزَالُ

فِيهَا مُعَذَّبًا حَتَّى يَبعَثَهُ اللهُ مِن مَضجَعِهِ

ذٰلِكَ * (اَلتِّرمِذِيُّ)

They will then say: We knew that you would reply thus. Afterwards, his grave will be made spacious up to seventy cubits in (every) seventy, and then there will be light for him therein and it will be said to him "Sleep". He will say: I shall return to my family and inform them. They will say: Sleep like the sleep of a bridegroom whom nobody can make awake except the dear ones of the family, till Allah will raise him up from that bed of his. If he was a hypocrite, he will say: I heard men saying a word the like of which I say: I don't know (him). They will say: We knew that you would say so. Then it will be said to the earth: Come constrained over him. It will then come too much straitened for him and his two sides will be exchanged. He will not cease to receive punishment therein, till Allah will raise him up from that bed of his.

They will ask him : What has informed you ? He will say : I had read the Book of Allah and brought faith therein and testified. There is therefore His saying : Allah confirms those who believe in the surest word·the verse (14:27Q). He said : A proclaimer will proclaim from heaven : Verily My. servant has spoken the truth. Spread for him a place in Paradise and dress him with the dress of Paradise, and open for him a door towards Paradise. Then it will be opened. He said : Then its air and fragrance will come to him and it will be extended for him therein to the distance of his sight. As for an unbeliever, he mentioned his death and said : His soul will be returned to his body and two angles will come to him, will make him sit andask : Who is your Lord ? He will say : Oh ! Oh ! I don't know ! They will then ask : What is your religion ? He will say : Oh ! Oh ! I don't know ! They will then ask : Who is this man who was raised among you. He will say : Oh ! Oh ! I don't know ! Then a proclaimer will proclaim from heaven : Verily he has spoken falsehood. So spread for him a bed of the fire, and dress him with the dress of the fire and open for him a door towards the fire. He said : Then its heat and hot wind will come to him, and his grave will become too narrow for him till his two sides are exchanged. Then he will be entrusted to a blind and deaf angel with an iron rod with him. If a mountain would have been beaten therewith, it would have turned into dust. He will beat him therewith such a beating that what is between east and west will hear it except the two classes. He will be turned into dust and again the soul will be returned to him.

thus and Nisai added : It (shriek) interfered between me and my understanding the words of the Apostle of Allah. When their shriek became quiet, I asked a man near me: Oh ! may Allah bless thee ! What has the Ms. of Allah said in the last part of his sermon ? He reported that he had said : It hasbeen revealed to me that you shall be tried in the graves nearly similar to the trials of Dajlal.

Afterwards it is said to him : Wherein were you ? He will reply : I was in Islam. He will then be asked : Who is this man ? He will reply : Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah. He came to us with clear proofs from Allah and so we did believe in him. It will be questioned to him: Have you seen Allah? He will reply: It is not in power of anybody to see Allah. Then an opening will be made out for him towards the fire, and he will see towards it, some hurling down others. It will be said to him: Look what Allah has saved you from. Then an opening for him will be made towards Paradise and he will cast his glance towards it and what is therein. It will be said to him: This is your place; upon the sure (belief) you lived and on it you died and on it you will be raised up if the Almighty Allah so wills. An impious man will sit in his grave fearful and perturbed. It will be questioned to him: Wherein were you? He will say: I don't know. It will then be asked to him: Who is this man? He will reply: I heard the people say a word which I say. Then an opening will be made for him towards Paradise and then he will look to its fineries and what is therein. He will be asked: Look to what Allah has deprived you from. Then an opening will be made for him towards the fire. He will look at it that some of them were hurling others down. It will be 449w. Ja'ber reported: We came out with the Prophet to Sa'ad b-Mu'az when he expired. When the Prophet performed his funeral prayer, and he was buried in his grave and earth was levelled upon him, the Apostle of Allah read 'Tasbih' 1541 and we also recited tasbih for a long time. Then he recited 'takbir' and so we did. It was questioned: O Ms. of Allah, why have you recited tasbih and then takbir? He said: The grave became too narrow for this pious man till Allah made it spacious on its account. —Ahmad.

1539. It appears from this tradition that the habits of the virtuous man in this world's life will be reproduced in the grave and the habits of the sinner will also be reproduced in like manner. So the virtuous man will have no difficulty in the trials of the grave while a sinner will have difficulty at every step.

1540. Tirmizi narrated exactly like it with a slight change in wording. He reported 70 serpents instead of ninety-nine. How snakes may give trouble may be seen from the article itself.

1541. Tashbih means "Sobhan-Allah" (Glory be to Allah). Takbir means 'Allaho-Akbar'—(Allah is greatest).

CHAPTER XXXII

1542. Pre-destination (التقدير)

(a) Meaning of Taqdir. Taqdir means in the popular sense pre-destination, fate or destiny. It means literally to make manifest of the measure of a thing or simply to determine a measure. Another word which comes in this connection is Qaza meaning pre-decree or pre-decision. Taqdir is to determine a measure, while Qaza is the decree of bringing this measure into action. The former is the law and the latter is to put the law into execution. In other words, Taqdir signifies the creation of things subject to certain immutable laws, while Qaza is the ordering of a thing to come to pass. In case of the Almighty Allah, these laws were pre-determined long long before the creation of heaven and earth and may be called the natural laws. Those laws not only operate in the material world but also in the spiritual world. This is a Taqdir that a fixed quantity of water and fire will create steam or force. Likewise it is also Taqdir that out of a mixture of certain amount of good works, a spiritual force will be created. It is also a Taqdir that fire destroys a thing. Its destroying nature has been made an immutable law. Similarly "that internal fire of mind will destroy the soul" is a Taqdir or natural law. It can therefore be said that the natural laws of creation and of destruction have been pre-determined. In other words, Taqdir of everything has been pre-decreed. The Quran says therefore about Taqdir : The sun runs to an appointed course, that is the Taqdir (law) of the Almighty—36:38Q. We ordained death among you, and We are not to be overcome—56:60Q. Taqdir means also pre-measurement. The Quran says : Surely We have created everything to a measure—54:49Q. We created everything, then ordained for it a Taqdir (measure)—25:2Q.

(b) Different views about Taqdir. Much intellectual blood has been spent over the question of pre-destination. Many religions like Judaism and Christianity were greatly agigated over this problem, and the strong Muslim solidarity which the Prophet had once so laboriously cemented has been greatly weakened on account of bitter controversies over this question. This is because there are apparent conflicting views on the subject in the Quran and Hadis. On the one hand, the scriptures uphold the doctrine of freedom of will and the consequent responsibility for actions, and on the other they emphasise that it is only God who guides and misguides as He pleases and that the fate of men and everything was pre-determined before their creation. Among the former Muslims, there were two extreme schools of thought—the Zabariyas and the Qadriyas. The former school holds that God is the Creator of man's deeds whether good or bad and that man is entirely powerless and without responsibility in the matter. They contend that man has got no power to go beyond his destiny or decree of God before his creation. They cite the following Quranic verses in their support. And whomsoever Allah guides, there is none that can misguide him—39:36Q. And if Allah shall afflict you with harm, then there is none to remove it but He, and if He intends good to you, there is none to repel His grace—10:107Q. And with Him are the treasures of the unseen—none knows them but He, and He knows what is in the land and in the sea, and there falls not a leaf but He knows it, nor a grain in the darkness of the earth, nor anything green or dry but it is all in a clear book—6:59Q. No evil befalls on the earth, nor on your own souls but it is in a book before We bring into existence—57:22Q. The Holy Prophet said : Nothing repels a pre-decree except supplication—38:11, and vow cannot repel pre-destination—24:21.

The Qadriyas and later on the Mutazilas hold that man has got absolute freedom of will and the consequent responsibility for actions, and that if the former view is accepted, the rewards for virtuous acts and punishments for sins cannot at all be explained. They cite the following verses in support of their case. "And whatever affliction befalls on you, it is on account of what your hands have wrought"—42:32Q. "No bearer of burden shall bear the burden of another, and man shall have nothing but what he strives for—53:38Q.

(c) Attempted Solution of Taqdir. The two views as above noted are diametrically opposite to each other, and none could find out a satisfactory solution of the problem. We have therefore no other alternative but to believe in predestination as well as in freedom of will with consequence of actions. Let us, however, try to harmonise the apparant conflict to some extent leaving the rest to God. We deliberately surrender to Divine Words in this respect because we all know that we cannot have everything what we wish for inspite of our earnest and sincere attempts therefor, and that we—different individuals—have been born with different degrees of wisdom, vision and genius. What a highly gifted man can do with a very little effort cannot be done by an ordinary man with untiring zeal and constant efforts. This complexity of human character leads us to absolute faith both in predestination and human freedom of will. The next point is that the right view according to the majority of the Muslim jurists and to our opinion is the mean between the two extreme views. In other words, man is neither absolutely compelled, nor absolutely free. Man has got relative and very limited freedom of thoughts and actions for use and misuse of which he will be held rssponsible on the Day of Resurrection. Man is confined within limitations of space and time and within certain conditions and circumstances. He knows not his past and future. He has been created with a little degree of knowledge, and his power of conception and perception is limited as they are invariably supplied by external organs. If an ant thinks that it has got absolute freedom uncontrolled by anything in the world, it would be wrong on its part. If a clock says that it has got freedom because of its regular movements, it would be improper for it. A clock moves within a fixed space and within a fixed time. It is predestined to move so. It cannot go beyond its space, and it cannot move approximately beyond its time, but still it moves for the time being uncontrolled by human hand. Similarly, man has got freedom of movement. As he has got will unlike clock, he has also got freedom of will. Thus action and will are not absolute, nor are they absolutely controlled by external agency, say God. It cannot be said that a clock moves a second as soon as it receives the order of its maker. Similarly it is not proper to say that a man takes his step because his Maker directs him to do so at every moment. On the whole, a clock is regulated by a human expert though it moves mostly independant of its maker. It can therefore be said that its fate has been pre-determined. Similar is the pre-determination or fate of human beings. It can also be said that the clock moves at the direction of its maker. Similarly it can be said that nothing is done but by permission of Allah as He is the ultimate cause of all things. Man makes everything of a clock according to Qadr or measure, and he can know its possible action and approximate duration and gives therefore an approximate guarantee. In other words, the actions of a clock and its duration have been determined before its creation. Similarly the duration and actions of man were pre-written before he is created. The Prophet therefore said that Allah wrote 50,000 years before creation the fate of things—32:2.

The question is how this fate was pre-determined, whether arbitrarily or with consummate wisdom. In other words, the question is whether man acts according to the dictation of his fate or he shapes his own fate and fortune by himself. Islam dictates that man makes his own fate within his given freedom and genius. An ant cannot make a headway like that of a man however earnest it is as its desting was pre-determined very much lower than that of a man. There is also difference in human beings regarding wisdom, power and capability. Some are born genius, some are gifted with other talents, some are born dull. So far as the question of talents and capabilities are concerned, it must be admitted that it is the work of fate written beforehand independant of any efforts either of themselves or of their parents. Man has got no control over that, just as a clock has got no control over its size, duration and perfection. Thus within given talent, a man can create his own fate, and each will be responsible in proportion to his gifts received from the Most High. The question is whether God interferes in this limited freedom of man over which he has got control and not of those things over which the hand of destiny is paramount. Allah says : Whomsoever Allah guides, there is none to misguide him—39:36Q. Again He says : Whatever disaster befalls on you, it is on account of what your hands have wrought—42:30Q. The latter verse surely means that we have got limited responsibility in proportion to our gifts given by God. The former verse means that Allah guides and misguides (1) mediately and not directly, and (2) that He guides and misguides according to His Laws and not arbitrarily and that His pleasure or discretion is exercised in a manner conformable to His promulgated laws, though He has got power to do things arbitrarily. With regard to indirect interference, something has been said above with the example of a clock. It will be more clear from the following example. A man writes with a pen. One man says that it is the pen that writes ; another says that it is the hand that writes as it moves the pen ; another says that it is the invisible mind that writes because the hand has got no power unless mind moves it. Each has got limited freedom though it is admitted that ultimately it is the invisible mind that writes because if there is no mind, there is no action. Another intelligent man says that it is the Absolute Mind (i.e. God) that writes, and not the mind of a man as the human mind is dictated by the former. Thus mediately God is the primary cause of our actions though immediately we are held responsible for them. We shall suffer only to the extent of our responsibility, and God will release us from Hell ultimately as He is the ultimate cause of actions. The Quran says : And know that Allah intervenes between man and his heart—8:24Q. Now with regard to the second point, namely Allah's using His pleasure according to His laws, it is seen that Allah in giving limited freedom of will to man from His Absolute Freedom of will dictated His laws to use that will according to the Absolute Will. The Absolute will of God is not capricious and arbitrary. So the limited will of man should not be capricious and arbitrary. The former follows the natural laws created by Him, the latter also should follow His laws first and then the laws created by His messengers. Those who follow the divine laws must enjoy, and those who transgress them must suffer. It is a divine law that man should keep away from the fire. If he obeys that, he will enjoy the bright sun-shine, if he breaks the law by falling into it, he will be destroyed. Similarly God instructed us to be away from the fire of Hell by following His Laws. If we obey that, we shall be in bliss ; if not, we shall suffer Hell-fire. This is the natural law both in the material and spiritual world. As for those who follow the laws, Allah leads them to guidance just as Allah grows crops for those who cultivate and sow. As for those who do not follow the laws, Allah misguides them just as Allah does not grow crops for those who do not cultivate and sow. Allah is not at all arbitrary. The Quran supports the above theory. It distinctly says : As for those who do not believe in Allah's verses (laws), Allah will not guide them and they shall have a painful chastisement—Q. It is not attributable to Allah that

He should lead a people astray after He has guided them, till He makes clear to them what they should guard against— 9:115Q. This verse shows the necessity of divine laws and Prophets in order to justify punishment. The Quran again says : He does not misguide by it except the transgressors— 2:26Q. Allah causes the unjust to go astray —14:27Q. It appears therefore that the virtuous and the innocent are not led astray, but those that transgress His laws are made so. This is just like this saying : Allah does not give light to one who himself closes all the doors and windows of a room upon himself, but gives light to one who opens up the doors and windows. That is Allah's guidance and misguidance. In other words, the natural laws of God must operate and give rewards and punishment. There is no changing of such law. It is called Allah's guidance and misguidance. Look at a tiny seed. If it is placed under certain laws, it will grow into a big tree and yield fruits. That is its goal. If it is not placed under sun, water and earth, it will be destroyed. That is the transgression of its laws and the consequent punishment. Man also has got a certain amount of freedom to place himself under certain laws and grow into a useful citizen. In the spiritual world also, man is free to follow the divine laws. If these laws are obeyed, man will reach his goal, be it paradise or companionship with God ; but if not, he will destroy himself and will be going far away from his goal which he will reach after suffering a great deal for his falling back. Hear what the Quran says : So whoso follows the right way, it is for his own soul ; whoso errs, he errs against his own soul— 39:41Q. Hence Allah's guidance and misguidance mean the workings of natural laws. These laws are uniform and not at all capricious. Had they been capricious, no scientific invention would have been possible. The Quran says : There is no changing in Allah's creation (laws)—30:30Q. Hence taqdir means natural laws or ordinances, and as such it is not inconsistent with freedom of will. On the contrary, it helps it. It is a Taqdir that out of the union of male and female an issue will be born under certain circumstances and that seed of one kind cannot produce another kind. He who follows the above laws can create a child. God's direct interference is not at all necessary. The natural law must operate. "That an animal can move" has been pre-written. Hence the movements of men have been pre-written. This machine of the universe with its beings and things is going on thus according to certain immutable laws or Taqdir. These natural laws with consequent actions of individuals that will be done according to their choice in future were pre-written, and this is called "fate."

Allah's Knowledge. Allah is not bound by space and time. He knows the secrets of everything and its open, its past and future, every man's choice to guide himself or to misguide himself, his life and his death, his fortunes and his misfortunes, his abode in Hell or in Paradise. So it may be said that the actions of everyman and his consequent fate were pre-written in a book. It is not at all impossible as it is within the all-comprehensive knowledge of Allah long before the creation of man and his deeds. This pre-knowledge is called "the Book of Destiny." It is not true that actions follow according to the fate but man shapes his own destiny within his given power. In this sense it is said that what is lotted cannot be blotted. This is a mere foreknowledge of God and not God's doings. It does not mean that Allah actually chooses a wrong course for one man and right course for another, hell for one and heaven for another regardless of actions. Mere knowledge of a thing does not interfere with the choice of an agent.

Allah's power. It is true that Allah has got absolute power, and no power of anything can overthrow it. Allah remind men of His powers occasionally through phenomena of nature, namely earth-quakes, sinking down of lands, floods and thousand other vismajors. Man's power is very very limited and consequently his will is also very very limited. Allah has therefore power to guide and misguide by turning the wheel of human will, but that is regulated generally by His own laws. Sometimes in extreme cases of oppression, these laws are broken as in case of Abraham who was sitting safe in the fire.

ALLAH'S KNOWLEDGE : Quran—He knows the treasures of the unseen—6:59 ; conception, birth and duration of life written in a book—35:11 ; Allah encompasses all things in His knowledge—35:12 ; He knows your open and secret—6:3.

ALLAH'S POWER : Quranic references—6:17 ; all good and evil controlled by Allah—10:107 ; His is command and creation—7:54. Allah guides according to actions—4:111 ; Creator of everything—2:29 ; Sustainer of everything—11:6.

(d) Belief in Taqdir. What does it mean ? Belief is emphasised in a thing which is not within conception of man. When belief in pre-destination has been enjoined, it must be understood that without belief, arguments will not be sufficient and highly satisfactory to convince a man of this question. Therefore we must believe in Taqdir. It implies a belief that man is neither possessed of absolute power, absolute knowledge and absolute will, but his powder, knowledge and will are controlled by the hand of God according to certain laws and not arbitrarily. It is a belief that man has got no control over many things like birth, death, talents and gifts, but he has got a very limited control over his doings—either to follow the right course so as to bring reward or to follow the wrong course so as to bring punishment. It is a belief that everything is subject to Taqdir i.e. divine laws, popularly called natural laws of the universe. It is a belief that we must go on working and thereby shape our own destinies.

BELIEF IN TAQDIR : necessary—1:36 ; note 44 ; vow cannot alter Pre-measurement—24:21 ; Prophet feared lack of faith of his followers in pre-measurement—26:368w ; nothing repels a pre-decree except supplication—88:11.

NATURAL LAWS ARE TAQDIRS : Quran—alteration of night and day, fall of rain, changing of winds—2:164 ; 3:189 ; various kinds of fruits out of fall of rain—6:100, 42 ; sun bright and moon light—10:5 ; spread mountains and rivers, fruits are of two kinds—13:4 ; night and day two signs—17:12 ; all orbs travel in horizon—21:33 ; every beast has been created from water—24:45 ; night a covering and sleep a rest—25:47 ; difference in tongues and colour among men—30:23 ; Allah created pairs of all things—51:48 ; 36:36 ; sun runs to an appointed course, that is the Taqdir (ordinance) of the Mighty, Knowing ; moon has got stages (orbits) -36:39 ; everything runs to a fixed term—39:5 ; He creates you in the wombs of your mothers a creation after creation, a triple darkness—39:6 ; Allah revealed in every heaven itsa ffair—41:11 ; We made Taqdir of death among you and We are not to be overcome, in order that We may bring in your place the likes of you and make you grow into what you know not—56:60 ; a seed contains potentialities of mighty development if placed under laws—56:68 ; seven heavens and seven earths—65:12.

1. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Everything is according to a measure, even weakness and intelligence.

—Muslim

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم كُلُّ شَيْءٍ بِقَدَرٍ حَتّٰى الْعَجْزُ وَ الْكَيْسُ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

2. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Allah had written down the measures of creations 50,000 years before He created the heavens and earths. He said that His Throne was (then) upon water.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَتَبَ اللّٰهُ مَقَادِيْرَ الْخَلَائِقِ قَبْلَ اَنْ يَّخْلُقَ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَ الْاَرْضَ بِخَمْسِيْنَ اَلْفَ سَنَةٍ قَالَ وَ كَانَ عَرْشُهٗ عَلَى الْمَاءِ ـ (مُسْلِمٌ)

3. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Adam and Moses quarrelled before their Lord.[143] Adam got the better of Moses. Moses said : You are Adam whom Allah created with His hand, and He breathed unto you from His inspiration and made His angels prostrate before you and lodged you in His Paradise. Then you sent down men to the earth for your fault. Adam said : You are Moses, Allah selected you with His message and His word, and He gave you the tablets wherein there was clear exposition of everything and He took you quite close for secret talks. What period have you found that Allah wrote the Torah before I was created ? Moses said :

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِحْتَجَّ اٰدَمُ وَ مُوْسٰى عِنْدَ رَبِّهِمَا فَحَجَّ اٰدَمُ مُوْسٰى قَالَ مُوْسٰى اَنْتَ اٰدَمُ الَّذِيْ خَلَقَ اللّٰهُ بِيَدِهٖ وَ نَفَخَ فِيْكَ مِنْ رُّوْحِهٖ وَ اَسْجَدَ لَكَ مَلٰئِكَتَهٗ وَ اَسْكَنَكَ فِيْ جَنَّتِهٖ ثُمَّ اَهْبَطْتَ النَّاسَ بِخَطِيْئَتِكَ اِلَى الْاَرْضِ قَالَ اٰدَمُ اَنْتَ مُوْسَى الَّذِى اصْطَفَاكَ اللّٰهُ بِرِسَالَتِهٖ وَ بِكَلَامِهٖ وَ اَعْطَاكَ الْاَلْوَاحَ فِيْهَا تِبْيَانُ كُلِّ شَيْءٍ وَ قَرَّبَكَ نَجِيًّا فَبِكَمْ وَجَدْتَّ اللّٰهَ كَتَبَ التَّوْرٰةَ قَبْلَ

143. This took place in the spiritual world according to the Holy Prophet and he came to know it by revelation.

40 years. Adam said : Have you found therein : And Adam disobeyed his Lord and then went astray ? Yes said he. He said : Will you blame me for an action which I did, which Allah had written down against me that I would do it, 40 years before He created me ? The Apostle of Allah said : Adam then got upper hand over Moses. —Muslim.

أَنْ أُخْلَقَ قَالَ مُوسَى بِأَرْبَعِينَ عَامًا قَالَ

اللّٰهِ صلعم فَحَجَّ آدَمُ مُوسَى * (مُسْلِمٌ)

4. Ibn Mas'ud reported that the Ms. of Allah informed us (and he was truthful, trustworthy) : The creation of one of you is gathered in semen in the uterus of his mother for forty days, then it becomes clot of blood in similar (period), then it becomes a lump of flesh like that, then Allah sends an angel to him with four words and then he writes down his actions, his term, his provision and whether unfortunate or fortunate. Afterwards soul is breathed unto him. By One besides whom there is none to be worshipped, verily anyone among you would perform the actions of the inmates of Paradise till (when) it would remain between him and it (Paradise) but only a cubit, the ordinance would come to prevail over him. 5. Sahl-b-Sa'ad reported that the Ms. of Allah said : Verily a servant would do the actions of the inmates of the fire while he would be one of the inmates of Paradise, and he would do the actions of the inmates of Paradise while he would be one of the inmates of the fire. Verily actions will be judged by the ultimate results. 1514

عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم إِنَّ الْعَبْدَ لَيَعْمَلُ عَمَلَ أَهْلِ النَّارِ وَ إِنَّهُ مِنْ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ وَيَعْمَلُ عَمَلَ أَهْلِ الْجَنَّةِ وَ إِنَّهُ مِنْ أَهْلِ النَّارِ وَ إِنَّمَا الْأَعْمَالُ بِالْخَوَاتِيمِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

6. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Verily Allah pre-ordained for the son of Adam his share of fornication. That will overtake him without doubt. Fornication of eye is (bad) look, fornication of tongue is argument, and mind entertains hopes and passions, and anxiety makes it true or false. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim, he said : There has been ordained for the son of Adam his share of fornication.

عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم إِنَّ اللّٰهَ كَتَبَ عَلَى ابْنِ آدَمَ حَظَّهُ مِنَ الزِّنَا أَدْرَكَ ذٰلِكَ لَا مُحَالَةَ فَزِنَا الْعَيْنِ النَّظَرُ وَ زِنَا اللِّسَانِ الْمَنْطِقُ وَ النَّفْسُ تَمَنّٰى وَ تَشْتَهِي وَ الْفَرْجُ يُصَدِّقُ ذٰلِكَ وَ يُكَذِّبُهُ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَ فِي رِوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ قَالَ كُتِبَ عَلَى ابْنِ آدَمَ نَصِيبُهُ

1514. Here Khawatim is plural of Khatimah meaning either death or end. A man will go to Paradise or Hell according as he keeps his belief at the time of his death. This, however, is dependent upon previous good or bad actions in life time, Actions also are judged by the ultimate results of things. Therefore any action undertaken by any man must be finished,

That will come to pass beyond doubt. (As for) the two eyes, their fornication is (bad) look; and as for the two ears, their fornication is seeking to hear; and as for the tongue, its fornication is talk; and as for the hand, its fornication is catching; and as for the leg, its fornication is foot-step, and the heart entertains passion and hope, and anxiety makes that true or false.

7. Imran-b-Hussain reported that two men of Muzainah tribe asked: O Apostle of Allah! inform about what the people do to-day 1545 and labour therein. Is it a thing which has been pre-ordained over them and which has gone among them from measurement that has been pre ordained, or about what will occur in future out of what their Prophets gave them and so proof has been established among them? He said: No, rather a thing which has been pre-decreed for them and which has passed among them; and the corroboration of that is in the Book of Allah, the Glorious and Almighty: And by the soul and by Him who made it perfect. Then He intimated to it by inspiration its deviating from truth and its piety. 1546 —Muslim.

1545. To-day means this world.

1546. These are verses 91:7-8 of the Holy Quran. The remaining verses are :—He will indeed be successful who purifies it and he will indeed fail who corrupts it. The divine thing called "soul" is lodged in in a man and there is predecreed on it its freedom, either to tread the right path or the wrong one. In the former case, it will get salvation and in the latter case destruction. This is the ordinance here meant.

8. Abu Hurairah reported: I asked: O Ms. of Allah! verily I am a youthful man, and I fear hardship over myself. I don't find anything with which I can take wives. He was as it were seeking his permision for castration. He remained silent from me. Afterwards I asked like that and he remained silent from me. Afterwards, I asked like that and he remained silent from me. Then I asked like that. Then the Apostle of Allah said: O Abu Hurairah! pen has become dry about what you will meet. So either undergo castration over that or give up. 1547 —Bukhari.

9. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily the hearts of the children of Adam, the whole of them, are between two fingers of the Merciful like a single heart which He changes as He pleases. Afterwards the Ms. of Allah said: O Allah! O Changer of hearts! turn our hearts to Thy obedience.

10. Abu Musa reported that the Apostle of Allah stood among us with five sermons. He said:

عَنْ اَبِيْ مُوْسٰى قَالَ قَامَ فِيْنَا رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم بِخَمْسِ كَلِمَاتٍ فَقَالَ اِنَّ اللّٰهَ

1547. "Pen has become dry" means what has been decreed must come to pass. It is therefore all one whether one undergoes castration and thus kills passion or marries and gives up castration. One thing is very clear from this that sexual passion is a natural instinct for procreation of children. These instincts cannot at all be checked except by marriage.

Verily Allah does not sleep, nor it is becoming of Him to sleep ; He makes provision short and raises it up ; the actions of night are raised up to Him before the actions of the day, and the actions of the day before the actions of the night, and light is His screen. Had He disclosed it, the brilliances of His face would have burnt everything of His creation as far ar His sight would have gone. —Muslim.

11. Abu Hurairah reported that the Ms. of Allah said : The hand of Allah is full. No expense can reduce it. (He is) a great Bestower both day and night. Have you considered what He spent since He created the heaven and earth ? Verily what was in His hand has never diminished, and His Throne was upon water, and in His hand there is the Balance which He lowers and raises up. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim : The righthand of Allah is full.

He said: I created these for Paradise and with actions of the inmates of Paradise which they will do. Afterwards He rubbed his back with His hand and took out a progeny from him. He said: I created these for the fire and with actions of the inmates of the fire which they will do. A man asked: O Ms. of Allah! for what actions? The Ms. of Allah said: Verily when Allah creates a servant for Paradise, He keeps him engaged in the actions of the inmates of Therein are the names of the inmates of Paradise and the names of their fathers and their relatives. He said : Help and be near one another, because the inmate of Paradise will be sealed with an action of the inmates of Paradise whatever actions he might have done, and verily the inmate of the fire will be sealed with an action of the inmates of the fire whatever actions he might have done. 19. Abdullah-b-Amr reported : I heard the Ms. of Allah say : Verily Allah created His creations in darkness, and then cast His light upon them. So whoso got anything from that light found guidance, and whoso missed it became misguided. For this reason I say : Pen has become dried up over the knowledge of Allah. [1552]

—Ahmad, Tirmizi

1551. Ibn Majah narrated a similar hadis from Amr-b-Shuaib. The Holy Prophet prohibited discussion on Taqdir as it is not ordinarily intelligible, nor any discussion will lead to any profit It will be nothing but courting destruction.

1552. In other words, there is no change in the decree of Allah. It must come to pass.

20. Anas reported that the Apostle of Allah used often to say : O Changer of hearts ! make my heart firm upon Thy religion. I said : O Prophet of Allah ! I believed in you and in what you have come with. Do you still fear for us ? 'Yes' said he, 'verily the hearts are between two fingers out of the fingers of Allah. He changes them as He likes.'

If he is one of the inmates of Paradise, he is of the inmates of Paradise, and if he is one of the inmates of the fire, he is of the inmates of the fire. He will be said : This is your place till Allah will raise you up to it on the Resurrection Day.

1553. The Marjiyas are those who are disinclined to do any action on the belief that what has been lotted cannot be blotted. The Qadriyahs are those who altogether abolish belief in predecree and base their rewards in actions done. These are two opposite extreme views and hence these sects have bee declared illegal by Islam, for Islam accepted doctrive of faith in predecree as well as in freedom of will in a limited sense.

23. Ibn Omar reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : There shall come to pass sinking down of earth and metamorphosis tion among my followers, and that will be among those who will disbelieve in pre-decree.

1554 The Qadriyas have been called Magians because they are like Magians in believing the agencies of good actions and bad actions. The Magians believe that good comes from God of good and evil from the God of evil. The Qadriyas believe also that good comes from God and evil from the devil.

27. Ayesha reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: Whoso talks anything about predecree, shall be questioned about it on the Resurrection Day and whoso holds no talk about it, will not be questioned. —Ibn Majah.

28. Ibn ad-Dailami reported: I came to Obay-b-Ka'ab and told him that some doubt about predecree has fallen in my mind. So narrate a tradition, so that Allah may remove it from my mind. He said: Had Allah wished to punish the dwellers of His heavens and the dwellers of His earth, He could have punished them without being unjust to them, and had He wished to show mercy to them, His mercy would have been better for them than their actions. If you spend gold like Uhud mountain in the way of Allah, Allah will not accept it from you till you believe in predecree and know that whatever afflicts you is not due to your fault, and whatever fault you commit does not go to afflict you. If you had died upon (a condition) other than this, you would have entered the fire. Then he said: I came afterwards to Abdullah-b-Mas'ud who also narrated like that. 1555. This tradition has laid a great emphasis on the faith in pre-decree. We must believe that God is the doer of everything inspite of our efforts. If he wishes, He may forgive us and if He wishes, He may punish us irrespective of our actions.

1556. This shows that it is not binding to return the greeting of an innovator. On the contrary, their boycott should be advocated.

who are these? He said: Your descendants. Then he saw a man among them whose spark of light between his two eyes pleased him. He asked: O Lord! who is he? He said: David. He asked: O Lord! how much hast Thou fixed as his age? He said: 60 years. He said: O Lord! give him an increase of 40 years from my age. The Ms. of Allah said that when the age of Adam finished except 40 years, the angel of death came to him and Adam said: Is it not that 40 years remain out of my age? He said: Have you not granted it to your descendant David? Then Adam quarrelled, and so his descendants quarrelled; and Adam forgot and ate from the tree and so his desendants forgot, and he committed sin and so his descendants committed sin. —Tirmizi.

this. Know that there is no deity besides Myself, and no Lord besides Myself and associate not anything with Me. Verily I shall soon send you My messengers, reminding you of My covenant and promise, and I shall reveal to you My books. They all replied: We bear witness that Thou art our Lord and our Deity. There is no Lord for us besides Thee and no Deity for us besides Thee. So they corroborated that. And Adam (peace be on him) was raised up among them to look towards them. Then he saw the rich, the poor, the beautiful of appearances and others. He said: O Lord! would that Thou hast made Thy servants equal! He said: Verily I like that I should be given thanks. Then he saw the Prophets among them like lamps with light upon them. They were particularised with another covenant about divine message and prophethood, and that is His verse, the Blessed and the Almighty: And when We took from the Prophets their covenants-up to His saying—Jesus, son of Mary, who was among those souls. He sent him to Mary (peace be on her). It has also been narrated from Obai that he entered from the side of her mouth.

CHAPTER XXXIII

1565. Sins and Virtues.

(a) What are Sins and Virtues? There are two-fold duties of a man, duty towards God and duty towards His creations. These duties were clearly laid down in the Quran and Hadis. Observance of these duties is called virtue, and the negligence or breach thereof is called sin. virtue and sin result from lawful and unlawful things or good and bad things. Why is this distinction of acts as lawful or unlawful, good or bad, virtuous or sinful? Why are we to move within the fixed circles of duties and prohibitions? The reason is not far to seek. Man is endowed with soul which has not been given to anything else in this world. Man is the lord of creation by virtue of this soul. This soul will reach perfection if it is placed under certain laws, and it will degrade to the lowest abyss if it neglects these laws and does what has been prohibited. The stage of development of soul is called its Paradise and the stage of its degradation is called Hell. Take its lesson from the body. If the body is placed under certain rules of health and hygiene, it will develop to normal growth; and if not, it will decay leading ultimately to its destruction.

The observance of the laws of health and hygiene is incumbent for the preservation and growth of the body. Hence the observance of the rules of the Quran and Hadis is compulsory for preservation of the soul from the fire and for its continued progress. Take further lesson from a tiny seed. It has got potentialities of development and growth if placed under certain conditions called its laws. If not, it will be nipped in the bud. Therefore it is for our own good that we should follow the laws conducive to the health of our soul and avoid the laws that will degrade it. The former laws are called virtues and the latter sins. God requires no virtuous deeds of men as He is free from the needs of the world—29:6Q. It is for the perfection of our own souls that we require virtuous deeds. The Holy Quran says: No soul earns evils but against itself—6:165Q. Whoso strives hard strives only for his own soul—29:6Q. There are innumerable verses reminding us of this object of divine service. Hence Islam cuts at the root of the idea that particular gods or goddesses should be pleased with worship and sacrifice of animals. The question of virtue and sin still remains to be further explained. Soul cannot be pleased with what is evil as its natural tendency is to strive towards good. The natural function of eye is to see and of ears to hear. Similarly the natural function of soul is strive towards the laws that are conducive to it. Hence what the normal soul is pleased with is called virtue, and what it rejects or doubts is called sin. A pure soul cannot be pleased with what is evil. Hence a pious man can discern what is virtue and what is sin. This cannot be done by an impious soul as it has been partly robbed of its natural function of discerning by the impious deeds. It is therefore seen sometimes that a man feels pleasure in the commission of sins. The Holy Prophet said in this connection when asked about virtue and sin: Virtue is what thy soul is pleased with, and sin is what kindles doubt in thyself and indecision in thy chest though people gave thee decision—3:459w. In another place he said about sin: When anything smites you within yourself, avoid it—1:2w. Many men have got many minds just as they have got different faces, but the soul is the same in all men in the initial stage. Hence the laws of its preservation and development are the same in the Quran and Hadis.

(b) Man is born sinless. Islam adopts the doctrine that a child is born sinless and remains in this state till the age of discretion. Responsibility begins with the advent of discretion in a man. It therefore follows that he who is insane and mad or under the age of discretion is free from sin from whatever parentage he comes. In other words, no minor child and no mad man to whatever religion they may belong can be held sinful. The Holy Prophet therefore said : There is no child but is born upon nature (Islam). Then his parents make him a Jew, or a Christian, or a Magian 2 : 30. The Quran proclaims : Every child is born in the religion (of Islam) 30:30Q and as such is not sinful. A contrary view is held by some religions. It is said that man is born with a bundle of sins on his back. If this theory is accepted, it begins with an unreasonble proposition. What was the fault of man when creation did not at all begin ? Who committed the first sin ? It goes then to God Himself who was the First. This is therefore a preposterous proposition and teaches us to start with a defective conscience. Which is the more reasonble view ?—whether man is punished and rewarded in this world for his sins and virtues in a previous life before his birth or whether he is punished and rewarded in this world and in a future life for his sins and virtues committed in this world ? Reason dictates in favour of the latter.

(c) In every act, there is Sin and Virtue. Sin and virtue are the results of a particular action done in a particular manner, or in a particular moment, or in a particular place. In other words, exercise of power by a man in one way or the other produces good and evil, and the same act may be virtue on one occasion and sin on another. Coition with wife is no sin, while it amounts to sin with a strange woman. Coition with wife in menstrual period is sin. Hence the same act of coition amounts to virtue and sin in different circumstances. Murder of a man in defence of self or religion is no sin, while his murder without just cause is a sin. Therefor God has given us everything. We are only to use our discretion in doing or abstaining from doing a thing. The principles of using this discretion have been laid down in the Quran and Hadis.

(d) Punishment for sin and reward for virtue. This question has already been partly explained. To add to it, it may be said that the punishments for sins and rewards for virtues are the natural laws of the Almighty like the laws of birth and death, growth and deacy of the things of nature. All the Prophets and all the religious personalities emphasised this important fact without any difference of opinion. Hence it is an immutable law that there are rewards for good actions and punishments for bad actions. Islam says that these rewards and punishment will take place in full in the next world and that they may not come to this world. Out of the seed of paddy, only paddy will grow, and out of human life-germs only man will be born. Similarly out of good actions, good rewards will follow and not punishment. The Quran therefore reminds us of this law of nature in the moral and spiritual kingdom. "And the recompense of evil is evil like it"—42:40Q. "Is the reward of goodness aught but goodness"—55:60Q ? Sin has got the property of destruction while virtue amelioration. If the destroying food is taken by the body, it will suffer. Similarly if the sins are committed, the soul will suffer ; and if the virtuous acts are done, it will develop. There is therefore reward or punishment of every action we do in this world. There's no escape from it unless mercy is shown by God.

(e) Good removes evil. In many places in the Quran and Hadis, it has been stated that sins are forgiven if particular acts of virtue are done in a praticular manner. The Quran says : If you shun the great things of which you have been forbidden, We will compensate for your evils and cause you to enter to an honourable place—4:31Q. And those who believe and do good deeds, We will surely do away the evil deeds from them—29:7Q. This rule of the effacement of the evils by virtuous deeds is strictly in accordance with the scientific law of the opposite. Heat is removed by cold and cold by heat. In like manner, good removes evils. Virtue is light and sin is darkness. Light cannot live in darkness. Similarly true virtue cannot live with sin. Constant virtuous practices keep the devil miles away. When a man begins to shun evil, inclination for evil gradually dies away, and out of the death of these inclinations in mind, there grows out the intention of doing virtuous deeds. At this stage, the virtuous take delight in doing good deeds and even keep away from some lawful things for fear of falling into sin. The sinners on the other hand take delight in their sins and think them innocent. In this sense, occasional deeds of virtue have salutary effect upon moral and spiritual development, These are effective medicines for sins. The Quran says : If anyone of you does evil in ignorance, then repents after that and does a good act, He is then Forgiving, Merciful—6:54Q. Sin makes a spot in mind. If that spot is not allowed to take a deep root in the soil of mind, it is practically uprooted. This should be done immediately after the commission of the sinful act. This is the meaning of forgiveness by Allah. The Quran therefore declares : Repel evil with what is best —41:34Q.

(f) Virtue increases but sin does not. A virtuous act increases according to the motive and efforts of the virtuous man by ten to hundreds. It is therefore heard from the theologions that ثواب (reward) increases by seventy times, or by seven hundred times, or by seven thousand times. What does this number signify ? Does it sound unreasonble ? Ofcourse, religion does not stand upon mathematical calculation, still for human conception the numbers are stated to give a clear idea of the gradual increase of rewards. What do we find in nature ? If a paddy seed is sown, it will grow hundreds of paddy seeds in proportion to labour. That is why the Quran says : The parable of those who spend their property in the way of Allah is as the parable of a grain growing seven ears with a hundred grains in every ear ; and Allah multiplies for whom He pleases—2:261Q. Whoso brings a good deed, he shall have ten like it—6:161Q. This is the least reward of a good deed. Regarding sin, the Quran says : Whoso brings an evil deed, he shall be recompensed only with the like of it. This is the maximum punishment of an evil act. This takes place by divine mercy. It has been emphasised in another verse : Whoso does an evil, it shall not be recompensed with aught but the like of it—40:40Q. In this connection, it should be borne in mind that whatever misfortunes or calamities befall on us, it is on account of what our hands have wrought. The Quran says : And whatever misfortune befalls on you, it is from yourself—4:79Q. It is, however, seen sometimes that a virtuous man is punished more than a sinner in this world. This is because the virtuous man is purged of his evils by the fire of calamities of this world, while the sinner will be purified by the fire of Hell in the next world.

(g) Is bad intention (waswasah) sin ? The Holy Quran says : And if you disclose what is in yourselves or keep it concealed, Allah will take account of you thereabout. Then He will forgive whom He pleases and punish whom He pleases—2:284Q. This shows that there will be accounting of our deeds and even of intentions on the Resurrection Day. This has been explained by tradition No. 33:5 which runs thus : Verily Allah pardoned my followers for what their breasts prompt towards evils so long as they do not do it or utter. From these, it is learnt that there will be accounting of deeds and intentions but there will be no punishment for mere intentions untranslated into actions or gestures. This view has been made more clear in the following verse : Allah will not punish you for what is vain in your oaths, but He will punish you for what your breasts have earned—2:225Q. This verse speaks of intentional oaths. Unintentional oath is even forgiven, though it is uttered in words. Even action done through mistake brings no sin, while action with intention brings sin. The Quran says : There is no blame on you concerning that in which you made a mistake but (concerning) that which your hearts intended—33:5Q. Thus action with intention or intention with action brings sin, while action through mistake or ignorance, or intention without action brings no sin.

(h) Waswasah and Ilham. Waswasah are the evil thoughts that arise in mind, and Ilham is opposed to waswasah meaning passing idea of good thoughts or inspiration. Evil thoughts are of two kinds voluntray and involuntary. Involuntary evil thoughts are again of two kinds-temporary (هاجس) and lasting (خاطر). These ideas suddenly arise in mind without intention. No sin is attached to these ideas. The Quran says : Those who keep aloof from the great sins and the indecencies except the passing ideas, surely your Lord is liberal in forgiving—53:32Q. Voluntary evil thought is that which arises is mind, lasts long and always vibrates the mind to commit sin. It is also pardoned so long as it is not expressed in overt action. If one can restrain oneself from this thought, he gets reward. There is another kind of voluntary evil thought which gives pleasure and incites to do immoral act without fear of allah. This is sinful. (Mazhare Hoq).

(I) Record of deeds. Every action and voluntary intention of a man are recorded by two angels called Keraman Katebin (honourable scribes). The Quran says : And certainly there are keepers over you, honuorable scribes, they know what you do—82:10—12Q. And every thing small and great is written down—54:53Q. And he who does an atom's weight of good shall see it, and he who does an atom's weight of evil shall see it—99:7Q. This record of deeds will be handed over to the owners on the Resurrection Day. They will find to their surprise that nothing small or great was left unrecorded. The Quran says : And the book shall he placed, then you will see the guilty fearing from what is in it, and they will say : Ah ! woe to us ! what a book is this ! it does not omit anything small and great but numbers them all—18:46Q. A student of modern times may ask—how can this take place ? The answer to him is—how can a man preserve dancings, songs and sounds of a man in gramophone records ? If man can do it, is it impossible for his Creator to preserve the deeds of men even without records ? How can a wireless machine transmit its news ? Ether and air preserve words and transmit them from one station to another. Even without angles, Allah can preserve deeds in the machine of soul, because it takes impressions of deeds and intentions. Hear what the Quran says : Nay, rust has fallen on their hearts—83:14Q. The Holy Prophet said also that black spots and white spots fall on heart —88:100. As soon as a sin is committed, a black imprcssion falls on the pure soul. If it is not removed, it remains and thus hundreds of black impressions make the whole region of heart black. It is the duty of every man to remove these black impressions by washing them with the waters of tears and repentances.

(j) Great and minor sins. Any breach of the fundamental duties of which the performance is Farz (compulsory) and Wajeb (obligatory) is called a great sin. Any breach of other minor duties is called a minor sin. Breach of any duty which the Holy Prophet used to do constantly without any break is a great sin. Constant repetition of a minor sin makes it a major one. The greatest crimes in the secular law are rebellion and murder. Similarly the greatest sin in the eye of God is disloyalty to God and murder without sufficient cause. The Quran says: Surely Allah does not forgive that anything should be associated with Him and He forgives what is besides that to whomsoever He pleases; and whoever associates anything with Allah, he devises indeed a great sin—4:48Q. The Quran explains this setting up of a partner with Allah as forging lies against Allah and to disbelieving in His communications as in the Quran and the previous revealed books—10:17Q. Imputations of falsehood consists also of setting up a son or wife with God or of disbelieving the hereafter—1:16. In case of disbelief in all these things and in the prophethoods of Muhammad, Jesus and others, all the good deeds of such a man will be brought to nought—18:103Q, just as the good actions of a rebel are brought to nought owing to his disloyalty to the Crown.

The following have been enumerated by the jurists to be the great sins :— (1) To set up a partner with Allah ; (2) to give up compulsory prayers ; (3) to give up payment of Zakat on the part of one on whom Zakat is due ; (4) to give up fasting of Ramadhan ; (5) to give up pilgrimage on the part of one on whom pilgrimage is due ; (6) not to obey parents, especially in their old age and poverty—7:23Q ; (7) to commit fornication ; (8) to kill a man unjustly ; (9) to drink wine—5:90Q. (10) to indulge in games of chance—5:90Q ; (11) indecencies open and secret—7:33Q ; (12) rebellion without just cause—7:33Q ; (13) misappropriating the property of an orphan unjustly—17:34Q ; (14) to play deceit in weight and measure—17:35Q (15) to take boast—17:37Q ; (16) to speak falsehood ; (17) to depose falsely and to take false oath ; 17. to commit theft and dacoity (18) to play or learn sorcery ; (19) to marry a relative within the prohibited degrees ; (20) to have friendship with the unbelievers to the detriment of Islam ; (21) to take property of another by oppression ; (22) to take and give interest and usury ; (23) to eat meat of dead animals and swine ; (24) to practise sooth saying ; (25) to slander the chastity of a male or a female ; (26) to break off the blood-tie ; (27) to break up promise ; (28) to flee away from holy war ; (29) to fight against fellow Muslims unjustly ; (30) to create forgeries on Prophet's words ; (31) to speak ill of the Prophet ; (32) to speak ill of the Prophet's companions ; (33) to suppress facts ; (34) to take bribe ; (35) to create dissension between two men ; (36) to bear malice ; (37) to spend extravagantly or to be miserly ; (38) spying ; (39) to create disturbance in the land ; (40) to make innovation in religious affairs ; (41) to repeat commission of minor sins , (42) to be naked ; (43) to commit suicide ; (44) to remain impure where bath is Farz ; (45) to disbelieve Taqdir ; (56) to break treaty ; (47) to call men towards misguidance ; (48) all plays except three ; (49) to address a Muslim "Kafir" ; (50) to do injustice in a decision ; (51) to do injustice between wives ; (52) to cohabit with a menstruating woman ; (53) to cohabit with an animal.*

1568. Good conduct is the sum total of all virtues dictated by Islam. See note 316 for full discussion. The great sign of virtue and vice is that in case of the former, the doer and the people are pleased with it; and in the case of the latter, they are displeased with it. In the case of the former, there is no tendency of keeping it secret, while there is such tendency in the latter.

1569. This hadis indicates that promptings of evils unless expresed in overt acts or utterances are pardoned. This seems to be contrary to the Quranic vere: And if you disclose what is in yourselves or keep it secret, Allah will take account of you thereabout. Then He will forgive whom He pleases and He will chastise whom He pleases (2:284Q). The hadis mentions about pardon only and not accounting. Unless there are accounts, there can not be pardon. Hence the Quranic verse is not inconsistent with the hadis.

13. Ibn Abbas reported that a man came to the Prophet and said: Verily I find a thing new in my mind. That I should be a burning coal is better to me than that I should speak it out. He said: All praise is due to Allah who turned his affair to evil promptings.

1571. This is a prophecy that there shall be pure monotheism and absence of idol worship in the whole peninsula of Arabia up to the Resurrection Day. This has been literally fulfilled up to the present Day. There is not a single idol or its worship in the whole of Arabia. Had the Prophet not been a Prophet of Allah, his prophecy would have borne th e stamp of falsehood. There will be dissension and partisanship in Arabia either for political power or for any other object. This is also seen at present in Arabia.

14. Ibn Mas'ud reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Verily there is a prompting of the devil in the son of Adam and a prompting of the angel. As for the prompting of the devil, it is to return to vice and falsify truth, and as for the prompting of the angel, it is to return to good and corroborate with justice. So whoso perceives that, let him know that it is from Allah and let him praise Allah ; and whoso perceives the contray, let him seek refuge to Allah from the devil. Afterwards he read : Verily the devil threatens you with poverty and enjoins you to be niggardly.[1572] —Tirmize (Rare.)

15. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : People will not cease asking till they will ask : He is Allah who created everything, but who had created the Almighty and Glorious Allah ? Bukhari narrated it, but it is reported by Muslim : He said that the Almighty and Glorious Allah said : Verily your people will continue to ask : "What is this ? What is this ?" till they will say : This is Allah who created creation. But who created the Almighty and Glorious Allah ?

1572. This is the verse 2:268Q.

16. Osman-b-Abil-A's reported: I asked: O Ms. of Allah! verily the devil revolves between me and my prayer and my Quran-reading throwing doubt in me. Then the Ms. of Allah said: That is the devil called Khenjab; so when you feel it, seek refuge to Allah from him and spit thrice to your left side. Accordingly I did it and so Allah removed him from me [1573] —Muslim.

عَنْ عُثْمَانَ بْنِ اَبِى الْعَاصِ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ اِنَّ الشَّيْطَانَ قَدْ حَالَ بَيْنِي وَ بَيْنَ صَلَاتِي وَ بَيْنَ قِرَاءَتِي يَلْبِسُهَا عَلَيَّ فَقَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم ذَاكَ شَيْطَانٌ يُقَالُ لَهُ خِنْزَبٌ فَاِذَا اَحْسَسْتَهُ فَتَعَوَّذْ بِاللّٰهِ مِنْهُ وَ اتْفُلْ عَلٰى يَسَارِكَ ثَلٰثًا فَفَعَلْتُ ذٰلِكَ فَاَذْهَبَهُ اللّٰهُ عَنِّي * (مُسْلِمٌ)

17. Ibn Mas'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah said: No man is killed unjustly but there is a share of his murder upon the first son of Adam, because he was the first who introduced murder. [1574] —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تُقْتَلُ نَفْسٌ ظُلْمًا اِلَّا كَانَ عَلَى ابْنِ اٰدَمَ (ص) الْاَوَّلِ كِفْلٌ مِّنْ دَمِهَا لِاَنَّهُ اَوَّلُ مَنْ سَنَّ الْقَتْلَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

18. Abdullah-b-Amr reported that the Messenger of Allah said: One tyrannical, one disobedient to parents and one addicted to drinking shall not enter Paradise. —Nisai, Darimi.

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَدْخُلُ الْجَنَّةَ مَنَّانٌ وَلَا عَاقٌّ وَلَا مُدْمِنُ خَمْرٍ * (اَلنَّسَائِيُّ وَالدَّارِمِيُّ)

19. Same reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Trials will be impressed upon hearts like every stick of a mat. Whichever heart will drink it, one black impression will fall upon it; and whichever heart will reject it,

عَنْهُ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقُوْلُ تُعْرَضُ الْفِتَنُ عَلَى الْقُلُوْبِ كَالْحَصِيْرِ عُوْدًا عُوْدًا فَاَىُّ قَلْبٍ اُشْرِبَهَا نُكِتَتْ فِيْهِ نُكْتَةٌ سَوْدَاءُ فَاَىُّ قَلْبٍ اَنْكَرَهَا نُكِتَتْ

1573. This shows that in the midst of prayer, it is allowed to seek refuge to Allah and to spit Thrice for the purpose of avoiding the devil. Some learned men do not support this on the ground that spitting can not be done in the midst of prayer.

1574. The first man who committed murder unjustly was Qabil (Cain), son of Adam. Qabil quarelled with his brother Habil (Abel) relating to certain thing and as a result the murder took place. The Quran has got reference to this incident in the verses 5:27-32Q.

Then they both came to the Holy Prophet and asked him about nine clear verses. The Ms. of Allah replied : Set up nothing with Allah, nor steal, nor commit adultery, nor kill a soul which Allah has prohibited except for just cause, nor take an innocent man to a man of power that he may put him to death, nor practise sorcery, nor devour interest, nor caste blasphemy on a chaste woman, nor turn back for flight in a day of fight, and you, the Jews, have got a special thing not to exceed the limit on Sabath Day. You often take to curse and are ungrateful to companions. What I see from one of you about defect of wisdom and religion in comparison with the wisdom of a wise man is a proof. They asked : And what is the defect in our religion and intelligence, O Ms. of A'lah ? He said : Is not the attestation of a woman like half of the attestation of a man ?

459w. Wabesah-b-Ma'bad reported that the Messenger of Allah said: O Wabesah! you have come to ask me about virtue and sin. 'Yes' said I. He said that he joined his fingers and then held them over his chest and said thrice: Ask decision to your soul, ask decision to your heart. Virtue is what the soul is pleased with, virtue is what the heart is pleased with, and sin is what kindles doubt in soul and indecision in chest though people give you decision.[1577]

It means that in doubtful things which have not been made clear in the Quran and Hadis about their being lawful or unlawful, the heart should not accept it. It is equivalent to sin. What has been however made clear, the dictation of conscience has got no voice therein.

CHAPTER XXXIV

1580 Prayer

(a) What is paryer ? It is the outpourings of heart to the Great Maker. A sense of faith in a higher Power than oneself for help and guidance, fear of that Power, humility in the presence of the Power, hope for mercy and a feeling of repentance and regret for the omissions and commissions constitute prayer. Again, mind has the natural attribute of soaring higher and higher as it came from the Most High. It is not at all stationary. This aspiration of the human mind towards the Highest Ideal is done through prayers and supplications. Words emanating from the innermost recess of the heart possess potentialities of producing wonderful effect. They have not the wings of birds and yet they can fly, no ears (eyes) to see and yet they can see, no legs to walk upon and yet they can soar high to penetrate the divine veil. It is only through prayer that the veil between man and God can be uplifted. It can approach up to the Highest Mind and can converse with each other. This drawing together of the two—their intercourse and conversation—is known in religion as prayer. True prayer directs the self towards one single goal and to tread one straight path. The final stage of prayer is immerging of self to the Universal Self, and will to the Universal Will. Such a man always says "Thy will be done". The Quran therefore teaches us to say : Verily my prayer, and my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the universe (6:163Q).

(b) What is the necessity of Prayer ? Man is man because of his soul. Minus soul, man is a beast. Beast is nourished by food, but soul is nourished by spiritual food. That is done through prayer. Hence man has got two-fold duties— to nourish the body with food and to nourish the soul with prayer. Unless it is done, man turns himself a beast. Prayer is not necessary because God requires it, but because man needs it for perfection. If no prayer is offered, the soul of man will suffer and not God just as the body suffers if no food is given to it. There results the death of body by starvation. Similar is the case with soul if spiritual food is denied to it. There is constant clash between flesh and soul in a man. If soul is not made strong, flesh will gain upper hand and lead the soul to destruction. On the other hand, if soul is made strong by prayer, it prevails over flesh and starts on its onward march of spiritual progress reaching ultimately to the "Blessed companionship." The Quran therefore gave the most important stress upon prayer by mentioning it 85 times. It says : O men, serve your Lord who created you 2:21Q. And seek assistance through patience and prayer, and surely it is a hard thing except for the believing ones—2:15Q. It (prayer) is a consolation to them—20:130Q. Secondly, prayer is necessary as man is weak and in constant need. When everything is baffled to cure a man, he naturally turns towards his Creator for succour and relief. This is the natural mode of mind. When he finds himself in his last breath either in the fathom of sea or in the mouth of a tiger, his mind naturally calls : O God ! help me. There is no escape but from uttering it. Even an atheist remembers God at that time. Prayer is therefore necessary because man is weak and God is powerful, because man is in constant need and God can remove it. The relation between man and God is thus maintained through prayer. Thirdly, prayer is necessary to drink deep in the fountain of divine morals.

Man can anoint himself with the divine attributes through prayer. Man's soul contains vast potentialities of development just like a tiny seed. This development can he attained through prayer. Our eye-sight, power of hearing and capacity for thinking are very much limited. We can increase the inner powers through prayers from the Great Source. Hence it has been rightly said: More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of.

Everything in the world prays. Mountains pray sitting, trees standing, quadrupeds bending and creeping animals prostrating. All the religions of the world recognise also the efficacy of prayer in some from or other. All the religious personalities of the world laid tremendous stress upon prayer. Muhammad, Jesus, Moses and Abraham (peace be on them) who guide the people of the globe with their teachings had to fall prostrate before the Almighty to wreck the mighty forces of evil when they were baffled in their attempts. They had their heart most sinere, and faith most forceful. Being imbued with divine love gained in fervent prayer, the early heroes of Islam dashed to pieces the mighty devilish forces of the empires of the Chosroes and the Cæsars within a marvellously short time and hoisted the banners of Tauhid in their palaces. Prayer is therefore the most important means of taking a man nearer to God and nearer to men. In other words, it teaches a man his duty towards God and his duty tawards His creation. Had there been no prayer, man would have thought himself absolutely independent and God would not have been a living force.

(c) The Prophet gave a perfect form of Prayer. There was the institution of prayer in all the religions. Islam added new meaning to it. The object of prayer in Islam is one Absolute God. There is nothing in nature which is fit to be worshipped. The entire universe is for the service of man, the lord of creation, and man is for service of the Creator. Hence the object of worship in Islam is the Great God. Prophets, saints and great men are only entitled to respect and not worship. This unique idea in prayer teaches us to concertrate our mind towards the Great Ideal. Secondly, Islam introduced in prayer clock-like regularity. How much it is ridiculous to think that food for physique is required many times a day while food for soul is not necessary but once in a week—Sunday or Saturday. Islam supplies daily spiritual food to the soul and does not keep six days for business without remembrance of God. It is supplied not once but at least for five times, not arbitrarily but at fixed times. It is the daily routine work of the Muslims. In leasure or in business, in towns or in villages, in sea or in land, in peace or in war, a Muslim must surrender himself before his Maker at least five times a day. Even when busiest, he would still be able to disengage himself from all wordly occupations and fall in prostration and bowing before the Great Lord. Prayer is the ;rst duty of a Muslim when he gets up from bed and it is his last duty when he goes to bed. It is therefore a fact that the Muslims as a nation have a more vital faith in God than the followers of other religions. A Muslim is being tried daily by God in the busy occupations of daily life. The timings of the prayers are also most trying. They fall due just when a man is most busy. A Muslim thus shows that a moment with God is better than Solomon's kingdom. Thirdly, it is the characteristic of Islamic prayer that it can be said anywhere under the canopy of sky. Wherever the prayer time comes, a Muslim at once falls in bowing and prostration either in mosque, or in field, or in sea, or on the top of a house. He does not require a church or a temple to pray. He does not require a decorated house. All that he requires is a decorated mind imbued with divine love. Fourthly, Islam introduced in prayer regularity method and uniformity. What is the necessity of outward forms? There are two sides of prayer—external and internal. One is the body while another is the life of prayer. As life cannot live without a body, so prayer cannot live without external forms and movements. An idea cannot live without an institution, and a thought without an object of thought. Therefore the spirit of prayer cannot be activety maintained without external movements. To maintain the spirit of law and order is the object of every good government, yet it cannot be maintained without the huge machinery of regulated government and enactments. Similar is the necessity of external forms and certain enacted rules for keeping the spirit of prayer in intact. The indirect objects of prayer, namely, universal brotherhood, unity of the human race etc. cannot be achieved without outward forms and regularity prevailing uniformly throughout the Muslim world. A praying man surrenders himself before the Great Master. As surrender to a king is not effective without bowing and prostration on the ground and standing with folded hands and looking down, surrender in prayer is not forceful if not expressed in bowing, standing and prostration. In giving out the expressions of humiliation and surrender, both mind and body should correspond. There is a mysterious relation between body and mind. A healthy body contains a healthy mind which contributes to the health of the soul. Health of body is acquired by the kind of external food it takes. Therefore there is distinction between lawful and unlawful food. Out of juice of fruits, health is created. Similarly health of soul is maintained out of the spirit of awe and reverence arising out of the external movements in prayer. Therefore external movements are necessary for the inner development of self. Islam is unique therefore in introducing method and uniformity in prayer. All these things combined together with what follows about direct and indirect objects of prayer prove conclusively that the Prophet gave a finishing touch to the true form of prayer as to all other attributes of man.

(d) Objects of prayer in Islam. There are direct and indirect objects of Islamic prayer. Hence it has been mainly divided into two parts, private and public, single and congregational. Both the parts combined teache us how best to serve Allah and His creation. There in the service of God and service of humanity in general lies the salvation of mankind.

(i) Direct objects of Prayer.

(1) To remember God and to seek touch with Him. The Holy Quran says : Surely I am Allah, there is no god but I, therefore serve Me, and keep up prayer for My remembrance—20:14Q. This remembrance of God is said to be the greatest object of prayer. The Quran says : And certainly the remembrance of Allah is the greatest—29:45Q. Make prostration and draw nigh to Allah—96:19Q. Glorify the name of your Lord morning and evening—76:25Q. Thus the Quran and Hadis (34:105) declare that to glorify and to remember Allah is the greatest object of prayer. To explain it more clearly it is seen that in this world there is nothing so great as man, there is, nothing in man so great as soul and there is nothing in soul so great as the remembrance of God. In this sense the remembrance of Allah is the greatest. Now what does the remembrance of Allah signify ? It is to remember His mighty power, His grace and bounty, His mercy and forgiveness, His rewards and gifts and the weakness of man. Such remembrance for at least five times a day cannot allow a sinful mind to remain in sin but fills it up on the contrary with electricity of divine love. How can a man love his beloved unless he remembers him too often ? Omission of remembrance amounts to rejection of faith in God. It has therefore been said by the Prophet : To give up prayer is infidelity—31:3. The distinguishing feature between a believer and an unbeliever is prayer—31:2. The worshipper allows himself to merge into the divine Self just like a choloroformed man and finds relish to drink deep in the divine morals. The Quran therefore says : Behold ! the hearts find consolation in the remembrance of Allah—13:28Q. As the body gets consolation and relish by taking food, so also a worshipper gets consolation by giving spiritual food to soul. It is a coolness that is derived from the nearness of God and from a conversation with God. As two wireless machines can talk with each other, the human mind and the Universal Mind can also talk secretly with each other.

(2) The Second direct object is self-purification. There are two tendencies in a man—Satanic and Angelic. The former is the destructive forces, while the latter constructive. Prayer destroys the destructive forces and helps the march of constructive forces. It kills devilish tendencies and helps the angelic ones. Even the name 'Salat' signifies this. Salat comes from sala meaning burning. Salat therefore burns the evil tendencies in a man. The Quran therefore declares : Verily prayer removes indecencies and evil (29:45Q). How can evil thoughts occur in a mind which remembers Allah at least five times a day ? Body is washed of external impurities by bath while soul is washed of impure ideas by prayer. The Prophet therefore enquired of Abu Hurairah : Inform me that if there be a river by the side of the door of any of you wherein he takes bath five times a day, will there remain anything of dirt ? 'No' said he "there will remain nothing of his dirt.' He said : Thus is the prayer for five times. Prayer blots out all sins therewith—34:2. When rust of sin falls on soul, prayer can remove it. Prayer is light. How can light live in darkness? The magnetic force of prayer keeps away the evils from enternig into the threshold of heart.

(ii) Indirect objects. Prayer in Islam has got many indirect objects to fulfil. It looks to the duty towards Allah as much as to the duty towards His creation. This is done by following the divine attributes in dealing with fellow beings. The Prophet said : "Imbue thyself with divine attributes." By remembering Allah, we not only remember His unity, glory, majesty, power, mercy. and forgiveness, but also we learn from these to remember the sufferings of the humanity, to think all men as children of the same father and to show mercy and forgiveness even in case of faults. By prayer, we anoint ourselves with divine morals so that they may be put into practice in our work-a-day life with our fellow beings. Some prominent features of prayer in Islam which go to teach us the divine morals are the following :—

(1) It teaches complete democracy in practice. In the mosques or any praying place, there is reign of complete democracy in its naked form. All differences of rank, colour and creed are buried in oblivion, and all stand shoulder to shoulder before the Maker, the king along with his poorest subject, the rich gorgeously dressed along with a street beggar in rags, the proud learned along with the illiterate, the masters along with their servants and slaves, the teachers with the laught, and the superiors with the subordinates. An atmosphere of brotherhood, equality and love totally differing from the world of strifes, struggles and petty jealousies and enmities of daily life reign in the houses of God. There could be no more levelling influence in the world as witnessed in the praying places. This practical training of equality and love are the lessons for the Muslims to be their guiding principles in outside world. This doctrine would have remained a dead letter had not this been put into practice daily in five congregalional prayers. There are no cushions for the rich, chairs for the middle class and tools for the poor and the black. All Muslims pray as if they are one man before one Maker.

(2) Prayer teaches unity among humanity. Congregational prayer have got a mighty force in the unification of the human race, while prayer in loneliness aims chiefly at the inner development of self. It unites all the people in a common place at fixed times with a bell of equality. There in the mosque, all the Muslims of the locality assemble at least 5 times a day to outpour their hearts before their common Father. The circle becomes greater when the people of several localities assemble on Friday for Zumma prayer, still greater is the unification of the Muslims in the I'd fields where all the muslims of some villages assemble, exchange their views and embrace one another after burying all their petty jealousies in oblivion and creating an atmosphere of good will and co-operation. What the French Revolution, the American War of Independence and the campaign against Czarist Russia have failed to achieve, Hazrat Muhammad (P. H.) have got the credit of establishing it throgh the institution of prayer. The Holy Prophet did not forget to establish the world Muslim League or Pan-Islam through the institution of Haj (pilgrmage) in the birth-place of Islam. This is the highest manifestation of the common brotherhood of man and the unification of the whole human race under the common fatherhood of God. All who assemble at Arafat cry with one voice "O God, we are present" This serves not only as a unification of the people of the globe but even of dress and mode of living. The whole of humanity assumes one aspect, one attitude and one dress before its Maker, and thus the grandest and the noblest sight of equality and unity is witnessed in the field of Arafat.

(c) Prayer affords opportunities to hear sermons and to confer. No religion has got regular organisations and regular timings of meetings. Islam only has got ordained meetings for which times and places were fixed by the Holy Prophet. Muslims need no assembly chambers and no legislative houses. Everything has got to be done in the mosques, I'd-fields and the holy precints of the Ka'ba. All Muslims lay their heads together in the mosque on a footing of complete equality on the questions concerning the welfare of the community. It is within the morques that measures of defences and expeditions were consulted, and decisions arrived at on politics, finance, education and religion. Islam therefore requires no separate council houses and educational institutions, and the Muslims require no legislation as the Holy Quran and Hadis form a complete code of life. Prayer in addition teaches that sermons are necessary for bringing the dead mind to life just as rain water brings a dead land to fertility. This is supplied by Friday and I'd sermons and specially by the recitation of the Quranic verses in the midst of prayer.

(4) Prayer teaches that God is equally approacable by all men. There is no intermediary between God and man in Islam. There is no pricsthood and no distinction between the clergy and the laity. The keys of heaven are not in the hands of one man. The poor and the rich, the high and the low, the learned and the illiterate, the high-born and the low-born, have all equal rights to pray to Allah and equally invoke mercy and forgiveness from Him. There is no favour to anybody except for piety. Prayer therefore teaches that Islam is a refuge for the down-trodden, the neglected, the depresed claeses and the untouchables.

(5) Prayer teaches that the Muslims as one body shall follow one leader in all their affairs. Whatever the leader (Imam) commands them to do, the follower must obey that with unquestioned submission. Therefore the leader must be on an elective principle. Once he is elected, there is no shilly-shallying. Even if he commits mistakes, they should be corrected by the followers. If he obeys it, it is all well. If he does not obey it, allegiance to the leader should still be maintained. Therefore allegiance to the Muslim king, however bad from individual standpoint, is necessary. If the leader goes beyond the fundamental rules of the state by not obeying the absolute order of bowing and prostration in prayer and not following the Quran, he must not be obeyed in that case.

(6) Prayer teaches punctuality and discipline in all of our daily works. Because of constant timely attendance in prayers for at least 5 times a day, we learn the virtue of punctuality in all our daily works. There is also complete discipline within the mosques. There is no reserved seat. The first comer occupies the front rank and even the mightiest monarch has got no right to pull him behind. No noise of any kind, no over-stepping over the necks of others and no departure from the fixed rules of movements of the body are allowed. This teaches us as to how to develop a sense of discipline in our offices, institutions, schools and colleges. It teaches also to have fixed time for each duty and to attend to it punctually without loss of time and without overlapping one duty over another. This sense of punctuality and discipline greatly helps methodical work and saves precious time.

7. Prayer helps bodily exercise and military training. In Islamic prayer, one has to bring all his bodily limbs into actions and even his toes and fingers. These movements of the limbs are by Divine Wisdom the perfect modes of physical exercise without undue strain on the body. Prayer also teaches the suitable times of exercise and the usefulness of punctuality in exercise. Those who pray constantly in a day need no walking and physical exercise. Prayer affords us a lesson also for military training. All soldiers of God must stand in congregation side by side in straight ranks with feet close and hands hanging down. Then by the signal of Allaho Akbar of the commander, all simultaneously raise their hands up to ear and then place them just below the nipple. Then simultaneously all must bow down at the signal of the commander in front and then prostrate down after keeping the centre of the body straight above the ground upon the hands and knee-joints, so that the bullets and guns may pass over them. At another command, all must stand up. Thus the very movement in prayer is like military drill and sufficent to frighten a strange enemy.

8. Prayer teaches us reverence for superiors. The movements in prayers are so prescribed as are the embodiments of humility and reverential attitude. From this, the servant learns how to show respect to his master, a son to his father, a subordinate to his superiors with this exception that bowing and prostration are reserved only for Allah.

9. Prayer teaches us cocentration of mind. Any education, any solution of an important matter, any thought on the wonderful workings of natural phenomena require concentration of mind as in mesmerism and hypnotism. This is highly valuable for a thoughtful man for intuitive knowledge and discovery and greatly helps power of memory. Prayer offers a lesson to achieve that object because the worshipper is to think in prayer nothing but Allah and His Power and Glory.

10. Prayer helps us to love cleanliness. It is compulsory for a Muslim to wash his principal bodily limbs such as hands, face, feet, nose, ear and head before each prayer thus requiring every man to wash these exposed limbs for at least five times a day.[1] Is it not salutary to health ? He goes to bed after washing his limbs, and when he rises in the morning he begins by washing his limbs. Teeth-cleansing before each time of prayer has been strongly recommended[2] by the Holy Prophet—7:75 ; and complete bath from impurities of sexual intercourse and menstrual discharge has been made compulsory before prayer.[3] Clothes and the praying places must be clean of all impurities. There are also prescribed rules of cleanliness from impurities arising out of calls of nature. These external purification is nothing but a prelude to the inner purification of soul from all corrupt ideas. These habits of cleanliness exercised daily for at least 5 times a day teach us to live neat and clean in all matters.

11. Prayer teaches us to rise early from sleep. Prayer compells us to rise early in the morning at the appearance of white colour in the eastern horizon up to the rising of the sun. The wise men also said : Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise. It is Islam which puts this into actual practice. Besides, it saves our most valuable time as the worshipper begins his day's work half an hour or one hour earlier. Half an hour or one hour's saving everyday would mean a great thing for a great man. One is to rise still earlier at the latter part of the night to say Tahajjad prayer which is optional. Such a worshipper is the most lucky about health, wealth, wisdom and time.

12. Praper affords us a lesson to know the pious and the sinners because the pious attend the mosque while the sinners do not. Among the attendants also, the strictly pious can be distinguished from others by their mode of movements and prayer. It is of immense value to recognise the men of the locality, their nature and conduct for the smooth running of wordly business. Because of our ignorance with the character and conduct of a man, we are often deceived.

13. Prayer helps love, friendship and healthy social relations. The cumulative effect of meeting 5 five times a day with the people of the locality is great and goes a great way in promoting healthy social relations between man and man. Prayer draws together men of various temperaments and cements friendship among the votaries.

14. Prayer helps power of memory and preservation of the Holy Quran and Arabic tongue. The Quran is to be recited in prayer. The Quran says : Read from the Quran what is easy (73:20Q). This necessitates us to learn the Quran and to commit it to memory, some of us a portion of it and some the whole of it. In Tarawih pryer, the whole of the Quran is generally recited. Thus the power of memory is greatly sharpened and the Quran is preserved in the tablets of hearts. There is another benefit. That is to keep the Arabic language quite alive. Every muslim however illiterate is conversant with the words of Allaho Akbar, Sobhan Allah, Bismillah, A'uzo billah etc. Thus a common Lingua Franca of Islam is kept as a living force in the common religion.

15. Prayer requires every Muslim to have primary education. Prayer requires a knowledge in the preseribed rules, Quran-readings, supplications and invocations, washing, bath, cleanliness from impurities etc. It is compulsory to be acquainted with all these articles of religion. This requires us to undertake an educational career. Prayer also requires us to understand what we read or utter. The Quran says : O you who believe, do not go to prayer when you are intoxicated, until you know well what you utter—4:43Q. This understanding requires learning and eduction, especially in the Arabic language. There is also no problem of founding separate schools and colleges on account of compulsory character of education. The mosques with the attached rooms serve the purpose of primary schools.

Has not then the prayer in Islam teaching so many things reached perfection ? Is it not then the panacea for all spiritual diseases ? Does it not teach the duty towards Allah and duty towards fellow beings ? Is it not a friend and a guide in life ? It is therefore that the Holy Prophet said : Prayer has been made a coolness for my eyes (34:15a).

(e) Sin of giving up prayer or praying carelessly. The object of prayer is to remember God. To deny to remember God by giving up prayer amounts to infidelity, because the distinguishing mark between Islam and infidelity is to remember only One God. The Holy Prophet therefore said : He who gives up prayer intentionally is indeed an infidel—34:15. It is therefore the chief reason that prayer was dearest to the Prophet—34:15a. He who demolishes prayer demolishes the chief pillar of Islam and consequently the sin of not praying is great. The Quran mentioned about prayer for no less than 82 times, and hence it laid the greatest emphasis on prayer. The sin of giving up prayer can therefore be better imagined than described.

The sin of praying carelessly is no less great. The chief object of prayer is remembrance of God and His attributes. If the prayer is said carelessly and negligently, the object is frustrated. A careless reader cannot reproduce his lessons to his master however much he might have read. Similarly prayer with an absent mind gives no appreciable benefit. On the contray, such a praying man sometimes commits sin in the following way. When he utters "Thee do we worship," he is remembering something on which his mind hovers over. The Quran therefore curses such praying man saying : Woe to the praying ones who are heedless in their prayer—107:7Q. Don't go near prayer while you are drunken till you know what you say, and be not of the heedless ones—7:204Q. Praying means whispering with Allah. So a praying man should be careful of what he utters and what he means by his utterances. At the time of talk before a mighty king if one is heedless of what he utters, he is punished if not driven away as a mad man. Similar is the punishment by the King of kings.

(f) Should no prayer be said if mind not in proper mood ? Some are apt to argue that it is useless to pray when mind is not in proper mood or when a man is not acquainted with even some verses of the Quran or the preliminary rules and regulations of prayer. This is entirely a wrong conception. To argue in this way amounts to the saying that a man should not read the simple

A, B, C, if he cannot read Shakespeare's poems all at once. First habituate yourselves to praying and then you will find ample taste. To pray when mind is soft means not to pray at all, because mind may not become soft. An illiterate man not knowing any verses.of the Quran may still get ample religious merits by bowing and prostration done in strict obedience to Divine command just as a loyal subject bows down to the orders of the Crown without trying to understand the import of the order. To disobey the command is to court punishment and displeasure of the Crown. Similarly to disobey the Divine Command on lame excuses is to make oneself liable to Divine Displeasure and consequently of sin and punishment. In such a case, the bodily movements are the languages of the worshipper giving full expressions of the feelings of heart.

(g) Excellence of Prayer. The excellence of prayer is great as it is the foremost duty of a Muslim and the chief of the pillars upon which the grand superstructure of Islam stands. It is the distinguishing feature between a Muslim and a non-Muslim. The Prophet's last instruction was about prayer and slave—2:94. He also said that a prolonged and continued prayer is the best of actions—2:94. The Holy Prophet also said that prayer expiates sins—34:466w. The Quran says: Prayer keeps one away from indecency and evil—Q. Besides the compulsory prayers, the sunnat prayers bring abundant rewards which have been described in 34:500, 508,509. He said: Whoever prays six rak'ats after sun-set prayer without talking evil between them will be given an equivalent of divine service for twelve years—34:514. See section 30 for the merits of prayers.

(h) Language of Prayer. Language is a vehicle of conveying thoughts and ideas to fellow beings. It is therefore on outer garb of thoughts. Even without language, thoughts can be exprssed partly by signs, gestures and movements as are done by the lower animals. Language is the more convincing form of expression. If, however, external movements are combined with utterances, it would be more effective and forceful just as the mixture of heat and water produces the powerful steam. Therefore prayer without language is not so effective. A mute sitting often brings no result as God is inconceivable.

The question is : What should be the language of Prayer ? Should it be said in Arabic which is the language of the Quran and the Prophet, or in the language of the worshipper ? There is a good deal of controversy about this matter. Imam Abu Hanifa upheld that prayer in any language is acceptable provided the spirit of prayer is maintained, while the other three Imams held that prayer must be said in the Arabic tongue. The practice for the last thirteen hundred years is in favour of the latter, and prayer is said invaribly in Arabic in all Muslim countries except in Turkey which prescribed the language of its own in prayer in recent times. Apart from the practice, let us see what the Quran and the reason dictate about the language. The Quran says : Therefore read of the Quran what is easy. Again it says : Read as much of it as is easy—73:20Q. Again the Quran says : Read in the name of your Lord—96:1Q. It appears from these verses that the prayer must be said in Arabic. This finds corroboration from the practice of the Prophet himself. At the time of the Prophet, many people speaking non-Arabic tongue notably the Persians accepted Islam. Salman the Persian is a good instance. They were all commanded to pray in the Arabic tongue. There was not a single departure from this. It is clear therefore that prayer must be said in Arabic and with the recitation of the Quranic verses in it. Why then Arabic was prescribed as the language of the worshipper in Islam ? It has already been described that the prayer has to serve some objects, direct and indirect. Of the indirect objects of Islam, there are the universal brotherhood and unification of the human race. If prayers are said in the different languages of the world, there would be a bubble of languages and the bubble of the sentiments of the worshippers. In that case, the object of universal brotherhood is frustrated. It is necessary that the universal religion of Islam should have one Lingua Franca.

Secondly, if prayer in Arabic is not maintained, there would be a good-bye to the Arabic Quran, Arabic Qibla, Arabic Haj, Arabian Prophet and ultimately to the Arabian faith. If prayer is said in the Bengali or English language, there would be no necessity of the Arabic Quran, and God's command "Read of the Quran what is easy" will be disobeyed. There would arise the necessity of compilation of Bengali prayer book, English prayer book etc. Even in the same language, many prayer books will see the light. Thus a rivalry will ensue of the books of prayers giving a permanent good-bye to the spirit of prayer. When Arabic is discarded in prayer, the next step would be to discard the Quran in Arabic as a waste of time. Children will be educated only to learn their mother tongue both for religious and wordly affairs. A sense of abhorrence will arise for the foreign Arabic tongue and ultimately for the foreign faith. The universal religion of Islam will get scattered and in a couple of generetions national religions will spring up adopting many national tongues. Thus the old story of friction of religions will repeat itself. Indeed an universal religion should have one universal tongue. The Arabian tongue not only cements the unity of the human race but also binds the hearts of the Muslims to the Quran and the Prophet. Hear what the Quran says to remain stead fast to the Quran and not to any other book : Hold fast to the rope of Allah all together (3:102Q). Thirdly, the sense, beauty and rythm of the original Quran are impossible to be translated owing to the fact that the Quran came from God Himself while the translations from His servants. Is there anybody of any tongue who can translate the beauties of the Fatiha, the chapter Ikhlas, the words like Allaho-Akbar, Sobhan Allah, Al-hamdolillah, etc. etc. ? Will there be the same music in the translation ? Is there no difficulty in translating the words which manifest the glory, greatness grandeur, goodness, love, purity, power and knowledge of the Supreme Being ? It is argued by the oppositionists that intelligent prayer makes the heart turn towards the Almighty. If it is taken to be true, we would have found that the majority of the Christians saying prayers in different languages have turned saints, or the majority of the Hindus have turned sadhus ? Far from it. It is the prayerful attitude that counts more in religion than mere understanding. Reverence and intelligence are two different things. The most intelligent man is not the most reverential. But it is surely better that intelligent reading should be combined with reverence. Now just weigh the two aspects of the question, either to maintain the unity and solidarity of Islam by saying prayer in Arabic or to help the destruction of Islam by omitting the Quran-reading in prayer. The final seal to this controversy has been laid down by God Himself. He commands: When the Quran is recited, listen to it—7:204Q. And the morning Quran-reading is witsesed (by angels)—34:23Q. A praying man is, however, allowed to pray in any language where the Quran reading is not neassary, namely, Monazat, Khutba, Milad, Supplications, Invocations, Niyyat etc. There is absolutely no bar to outpour one's heart before his Maker in these things and in silent whisperings with God.

(i) Prayer in Islam is not rigid but simple. Prayer in Islam is not so rigid as is generally supposed. If anybody be unable to pray by standing owing to some excuse or ailment, he is allowed to pray in sitting posture. If he is still unable, he may pray leaning upon a side, and if still unable, he may pray by signs and gestures. The Quran says: Pray standing; if you are then unable, then sitting; if you are still unable, then upon a side—4:145Q. If anybody is in journey, he may shorten his prayer—4:101Q. If he is in the war-field or in a place of fear, it can still be shortened. If water injures a man in the performance of Wuzu, hands and face may be made pure by pure earth. Prayer may be said anywhere on God's earth because God is everywhere—12:115Q. In short, Allah does not inflict hardship on anybody beyond his capacity—2:286Q.

(j) Stray thoughts in Prayer. It is a common experience of every praying Muslim with what tremendous force stray and incoherent thoughts suddenly flash in mind till prayer lasts. The devil is seen to work most earnestly at that time. This is a proof that prayer is the most efficacious mode of worship and hence the devil comes imperceptively in mind to commit havoc with stray thoughts. The causes of these thoughts are two-sided-external and internal. Externally eyes see things and ears hear sounds, talks and songs. Out of sight and hearing, a thought is created in mind. One thought suddenly creates hundreds of thoughts covering the whole region of mind with stray thoughts. The best remedy is to shut up the eyes in prayer and hear attentively the reading of the Quran by the Imam. It is advisable therefore to pray in a dark small room and upon a plane cloth in a plain building. For this reason, clothes of prayer should be simple and mosques should not be decorated with variegated colours. About internal causes, they are the most dangerous. This is the result of numerous duties in hand and of deep engagement with wordly affairs. The more a man is engaged in wordly affairs, the more are his stray thoughts. Hence moderate means is good. Secondly, the thing which produces thoughts should be given away in charity if possible. This will amount to cutting of the root of stray thoughts. To drive out the sparrows from a tree is only occasional. The driven sparrows will again come to the tree to make noise. If the tree is, however, cut at its root, sparrows will never come again. Thus the tree of love for wordly affairs should entirely be cut off at its root, and then and then only stray thoughts would cease to crop up in mind.

(k) Meaning of some movements in prayer. Scanning a little in the bodily movements in prayer, we find the following :—

(1) Turning towards the Qibla means not only that everybody should turn towards the oldest centre of monotheism but also that he should set his mind's eye fixed only to one goal i.e. Allah, and not to any object besides Allah.

(2) Covering of private parts means not only keeping concealed the principal organs of evils but also the covering of all faults of all men from being made public. If there is necessity ef covering the outer parts, how much more is the necessity of covering the inner faults ?

(3) Standing in prayer means standing of a prisoner convicted of death before a mighty king. If, however, the worshipper does not stand with this sense of humility, or is unmindful of such a standing before the Mighty Presence, the consequence is very severe.

(4) Niyyat means the motive of prayer, the intention of obeying the divine command, of forsaking all evils of the world and seeking nearness to Him.

(5) Takbir means uttering Allaho-Akbar and believing that Allah is greatest. If mind is unmindful at the time of its utterance, the thing remembered is held to be greater than Allah.

(6) The reciting of أعوذ بالله is meant to recognise that Allah's help should be sought to suppress and remove the evils and evil inclinations or occurrence of stray thoughts in mind.

(7) The reciting of Alhamdo-Lillah (الحمد لله) means that all praise and glory is due to Allah and to none besides Him. Should we praise a radio or an æroplane for its wonderful work or should we praise the inventor of radio or æroplane? Similarly no praise is for the machine placed in a man but for its Maker or Creator of man.

(l) Spirit of Prayer and its rituals. It should be remembered that too much stress upon forms and rituals should not be given as is now done. Prayer will then be divorced from the spirit underlying it. Some exert themselves in prolonging or shortening vowel points of verses or pronuncing in a manner that excites laughter. He is just like one who approaches a king giving more attention to pronunciation and words of a sa'lam then the spirit of reverence and humility underlying it. More attention should be paid to meanings of words than the words themselves. True humility consists, however, beyond utterances and meanings of words and movements of bodies. It is to fill up the mind with electricity of divine love and grandeur which is the cumulative effect of prayer. The more a man is engrossed in divine thoughts, the more his prayer is responded to.

Thus the spirit of prayer is the goal, while the external movements and utterances are only means to gain it. Sincerity and exclusive concentration of mind on divine glory are the keynotes of prayer. The external movements will not reach Allah; only piety will reach Him. The Quran says about this with reference to the sacrifice of animals: Their flesh and their bloods will never reach Allah, but piety will reach Him from you—22:37Q. The Holy Prophet said: Verily Allah looks not to your figures, nor to your wealth but He looks to your hearts and deeds—1:3. The Quran says: Say, verily my prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the universe—(6:163Q).

7. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: There is no prayer more troublesome to the hypocrites than the early morning and night prayers. Had they known what is in them, they would have come to them even upon breasts. —Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَيْسَ صَلٰوةٌ اَثْقَلَ عَلَى الْمُنٰفِقِيْنَ مِنَ الْفَجْرِ وَالْعِشَاءِ وَلَوْ يَعْلَمُوْنَ مَا فِيْهِمَا لَاَتَوْهُمَا وَلَوْ حَبْوًا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

8. Osman reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso says the night prayer in congregation, stands as it were (in prayer) for half of the night; and whoso says the early morning prayer in congregation prays as it were the whole night.

—Muslim.

عَنْ عُثْمَانَ (رض) قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ صَلَّى الْعِشَاءَ فِي جَمَاعَةٍ فَكَاَنَّمَا قَامَ نِصْفَ اللَّيْلِ وَمَنْ صَلَّى الصُّبْحَ فِي جَمَاعَةٍ فَكَاَنَّمَا صَلَّى اللَّيْلَ كُلَّهُ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

9. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: The desert Arabs shall never prevail over you regarding the name of your sun-set prayer

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ (رض) قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَغْلِبَنَّكُمُ الْاَعْرَابُ عَلَى اِسْمِ صَلٰوتِكُمُ

(and the desert Arabs appellate it as Isha) and he said : The desert Arabs shall never prevail over you regarding the name of your night-prayer because it is Isha in the Book of Allah. They used to call it 'Atamah' on account of the milking of camel. 1583 —Muslim.

10. Ali reported that the Messenger of Allah said on the Day of the Ditch : They prevented us from saying the middle prayer (the afternoon prayer). May Allah fill up their houses and graves with the fire ! 1584 —Agreed.

11. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that a man came to the Ms. of Allah and asked : O Apostle of Allah, verily I medically treated a woman in the farthest part of Medina, and verily I committed with her what is less than my sexual intercourse with her. 1585 So I am such and do therefore about me what you wish. Omar said to him : Allah concealed you. Would that you have kept (it) secret upon yourself ! The Prophet did not return to

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ قَالَ جَاءَ رَجُلٌ

اِلَى النَّبِيِّ صلعم فَقَالَ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم

اِنِّيْ عَالَجْتُ اِمْرَاَةً فِي اَقْصَى الْمَدِيْنَةِ

هٰذَا فَاقْضِ فِيَّ مَا شِئْتَ فَقَالَ لَهُ عُمَرُ (رض)

لَقَدْ سَتَرَكَ اللّٰهُ لَوْ سَتَرْتَ عَلٰى نَفْسِكَ

قَالَ وَلَمْ يَرُدَّ النَّبِيُّ صلعم عَلَيْهِ شَيْئًا وَقَامَ

1583 The pre-Islamic Arabs used to call the sun-set prayer as 'Isha' and night prayer as 'Atamah' which means darkness in which a man falls at the time of milking a camel. The Prophet named the prayers Magrib and Isha.

1584. The battle of Ditch took place at 5 A H. It is so ealled because Medina was defended by a ditch. Prophet and his companions were engaged in digging the ditch and saying : O Allah, there is no felicity but the felicity of the Hereaiter. O Allah ! have mercy on the Refugees and the Helpers.

1585. I did everything what is less than actual sexual intercourse, such as kissing, touching private parts, trickling nipples, embracing etc.

him anything. 1585 The man got up and departed and then the Prophet sent a man to follow him. He called him and read this verse—And keep up prayer at both ends of the day and a little after dusk. Verily good deeds remove evils. That is a reminder for the remembering ones. A man out of the people said: O Prophet of Allah, is it special for him? He replied: Rather for the whole of mankind.

—Muslim.

12. Jaber reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Between divine service and infidelity, there is the giving up of prayer. 1587

—Muslim.

13. Ob'adah-b-Swa'met reported that the Ms. of Allah said: Five prayers-the Almighty Allah made them obligatory. Whoso performs ablution well for them and says prayers in their time, and fulfils their bending and prostration, there is a covenant for him upon Allah to forgive him. And whoso does not do, there is

الرجل فانطلق فاتبعه النبي صلعم رجلا فدعاه وتلا عليه هذه الاية واقم الصلوة طرفي النهار وزلفا من الليل ان الحسنات يذهبن السيات ذلك ذكرى للذاكرين فقال رجل من القوم يا نبي الله هذا له خاصة فقال بل للناس كافة * (مسلم)

عن جابر قال قال رسول الله صلعم بين العبد وبين الكفر ترك الصلوة * (مسلم)

عن عبادة بن الصامت قال قال رسول الله صلعم خمس صلوات افترضهن الله تعالى من احسن وضوءهن وصلهن لوقتهن واتم ركوعهن وخشوعهن كان له على الله عهد ان يغفر له ومن لم يفعل فليس له

1586. Prophet did not give direct answer to his question. It appears from the latter context that he received inspiration from above to answer the query and sent a man to inform him about it. The last sentence shows that hadis is a panacea for all spiritual deseases for the whole of mankind without any distinction of creed and colour.

1587. Prayer is said to be the distinguishing feature between a Muslim and a non-Muslim, as outpouring of heart before one's Maker is natural exprcssion of gratefulness. It appears from this hadis that Muslims should always pray. Those who do not pray are outside the pale of real Islam. It is a food for reflection for many of the Muslims of the present day. According to some companions of the Prophet, one who avoids prayer is an infidel. Imams Malek and Shafeyi hold that such a man is near infidelity and that to kill such a man is obligatary. Imam Abu Hanifa holds, however, that such a man shall be inflicted slight punishment and imprisonment if it is binding.

15. Abu Darda'a reported: My friend advised me: Associate nothing with Allah though you are severed and burnt, nor give up obligatory prayer intentionally. Whoso gives it up intentionally, the covenant becomes free from him. Don't drink intoxicant, and verily it is the key of every sin. —Ibn Majah.

18. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Angels come to you at night and angels come at day time, but they meet together in the early morning prayer and late afternoon prayer. Afterwards those who passed the night amongst you ascend up and their Lord asks them (and He is the knower of them) : How have you left My servants ? They answer : We have left them while they were praying and we came to them while they were praying. [1589]

19. Jundab-al-Qasri reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whoso says early morning prayer while he is in the covenant of Allah, Allah shall never ask you for anything of His covenant, because whoso asks anything from His covenant will get it and then He will turn him down upon his face in the fire. 1588. This refers to early morning and late afternoon prayers.

1589. He who says early morning prayer is in the security and protection of Allah. Therefore every true Muslim should also give security and protection to such a man. Allah inflicts punishment on one who is in enmity with the above man.

1590. The covenant of Allah upon His servants on earth is to forgive sins other than great sins. This shows that great sins are sometimes expiated by prayers.

20. Abu Omamah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Say your five prayers, fast your month, pay Zakat of your properties and obey one in authority over you, you will then enter paradise of your Lord.

He said: O Abu Zarr. I said: Present to Thee, O Ms. of Allah. He said: Verily a Muslim servant says prayer hoping thereby the pleasure of Allah and then his sins drop down from him just as this leaf drops down from this tree.

468w. Abdullah-b-Amr reported from the Prophet that he mentioned one day about prayer. He said : Whoso protects it, there will be for him a light, a proof and salvation on the Resurrection Day, and whoso does not protect it, there will be no light, on proof and no salvation for him. He will remain on the Resurrection Day with Korah, Pharaoh, Haman and Ubay-b-Khalaf. 1591

469w. Omar-b-al-Khattab reported that he wrote to his governors : Verily the most important of your affairs near me is prayer. Whoso protects it and takes care of it protects his religion ; and whoso destroys it greatly destroys what is besides it. 1592 —Malek.

عَنْ عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ اَنَّهُ كَتَبَ اِلٰى عُمَّالِهِ اَنَّ اَهَمَّ اُمُورِكُمْ عِنْدِي الصَّلٰوةُ فَمَنْ حَفِظَهَا وَ حَافَظَ عَلَيْهَا حَفِظَ دِينَهُ وَ مَنْ ضَيَّعَهَا فَهُوَ لِمَا سِوَاهَا اَضْيَعُ (مَالِكٌ)

1591. These were rebels against Allah. Korah was a rich man. Pharaoh was a king of Eypt and Haman was his minister. Obay-b-Khalaf was an arch enemy of Islam. People killed him at Uhud. Protection of prayer means to perfrom prayer with all its due rites inwardly and outwardly. Anybody doing them will be with prophets and martyrs on the Resurrection Day.

1592. A portion form this tradition has been left out as it relates to time of prayer similar to what has been narrated above. Protecting and taking care of prayer means performing prayer with due rites in appointed times with the real spirit of the remembrance of Allah.

1593. Times of prayer.

There are fixed times for five compulsory prayers. The Quran says : Surely prayer is the timed ordinance for the believers—4:103Q. The times have been given by the Holy Quran itself. It says : And glorify thy Lord by praising Him before the rising of the sun and before its setting ; and during the hours of the night, do also glorify Him, and during parts of the day, that thou mayest be well-pleased—20:130Q. And keep up prayers in the two parts of the day and in the first hours of the night—11:14Q. Keep up prayer from the declining of the sun till the darkness of the night and the morning Quran-reading—17:78Q. It appears from the above verses that prayers must be said compulsorily after getting up from bed in the morning and before going to bed at night, at the time of the declining of the sun after the mid-day and before and after the sun sets in. The times are very significant and speak volumes. The morning pryer signifies that we should all fall in prostration before the Almighty who gave us life after death in sleep and that we should begin the day's work in the name of the Almighty and that we should finish it before noon to the extent of half. Then at the declining of the sun at noon, we should remember the power of God who can lower a mighty thing even if it rises its head topmost and that worldly glory will decline in a similar way. We should also remember that our life's half has already finished like the day's half and that the latter half is approaching with greater speed. Therefore we should turn towards God more than what we did before in the first half of life. Let us pray once more the Asar prayer before the evening of our life comes and before we part away from our day's work. In the evening, we should remember the power of God who can turn the day into night and the night into day. Then when we go to bed, we should say our farewell prayer as we are going to meet practically death from which we may not rise again next morning. The times of prayer are also significant in the fact that one must fall in prostration before

God even when busiest after disengaging himself from all his worldly concerns. The following are the sheduled times in Islam for prayers :—

(1) Fajr i.e. the early morning prayer which begins from the appearance of the dawn with the white streak of line in the eastern horizon up to the rising of the sun. Thereafter the prayer becomes Qaza.

(2) Zuhr i.e. the early afternoon prayer which begins from the declining of the sun at noon up to the time of the late afternoon prayer.

(3) Asar i.e. the late afternoon prayer which begins when a man's shade becomes double and ends just before the setting of the sun.

(4) Magrib i.e. the sun-set prayer which begins just after the setting of the sun up to the disappearance of the red signs in the horizon.

(5) Isha i.e. the night prayer which begins from the disappearance of the red colour in the western horizon after sunset up to the mid-night.

There are two optional prayers called fore-noon prayer and Tahajjad prayer. The former comes nearly at the breakfast time and the latter begins from the mid-night up to the appearance of the dawn.

27. Abdullah-b-Amr reportedthat the Messenger of Allah said : The time of Zuhr prayer is : When the sun declines, and the shadow of a man becomes double his length so long as the Asar prayer does not come, and the time of Asar-prayer remains so long as the sun does not become yellow ; and the time of the sun-set

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ

prayer remains so long as the red-hue does not disappear; and the time of night prayer remains up to the mid-night, and the time of the morning prayer is from the appearance of dawn till the sun does not rise, but when the sun rises, keep away from the prayer because it rises between two horns of the devil [1594]

—Muslim.

28. Boraidah reported that a man asked the Messenger of Allah about the time of prayer. He said to him: Pray with us twice meaning two days. When the sun inclined a little he ordered Bilal, and so he proclaimed Azan. Then he ordered him and he recited 'Aqamat' of the Zuhr prayer. Then he ordered him and he recited 'Agamat' of the Asr while the sun was high like a white egg. Afterwards he ordered him, and so he recited 'Aqamat' of Magrib when the sun set in. Afterwards he gave him direction and so he recited Aqamat of the I'sha prayer when the red hue disappeared. After that he ordered him and so he recited Agamat of the Fajr prayer when there was dawn. When there came the second day, he ordered him: Make delay for the Zuhr prayer. So he made delay for it and he was excellent in delaying it. He said Asar while the sun was above. He made more delay for it than what he had done. And he said Magrib before the red-hue disappeared, and he said I'sha prayer after $\frac{1}{3}$rd of the night passed away, and he said Fajr and then entered the morning therewith. Afterwards he asked: Where is the man who has enquired about the times of prayer? The man said: I, O Ms. of Allah. He said: The time of your prayer is between what you saw.

1594. The infidels used to worship the sun when it began to rise. So in order to oppose this idea and to wipe out idolatry root and branch, the Holy Prophet prohibited even prayer at the time of the rising of the sun after giving it a great condemnation.

1595. Prayer in haste

Prayer as a rule should be said at the first half of its appointed time and not at its latter half, because there is pleasure of Allah in the former and pardon of Allah in the latter—34:49. Imam Shafeyi sponsors this view and says that to say every prayer at its earliest time is Mustahab (laudable). The Quran also says: Hasten to good deeds. The Holy Prophet, while maintaing that prayer during its time is perfectly lawful, laid instructions for greater rewards for early prayer even within the given time. Regarding the morning prayer, the Holy Prophet observed it sometimes in the early dawn in darkness (34:41) and sometimes in distinct light (34:56). That depended upon cold and summer seasons and upon the nature of the congregation and commencement of struggles with non-Muslims at the early part of the day.

As regards Zuhr (the early afternoon prayer), it appears from the traditions that in summer when heat is intense it should be said rather late preferably within the latter half of its time (34:61). About Asar (the late afternoon prayer), there is the general rule as laid down before but Imam Abu Hanifa says that to say it at the latter half is Mustahab. Regarding Magrib (the sun-set prayer), there is the unanimous opinion of the jurists that it should be said at its earliest part (34:52). As regards I'sha (the night prayer), the Holy Prophet laid stress for its saying in the latter half of its time, because silent night gives a peaceful atmosphere for divine service. He disliked sleep before it and any conversation after it. Fajr may be said when a man rises from sleep even after sunrise.

OTHER CONTENTS.—Rulers in latter days will neglect the times of prayer but still they should be obeyed—34:62. 63, night prayer is an innovation in Islam—34:54; no sin in sleep and forgetfulness—34:46, 47; expiation of prayer is prayer—34:43; pre-dawn tiffin extends up to dawn—34:42; three things not to be delayed-burial, prayer and marriage of widows—34:48.

31. Sayyar-b-Salama reported: I and my father went to Abu Barzah al-Aslami. My father asked him: How did the Messenger of Allah pray the obligatory prayers? He replied that he used to pray Zuhr which you call the first when the sun inclined a little, and pray Asar and then any of us could return to his riding camel at the furthest end of Medina while the sun was shining and I forgot what he said about Magrib, and he used to make delay in praying I'sha which you call Atamah, [1596] and he used to dislike sleep before it and talk after it; and he used to say optional prayer at the time of Fajr when a man could recognise his friend and read sixty to one hundred (verses). In a narration: He did not care to belate I'sha to one-third of the night, and he did not like to sleep befor it and talk after it.

عَنْ سَيَّارِ بْنِ سَلَامَةَ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ أَنَا وَأَبِي عَلَى أَبِي بَرْزَةَ الْأَسْلَمِيِّ فَقَالَ لَهُ أَبِي كَيْفَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُصَلِّي الْمَكْتُوبَةَ فَقَالَ كَانَ يُصَلِّي الْهَجِيرَ الَّتِي

32. Muhammad-b-Amr reported: We asked Ja'ber-b-Abdullah about prayer of the Prophet. He said that he used to pray Zuhr at noon, and Asar when the sun was shining, and Magrib when it went down, and as for I'sha, when the people were many he used to hasten it; and when they were few, he used to make delay, and Fajr during early darkness. 1596. The Pre-Islamic Arabs called the time after disappearance of the evening red-hue from the horizon as Atamah which means darkness.

1597. It is not always that the Holy Prophet prayed Fajr early in darkness; sometimes he prayed when everything was visible. These times were chiefly based upon assembly of the people; see traditions 41 and 56.

33. Anas reported : Whenever we prayed at noon behind the Holy Prophet, we used to make prostration upon our clothes out of fear of heat.

34. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said : When heat is intense, pray in cool time, (and in a narration of Bukhari from Abu Sayeed : Zuhr), because the intensity of heat comes out from the vapour of Hell. And the fire complained to its Lord and said : O Lord ! some portion of myself has devoured others. So He ordered therefor two breaths, one breath in winter and one breath in summer ; [1598] the most intense heat which you find, and the most intense cold which you find. [1599]

1600. Awali is plural of A'liah which is a noted place about four miles off from Medina situated upon a lofty place.

1601. That refers to Asar at the fag end of the day. It appears from this that such prayer is abominable (Makruh). The sole object of prayer is to bring the names and attributes of Allah in peaceful memory and to realise His greatness and omnipotence. Every movement of prayer is directed towards that goal—the goal of complete surrender of body and mind towards that Maker.

1602. The nullification of actions does not mean that all previous actions are brought to nought. What is really meant here is that a great deal of merits is lost by non-observance of afternoon prayer. This is the view of Imam Abu Hanifa. The Mutazilites say, however, that only the great sins nullify actions.

160 i. This hadis shows that prayers shall be said at their earliest times. If after prayer, congregational prayers are held, and the man who has already prayed wishes to say prayer again in congregation he is allowed, and this will be considered as optional. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that this instruction was with regard to the early afternoon and night prayers as additional prayers after morning and afternoon prayers are Makruh (abominable).

1607 The majority of the learned jurists are of opinion that the rise of the sun and its setting do not make prayers void. A portion of such prayers should have already begun before these phenomena in order to validate prayers. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that morning prayer after sun-rise makes itself void. The other Imams recommended the morning prayer at its early darkness on the basis of tradition no. 41.

(اَلتِّرْمِذِيُّ)

1603. It appears from this that charity can-not be an expiation of the sins committed for neglecting prayers.

1603. There is no commission of sin of any kind while a man remains asleep. This time is exempted from account. The reason is that in sleep man has got no choice for action. Similarly a man when unsound is not accountable for any action. The last sentence is very significant about the spirit of Islamic prayer. The remembrance of Allah is its chief object.

1603a. Ayyam means a widow or a divorced woman. Great stress has been laid in Islam for widow marriage as widows generally corrupt society. The Prophet who came to establish morality in the world in all its phases could not overlook this important thing.

49. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: The initial time of prayer is a pleasure to Allah, and the last time is pardon of Allah.

1610 This is a proof that the religion of Islam began from the time of Adam. In other words, it is a religion of humanity. There is one religion as there is one Lord and that is Islam. The humanity before Prophet of Arabia had to say prayer. Islam made the prayer perfect by adding one more to it and describing its chief object and the means to attain it.

1611. Imam Abu Hanifa holds this view on the strength of 34:56. His followers say prayer when the light of dawn is distinctly visible in the horizon. "It has been written in Sharhi sunnat" says the author of Mishkat, "that Mu'az said: The Ms. of Allah sent me to Yemen and said: When there will be winter, pray Fajr in darkness, and prolong reading of the verses so long as the people are capable of and don't give them trouble and when there will be summer, say morning prayer in light, because the night is short and the people remain asleep. Give them time till they overtake the prayer.

58. Abdullah-b-Omar reported: We waited one night waiting for the Messenger of Allah for the last prayer I'sha. He came to us when one-third of the night passed away or after that. We knew not whether anything kept him engaged in his family or something other than that. When he came out, he said: Verily you are waiting for a prayer for which no people of other religion besides you had waited. Had it not been a hardship over my people. I would have certainly prayed with them at this time. Then he ordered the Muazzen and so he recited 'Aqamat' of the prayer and then he prayed. —Muslim.

49. Ja'ber-b-Samorah reported that the Messenger of Allah used to say prayers like your prayer, and he used to make a little delay in night prayers after your prayer, 1613 and he used to make prayer short. 1614 —Muslim.

1612. This signifies that the Asar prayer should be said at the beginnihg of its due time. This is the opinion of three Imams and two companions of Imams Abu Hanifah. Imam Abu Hanifa holds, however, that the best time for Asar prayer is in the last. He interprets this hadis by saying that it was done in summer.

1614. The Holy Prophet used to read short chapters of the Quran in congregationsl prayers, because there were the weak and the diseased among the congregation.

59(a). Abu Sayeed reported: We prayed with the Apostle of Allah the prayer of night. He did not come out till a similar portion from the mid-night passed away. He said "Take your seat." And so we took our seat. He said: Verily the people have prayed and gone to their beds, and verily you do not cease to remain in prayer so long as you wait for prayer. But for the weakness of the weak and the illness of the ill, I would have certainly delayed this prayer up to mid-night.

1616. Azan (Prayer-call)

(a) Azan. Azan is the call for prayer within its appointed time with certain prescribed words. Such prayer-call is Sunnat at the advent of the time of each congregational prayer. While the Prophet was at Mecca, there was no Azan because the enemies did not allow the Muslims to meet together and pray. The thought of Azan arose in Holy Prophet's mind when he migrated to Medina. Counsels were held regarding the formulation of a proper prayer-call. Some suggested that there should be blowing of horns, or the ringing of bell, or chimes, or the lighting of fire in a lofty place. At last the suggestion of Hazrat Omar was accepted. It is now the modern Azan, the call to prayer and the true national anthem of Islam. Hazrat Bilal, the negro slave, held the position of the first Muazzen in Islam.

(b) The delivery of Azan. The call is given out by a man standing in a lofty or prominent place in as loud a voice as possible. He stands facing the Holy Ka'ba with his both hands raised to the ears—34:71, and chanting with a melodious and loud voice the following sentences in order.

(i) اَللّٰهُ اَكْبَرُ (Allah is greatest) repeated four times ;

(ii) اَشْهَدُ اَنْ لَّا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اللّٰهُ (I bear witness that there is no god but Allah) repeated twice ;

(iii) اَشْهَدُ اَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا رَّسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ (I bear witness that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah) repeated twice ;

(iv) حَيَّ عَلَى الصَّلٰوةِ (come to prayer) repeated twice ;

(v) حَيَّ عَلَى الْفَلَاحِ (come to success) repeated twice ;

(vi) اَللّٰهُ اَكْبَرُ (Allah is greatest) repeated twice ;

(vii) لَا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اللّٰهُ (there is no god but Allah) once only. The following sentence is added at the call of morning prayer اَلصَّلٰوةُ خَيْرٌ مِّنَ النَّوْمِ (Prayer is better than sleep) repeated twice.

When the call is finished, all make invocation in the words as recorded in 34:81 (see the text).

(c) Significance of Azan. Azan in Islam has got a great significance. It is not the mere ringing of the bell or the meaningless blowing of horns. This is an appeal from an individual soul to the soul of humanity to turn to Allah, to follow the lead of Muhammad as His Messenger, and to come to take spiritual feast for progress and nourishment of soul appealling in a greater degree than the ringing of the deepest-toned bell or the most costly and elaborate system of chimes. From thousands of thousands of minarets in the world come out spontaneously in loud and sweet melodious voice in the morning and evening, at the declining of the sun and when the sun is in the mid-west and in the grim silence of night, the message of Islam, the message of the desert World Prophet "Allah is greatest, Muhammad is His Messenger, come to prayer, come to success, there is no deity but Allah, prayer is better than sleep."

What a more grand message to the world can there be? This is the message of Islam to the people of the world. To respond to it on the part of the hearer is wajeb (binding). Who is the devil who can remain silent from responding to the mighty message of Islam, the message that Allah is greatest? Who is the most unfortunate man who does not respond to the invitation for food of soul? Who is there to deny that prayer is not the means of success? Nobody is required to read any book to know the message of Islam. Nobody is required to make a search for the true religion of mankind. It is that which declares Allah to be greatest and the only Being to be worshipped. It is that which makes no distinction in the invitations to prayer and throws open the door of mosque to every son of Adam irrespective of caste, creed and country.

(d) Excellence of Azan. The declaration of this message of Islam to mankind is general and the invitation to join the divine service brings no less religious merit as is generally supposed. The Muazzen will have great rewards on the Resurrection Day, so much so that all the hearers of the invitation will intercede for him on that day. If the Muazzen truly believes in what he recites, he will undoubtedly enter Paradise—34:80. Any Muazzen calling for prayer for seven years out of sincere faith will be free from the fire of Hell—34:86. Supplication between Azan and Aqamat is generally accepted—34:93. The devil runs away when he hears the Azan. Besides prayer times, Azan should be proclaimed in the right ear of the newly-born child or at the time of grief or mishap. It is Sunnat.

(e) Aqamat. The Aqumat is the signal that the prayer is ready and has just begun and that everybody present should disengage his mind from the outside world and engage it in the remembrance of the Almighty. It is necesary in the congregational prayer and it is pronounced in a less loud voice than Azan. It is just like azan with this difference that instead of La ilaha Illa-Allah, قد قامت الصلوٰة (prayer is ready) is recited twice. With this recitation the prayer truly begins with the hands raised upto the ears.

64. Anas reported: They talked of fire and bell and they remembered the Jews and the Christians. Then Bilal was ordered to make Azan even and Aqamat odd. Ismail said: I mentioned it to Ayyub. He said: Except Aqamat. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ ذَكَرُوا النَّارَ وَ النَّاقُوسَ فَذَكَرُوا الْيَهُودَ وَ النَّصَارٰى فَاُمِرَ بِلَالٌ اَنْ يَشْفَعَ الْاَذَانَ وَ اَنْ يُوْتِرَ الْاِقَامَةَ قَالَ اِسْمٰعِيلُ فَذَكَرْتُهُ لِاَيُّوبَ فَقَالَ اِلَّا الْاِقَامَةَ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

65. Abu Mahzurah reported that the Messenger of Allah taught me Azan exactly in this form. He said: Say: Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest; I bear witness that there is no god but Allah, I bear witness that there is no god but Allah; I bear witness that Muhammad is the Ms. of Allah; I bear witness that Muhammad is the Ms. of Allah; I bear witness that Muhammad is the Ms. of Allah; then he repeated and said: I bear witness that there is no god but Allah, I bear witness that there is no god but Allah; I bear witness that there is no god but Allah; I bear witness that Muhammad is the Ms. of Allah, I bear witness that Muhammad is the Ms. of Allah; come to prayer, come to prayer; come to salvation, come to salvation; Allah is greatest, Allah is greatest; there is no god but Allah. —Muslim.

66. Ibn Omar reported that there was Azan during the time of the Prophet each twice, and Aqamat each once except that

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ (رض) قَالَ كَانَ اَذَانٌ عَلٰى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَرَّتَيْنِ مَرَّتَيْنِ وَ اِقَامَةٌ مَرَّةً مَرَّةً غَيْرَ اَنَّهُ كَانَ يَقُولُ

69. Ibn Omar reported that when the Muslims came to Medina, they used to muster strong and had fixed times for prayer, but none used to call (Azan) therefor. So one day they held talk about that. Some of them said : Adopt like the 1617. According to Hanifi Mazhab, Azan consists of 15 words, while according to Imam Shafeyi, it consists of 19 words as in this hadis. Imam Malek supports Imam Shafeyi. Imam Abu Hanifa says, however, that 8 times of SHAHADAT instead of four have been mentioned in these traditions for teaching by repetition. Imam Abu-Hanifa is however generally followed.

1618. Imam Shafeyi follows this tradition and holds its breach as Makruh. Imam Abu Hanifah differs from this, because sometimes it occured that Ibn Ommo Makhtum recited Aazn, while Bilal recited Aqamat both being companions. This was explained by saying that the Muazzen did not like that another should recite Aqamat.

70 Abdullah-b-Zaid reported: When the Apostle of Allah ordered a bell to be prepared for ringing for the people to muster strong for prayer, there came a man to me while I was asleep (in dream) having a bell in his hand. I said: O Abdullah, will you sell the bell? He asked: What will you do with it? He said: We shall call therewith for prayer. He said: Shall I not guide you to what is better than that? 'Yes' said I. He said: You should call: Allah is greatest, up to the end, and similar is the Agamat. When it was dawn, I came to the Apostle of Allah and informed him what I saw (in dream) He said: Verily it is correct dream if Allah wills. So get up with Bilal and teach him what you saw and call for prayer with him, because he is higher in voice than you. I got up with Bilal and began to teach it to him, and he was calling therewith. He said that Omar-b-al Khattab heard that while he was in his house. 1620. TASWIB is to repeat some parts of the formula of Azan, such as "Prayer is better than sleep", either after or before the prayer-call and near the ears of a sleeping person. This was held by Hazrat Omar as abominable and an innovation. One is, however, allowed to get him awake from sleep by any other means.

عَنْ مُعَاوِيَةَ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ يَقُولُ الْمُؤَذِّنُونَ أَطْوَلُ النَّاسِ أَعْنَاقًا يَوْمَ الْقِيٰمَةِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

76. Muwayiah reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Muazzens shall have the longest of necks among the people on the Resurrection Day. 1623 —Muslim.

1621. This has been said in order to give time to the eaters to finish their eating and to others to perform their necessities which they undertook befor Azan. It thus gives a stimulus for congregational prayers.

1623. The Muazzens will get great rewards.

77. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: When there is call for prayer, the devil turns back. He runs through wind till he does not hear the Azan. When the proclamation is finished, he comes forward, till when it is recited in prayer he turns back, till when the recitation is finished, he approaches, till he revolves between a man and his soul saying "Remember such and such, remember such and such." He will not cease to remember till the man knows not how much he has prayed.

—Ahmad, Abu Daud, Tirmizi.

1626. See note 21 for full discussion. The sins refered to here are minor and not great sins.

1627. Two Azans mean here one azan and one takbir recited at the time of the actual prayer. Between these two, the time is opportune for acceptance of a supplication. There are Sunnat and Nafl prayers between these two. Abu Hanifa holds that it is abominable to say (nafl) before the obligatory Magrib prayer. It may mean also that between two azans, there is only one Farz prayer, and that there is only one Azan at the beginning of each time of prayer.

1628. Imam is a security for the followers behind him in prayer. In other words, he takes upon himself the responsibility of his followers in bending, prostration and other rites of a prayer. Muazzens are objects of trust as by their Azan time for prayer and fasting can be ascertained.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ (رض) قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ اَذَّنَ سَبْعَ سِنِيْنَ مُحْتَسِبًا كُتِبَ لَهُ بَرَاءَةٌ مِنَ النَّارِ *

1630. It is not lawful for an Imam and a Muazzen to get wages for leading the prayer and calling for prayer. The jurists however allowed provision for those Imams and Muazzens who have been appointed regularly for such services in mosques, as they are not allowed to undertake any other business. It also shows that a true leader of a people is one who is liked by the poor, the helpless and the distressed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يُرَدُّ الدُّعَاءُ بَيْنَ الْاَذَانِ وَالْاِقَامَةِ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَ التِّرْمِذِيُّ)

عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم ثِنْتَانِ لَا تُرَدَّانِ اَوْ قَلَّمَا تُرَدَّانِ اَلدُّعَاءُ عِنْدَ النِّدَاءِ وَ عِنْدَ الْبَاْسِ حِيْنَ يَلْحَمُ بَعْضُهُمْ بَعْضًا وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ وَ تَحْتَ الْمَطَرِ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ ابْنِ عَمْرٍو قَالَ رَجُلٌ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِنَّ الْمُؤَذِّنِيْنَ يَفْضُلُوْنَنَا فَقَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم قُلْ كَمَا يَقُوْلُوْنَ فَاِذَا انْتَهَيْتَ فَسَلْ تُعْطَ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

1631. This is the form of respond when the following is recited in Aqamat preliminary to actual beginning of prayer "Prayer is just ready, prayer is just ready."

1632. The granting, however, depends on other things also, for example, the supplicant must not be nourished with impure or unlawful things. At best it signifies that the time between Azan and Aqamat is suitable for acceptance of supplication.

96. Jaber. reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : Verily as for the devil, when he hears call for prayer, he departs till he reaches the place of Raoha'a 1633

(اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

99. Ibn Omr reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Whoso proclaims Azan for twelve years, Paradise becomes sure for him, and sixty merits are recorded for him every day for every call, and thirty merits for every Aqamat.

1633. Raoha'a is 36 miles off from Medina.

1634. Shahadat is the formula of attestation which is the following : I bear witness that there is no god but Allah and that Muhammad (P. H.) is His servant and Messenger.

1635. This supplication occurs in the hadis of Omme Salamah—(34:91).

Some rules of Azan [1636]

At the time of the Prophet, there were two Azans in the dawn —one for Tahajjad prayer and for pre-dawn tiffin for fasting in the month of Ramzan and another for the early morning prayer. In the former, there was the cry of "Eat and drink," while in the latter every item of Azan was uttered. The former is therefore no Azan in the true sense of the term. In journey Azan shall be proclaimed when there are two or more persons and there is only one Azan at each time of prayer. The Muazzen must be responded to at the time when Azan is going on.

Contents. Prayer after sun-rise can be said without any sin in case of sleep or forgetfulness—34:104, and the Imam shall be the oldest of the worshippers—34:103. Prayer can be overtaken in its midst—34:107. True leader is he who is followed by the weak—34:93. Pre-dawn tiffin continues up to the spreading of white colour in the eastern horizon—34:102.

100. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Verily Bilal used to proclaim at night: "Eat and drink," till he called Ibn Omme Maktum (for prayer). He (narrator) said that Ibn Omme Maktum was a blind man who did not proclaim for prayer till it was said to him: It has dawned, it has dawn. [1637] —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم
اِنَّ بِلَالًا يُنَادِيْ بِلَيْلٍ فَكُلُوْا وَاشْرَبُوْا
حَتّٰى يُنَادِيَ ابْنُ اُمِّ مَكْتُوْمٍ قَالَ وَكَانَ
ابْنُ اُمِّ مَكْتُوْمٍ رَجُلًا اَعْمٰى لَا يُنَادِيْ
حَتّٰى يُقَالَ لَهٗ اَصْبَحْتَ اَصْبَحْتَ *
(مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

101. Samorah-b-Jundab reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Prayer-call of Bilal must not prevent you from taking your pre-dawn tiffin, nor 1636. See note 1616.

1637. It appears from this hadis that the Prophet had two Muazzens—one for the latter part of night and another for the early dawn. According tot his, Imam Shafeyi holds that appointment of two Muazzens is Sunnat. Imam Abu Hanifa says that the first Muazzen was for pre-dawn tiffin for fasting or for Tahajjad prayer, a prayer said at the latter part of the night.

102. Malek-b-Huwaires reported: I came to the Prophet—I and the son of my uncle. He said: When you two take journey, make Azan snd recite Aqamat, and let the senior of you two be Imam. —Agreed.

عَنْ مَالِكِ ابْنِ الْحُوَيْرِثِ قَالَ اَتَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صلعم اَنَا وَابْنُ عَمٍّ لِي فَقَالَ اِذَا سَافَرْتُمَا فَاَذِّنَا وَاَقِيمَا وَلْيَؤُمَّكُمَا اَكْبَرُكُمَا (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

103. Same reported that the Prophet said to us: Pray as you see me pray; and when prayer comes, let one of proclaim you Azan, and then let the oldest of you be your Imam. —Agreed.

عَنْهُ قَالَ قَالَ لَنَا رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم صَلُّوا كَمَا رَاَيْتُمُونِي اُصَلِّي وَاِذَا حَضَرَتِ الصَّلٰوةُ فَلْيُؤَذِّنْ لَكُمْ اَحَدُكُمْ ثُمَّ لِيَؤُمَّكُمْ اَكْبَرُكُمْ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

104. Abu Hurairah reported that when the Messenger of Allah was returning from the battle of Khaiber, he walked at night till when fatigue overtook him, he landed at the latter part of the night and said to Bilal: Guard the night for us. Bilal then prayed what was ordained for him [1688] while the Ms. of Allah and his companions fell asleep.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ اِنَّ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم حِينَ قَفَلَ مِنْ غَزْوَةِ خَيْبَرَ سَارَ لَيْلَةً حَتّٰى اِذَا اَدْرَكَهُ الْكَرٰى عَرَّسَ وَقَالَ لِبِلَالٍ اكْلَأْ لَنَا اللَّيْلَ فَصَلّٰى بِلَالٌ مَا قُدِّرَ لَهُ وَنَامَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَاَصْحَابُهُ فَلَمَّا

1688. Bilal was ordered to keep awake in order to make the Prophet and his companions get up from sleep to say early morning prayer. Bilal was then utilising his time in saying Tahajjad prayer. The battle of Khaiber took place at 7 A.-H. after the treatty of Hudaibiyah. Khaiber is nearly 200. miles from Medina and was a stronghold of the Jewish clan. Exasperated by their repeated treacheries, the Prophet laid siege to their stronghold and at last a treaty followed.

HYDERABAD

When the dawn was near, Bilal leaned against his conveyance facingthe dawn. His two eyes overcame him while he was leaning against his conveyance. The Ms. of Allah or Bilal or anybody of the companions could not get up from sleep till the sun shone upon them. The Prophet was the of first of them to get up. Then the Ms. of Allah was perturbed and said : O Bilal ! Bilal said : That which overtook you has overtaken me. He said : Saddle the conveyances. So they saddled their riding conveyances with something. Afterwards the Apostle of Allah made ablution and orderd Bilal. So he read Aqamat for prayer and he said the early morning prayer with them. When he finished the prayer, he said : Whoso forgets a prayer let him pray it when he remembers it, because the Almighty Allah said: Keep my prayer for My remembrance.

Then Bilal fell asleep and they also fell asleep till they awoke while the sun rose upon them. The people got up and were perturbed. Then the Messenger of Allah ordered them to ride on till they came out from that valley. He said: Verily this valley have got in it a devil. So they rode till they came out of that valley. Then the Apostle of Allah ordered them to get down and make ablution. He ordered Bilal to proclaim for prayer or to read Aqamat. Then the Ms. of Allah prayed with the people and then turned. He saw their frightfulness and said: O people! verily Allah took our souls; and had He wished, He would have returned them to us another time than this. So when someone of you falls asleep at the time of prayer or forgets it and then he is fearful of it, let him pray it as he would have prayed it in its time. Afterwards the Apostle of Allah turned his look towards Abu Bakr the Truthful and said: Verily the devil has come to Bilal and he was praying standing and then he (devil) made him lie down. Then he continued to lull him to sleep just as a child is lulled to sleep, till he fell asleep. Then the Apostle of Allah called Bilal. Bilal informed the Apostle of Allah like that which the Apostle of Allah had informed Abu Bakr. Abu Bakr said: I bear witness that verily you are the Messenger of Allah.

1641. Mosques and Praying Places

(a) Every place in the world is a place of prostration. It is a speciality in Islam that prayer can be offered anywhere under God's earth. The Holy Prophet said : The world, the whole of it, is a mosque—34:147. Wherever you turn, there is the face of God (2:115Q). Therefore as God is everywhere, He can be remembered everywhere under God's earth. God does not live only in temples, mosques and shrines. He lives in every particle of earth. This cosmopolitan spirit of prayer is rarely seen in other religions. Mosque means a place of prostration. Technically it now means a house dedicated primarily only for divine service. Mosque has therefore got a superb meaning unlike temples, churches and synagogues, Islam has got a superb meaning unlike Christianity, Hinduism or Judaism, and Azan has got a grand message unlike the ringing of bells or the blowing of horns. Such is the case with all the doctrines of Islam. Some exceptions have been made regarding places of prayer on the ground of impurity or uncleanliness, namely, graves and grave-yards, bath-rooms, public roads, public slaughter-houses, places of dungs and filthes, houses of beasts, camels and cows and the top of the Holy Ka'ba—34:148, 129.

(b) Mosque is the centre of all-round activities. Mosque primarily means as said above a place of prayer. As Islam considers every action in the world as Abadat or worship if done with the object of pleasing Allah, everything good can lawfully be done within the mosque. For this reason, no separate house for each item of national or community's work is required. In other words, mosque can be used as a place of prayer, as an educational institution, as a council-chamber, as a house for war-council and as a secretariat office. In fact, all the good activities of the Muslims relating to individual and national welfare can be done within the mosques. If this is followed, it saves us from enormous expenses of erecting schools and colleges, council chambers, war houses and secretariat offices. This also goes successfully to meet the compulsory nature of primary education. As the Holy Prophet made education compulsory both for males and females, he also made provisions for educational institutions where boys and girls should be educated. At the time of the Holy Prophet, the mosques served the above purposes. It was in the mosque of Medina that war-councils were held, legislation took place, education was imparted and orders were issued for administration. At the time of Hazrat Omar, two councils held their sittings in the mosque of Medina. Deputations of Muslims and non-Muslims were received within the mosques. The Christian deputation of Nazran and the deputation of Saqif were received by the Prophet within the precincts of the Medina mosque.

The mosque was thus not only the spiritual centre of the Muslims but also their political, educational and military and social centre. In a corner of the Prophet's mosque, a band of missioneries was attached called Ahli-Suffa who exclusively devoted themselves to divine service and learnt the principles of Islam. Thus there is provision for missionary training in mosques. The mosque of Medina used also to serve the the purpose of libray and reading room. In short the mosque was the centre of all-round activities in Islam. If this principle is followed now-a-days, much of the economic, educational, political, social and missionary problems can easily be solved without undue strain on the finances of the Estate. There are, however, certain restrictions, namely, no buy and sale in mosques is lawful—34:143, no execution or retaliation or murder (34:145) and no sexual intercourse.

(c) Respect to be shown to mosques. As the mosque is the house of Allah, due respect should be shown to it. The respect is expressed in the following ways. No noise should be made—34:47w and no spitting—34:126. None shall come to mosque with bad odour or bad smell of any kind. Fresh garlic and onions should not be eaten as they may cause annoyance to others—34:146,124 ; unclean shoes must be put off before one enters the mosque, mosqeu shall be cleaned and perfumed at times—34:132. At the time of entering it and coming out of it, the invocation as laid down in 34:120,142 and 156 shall be recited. On entry, two rak'ats of prayers shall be said out of gratefulness—34:122.

(d) Admission of women in mosques. There is no prohibition for entering the mosque on the part of women for prayer. At the time of the Holy Prophet and the four rightly guided Caliphs, there was the practice of the females praying with males though in a different row or in a separate reserved place. The practice fell afterwards into disuse though it is still found in the case of the Holy Ka'ba and the mosque of Medina. At any rate, women who are willing to attend mosques cannot be prevented from attending them for divine service.

(e) Merits of construction of mosque and attending it. The Holy Prophet declared that the mosque is the best place in the world as is it the centre of divine as well as all-round activities and also because Allah is much remembered therein through these works—34:114. There is an atmosphere of divine glory and divine love within the mosque. There is no place on earth where this takes place. Hence it is called the house of Allah. The merits of praying in mosques in congregation are much greater than those of praying in houses. One reward is recorded for a prayer in a private house, 25 rewards in a tribal mosque, 500 rewards in congregation is a public mosque, 1000 rewards in the mosque of Medina, 50,000 rewards in the mosque of Jerusalem and 100,000 rewards in the Holy Ka'ba—34:121,158. Besides these rewards, there are additional rewards for attending the mosque—34:116,117. The greater is the distance of a house from the mosque, the greater is the reward for attending it—34:118.

To construct a house of Allah has therefore great rewards. House of Allah does not mean that Allah actually resides in it but that Allah is much remembered therein. The Holy Prophet said: Whoso builds a mosque for Allah, Allah will build a house for him in Paradise —34:115. As Islam teaches plain-living and high thinking, it has also laid down the rule that the mosque should be plain and simple and not too high—34:133, nor there shall be any paintings and engravings which may divert the attention of the worshidpers. The Prophet himself constructed the mosque of Medina with bricks baked in the sun and posts of the stems of palm trees and roofs of palm-leaves and clay. The great mosques built by Hazrat Omar at Basra, Kufa, Fustat and Jerusalem were all simpl estructures with vast court yards in front. The custom of building mosques with domes and minarets and with paintings and engravings was introduced afterwards and the poor structures were replaced by rich ones and the rich hearts by poor hearts.

(g) Some early mosques. Among the shrines for divine service in the world, the Holy Ka'ba is the oldest. No trace of any other older mosque was found out on historical researches. From pre-historic days, the place has been a place of pilgrimage and many people from every corner of Arabia came to visit this mosque. The Quran says about the Ka'ba: The first house built for man —3:95Q. Abraham died nearly 4350 years ago and three thousand years before the Prophet Muhammad. The Quran speaks of the existence of the Ka'ba even before that. When leaving his son Ihsmael there, he prayed: O Lord! I have made some of my offspring settle in this barren valley, near Thy sacred House—2:125Q. Muir also says: A very high antiquity must be assigned to the main features of the religion of Mecca.....Diodorus Siculus, writing about half a century before our era says of that part of Arabia washed by the red-sea: there is in the country a temple greatly revered by all the Arabs. This mosque is the oldest sign of monotheism and declares the unity of God from the centre of the world and therefore the Muslims from every part of the world also turn their faces towards this oldest shrine and keep allegiance to it Next in importance is the mosque of Jerusalem popularly called Masjed-ul-Aqsa. This mosque is the religious shrine of the three great religions of the world, namely, Judaism, Christianity and Islam, and round this mosque are attached the memories of the Prophets Moses, Jesus, David, Solomon and Muhammad. This mosque was the first Qibla of Islam and the Prophet is said to have gone to heaven through this mosque. The Quran refers to this incident: Glory be to Him Who made His servant to go on a night from the sacred mosque (Ka'ba) to the remote mosque (of Jerusalem) of which We have blessed the precincts—17:1Q. Prayer in this mosque carries 50,000 rewards than prayer elsewhere.

The mosque of Quba. This is the first mosque in Islam built for congregational prayer by the Prophet on his way from Mecca to Medina at the time of Hizrat. He stayed here for 14 days and had it constructed. The Quran mentions about this mosque : Certainly a mosque founded on piety from the very first day is more deserving that you should stand in it ; in it are men who love that they should be purified—9:10Q.

The mosque of Medina. This is the mosque of the Prophet. In a corner of this mosque lies entombed the Apostle of Allah, the Universal Prophet. The courtyard belonged to two orphan boys. It was purchased from them. It was made of mud bricks, palm trees and palm leaves.

Merits of congregational prayer—34:119. 158 ; one should return home from journey in day time—34:122 ; sin of forgetting the Quran is great—34:135 ; prayer in mosque is asceticism—34:473w ; three men are in the security of Allah—34:138 ; Tahlil, Tasbih, and Tamid are fruits of Paradise—38:140 ; Prophet curied women who are accustomed to visit graves—34:150 ; light on grave probihited—34:150 ; prayer is whispering with Lord—34:153 ; spitting towards the west is abominable—34:154 ; a good sermon—34:155 ; Prophet's intintive knowledge—34:474w.

108. Ibn Abbas reported that when the Prophet entered the House, he supplicated in every side of it and did not pray till he went out of it. When he came out, he prayed two rak'ats in front of the Ka'ba and said : This is the Qiblah. 1642

109. Abdullah-b-Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah entered the Ka'ba—he, Osamah-b-Zaid, Osman-b Talha al-Hazabi and Bilal-b-Rabah. He shut it against him and stayed therein. Then I asked Bilal when he came out : What did the Apostle of Allah do ? He said that he 1643. The Prophet's mosque of Medina has been referred here. Prayer in the Ka'ba is rewarded with 100,000 times than that in other places. Jurists differ with regard to the exact place of the Holy Ka'ba where this reward can be obtained. Some say that it is within the House of the Ka'ba, some within Mecca and some within congregational prayers. The majority of jurists, however, hold that this reward can be obtained by praying within the sacred enclosures of the Ka'ba.

1644. This means that the Muslims should not undertake journey without any necessity but for prayers in these three mosques of Ka'ba, Medina and Jerusalem with which the religion of Islam is attached in different phases from time inmemorial. The prohibition or rathr discouragement of visiting other places is chiefly due to fear of grave worship. Shah Oliullah of Delhi interprets it by saying that visting other places will carry no spiritual benefit.

1645. This is interpreted by holidng that one who prays in this place will enter Paradise and that one who prays near the pulpit will get the benefit of Prophet's fountain on the Resurrection Day. Some says that this place being a piece of Paradise will never be destroyed. Taurishi said that as this place is visited always by men, angels and Jinn, it is called a garden.

112. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Between my house and my pulpit, there is a garden of the gardens of Paradise, and my pulpit is upon my well. [1645]

1646. Quba is a place three miles to the south of Medina. The Holy Prophet first landed at Quba on his way from Mecca to Medina at the time of flight. There a mosque was built which is the first mosque in Islam.

117. Abu Musa reported that the Messenger of Allah said : The greatest of the people in reward for prayer is the longest fo them in walking (to mosque) ; and he who awaits for prayer till he says it with the Imam gets higher rewards than one who says prayer and then falls asleep. —Agreed.

118. Ja'ber reported that some habitation fell vacant round the mosque. Then the children of Salamah intended to shift to the neighbourhood of the mosque. That reached the Prophet who said to them : It has reached me that you intend to shift to the neighbourhood of the mosque. 'Yes' said they, 'O Prophet of Allah, we intend thıt.' He said : O Banu Salamah ! (stay in) your houses, your footsteps will be recorded, (stay in) your houses, your footsteps will be recorded. 1647 —Muslim

When he says prayer, angels continue to bless him, so long as he is in his praying-place: O Allah! send blessing on him, O Allah! show him mercy. And someone of you continues to be in prayer so long as he waits for prayer. In a narration; he said: When he enters the mosque, prayer confines him and he continues to be in supplication of the angels —O Allah, forgive him. 1655. Muhrim is one who observes the rules of Ihram forbidding certain prescribed things in case of pilgrims to the Ka'ba. Tasbih is to recite—Sobhan-Allah (glory be to Allah). Prayer on the footstep of another prayer means a prayer following another prayer. Between these two prayers, there should be silence in order to deserve this reward.

1656. Mosques are here described as gardens of Paradise as by frequenting mosques for prayers, Paradise is obtained.

Hə said : O Lord ! pardon me of my faults, and open for me the doors of Thy mercy. And when he came out, he used to send blessings on Muhammad (P.H.) and greetings. He said : O Lord ! forgive me of my faults and open for me the doors of Thy grace. 1658

1659. Here such kind of poetry was meant as was bad and helped corruption. See note 797 for full discussion.

1660 In Islam, prayer can be said anywhere in the world except in grave-yard and other enumerated places. Whenever the time of prayer comes, all Muslims must bow down before one Creator wherever and in whatever position they might remain. Contrast this with other religions.

148. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah prohibited prayer in seven places: In dung-hill, public slaughter house, grave-yard, public road, bath room, camel-houses and upon the top of the House of Allah 1661

1662. The women were at first prohibited from visiting the graves but later on they were allowed. Some say that it was promulgated in the beginning of Islam, but later on they were allowed to visit graves. It is, however, admitted by all that the Prophet's tomb may be visited by all, men and women. To kindle lamps on the graves is unlawful. Some visitors to famous shrines offer lamps to be kindled on the graves. This is unlawful. Women are not allowed to visit the graveyard of Jannatul Baqi perhaps, on the literal interpretation of this hadis. Malabudda Minhu holds visit of graves by women as unlawful.

151. Abu Hurairah reported: I heard the Messenger of Allah say: Whoso comes to this mosque of mine, while he does not come but for good which he learns or teaches, he is in the position of a warrior in the way of Allah; and whoso comes for what is besides that, he is in the position of a man who looks to commodities of others [1663]

He asked: From whom have you come (or where from have you come)? They said: From the inhabitants of Tayef. He said: Had you been of the inmates of Medina, I would have inflicted punishment on you. Then the Ms. of Allah said to his people when he finished : He should not pray for you. After that he wished to lead prayer for them, but they forbade him and informed him about the saying of the Ms. of Allah. He mentioned that to the Prophet. The Messenger of Allah prayed and prolonged his prayer. When he returned greeting, he exclaimed with his (loud) voice. He said to us : Upon your line as you were. Then he inclined to us and said : Behold ! verily I shall soon inform you what prevented me from you this morning. I got up at night, made ablution and prayed what was lotted for me. I felt sleep in my prayer till I was completely asleep when lo ! I was by the side of my Lord, the Blessed and the Glorious, in the best form. He said : O Muhammad ! I answered : Present to Thee, O Lord. He asked : About what do the highest leaders quarrel ? I replied : I don't know. He asked it thrice. He said : Then I saw Him placing His palm between my shoulders till I felt coldness of His fingers between my chests. Then everything became shining to me and I came to know. He asked : O Muhammad ! I replied : O Lord, present to Thee ! He asked : About what do the highest leaders quarrel ?

I replied : About expiations. He asked : What are they ? I said : The walking of feet towards congregations and sitting in the mosques after prayer, and completely performing ablution at the time of difficulty. He asked : Then about what ? I replied : About ranks. He asked : And what are they ? I replied : Giving food, talking mildly and praying at night while people remain asleep. He said : Ask. He said : I said : O Allah ! I ask Thee of doing good deeds and avoiding abominable things, and love for the destitute, and that Thou shouldst pardon me and show mercy on me. And when Thou dost intend trial of a people, take my breath without putting (them) to trial and I beg Thee of Thy love and the love of one who loves Thee, and the love of action which will take me near Thy love. Then the Ms. of Allah said : Verily it is truth, so read it and then teach it.

The foundation stone of the Ka'ba when rebuilt was laid by Patriarch Abraham ; and that of the mosque of Jerusalem by the Prophet Solomon, and the difference between them is a little over 1000 years. Then why 40 years only ! The reason is that these mosques were built long before Abraham and Solomon. For some period, they had no existence. Their sites were recovered by Divine Command and the mosques were rebuilt. Asqalan and Ibn Jauzi sponsored this view.

475w. Abu Omamah reported that a learned doctor of the Jews asked the Prophet: Which of the places is best? He remained silent therefrom. He said: Remain silent till Gabriel comes. So he remained silent and Gabriel (peace be on him) came. He enquired. He said: The one questioned is not better informed than the questioner, but I may ask my Lord, the Blessed and Glorious. Afterwards Gabriel said: O Mnhammad! verily I went to Allah so near that I never had gone so nearest to Him. He asked: O Gabriel! how was this? He said: There are 70,000 screens of light between me and Him. He said: The worst of the places are their markets and the best of the places are their mosques.

1666. This is the higher form of spiritual existence. The Quran refers to the verse in 6:76Q. The remaining portion of this hadis is exactly similar to the contents of hadis no. 155.

476w. Hasan reported a defective tradition that the Messenger of Allah said : There shall come over men a time wherein their talks will be held in the mosques regarding their worldly affairs. Don't keep company with them, and there is no necessity of Allah for them. —Baihaqi.

1667. Dress of Prayer

(a) Dress shall be pure. No particular dress for prayer was prescribed by the Holy Prophet as a Muslim lives always in Abada (divine service). The only exception that was made is that the dress must be pure. Nay, purity of dress is a Farz or compulsory thing before a man begins his prayer. No filth of any kind, urine, stool, semen or menstruation-blood should remain on it. The very first revelation on purity came down with regard to the cleanliness of dress. The Quran says : O thou that are clothed ! arise and warn, and thy Lord do magnify, and thy garments do purify, and uncleanliness do shun—74:1-5Q. This cleanliness of body and dress has been stressed upon by another verse of the Quran : Surely Allah loves those who purify themselves—2:222Q. The Prophet said : Cleanliness is half of faith—7:14. The key to Paradise is prayer, and the key to prayer is cleanliness—7:230w.

(b) Dress in prayer shall be simple. A rich mind in a simple garb is the teaching of Islam. The Holy Prophet used to wear such simple dress as was least attractive both to one's own mind and to the public. Once the Prophet prayed with a dress which had paintings. After he finished his prayer, he threw it off saying : It has diverted me from my prayer—24:163. At another time, he put on a silk dress sent to him as present. After prayer, he threw it off saying : It is not proper for the pious—34:165. Many a time, he used to say prayer in one cloth only. It is, however, not prohibited to wear such dresses as are lawful and as one desires to put on. The Quran recommends also good clothing before prayer saying : Who has prohibited the embellishment of Allah which He has brought forth for His servants and the good foods ? —7:32Q. Nay it enjoins on decent and clean dress in congregational prayers, so that no sense of disgust may arise in the minds of the audience. The Quran says : O children of Adam ! attend to your embellishments at every time of prayer—7:31Q. The white cloth is, however, the best dress for prayer as it has got the least attraction for diverting the mind from the remembrance of God. He said : Verily the best dress with which you can meet Allah in your grave and mosques is of white colour—6:161. If trousers are put in, they must not be let loose below the ankles—34:167. Prayer is allowed with shoes with which no impurity is is attached—34:171. All females shall wear veils when they pray—34:168.

1669. Allah does not accept a prayer as perfect which is said with long trousers flowing down the ankles. Prayer is not void if it is said with such trousers. It is only Makruh.

1670. By menstruating women, grown-up women have been meant. They are those on whom prayer has become obligatory This also proves that hairs of the head of a woman should always remain covered.

1671. Prayers in Islam are allowed with shoes and socks if there be not dirt in them. If, however, there is dirt, it should be removed and then they may be used. This is to show how Islam is catholic in spirit and what importance it lays on the spirit which is the soul of prayer.

172. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri reported that when the Messenger of Allah was praying with his companions, he put off his shoes and placed them on his left side. When the people saw that, they threw off their shoes. When the Prophet finished his prayer, he asked: What led you to throw off your shoes? They said: We saw you throwing off your shoes, so we threw off our shoes. Then the Messenger of Allah said: Verily Gebriel came to me and informed me that therer were dirts therein. Whenever one of you comes to the mosque, let him examine. If he sees dirt in his shoes, let him remove it and let him pray therein. 1672

—Abu Daud.

عن ابي سعيد بن الخدري قال بينما رسول الله يصلي باصحابه اذ خلع نعليه فوضعهما عن يساره فلما راى ذلك القوم القوا نعالهم فلما قضى رسول الله صلوته قال ما حملكم على القائكم نعالكم قالوا رايناك القيت نعليك فالقينا نعالنا فقال رسول الله صلعم ان جبرئيل اتاني فاخبرني ان فيهما قذرا اذا جاء احدكم المسجد فلينظر فان را في نعليه قذرا فليمسحه وليصل فيهما * (ابوداود)

1672. Ibn Majah also narrated it in slight different wordings.

174. Abu Sayeed al Khodri reported : I went to the Prophet and saw him praying upon a mat, prostrating thereon. He narrated : And I saw him praying in one cloth being covered therewith. —Muslim

عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدِ نِ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ دَخَلْتُ عَلَى النَّبِيِّ صلعم فَرَأَيْتُهُ يُصَلِّي عَلَى حَصِيرٍ يَسْجُدُ عَلَيْهِ قَالَ وَرَأَيْتُهُ يُصَلِّي فِي ثَوْبٍ وَاحِدٍ مُتَوَشِّحًا بِهِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

176. Muhammad-b-al-Munkadir reported : Jaber prayed with us in a trouser which he tied up from the side of his heels, and his cloth was placed upon a cloth-stand. Someone said to him : You are praying in one trouser ! He said : Verily I did that so that one stupid like you may see me. And who is there among us who had two clothes during the time of the Apostle of Allah. ? —Bukhari.

عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ الْمُنْكَدِرِ قَالَ صَلَّى بِنَا جَابِرٌ فِي إِزَارٍ قَدْ عَقَدَهُ مِنْ قِبَلِ قَفَاهُ وَثِيَابُهُ مَوْضُوعَةٌ عَلَى الْمِشْجَبِ فَقَالَ لَهُ قَائِلٌ تُصَلِّي فِي إِزَارٍ وَاحِدٍ فَقَالَ إِنَّمَا صَنَعْتُ ذَالِكَ لِيَرَانِي أَحْمَقُ مِثْلُكَ وَأَيُّنَا كَانَ لَهُ ثَوْبَانِ عَلَى عَهْدِ رَسُولِ اللهِ صلعم- (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

479w. Obay-b-Ka'ab reported : Prayer within one cloth is 'sunnat' which we used to do with the Messenger of Allah and we were not black-mailed. Ibn Mas'ud said : Verily that was when there was want of cloth. As for the present when Allah granted means, prayer within two clothes is purer. —Ahmad.

1674. Prayer-Stake (Sutra).

Sutra is a stake or stick which is fixed in fornt of a worshipper as a barrier in order that the people or anything may not pass through the space between the worshipher and the stake. The stake in front of the Imam is also the stake of the followers. In other words, none is allowed to pass through the open lines between the followers and the Imam. There is however no bar for going in front of the stick. If anyone passes in bront of the worshipper though there is no stake, he commits sin—34:181. The stake must be not less than one cubit in height and one finger's hold in diameter.

177. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet used to go to the praying place in the morning and a stick used to be carried in his front and fixed in front of him in the praying place and then he used to say prayer towards it. —Bukhari

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ (رض) قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم يَغْدُو إِلَى الْمُصَلَّى وَ الْعَنَزَةُ تُحْمَلُ وَ تُنْصَبُ بِالْمُصَلَّى بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ فَيُصَلِّي إِلَيْهَا * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

178. Abu Huzaifah reported: I saw the Prophet at Mecca while he was at Abtah in a red tent of leather, and I saw Bilal taking ablution water of the Prophet, and I saw the people hastily using that ablution-water. Whoso got anything out of it washed therewith, and whoso got nothing out of it took the moisture of the hand of his companion. Afterwards I saw Bilal taking a stick and fixing it. The Apostle of Allah came out with a redrobe. He prayed towards the stick two rak'ats with the people, while I saw the people and the beasts passing in front of the stick.

—Agreed

عَنْ اَبِي جُحَيْفَةَ قَالَ رَاَيْتُ رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم بِمَكَّةَ وَ هُوَ بِالْاَبْطَحِ فِي قُبَّةٍ حَمْرَاءَ مِنْ اَدَمٍ وَ رَاَيْتُ بِلَالًا اَخَذَ وَضُوءَ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَ رَاَيْتُ النَّاسَ يَبْتَدِرُونَ ذٰلِكَ الْوَضُوءَ فَمَنْ اَصَابَ مِنْهُ شَيْئًا تَمَسَّحَ بِهِ وَ مَنْ لَمْ يُصِبْ مِنْهُ اَخَذَ مِنْ بَلَلِ يَدِ صَاحِبِهِ ثُمَّ رَاَيْتُ بِلَالًا اَخَذَ عَنَزَةً فَرَكَزَهَا وَ خَرَجَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم فِي حُلَّةٍ حَمْرَاءَ مُشَمِّرًا صَلّٰى اِلَى الْعَنَزَةِ بِالنَّاسِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ وَ رَاَيْتُ النَّاسَ وَ الدَّوَابَّ يَمُرُّونَ بَيْنَ يَدَيِ الْعَنَزَةِ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

179. Nafe' from Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet used to keep his riding camel in front and pray towards it. Agreed upon it, and Bukhari added: I asked: Inform me in case the camel moves away. He replied: He used to take a saddle, make it straight and pray towards its back.

عَنْ نَّافِعٍ عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم كَانَ يَعْرِضُ رَاحِلَتَهُ فَيُصَلِّي اِلَيْهَا مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَزَادَ الْبُخَارِيُّ قُلْتُ اَفَرَاَيْتَ اِذَا هَبَّتِ الرِّكَابُ قَالَ كَانَ يَاْخُذُ الرَّحْلَ فَيُعَدِّلُهُ فَيُصَلِّي اِلَى اَخِرَتِهِ *

180. Talhah-b-Obaidullah reported that the Messenger of Allah said; When one of you puts in front of him what is like the back part of a saddle, let him pray and not care who passes behind that. —Muslim.

عَنْ طَلْحَةَ بْنِ عُبَيْدِ اللّٰهِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا وَضَعَ اَحَدُكُمْ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ مِثْلَ مُؤَخِّرَةِ الرَّحْلِ فَلْيُصَلِّ وَلَا يُبَالِ مَنْ مَّرَّ وَرَاءَ ذٰلِكَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

181. Abu Johaim reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Had the passer-by in front of the praying place known what is against him (of sins), it would have been forty (times) better for him to wait than to pass by its front. 1675 —Agreed

عَنْ اَبِيْ جُهَيْمٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَوْ يَعْلَمُ الْمَارُّ بَيْنَ يَدَيِ الْمُصَلِّي مَاذَا عَلَيْهِ لَكَانَ اَنْ يَّقِفَ اَرْبَعِيْنَ خَيْرًا لَّهُ مِنْ اَنْ يَّمُرَّ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

182. Abu Sayeed reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When one of you prays towards a thing which screens him from the people, and another wishes to pass by his front, let him drive him out.

عَنْ اَبِيْ سَعِيْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا صَلّٰى اَحَدُكُمْ اِلٰى شَيْءٍ يَسْتُرُهُ مِنَ النَّاسِ فَاَرَادَ اَحَدٌ اَنْ يَّجْتَازَ بَيْنَ يَدَيْهِ

1675. One of the narrators Abu Nazar said that he did not know whether the Prophet said – 40 days, or 40 months, or 40 years.

If he refuses, let him fight with him, and verily he is the devil 1676 —Bukhari

183. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Woman, ass, and dog make the prayer void, 1677 and something like the end of a saddle saves that. —Muslim.

184. Ayesha reported : The Prophet was saying prayer at night while I was an obstruction between him and the Qiblah like an obstruction of the dead body. 1678 —Agreed.

184 (a) Ibn Abbas reported : I came riding upon an ass (and I was at that time coming near to maturity), and the Prophet was saying prayer at Mina with the people towards a thing other than wall. I passed in front of a certain line. I got down and sent the ass to graze and joined the line, but none disliked it for me. 1679 —Agreed.

فليدفعه فان ابى فليقاتله فانما هو شيطان * (البخاري)

عن ابي هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلعم يقطع الصلوة المراة و الحمار و الكلب و يقي ذلك مثل مؤخرة الرحل * (مسلم)

عن عائشة قالت كان النبي صلعم يصلي من الليل و انا معترضة بينه و بين القبلة كاعتراض الجنازة * (متفق عليه)

عن ابن عباس (رض) قال اقبلت راكبا على اتان و انا يومئذ قد ناهزت الاحتلام و رسول الله صلعم يصلي بالناس بمنى الى غير جدار فمررت بين يدي بعض الصف فنزلت و ارسلت الاتان ترتع و دخلت في الصف فلم ينكر ذلك علي احد * (متفق عليه)

1675. If someone passes inspite of obstruction and as a result of struggle if he is killed, there will he no blood feud according to unanimons opinion of the jurists. Muslim narrated a similar tradition.

1677. It is the opinion of the majority of the jurists that if anything like ass, dog etc. passes in the front of a praying man, his prayer is not nullified.

1678. This tradition and other traditions of such nature have been meant only to give importance to the fixing of a stake or something in front at the time of prayer. See hadis 189.

1679. This proves that if a woman sleeps in front of prayer, this does make the prayer void.

1682. Nothing which passes in front of a worshipper can nullify his prayer inspite of what has been said in traditions 183, 184, and 192. If anything comes in front, that should be driven away and should not be allowed to remain standing because it disturbs the worshipper.

1684. Modes of Prayer

(a) Farz, Sunnat and Nafl prayers. The compulsory divine service is held five times a day. Each prayer consists of three parts— Farz, Sunnat and Nafl. Farz is a compulsory prayer directed by the Quran, Sunnat is a prayer observed by the Holy Prophet in addition to Farz prayer, and Nafl is an optional prayer recommended by the Holy Prophet. Each prayer consists of two or four rak'ats and each rak'at is a single unit in a prayer consisting of standing, bowing, prostration and sitting. Every componant part of a rak'at will be discussed in their proper places. Except the Farz prayers, no other prayers can ordinarily be said in congregation, and prayers other than Farz may be said at the wish of the worshipper either in the mosque or in a convenient place.

1683. These things do not nullify prayer. The nullification of prayer has been said to give emphasis to fixing of stakes.

(b) Numbers of prayers. Below are the details of each prayer.

(i) Fajr consists of 2 rak'ats of Farz prayer, and 2 rak'ats of Sunnat prayer before it.

(ii) Zuhr consists of 4 rak'ats of Farz prayer, 4 rak'ats of Sunnat before it and 2 rak'ats of Sunnat after it and 2 rak'ats of nafl.

(iii) Asr consists of 4 rak'ats of Farz, and 4 raka'ts of Sunnat before it.

(iv) Magrib consists of three rak'ats of Farz, and 2 rak'ats of sunnat and 2 rak'ats of nafl after it.

(v) Isha consists 4 rak'ats of Farz, 2 rak'ats of Sunnat after it, three rak'ats of witr and 2 rak'ats of nafl.

(c) Modes of Prayer. After Wuzu (ablution), one must go to the praying place with proper dress and standing in the place of prayer, he must recite in silence after facing the Holy Ka'ba

إِنِّي وَجَّهْتُ وَجْهِيَ لِلَّذِي فَطَرَ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْأَرْضَ حَنِيفًا وَّمَا أَنَا مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِينَ -

(Surely I have turned my face towards One who created the heavens and the earth, being upright, and I am not of the polytheists.

(i) Then the worshipper raises both hands up to the ears uttering اللّٰه اكبر (Allah is Greatest). This is called Takbir Tahrima. which makes everything unlawful except remembrance of Allah. With this utterance, there begins a rak'at. Then the right hand is placed below the navel in case of males and above breast in case of females and then the following is recited "Glory to Thee, O Allah! and there is Thy praise, and blessed is Thy name, and exalted is Thy Majesty, and there is no deity besides Thee. I seek refuge to Allah from the accursed devil. In the name of Allah, the Most Compassionate, the Merciful".

سُبْحَانَكَ اَللّٰهُمَّ وَبِحَمْدِكَ وَتَبَارَكَ اسْمُكَ وَتَعَالٰى جَدُّكَ وَلَا اِلٰهَ غَيْرُكَ اَعُوْذُ بِاللّٰهِ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ الرَّجِيْمِ - بِسْمِ اللّٰهِ الرَّحْمٰنِ الرَّحِيْمِ *

Then will follow the recitation of the opening chapter of the Quran: All praise is for Allah, the Lord of the worlds, the Most Compassionate, the Most Merciful, Master of the Day of Judgment. Thee do we worship, and Thee do we beseech for help. Guide us to the right path, the path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed favours, not of those upon whom wrath was let down, nor of those who went astray. Then is said "Ameen" (Be it so). Then any portion of the Quran which the reader has got by heart and which is not less than three verses is recited. Then saying "Allaho-Akbar', he bends down which is called رکوع and recites three times سبحان ربي العظيم (glory to my Lord, the Great). Afterwards he stands erect by saying سمع الله لمن حمده (Allah hears one who praises Him). Then he falls down in prostration, the toes of both feet, knees of both hands and the forehead touching the ground and he recites three times سبحان ربي الاعلى (glory to my Lord, the Great. Then he sits down and again he falls in similar prostration from the sitting posture. Then he gets up and stands erect. Thus one rak'at of prayer is finished. Another rak'at begins with the same recitations as in the first and ends in sitting like kneeling down. The following is then recited. اَلتَّحِيَّاتُ لِلّٰهِ وَالصَّلَوَاتُ وَالطَّيِّبَاتُ اَلسَّلَامُ عَلَيْكَ اَيُّهَا النَّبِيُّ وَرَحْمَةُ اللّٰهِ وَبَرَكَاتُهٗ اَلسَّلَامُ عَلَيْنَا وَعَلٰى عِبَادِ اللّٰهِ الصّٰلِحِيْنَ اَشْهَدُ اَنْ لَّا اِلٰهَ اِلَّا اللّٰهُ وَاَشْهَدُ اَنَّ مُحَمَّدًا عَبْدُهٗ وَرَسُوْلُهٗ *

"All invocations are for Allah, and all services and all pure things. Peace be on thee, O Prophet! and the mercy of Allah and His blessings. Peace be on us and on the righteous servants of Allah. I bear witness that there is no deity but Allah and that Muhammad is His servant and His Messenger". Then if he is not to say four rak'ats in which case he stands up again to say two rak'ats in a similar manner, he recites the following: اَللّٰهُمَّ صَلِّ عَلٰى مُحَمَّدٍ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا صَلَّيْتَ عَلٰى اِبْرَاهِيْمَ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ اِبْرَاهِيْمَ اِنَّكَ حَمِيْدٌ مَّجِيْدٌ اَللّٰهُمَّ بَارِكْ عَلٰى مُحَمَّدٍ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ مُحَمَّدٍ كَمَا بَارَكْتَ عَلٰى اِبْرَاهِيْمَ وَعَلٰى اٰلِ اِبْرَاهِيْمَ اِنَّكَ حَمِيْدٌ مَّجِيْدٌ

(O Allah! make Muhammad and the followers of Muhammad successful as Thou dist make successful Abraham and the followers of Abraham, for surely Thou art the Praised, Mighty. O Allah ! bless Muhammad and the followers of Muhammad, as Thou didst bless Abraham and the followers of Abraham, for surely Thou art Praised, Mighty. This closes the service which ends with the recitation of السلام عليكم و رحمة الله (Peace be on thee, and the mercy of Allah) first turning the head towards the right and then towards the left. Then follows Monazat (invocation) with both the hands raised abreast : اَللّٰهُمَّ اَنْتَ السَّلَامُ وَمِنْكَ السَّلَامُ تَبَارَكْتَ يَا ذَا الْجَلَالِ وَالْاِكْرَامِ

(O God ! Thou art Peace, and from Thee is peace. Blessed art Thou, O One having glory and honour). The details of each prayer will come as we proceed.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ اَنَّ رَجُلًا دَخَلَ الْمَسْجِدَ وَرَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم جَالِسٌ فِي نَاحِيَةِ الْمَسْجِدِ فَصَلّٰى ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَسَلَّمَ عَلَيْهِ فَقَالَ اَنَّهُ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَعَلَيْكَ السَّلَامُ اِرْجِعْ فَصَلِّ فَاِنَّكَ لَمْ تُصَلِّ فَرَجَعَ فَصَلّٰى ثُمَّ جَاءَ فَسَلَّمَ فَقَالَ وَعَلَيْكَ السَّلَامُ اِرْجِعْ فَصَلِّ فَاِنَّكَ لَمْ تُصَلِّ فَقَالَ فِي الثَّالِثَةِ اَوْ فِي الَّتِي بَعْدَهَا عَلِّمْنِي يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَقَالَ اِذَا قُمْتَ اِلَى الصَّلٰوةِ فَاسْبِغِ الْوُضُوْءَ ثُمَّ اسْتَقْبِلِ الْقِبْلَةَ فَكَبِّرْ ثُمَّ اقْرَأْ

193. Abu Hurairah reported that a man enterned the mosque while the Messenger of Allah was sitting in a corner of the mosque. Then he said prayer, and afterwards he came and greeted him. Then the Messenger of Allah said to him : And on thee peace. Return and say prayer, because you have not prayed. Then he returned and prayed. Afterwards he came and greeted him. He replied. And on thee peace. Return and then pray because you have not prayed. He said at the third time or at that which is subsequent to it : O Ms. of Allah, teach me. He said : When you stand up for prayer, make ablution complete, and then face the Ka'ba, recite takbir and then read what is easy for you from the Quran, afterwards bow till you are at ease with the bow, and then rise up till you stand erect, then prostrate till you are at ease with the prostration, then rise up till you are at ease with the sitting, then prostrate till you are at ease with prostration, then rise up till you sit at ease. In a narration: Then rise up till you stand erect, then do that in your whole prayer. 1685 —Agreed.

بِمَا تَيَسَّرَ مَعَكَ مِنَ الْقُرْاٰنِ ثُمَّ ارْكَعْ حَتّٰى تَطْمَئِنَّ رَاكِعًا ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتّٰى تَسْتَوِيَ قَائِمًا ثُمَّ اسْجُدْ حَتّٰى تَطْمَئِنَّ سَاجِدًا ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتّٰى تَطْمَئِنَّ جَالِسًا ثُمَّ اسْجُدْ حَتّٰى تَطْمَئِنَّ سَاجِدًا ثُمَّ ارْفَعْ حَتّٰى تَطْمَئِنَّ جَالِسًا ثُمَّ افْعَلْ ذٰلِكَ فِيْ صَلٰوتِكَ كُلِّهَا *

194. Ayesha reported that the Prophet used to open prayer with takbir 1686 and the Quran-reading with "All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the worlds." And when he bent, he used neither to keep his head erect, nor bend it very low but between that; and when he raised his head from bowing, he used not to prostrate till he stood erect, and when he raised up his head from prostration, he used not (again) to

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَسْتَفْتِحُ الصَّلٰوةَ بِالتَّكْبِيْرِ وَالْقِرَاءَةَ بِالْحَمْدُ لِلّٰهِ رَبِّ الْعٰلَمِيْنَ وَكَانَ اِذَا رَكَعَ لَمْ يُشْخِصْ رَاْسَهُ وَلَمْ يُصَوِّبْهُ وَلٰكِنْ بَيْنَ ذٰلِكَ وَكَانَ اِذَا رَفَعَ رَاْسَهُ مِنَ الرُّكُوْعِ لَمْ يَسْجُدْ حَتّٰى يَسْتَوِيَ قَائِمًا وَكَانَ اِذَا رَفَعَ رَاْسَهُ مِنَ السَّجْدَةِ لَمْ يَسْجُدْ حَتّٰى

1685. This is the tradition on the basis of which Imams Shafeyi, Ahmad and Abu Yusuf held that the standing or sitting erect after bending and prostration is Farz and that the neglect of this duty nullifies prayer, while Imams Abu Hanifa and Muhammad held them to be wajeb as the nullification is said here only to show that it was not a perfect prayer.

1686. Takbir is Allaho-Akbar (Allah is greatest). From this it appears that Bismillah (In the name of Allah) should be recited in silence.

يستوي جالسا وكان يقول في كل ركعتين التحية وكان يفرش رجله اليسرى وينصب رجله اليمنى وكان ينهى عن عقبة الشيطان وينهى ان يفترش الرجل ذراعيه افتراش السبع وكان يختم الصلوة بالتسليم * (مسلم) prostrate till he sat erect; and he used to say in every two rak'ats the Tahiyya; 1687 and he used to spread his left leg and fix his right leg, and he used to forbid the footstep of the devil, 1688 and prohibit a man's spreading out both arms (like) that of the beasts, and he used to close the prayer with greeting. 1689 —Muslim.

عن ابي حميد الساعدي قال في نفر من اصحاب رسول الله صلعم انا احفظكم لصلوة رسول الله صلعم رايته اذا كبر جعل يديه حذاء منكبيه واذا ركع امكن يديه من ركبتيه ثم حصر ظهره فاذا رفع راسه استوى حتى يعود كل فقار مكانه فاذا سجد وضع يديه غير مفترش ولا قابضهما واستقبل باطراف اصابع رجليه القبلة فاذا جلس في الركعتين جلس على رجله اليسرى ونصب

195. Abu Humaid as Sayidi reported among a party of the companions of the Messenger of Allah: I shall remind you of the prayer of the Ms. of Allah. I saw him: When he read takbir, he used to place his hands opposite to his two shoulders, and when he bowed, he used to accomodate his palms upon his knees and then bend his back; when he raised his head, he used to make it straight till every vein returned to its place, when he prostrated, he used to place his two hands without spreading, nor taking them one by the other; he used to place the ends of the toes of his legs towards the Ka'ba; when he sat in (prayer of) two bendings, he used to sit upon his left leg

1687. Tahiyyah is mentioned in note 1784.

1688. This means that one should not place his both arms flat upon the ground.

1689. Imam Shafeyi says that greeting is Farz and Imam Abu Hanifah holds it as wajeb.

—Bukhari.

196. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah used to raise his hands up to his shoulders when he opened prayer and when he recited takbir for bending, and when he raised his head from bending, he raised them up like that, and he said : "Allah hears one who praises him. O our Lord ! for Thee is all praise" ; and he used not to do that in prostration. 1690 —Agreed.

197. Nafe' reported that when Ibn Omar entered in prayer,

الْيُمْنٰى فَاِذَا جَلَسَ فِى الرَّكْعَةِ الْاٰخِرَةِ قَدَّمَ
رِجْلَهُ الْيُسْرٰى وَنَصَبَ الْاُخْرٰى وَقَعَدَ عَلٰى
مَقْعَدَتِهِ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ (رض) اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ
صلعم كَانَ يَرْفَعُ يَدَيْهِ حَذْوَ مَنْكِبَيْهِ اِذَا افْتَتَحَ
الصَّلٰوةَ وَاِذَا كَبَّرَ لِلرُّكُوْعِ وَاِذَا رَفَعَ رَاْسَهُ
مِنَ الرُّكُوْعِ رَفَعَهُمَا كَذٰلِكَ وَقَالَ سَمِعَ
اللّٰهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ وَكَانَ
لَا يَفْعَلُ ذٰلِكَ فِى السُّجُوْدِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عَنْ نَافِعٍ اَنَّ ابْنَ عُمَرَ (رض) كَانَ

1690. It indicates that both the following may be recited together—"Allah hears one who praises Him" and "O our Lord ! Thine is all praise." Imam Abu Hanifah says that the first should be recited by the Imam and the seccond by the followers. When alone, only the former shall be recited. His two disciples Muhammad and Abu Yusuf hold that the Imam should recite both. Imam Tahawi accepted this opinion. It appears also from this tradition that both the hands should be raiseded up at the time of bending and also at the time of falling in prostration. The Hanifi Mazhab does not observe it though dictated by the Prophet. There are different traditions with regard to this raising up of hands. The RAFE-YADAINS (those who uphold the doctrine of raising hands) say that in obedience to more authentic traditions, hands should be raised. Their view is supported by traditions of Ibn Omar (196) and Nafe (197) reported by Bukhari and Muslim ; and the other view is supported by traditions of Alqamah (211), Bara'a-b-A'jeb, A'sam-b-Kolaib and Muzahed narrated by other traditionists. From these traditions, it is seen that Hazrats Omar, Ali and Ibn Mas'ud did not raise up their hands except once at the time of the first Takbir. It seems, however, that by not keeping to one fixed rule, the Prophet gave emphasis more to spirit of prayer than forms. It is all alike whether one rasiss up his hands or not at the time of each bending and prostration. Surely Islam was not nevealed to create division on the basis of this question. Different forms were adopted only to give elasticity to the forms.

he used to recite takbir and raise up his hands; and when he bent, he used to raise up his hands; and when he said "Allah hears one who praises Him", he used to raise up his hands; and when he stood from the two bendings, he used to raise up his hands. And Ibn Omar raised that up to the Prophet.
—Bukhari.

198. Malek-b-Huwaires reported that when the Messenger of Allah recited takbir, he used to raise up his hands till he touched his ears with them; and when he raised up his his head from bending and said "Allah hears one who praises Him", he used to do like that. And in a narration: till he touched therewith the tips of his ears. —Agreed.

1631 Imam Shafeyi followed this hadis and held sitting at ease and standing thereafter as sunnat. Imams Ahmad and Abu Hanifah held the contrary. They explain this hadis by saying that it was meant for the old and the weak. They follow the hadis of Abu Hurairah (34:193).

takbir and then remained covered with his cloth, then he placed his right hand over the left. When he intended to bend, he took out his hands from the cloth and then raised them up, and recited takbir and bent. When he said "Allah hears one who praises Him", he raised up his hand; when he prostrated, he protrasted between his two palms. [1692]

208. Fazl-b-Abbas reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Each prayer is of two bendings—'Tashahhud, 1699 in each of two bendings, fear, humility and want. Then you shall satisfy your hands saying, (you will raise them both towards your Lord facing their palms towards your face and saying): O Lord! O Lord! 1698. Praising Allah is to recite-Alhamdo lillah (all praise is for Allah), Glorifying Allah is to recite—Sobhan Allah (glory be to Allah) and Tahlil means to recite Lahaola Wala Quatta Illah Billah (There is no power and strength except through Allah). It appears from this that one who does not know verses of the Quran should recite in prayer—Tahmid, Tahil and Tasbih as narrated.

1699. Tashahhud is At-Tahiyyat (See note 1734). The bracketted portion is the wording of the narrator by way of explanation of satisfaction of hands. This tradition refers to additional prayer. Imam Shafeyi follows this tradition. Imam Abu Hanifa holds however that additional prayer should be said each by four bendings.

1703. Prayer after Takbir.

Invocations after Takbir are read in silence. Different invocations were read by the Holy Prophet at different times. From these invocations, it is seen how deep was the prayer of the Prophet and how sincerely he dedicated himself to the Almighty. We have got, however, to recite the same formula at all times inrespective of our feelings in mind. Imam Shafeyi held that besides the invocations recorded in 216 and 220, the recitation of all others is Mustahab in all prayers, but according to Imam Abu Hanifa, Malek and Ahmad, the formula recorded in 216 shall be recited in Farz prayer and all others in Nafl prayers (Hedayah), Imam Abu Yusuf holds that both the invocations recorded in 215 and 220, should be read together. These are however different readings like different dishes. The eater is to choose the dish he wishes to take. Similar is the case with spiritual food. As forced feeding brings more injury than good, so forced reading of one formula at all times brings unmindfulness.

213. Abu Hurairah reported that the Prophet remained silent for a while between Takbir and Quran-reading. I asked: By my father and mother, O Ms. of Allah, what do you recite in your silence between takbir and the Quran reading? He replied: I say: O Allah! keep the distance between me and my sins as Thou hast kept the distance between the east and the west. O Allah! purify me of my faults as a white cloth is cleansed of dirt. O Allah! wash off my faults with water, snow and hail. 1704

1706. Ibn Majah narrated it from Abu Sayeed—This is said to be generally followed as the rightly guided Caliphs followed it. It also occurs in Sahih Muslim.

كَبِيرًا اَللّٰهُ اَكْبَرُ كَبِيرًا اَللّٰهُ اَكْبَرُ كَبِيرًا
وَالْحَمْدُ لِلّٰهِ كَثِيرًا وَالْحَمْدُ لِلّٰهِ كَثِيرًا
وَالْحَمْدُ لِلّٰهِ كَثِيرًا وَسُبْحَانَ اللّٰهِ بُكْرَةً
وَّاَصِيلًا ثَلٰثًا اَعُوْذُ بِاللّٰهِ مِنَ الشَّيْطَانِ

(اَبُوْدَاوُد وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

the great, Allah is the greatest of the great, Allah is the greatest of the great, and profuse praise is for Allah, and profuse praise is for Allah, and profuse praise is for Allah, and glory be to Allah at morn and dusk (thrice). I seek refuge to Allah from the devil, from his breath, his impurity and his evil suggestion.[1707] —Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

(اَبُوْدَاوُد وَالتِّرْمِذِيُّ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

218. Samorah-b-Jundub reported that he remembered from the Ms. of Allah two pauses—one pause when he recited takbir and one pause when he was free from reading "Besides those on whom wrath has fallen, and not of those who have gone astray." Obay-b-Ka'ab corroborated him.[1708] —Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Ibn Majah.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ

219. Abu Hurairah reported that when the Prophet got up from the second rak'at, he opened the reading with "All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the worlds" but he did not keep silence. —Muslim.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم

219(a). Jaber reported that when the Prophet opened prayer,

1707. Ibn Majah narrated without the words—Profuse praise is for Allah" and in its end—"accursed devil". Omar said that breath of devil is self-conceit, his impurity is hair and his evil saggestion is doubt.

1708. With regard to second pause, Shafeyi holds it as Sunnat' because it gives the followers an opportunity to read Fatehah. Imams Malek and Abu Hanifa hold it as Makruh (abominable).

he used to recite takbir and then say : Verily, my prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death are all for Allah, the Lord of the worlds. There is no partner for Him, and with that I have been commanded, and I am the first of those who submit. O Allah, guide me to the best of actions and to the best of manners. None can guide to their best except Thou. Protect me from evil actions and evil conduct. None can protect from their evils but Thou. —Nisai.

إِذَا اسْتَفْتَحَ الصَّلٰوةَ كَبَّرَ ثُمَّ قَالَ إِنَّ صَلَاتِي وَنُسُكِي وَمَحْيَايَ وَمَمَاتِي لِلّٰهِ رَبِّ الْعٰلَمِيْنَ لَا شَرِيْكَ لَهُ وَبِذٰلِكَ أُمِرْتُ وَأَنَا أَوَّلُ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ اَللّٰهُمَّ اهْدِنِي لِأَحْسَنِ الْأَعْمَالِ وَأَحْسَنِ الْأَخْلَاقِ لَا يَهْدِي لِأَحْسَنِهَا إِلَّا أَنْتَ وَقِنِي سَيِّئَ الْأَعْمَالِ وَسَيِّئَ الْأَخْلَاقِ لَا يَقِي سَيِّئَهَا إِلَّا أَنْتَ * (اَلنَّسَائِيُّ)

220. Muhammad-b-Muslamah reported that when the Apostle of Allah stood in optional prayer, he recited : "Allah is greatest, verily I have turned my face sincerely towards One who created the heaven and the earth ; and I am not of the polytheists". And he mentioned the tradition like the tradition of Jaber except that he said : And I am of the Muslims. Afterwards he said : O Allah, Thou art the king, there is no deity but Thou. Glory be to Thee and Thine is the praise. Afterwards he used to read the Quran. —Nisai.

عَنْ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ مَسْلَمَةَ قَالَ إِنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم إِذَا قَامَ يُصَلِّي تَطَوُّعًا فَقَالَ اَللّٰهُ أَكْبَرُ وَجَّهْتُ وَجْهِيَ لِلَّذِي فَطَرَ السَّمٰوٰتِ وَالْأَرْضَ حَنِيْفًا وَمَا أَنَا مِنَ الْمُشْرِكِيْنَ وَذَكَرَ الْحَدِيْثَ مِثْلَ حَدِيْثِ جَابِرٍ إِلَّا أَنَّهُ قَالَ وَأَنَا مِنَ الْمُسْلِمِيْنَ ثُمَّ قَالَ اَللّٰهُمَّ أَنْتَ الْمَلِكُ لَا إِلٰهَ إِلَّا أَنْتَ سُبْحَانَكَ وَبِحَمْدِكَ ثُمَّ يَقْرَأُ - (اَلنَّسَائِيُّ)

1709. Quran-reading in Prayer

The Quran-reading in prayer is Farz according to the Holy Prophet and unanimous decision of all the jurists. The jurist however, differ with regard to the extent of its reading. According to Imam Shafeyi, it is compulsory in all the four rak'ats, according to Imam Malek in three rak'ats, and according to Imam Abu Hanifa in the first two rak'ats. Imam Ahmed followed Imam Shafeyi.

عَنْ عُبَادَةَ بْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم لَا صَلٰوةَ لِمَنْ لَمْ يَقْرَاءْ بِفَاتِحَةِ الْكِتَابِ مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ لِمُسْلِمٍ لِمَنْ لَمْ يَقْرَاءْ بِاُمِّ الْقُرْاٰنِ فَصَاعِدًا -

221. Oba'dah-b-Swa'met reported that the Messenger of Allah said : There is no prayer for one who has not read the Opening of the Book. Agreed upon it, and in a narration of Muslim : for one who has not read the Mother of the Quran as well as something more. 1710

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم مَنْ صَلّٰى صَلٰوةً لَمْ يَقْرَاءْ فِيهَا بِاُمِّ الْقُرْاٰنِ فَهِيَ خِدَاجٌ ثَلٰثًا غَيْرُ تَمَامٍ فَقِيلَ لِاَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ اِنَّا نَكُونُ وَرَاءَ الْاِمَامِ قَالَ اِقْرَاْ بِهَا فِي نَفْسِكَ فَاِنِّي سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللهِ يَقُولُ قَالَ اللهُ تَعَالٰى قَسَمْتُ الصَّلٰوةَ

222. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said thrice : Whoso prayed without reading therein, the Mother of th Quran, it is defective without completion. 1711 It was questioned to Abu Hurairah : We remain behind the Imam. He said : Read it within yourself, because I heard the Messenger of Allah say : The Almighty Allah said : I divided prayer

1710. Imams Shafeyi and Ahmad on the basis of this tradition hold that without Fatihah (opening chapter), prayer becomes void. Imam Abu Hanifa does not hold such prayer void but only defective. His argument is on the basis of the Quranic-verse : Read what seems easy to you from the Quran (73:20Q). It is however wajeb (binding) to read something in addition to Fatihah. The Mother of the Book is the opening chapter of the Quran.

1711. This hadis proves that even the followers in case of congregational prayer is bound to recite Fatihah silently. This is true in case the Imam reads silently such as in mid-day prayer. If the Imam reads loudly, all must remain silent and hear the reading. The Quran says : And when the Quran is read, keep silence (7:204Q). Imam Shafeyi holds that for the followers the recitation of Fatihah is wajeb (binding) even if the Imam reads in audible voice. Imam Ahmad and Malek hold that in case the Imam silently reads the Quran, Fatiha-reading by the followers is wajeb. Imam Abu Hanifa says that the followers shall not read anything behind the Imam, whether he openly reads or silently. The two disciples Abu Yusuf and Muhammad support their master. Imam Abu Hanifa relies on the hadis : Whoso has got an Imam, the reading of the Imam is reading for him.

between Me and My servant into two portions, and there is for My servant what he seeks." When the servant utters "All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the worlds," the Almighty Allah says "My servant has praised Me," and when he utters "The Compassionate, the Merciful," the Almighty Allah says "My servant glorified Me," and when he utters "Master of the Days of Judgement," the Almighty Allah says "My servant honoured Me", and when he says: "Thee do we worship and from Thee do we seek assistance", He says: "This is between Me and My servant and for My servant there is what he seeks." When he utters "Guide us to the right path, the path of those upon whom Thou hast bestowed favours, not of those upon whom wrath has heen brought down, nor of those who went astray", He says; This is for My servant, and there is for My servant what he seeks. —Muslim.

223. Anas reported that the Prophet, Abu Bakr and Omar used to open prayer with "All praise is due to Allah, the Lord of the worlds", [1712] —Muslim

224 Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said:

1712. Though this tradition does not show that Bismillah should be recited before Al-hamdolillah, it is agreed, however, that it should be recited before.

صلعم إذَا أمّنَ الإمَامُ فَأمّنُوا فَإنّهُ مَنْ وَافَقَ تَأمِينُهُ تَأمِينَ الْمَلَئِكَةِ غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ مُتّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ إذَا قَالَ الإمَامُ غَيْرِ الْمَغْضُوبِ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا الضّالّينَ فَقُولُوا آمِينَ فَإنّهُ مَنْ وَافَقَ قَوْلُهُ قَوْلَ الْمَلَائِكَةِ غُفِرَ لَهُ مَا تَقَدّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهِ *

When the Imam says "Ameen", say "Ameen" [1713] because whoso approves his Ameen the approval of the angels, is forgiven of his sins which he sent in advance. Agreed upon it. And in a narration, he said: When the Imam utters "Nor of those upon whom wrath has fallen, nor of those who have gone astray," say Ameen, because whoso approves his saying the saying of the angels is forgiven of his sins which he sent in advance. [1714]

225. عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى الْأَشْعَرِيّ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم إذَا صَلّيْتُمْ فَأقِيمُوا صُفُوفَكُمْ ثُمّ لِيَؤُمّكُمْ أَحَدُكُمْ فَإذَا كَبّرَ فَكَبّرُوا وَإذَا قَالَ غَيْرِ الْمَغْضُوبِ عَلَيْهِمْ وَلَا الضّالّينَ فَقُولُوا آمِينَ يُجِبْكُمُ اللهُ فَإذَا كَبّرَ وَرَكَعَ فَكَبّرُوا وَارْكَعُوا فَإنّ الإمَامَ يَرْكَعُ قَبْلَكُمْ وَيَرْفَعُ قَبْلَكُمْ فَقَالَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم فَتِلْكَ بِتِلْكَ قَالَ

225. Abu Musa-al-Ash'ari reported that the Messenger of Allah said: When you pray, arrange your lines, and then let one of you be Imam. When he recites takbir, recite takbir, and when he says "Not of those upon whom wrath has fallen, nor of those who have gone astray," say Ameen, and then Allah will love you. When he recites takbir and bends, recite takbir and bend because the Imam bends before you and rises up before you. The Ms. of Allah said: That is in exchange of that. [1715] He said:

1713. Ameen means "Be it so". This is signifying consent of the follower to the reading of the Imam. The Christians also say Ameen at the end of their prayers.

1714. Bukhari had added a portion. He said: When a reader says Ameen, say Ameen becouse the angels say Ameen. So who's Ameen coincides with Ameen of the angels, he is forgiven of his sins he sent in advance. This hadis proves that Ameen should he recited in a loud voice by the Imams. To say Ameen is sunnat according to the opinion of the jurists. Imam shafeyi holds that to read Ameen in voice is sunnat. Imam Abu Hanifa and Ahmad say that it should be read silently. The traditions however support Imam Shafeyi.

When he says, "Allah hears one who praises Him," say: O Allah! Thine is the praise, Allah hears you. [1716] Muslim narrated it. In a narration reported by him from Abu Hurairah and Qatadah: When he reads, keep silence. —Muslim.

226. Abu Qatadah reported that the Prophet used to read in the first two rak'ats the Mother of the Book and two Chapters of the Quran, and the Mother of the Book in the last two rak'ats. He used sometimes to make us hear the verse, used to prolong in the first rak'at what he did not do in the second rak'at. (He did) thus in Asr prayer and thus in Fajr prayer. [1717] —Agreed.

227. Abu Sayeed al-Khodri reported: We are guessing the standing-time of the Ms. of Allah in Zuhr and Asr prayers. We guessed that his standing time in the first two rak'ats of the Zuhr prayer was as long as the reading of "Alif, Lam, Mim, the Descending into prostration. And In a narration: In each rak'at as long as thirty verses. And I guessed that his standing in the last two rak'ats was like

وَإِذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللّٰهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ فَقُولُوا اللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ يَسْمَعُ اللّٰهُ لَكُمْ رَوَاهُ مُسْلِمٌ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ لَهُ عَنْ أَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ وَقَتَادَةَ وَإِذَا قَرَأَ فَأَنْصِتُوا *

عَنْ أَبِي سَعِيدِ نِ الْخُدْرِيِّ قَالَ كُنَّا نَحْزُرُ قِيَامَ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فِي الظُّهْرِ وَالْعَصْرِ فَحَزَرْنَا قِيَامَهُ رَكْعَتَيْنِ الْأُولَيَيْنِ مِنَ الظُّهْرِ قَدْرَ قِرَاءَةِ الٓمٓ تَنْزِيلُ السَّجْدَةِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فِي كُلِّ رَكْعَةٍ قَدْرَ ثَلَاثِينَ آيَةً وَحَزَرْنَا قِيَامَهُ فِي الْأُخْرَيَيْنِ

1715. Follow step by step with the Imam in bending and prostration or any other mode of prayer.

1716. In his another narration from Abu Hurairah and of Qatadah: When he reads, keep silence.

1717 To prolong prayer in the first rak'at is the common consent of three Imams in order to give opportunity to those who do not finish their ablution.

half of that, and we guessed that in the first two rak'ats of the Asr prayer (his standing) was to the length of his standing in the last two rak'ats of Zuhr prayer; and in the last two rak'ats of the Asr prayer, it was half of that [1718] —Muslim

قَدْرَ النِّصْفِ مِنْ ذٰلِكَ وَحَزَرْنَا فِي الرَّكْعَتَيْنِ الْأُولَيَيْنِ مِنَ الْعَصْرِ عَلَى قَدْرِ قِيَامِهِ فِي الْأُخْرَيَيْنِ مِنَ الظُّهْرِ وَالْأُخْرَيَيْنِ مِنَ الْعَصْرِ عَلَى النِّصْفِ مِنْ ذٰلِكَ *

(مسلم)

228. Ja'ber-b-Samorah reported that the Prophet used to read in Zuhr prayer with—"And by the night when it covers—92Q" And in a narration with "Glorify the name of Thy Lord (87Q);" and in the afternoon prayer like that And in early morning prayer, longer than that.

—Muslim.

عَنْ جَابِرِ بْنِ سَمُرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ النَّبِيُّ يَقْرَأُ فِي الظُّهْرِ بِاللَّيْلِ اِذَا يَغْشٰى وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ بِسَبِّحِ اسْمَ رَبِّكَ الْأَعْلٰى وَفِي الْعَصْرِ نَحْوَ ذٰلِكَ وَفِي الصُّبْحِ اَطْوَلَ مِنْ ذٰلِكَ * (مسلم)

229. Jubair-b-Mut'em reported: I heard the Apostle of Allah read the sun-set prayer with "The Mountain (52Q)."

عَنْ جُبَيْرِ بْنِ مُطْعِمٍ قَالَ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقْرَأُ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِالطُّوْرِ * (متفق عليه)

230. Omme Fazl, daughter of Al-Hares, reported: I heard the Ms. of Allah read the sun-set prayer with "The Sent forth with goodness (77Q)." —Agreed.

عَنْ اُمِّ الْفَضْلِ بِنْتِ الْحَارِثِ قَالَتْ سَمِعْتُ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقْرَأُ فِي الْمَغْرِبِ بِالْمُرْسَلَاتِ عُرْفًا * (متفق عليه)

231. Jaber reported that Mu'az-b-Jabal prayed with the Ms. of Allah. Afterwards he came and led prayer of his people. One night he prayed with the Prophet the I'sha prayer. Then

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ كَانَ مُعَاذُ بْنُ جَبَلٍ يُصَلِّي مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم ثُمَّ يَاْتِي فَيَؤُمُّ قَوْمَهُ فَصَلّٰى لَيْلَةً مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم الْعِشَاءَ

1718. It appears form this that in the last two rak'ats of Zuhr prayer, verses after Fatihah were read but they were more brief. Imam Shafeyi holds this as void. Imam Abu Hanifa relies on a subsequent tradition. To read verses in the last two rak'ats is sunnat. It is however lawful, according to Hanifi Mazhab, to read Tasbih or to remain silent after Fatihah in the last two rak'ats of Zuhr and Asar prayers. Abu Shaiba reports from Ali and Ibn Mas'ud that no reading is necessary in the last two rak'ats.

he came to his people and led their prayer. He opened with the chapter "Cow". A man turned aside and greeted and then prayed alone and finished. They asked him: O so and so, have you done treachery? He said: No, by Allah, I must go to the Prophet and inform him. Then he came to the Prophet and said: O Ms. of Allah! verily we are day-labourers, we work at day time, and verily Mua'z said the night prayer with you. Then he came to his people and opened with the chapter "Cow". Then the Ms. of Allah stepped forward to Mu'z and said: O Muaz! are you a sower of dessension? Read—"And the sun and its brightness (91Q)," and "the Noon and the Night, when it covers (93Q)," and "Glorify the name of your Lord, the Highest (87Q)."

—Agreed.

232. Bara'a reported: I heard the Ms. of Allah read in I'sha prayer "And the Fig and the Olive (95Q)". I did hear none with bettor voice than him.

233. Jaber-b-Samorah reported that the Prophet was reading in Fazr prayer with "Qaf, and the Glorious Quran," and its like, and his prayer was afterwards lighter.

of the Prophet in journey. He said to me: O Oqbah, shall I not teach you the best two chapters which were read? He taught me: Say, I seek refuge to the Lord of the dawn, and say, I seek refuge to the Lord of men. He said that he did not see me reciting very much the two chapters. When he came down for the early morning prayer, he prayed with them the prayer of dawn for men. When he finished, he looked at me and said: O Oqbah, how have you seen? —Ahmad, Abu Daud, Nisai.

244. Solaiman-Yasr reported from Abu Hurairah who said: I did not pray behind anybody more in resemblance of the prayer of the Apostle of Allah than (that of) so and so. Solaiman said: I prayed behind him and he used to prolong the first two rak'ats in Zuhr prayer and to make short the (prayer of) last two rak'ats and to make short the Asr prayer, and to read in sun-set prayer with the short Mufassal and to read in I'sha prayer with the medium Mufassal and to read in Fajr prayer with the long Mufassal.[1720] —Nisai, Ibn Majah.

1720. The jurists agree that in the early morning and mid-day prayers, verses of the Quran from long of the short sentenced chapters should be read, and in the afternoon and night prayers with the middle of the short sentenced chapters, and in the sun-set prayer with the shortest of the short sentenced chapters.

245. Oba'dah-b-Swa'met reported: We were behind the Prophet in the early morning prayer. He read and then the reading became hard for him.[1721] When he finished, he said: Perhaps you read behind your Imam. 'Yes' said we, 'O Ms. of Allah.' He said: Don't do except with the Opening of the Book, because there is no prayer for one who does not read therewith. Abu Daud and Tirmizi narrated it, and there is its substance reported by Nisai. And in a narration of Abu Daud, he said: And I am saying (within myself): What is the matter with me that the Quran contends with me? So don't read anything of the Quran when I read openly except with the Mother of the Quran.[1722]

عَنْ عُبَادَةَ ابْنِ الصَّامِتِ قَالَ كُنَّا خَلْفَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فِي صَلٰوةِ الْفَجْرِ فَقَرَا فَثَقُلَتْ عَلَيْهِ الْقِرَاءَةُ فَلَمَّا فَرَغَ قَالَ لَعَلَّكُمْ تَقْرَؤُنَ خَلْفَ اِمَامِكُمْ قُلْنَا نَعَمْ يَا رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ قَالَ لَا تَفْعَلُوْا اِلَّا بِفَاتِحَةِ الْكِتَابِ فَاِنَّهٗ لَا صَلٰوةَ لِمَنْ لَّمْ يَقْرَأْ بِهَا رَوَاهُ اَبُوْدَاوٗدَ وَ التِّرْمِذِيُّ وَ لِلنَّسَائِيِّ مَعْنَاهُ وَفِيْ رِوَايَةٍ لِاَبِيْ دَاوٗدَ قَالَ وَ اَنَا اَقُوْلُ مَا لِيْ يُنَازِعُنِي الْقُرْاٰنُ فَلَا تَقْرَءُوْا بِشَيْءٍ مِّنَ الْقُرْاٰنِ اِذَا جَهَرْتُ اِلَّا بِاُمِّ الْقُرْاٰنِ *

The last chapters have been expresed by the word Mufassal (short-worded verses). They are the last chapters of the Quran from the chapter Chambers to the end. The long chapters of Mufassal run from "the Chambers" to the Stars (49 to 85) Medium chapters run from "the Night Comer to Lam Yakun" and the remaining are short chapters of Mufassal.

1721. This means that when the followers began to read the Quran along with the reading of the Prophet, it became difficult for the Prophet to follow in spirit what he read. This also shows that Fatihah is Farz and that it should be read even when the Imam reads loudly. This is said however to have been spoken in the beginning of Islam. Imam Abu Hanifa supports the view that this was not in force afterwards.

1722. Mother of Quran is chapter Fatihah (1Q).

said: Verily I was saying: what is with me that I contend with the Quran? He narrated: Then the people abstained from reading with the Ms. of Allah in a prayer in which he was express with reading at the time when they heard that from the Apostle of Allah. —Malek, Ahmad, Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Nisai, Ibn Majah.

He replied: Say, "Glory be to Allah" and "All praise is for Allah," and "There is no deity but Allah," and "Allah is greatest," and "There is no power, nor strength except through Allah." He asked: O Ms. of Allah, this is for Allah, what is then for me? He said: Say, O Allah! have mercy on me, and pardon me, and guide me, and give me provision. He said after catching his two hands: Thus. Then the Ms. of Allah said: As for this man, he has indeed filled up his hands with good. —Abu Daud.

'Ruku' means bowing down. In Ruku, the worshipper bows his head forward placing both his hands on knees, so that the back and the head become in a straight line. In this posture, the words as recorded in 34:264 are generally uttered. The worshipper rises up from this posture saying "Allah hears one who praises him" سمع الله لمن حمده. The followers repond in silence : O our Lord ! Thine is the praise ربنا لك الحمد. Then he falls down in prostration. In Ruku, the Quran should never be read—34:257, and never should it be made hastily, as in that case, it will be nothing but exercise. Some other forms of glorification have been prescribed in traditions. They may be recited conveniently at the wish of the worshipper.

252. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Keep up the bowings and prostrations. By Allah, I am certainly seeing you from my back. —Agreed.

1728. Prostration (السجدة)

Prostration is the highest manifestation of humility and self-surrender. The king and the beggar, the high and the low, must surrender to the Almighty after prostrating on the ground. By this act, all the limbs-forehead, two hands, two knees, two ends of feet and nose— are brought to submission This prostration of limbs is coupled with the glorification of the Maker. What can there be a better form for the expression of self-effacement and self-surrender ? The posture of prostration is assumed twice, the worshipper raising his head with Takbir in his lips and sitting and then prostrating with Takbir and repeating words of divine glory at least thrice. Between the two prostrations, the formula as in 34:282 may be recited. To make prostration is Farz in prayer. It is said that there is nothing which brings a man nearer to God than prostration—34:271. Various forms of glorification have been prescribed in the traditions giving elasticity to outpouring one's heart, but a standard form for all the people, literate and the illiterate, has been taught in 34:264. The devil was turned out of Paradise because of the rejection of prostration. Hasty prostration like the picking of a crow has been prohibited—34:284. In prostration, glorification or seeking for divine favours are both permissible. In short, a worshipper is free to express the yearning of his soul before his great Maker with any word he likes.

269. Ibn Abbas. reported that the Apostle of Allah said: I have been directed to make prostration upon seven limbs, upon forehead, palms, knees, and toes of feet, and not to tack clothes, nor hairs.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اُمِرْتُ اَنْ اَسْجُدَ عَلٰى سَبْعَةِ اَعْظُمٍ عَلَى الْجَبْهَةِ وَ الْيَدَيْنِ وَ الرُّكْبَتَيْنِ وَ اَطْرَافِ الْقَدَمَيْنِ وَلَا نَكْفُتَ الثِّيَابَ وَلَا الشَّعَرَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

Do not these think that they shall be raised up for a great day ? 83 : 1—4Q. The Holy Prophet fixed up the standard measurement. The measurement was of the Medinites who were well-known to it as they were chiefly agriculturists, and the weight that of the Meccans as they were efficient in the weight on account of their commerce. He also said : Nor a people decrease weight and measure but provision is cut off from them—26 : 359w.

933. Payment in advance (السلم)

'Silm' literally signifies a contract involving a prompt delivery in return for a future delivery. Technically it means a contract of sale causing an immediate payment of the price and admitting a delay in the delivery of goods. It is an advance payment for future goods. Advance payment is lawful in all articles of weight and measurement. Money in coins is not included in the description of articles of weight. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, a 'silm' sale cannot therefore be made for goods in exchange of cash money. Goods may lawfully be advanced for goods and not for money. A silm sale with respect to articles of longitudinal measurement such as cloth or the like is lawful because it is possible to define them exactly by number of yards in respect of length and breadth. It is not lawful with respect to animals according to Imam Abu Hanifa but lawful according to Imam Shafeyi. It is also not lawful till the article be in continued existence until the time of delivery which must be fixed. The sale, in short, requires that the genus be specified and that the species, quality, quantity, period of delivery, rate and place of delivery be all determined. Silm sale can be lawfully effected for cash money according to majority of the theologians and it is now the prevailing law.

66. Abu Sayeed al Khodri reported that the Messenger of Allah said : Whoever advances a thing for something, let him not transfer it to others before he possesses it. —Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

934. Monopoly (احتكار)

Monopoly means storing up of food-grains for getting higher price in times of need and scarcity. This is quite unlawful and at least abominable (Makruh) where such monopoly is likely to prove detrimental. Grains and food-stuffs are connected with the rights of everyone, whence the withholding of them from sale is an invasion of the general rights of mankind and an occasion of scarcity in their necessary food. It is however not any sin where such storing is not detrimental to the people as in a large city. If however the period of detention be long, it becomes an abominable monopoly, as it then induces detriment. The period of detention is 40 days according to some and 30 days or less according to others. The principle, however, is the injury likely to be caused to people if detained for longer time than is necessary. A person is, however, allowed to monopolize the product of his own grounds or what he brings from a very distant place. Prices of commodities must not be fixed. Except food-grains and necessaries of life, other commodities may lawfully be stored up.

67. Me'mar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoever monopolises, he is a sinner.

69. Anas reported that the current price became dear at the time of the Messenger of Allah. They asked: O Messenger of Allah! fix a rate for us. The Holy Prophet replied: Verily Allah is One who fixes price, curtails, gives amply and provides sustenance; and certainly I hope that I should meet my Lord while there will be none amongst you who will hold me responsible either for blood or for property.[936]

935. Trade is for the benefit of the people by exchange of commodities from one place to another. The man who fulfils this object and removes want of the people is doubly blessed.

936. It apears therefore that there is a pronouncement of great commercial value in not fixing the price of anything. If price be fixed, there will be no enterprise for commerce and trade, and business of the world will be at a stand still causing a great loss in the mercantile world.

937. Industry (صنعة)

The Holy Prophet said: Never has any one eaten a better thing than what he has eaten of the labour of his own hands— 4 : 109. Verily the purest of what you eat is of your own earnings—4 : 110. This important pronouncement of the Holy Prophet made in an age quite remote from ours has brought a revolution in the industrial world. What order can be greater than this magnificent utterance that the purest of what we earn is of our own earnings. This led the emperors and saints to take up works and live upon their wages. This injunction led the Muslims to invent machineries of works and various ways of workmanship and manufacturing articles and commodities of common and extraordinary uses. There was therefore a great impetus given to homogenous and extraneous industry on the ruins of which the modern industrial enterprise is chiefly based. What we eat is corns, sugar, salt, oil, butter, etc.; what we use is cloth, soap, paper, utensil, shoe and thousand other things of daily use. According to the instruction of the Holy Prophet, we should ourselves manufacture these articles and supply our needs therewith. This also gives a great impetus to using the indigenous articles and establishment of mills and factories. Indeed the modern mills and machinaries have taken the place of individual labour of by-gone days. Hence the greater the use of these machineries, the greater the prosperity of individuals as well as of nations.

CHAPTER XIX

938. Cultivation (المزارعة) and Gardening (المساقة)

Mozara'at signifies primarily cultivation. It means a contract between two persons, one being an owner of land and the other cultivator, by which it is agreed that whatever is obtained from the land shall belong to both in such proportions as may be therein determined. It is just like bhag leases in our country. Mosaqat means watering and signifies a contract like the former on condition that the labourer shall take care of the fruitful trees or plants to be grown. The former applies to lands and the latter to trees and plants. Cultivation and gardening are most important for production of fruits and corns with which people and other animals sustain themselves. Stoppage of cultivation and gardening means famine and starvation for want of food. Hence it must be resorted to. Indeed the whole civilized world is greatly indebted to the tillers of the soil. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, such kind of leases as above described are invalid as wages are uncertain and lie buried in futurity, but according to his disciples and the three Imams, they are valid and the latter view has been accepted by juristsconsults. The people of Medina were mostly agriculturists and those of Macca tradesmen. The Holy Prophet himself entered once into a contract with the people of Khaiber that they should manage and cultivate the gardens and lar of Khaiber and enjoy in return half of the produce and give t other half to him. Besides, it is a case of partnership with stock a labour. The produce is participated according to agreement, and nothing is produced, the cultivator or landlord has no claim. T following rules shall be observed in agricultural and horticultu leases :—

(1) The ground shall be capable of cultivation and gardeni (2) The contracting parties must be mature and duly qualifi (3) The terms of lease shall be express. (4) The party sh comply as to who is to supply seeds. (5) Shares of the parties to t produce shall be fixed. (6) The land shall be delivered to the poss sion of the cultivator.

1. Jaber reported that the Holy Prophet said: Whoso has got land, let him cultivate it or let it out to his brother. If he denies, let him keep his land to himself. —Agreed.

عَنْ جَابِرٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مَنْ كَانَتْ لَهٗ اَرْضٌ فَلْيَزْرَعْهَا اَوْلِيَمْنَحْهَا اَخَاهُ فَاِنْ اَبٰى فَلْيُمْسِكْ اَرْضَهٗ (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

942. The Holy Prophet prohibited here bhag-leases of some descriptions. The reason of the prohibition was unequal distribution of crops. The landlord reserved for himself the crops of some particular lands and gave other plots to the cultivator.

943. The reason is very clear, because one plot yielded something and another plot nothing, so one got nothing and another everything. For this it was disallowed to demarcate lands between a cultivator and an owner which the cultivator has been given to cultivate.

1745. Invocation after Tashahhud

Invocation after Tashahhud is sunnat. The worshipper may adopt any mode of petition according to his will and may speak in any language he likes to outpour his heart to his Maker after the greeting. The best invocation, however, is that which contains a prayer for welfare in this world as well as in the next. The following invocation occurs in the Quran : O our Lord ! give us good in this world and good in the hereafter and save us from the fire (Q). There are other forms of invocation recorded in the traditions in this section and elsewhere. When praying in congregation, the Imam should turn his face towards his followers for the invocation (36:38).

313. Ayesha reported that the Apostle of Allah used to make invocation in prayer by saying: O Allah! I seek refuge to Thee from the chastisement of grave, and I seek refuge to Thee from the calamities of one-eyed Dajjal and I seek refuge to Thee from the calamities of life and the calamities of death. O Allah! verily I seek refuge to Thee from all sins and from all debts. Some one asked him: What's the sin for which you seek protection from debt? He said: Verily when a man falls in debt, he talks much, speaks falsehoods and makes promise and breaks (it). —Agreed

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَدْعُوْ فِى الصَّلٰوةِ يَقُوْلُ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّىْ اَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ وَ اَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَسِيْحِ الدَّجَّالِ وَ اَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَحْيَا وَ فِتْنَةِ الْمَمَاتِ اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنِّىْ اَعُوْذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْمَاْثَمِ وَ مِنَ الْمَغْرَمِ فَقَالَ لَهٗ قَائِلٌ مَا اَكْثَرَ مَا تَسْتَعِيْذُ مِنَ الْمَغْرَمِ قَالَ اِنَّ الرَّجُلَ اِذَا غَرِمَ حَدَّثَ فَكَذَبَ وَ وَعَدَ فَاَخْلَفَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1753. Zikr after prayer

After the Farz prayer is finished, there are some hymns for the remembrance of Allah and His greatness. This may be done at the option of the individual worshipper. The following has, however, been recommended by the traditions and the jurists (vide Durre Mukhtar) :—(1) to read استغفر الله (I seek forgiveness to Allah) several times preferably twelve times ; (2) Ayatul Kursi (2:255Q) once ; (3) the Refuging verses (113Q, 114Q) once ; (4) سبحان الله (glory to Allah), الحمد لله (Allah praise is for Allah) and الله اكبر (Allah is greatest), each 33 times ; (5) and if possible لا حول ولا قوة الا بالله for 100 times. These formulas of divine glory may be recited after sunnat prayers.

336. Abu Hurairah reported that the poor Refuges came to the Messenger of Allah and said: The wealthy have gone with the highest ranks and permanent gifts. He asked: What is that? They replied: They pray as we pray, they fast as we fast, and they pay charity but we do not, and grant manumission and we do not. The Messenger of Allah said: Shall I not teach you something with which you may overtake those who surpass you and with which you will surpass those who will come after you? And none of you will be better than you except one who will do what you will do. 'Yes, O Ms. of Allah' said they. He said: You will read Tasbih, Takbir and Tahmid [1757] at the end of each prayer, each for 33 times. Abu Saleh said: Then the poor Refugees returned to the Prophet and said: Our brethen, the owners of properties, heard of what we had done, and so they did like that. Then the Messenger of Allah said: That is the grace of Allah which He bestows on whom He wishes.

In prayer there is deep concentration of mind towards the remembrance of the Almighty and His glorifications. Hence everything that diverts the attention of the worshipper and breaks its solemnity is either abominable or unlawful, as in that case, the very object of prayer is frustrated. It has therefore been recommended that absolute restraint of mind and the organs of hearing and sight should be practised. All the organs and force of a man should be combined to create a divine atmosphere in mind in order to receive the celestial gifts. The worshipper is not allowed to turn his look towards any of his sides, either right, left, above or back except towards the place of prostration. He is not permitted to hold talks with anybody or respond to the greeting. He is not to give out wind. He should shut up his mouth in case of yawning. He should not break his fingers, play with the beard, throw stones or do other acts which divert the attention of the worshipper.

346. Muwayiah-b-Hakam reported: While we were praying with the Prophet, a man among the people sneezed. I said: May Allah have compassion on you? Then the people struck me with their eyes and I said: Alas! may your mother be heavy! What is the matter with you that you are staring at me? Then they began to strike their thighs with their hands. When I saw that they would make me silent, I remained silent.[1766] When the Prophet prayed, I did never see (I swear by my father and mother) any teacher before him and after him better in teaching than him. By Allah, he did neither threaten me, nor assault me, nor rebuke me. He said:

Verily this is a prayer in which no talk of men is allowed. Verily it consists of Tasbih, Takbir and the Quran-reading, or as the Prophet said: I asked: O Ms. of Allah, verily I was a young man in the Days of Ignorance, and (now) Allah has brought Islam to us; and verily there are men among us who go to the sooth-sayers. [1767] He said: Don't go to them. I asked: And there are men among us who believe in omens. He said: That is a thing which they will find in their chests. So they must not prevent them. I asked: There are men among us who foretell by marks. He said: There was a Prophet [1768] among the prophets who used to foretell by marks. 1767. Sooth-sayers used to foretell events and they were attached to the devils and Jinn. The astrologers who foretell events by marks of palms or by other means are also of the same kind. To approach them is infidelity, and they are unbelievers in the great power of Allah.

1768. This Prophet was Wais or Daniel. He used to tell prophecies from Allah by revelation and he used to observe marks incidentally. This however should not be followed by ordinary men as they will not reeceive revelation. This means that the marks would never coincide with the marks of this particular Prophet as they are now no longer is existence. Therefore foretelling by marks is unlawful.

1769. It is Makruh to turn one's look towards heaven in prayer, specially at the time of supplication; as in that case, some place is fixed for Allah in heaven from which He is absolutely free. The Quran says: Wherever you turn, there is the face of Allah (2:115Q). It has been reported that the Prophet once raised up his look in prayer when the following was revealed "And those who are humble in their prayer (23:2Q)".

When we returned from Abyssinia, I came to him and found him praying. I greeted him, but he did not reply to me, till when he finished his prayer, he said : Verily Allah renews His orders as He wishes, and verily out of what He renewed, there is this that you should not talk in prayer. 1778 Tirmizi narrated this tradition with addition and alteration. Imam Abu Hanifa holds that in case of involuntary emission of wind, the prayer is not rendered void, but it is otherwise with regard to the other three Imams.

1779. The catching hold of nose has been directed to give an indication to the people that something has happened which rendered the ablution void.

1780. Tirmizi says that its chain of narration is not very strong. Imam Abu Hanifa held his view on the basis of this tradition.

374. Abu Darda'a reported that the Messenger of Allah stood for prayer. Then we heard him say: I seek refuge to Allah from you. Next he said thrice: I curse you with the curse of Allah. He spread his hand to catch hold of something as it were. When he finished the prayer, we asked: O Ms. of Allah, we heard you say something in prayer which we did not hear you say before that, and we saw that you had spread your hand. He replied: Verily the devil, the enemy of Allah, came with a fleak of fire to place it in my face. I I said thrice: I seek refuge to Allah from you. Then I said: I curse you with the perfect curse of Allah. He did not seek to end it with three times. Then I intended to take hold of it. SECTION 20

1782. Prostration of mistakes

In case of mistakes in prayer either regarding the number of rak'ats prayed by the worshipper or regarding the verses read, the remedy is to prostrate. If the Imam commits such mistake, the whole congregation shall make similar prostrations. There are traditions to show that such prostration can be made either before the greeting or after it. But the Imams had their respective canons. Imam Shafeyi holds that it should be done before Salam, while Imam Abu Hanifa holds that it should be done after Salam. Imam Ahmad upholds both the times for prostration. It appears from the traditions that both are lawful. Hedayah says that this prostration should occur after Salam on both the sides. Some of the other rules that have been deduced from the traditions are the following. Whosoever forgets one wajeb in prayer, the prostration is wajeb. If a man is just near the middle position between sitting and standing when he is in doubt he should sit ; and if above that, he should stand. In case of sitting, no prostration is necessary if the rak'ats are correct. In case of mistaken standing, prostration is necessary. If doubt arises as to the exact number of rak'ats prayed, then the rak'ats shall be increased till he thinks that he has prayed excess of what is required.

1781. Malek narrated this tradition from Ata'a-b-Yasar as a defective (Mursal) tradition.

375. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said : When one of you stands up for prayer, the devil comes to him and throws doubt in him till he does not know how much he prayed. When he finds that, let him prostrate twice while he is sitting. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِنَّ اَحَدَكُمْ اِذَا قَامَ يُصَلِّي جَاءَهُ الشَّيْطٰنُ فَلَبَسَ عَلَيْهِ حَتّٰى لَا يَدْرِي كَمْ صَلّٰى فَاِذَا وَجَدَ ذٰلِكَ اَحَدُكُمْ فَلْيَسْجُدْ سَجْدَتَيْنِ وَهُوَ جَالِسٌ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

376. Ata'a-b-Yasar from Abu Sayeed reported that the Apostle of Allah said : When one of you feels doubt in his prayer and knows not how much, three or four rak'ats he prayed, let him remove the doubt and build upon what is certain, then let him prostrate twice before he returns salutation. If he prays five rak'ats, his prayers will intercede for him ; and if he prays complete four rak'ats, they (prostrations) will be a cause of disgrace for the devil. [1783] —Muslim, Malek.

377. Abdullah-b-Mas'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah prayed Zuhr with five rak'ats. It was then questioned to him : Have you increased the prayer ?

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللّٰهِ بْنِ مَسْعُوْدٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم صَلَّى الظُّهْرَ خَمْسًا فَقِيْلَ لَهٗ

1783. Malek also narrated it from Ata'a as a defective tradition. He reported with a slight alteration which runs thus : He repeated it with these two prostrations.

أَزِيدَ فِي الصَّلٰوةِ فَقَالَ وَمَا ذَاكَ قَالُوا
صَلَّيْتَ خَمْسًا فَسَجَدَ سَجْدَتَيْنِ بَعْدَ مَا سَلَّمَ

سَجْدَتَيْنِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

He replied: What is that? They said: You have prayed five rak'ats. Then he prostrated twice after he returned salutation. And in a narration, he said: Verily I am only a man like you. I forget as you forget. So when I forget, remind me, and when one of you feels doubt in his prayer, let him intend merit, and let him complete it and afterwards let him make salutation and then let him prostrate twice. —Agreed.

378. Ibn Sirin reported from Abu Hurairah who said: The Apostle of Allah prayed one of the two after-noon prayers.[1784] (Ibn Sirin said: Abu Hurairah named Then but I forgot). He said: Then he prayed two rak'ats with us and next returned salutation. Then he walked towards a spacious plank in the mosque and leaned against it as if he was angry; and he placed his right hand upon his left and entered his fingers into his fingers.[1785] and placed his right cheek upon the back of his left palm. The most impatient of the people came out of the doors of the mosque and asked: Has the prayer been shortened? And there werr Abu Bakr and Omar among the people. They presed him to talk about it. And among the

He said : I have neither forgotten, nor shortened. He asked : Is it as the Possessor of hands says ? 'Yes' said they. Then he stepped forward, prayed what he had left, next he returned salutation and then read Takbir and prostrated like his prostration or longer. Next he raised up his head and recited Takbir. Next he recited Takbir and prostrated like his prostration or longer. Then he raised up his head and recited Takbir. 1786

The people also stood with him, till when he finished the prayer and the people were waiting for his salutation, he recited Takbir while he was sitting, and prostrated twice before he returned salutation. Next he returned salutation. 1787

1786 In the book 'Fathhul-Bari', the question whether talk in prayer nullifies has been discussed at length. The substance of these discussion is the following. Imam Shafeyi holds that talk or deed in prayer makes the prayer void, if it is held or done willingly. Imam Abu Hanifa holds it as invalid in case of both voluntary and involuntary talk or action. He said that this tradition was reported previous to talks being held unlawful. Imam Ahmad agrees with Imam Abu Hanifa except that the prayer is not rendered invalid if talk or action is held or done for good of the prayer

1788. This hadis supports the Hanifi and Hanbali mazhabs Fatwa Qazi Khan and Hedayah support the view that after prostration of mistake, Tahiyyat should be recited according to this hadis.

1789. The Hanifi mazhab holds the view that in case of standing he should sit if he stands up to the middle and should stand if above that The express wording of this hadis shows that before erection, sitting is allowed. In case of sitting, no prostration is necessary. In case one sits down from standing, the prayer will be regarded as invalid.

1790. According to Imam Abu Hanifa this hadis was prevalent in earlier stages of Islam. Subsequently it is said to have been abrogated.

1791. Prostration in the Quran

Prostration on reading some particular verses of the Quran is wajeb according to Imam Abu Hanifa, and sunnat according to the other Imams. The following are the verses of prostration— 7:26 ; 13:14 ; 16:49 ; 17:108 ; 19:57 ; 22:18,76 ; 25:59 ; 27:25 ; 32:14 ; 38:25 ; 53:62 ; 84:21 ; 96:19. It is preferable to make prostration at the end of reading of each of those verses ; but according to Imam Abu Hanifa, it may be done afterwards. The latter view is not generally followed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ سَجَدَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم بِالنَّجْمِ وَسَجَدَ مَعَهُ الْمُسْلِمُوْنَ وَالْمُشْرِكُوْنَ وَالْجِنُّ وَالْاِنْسُ (البخارى)

383. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet prostrated in 'The star' [1792] ; and the Muslims, the polytheists, Jinn and men prostrated with him. —Bukhari.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ سَجَدْنَا مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فِيْ اِذَا السَّمَاءُ انْشَقَّتْ وَاقْرَأْ بِاسْمِ رَبِّكَ * (مسلم)

384. Abu Hurairah reported : We prostrated with the Prophet in "When the heaven will be rent asunder," and "Read in the name of Thy Lord." [1793]

—Muslim.

1792. This prostration comes to pass at the end of 53:62Q. The polytheists prostrated as the devil read after the Prophet had recited : Have you seen the Lat and the Uzza, and Manat the third, the last ? Those are the highest deities and verily their intercession is expected." Polytheists thought that the Prophet had recited this, while in fact the devil recited it resembling the voice of the Prophet.

1793. This is at the end of 84:21Q and 96:19Q

385. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah used to make prostration in the Quran reading while we were near him. He prostrated and we also prostrated with him. We mustered strong till one of us found a place for his forehead to make prostration thereon. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَقْرَأُ السَّجْدَةَ وَنَحْنُ عِنْدَهُ فَيَسْجُدُ وَنَسْجُدُ مَعَهُ فَنَزْدَحِمُ حَتّٰى مَا يَجِدُ أَحَدُنَا لِجَبْهَتِهِ مَوْضِعًا يَسْجُدُ عَلَيْهِ - (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

386. Zaid-b-Sa'bet reported : I read out to the Messenger of Allah "And the Star", but he did not prostrate therein.[1794] —Agreed.

عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ قَالَ قَرَأْتُ عَلٰى رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَالنَّجْمِ فَلَمْ يَسْجُدْ فِيهَا * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

387. Ibn Abbas reported : The prostration of "Swad" is not of the binding prostrations, but I have indeed seen the Prophet making prostration therein. —Bukhari.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ سَجْدَةُ ص لَيْسَتْ مِنْ عَزَائِمِ السُّجُودِ وَقَدْ رَأَيْتُ النَّبِيَّ صلعم يَسْجُدُ فِيهَا * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

388. Amr-b-al-A's reported that the Messenger of Allah taught him fifteen prostrations in the Quran. Out of these, three prostrations are in the 'Mufassal' and two are in the Chapter on Pilgrimage.[1795]

Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

عَنْ عَمْرِو بْنِ الْعَاصِ قَالَ اَقْرَأَهُ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم خَمْسَ عَشْرَةَ سَجْدَةً فِي الْقُرْاٰنِ مِنْهَا ثَلٰثٌ فِي الْمُفَصَّلِ وَفِي سُورَةِ الْحَجِّ سَجْدَتَيْنِ - (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ وَابْنُ مَاجَةَ)

389. Oqbah-b-A'mer reported : I asked : O Ms. of Allah, the chapter on pilgrimage has been given excellence because there

عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ قُلْتُ يَا رَسُولَ اللّٰهِ صلعم فُضِّلَتْ سُورَةُ الْحَجِّ بِاَنَّ فِيهَا

1794. Imam Abu Hanifah holds on the basis of this tradition that prostration may be done at other times. But the jurists unanimously recommended to make prostration at the time when the particular verse of the Quran is read. In anther narration of Bukhari, Muzahed asked Ibn Abbas : "Shall I prostrate in the Swad" ? Then he read—"And from his descendants are David and Solomon", till he reached—"Then follow their guidance". He said : Your Prophet is from those who were directed to follow them. This is the verse 38:25Q.

1795. Mufassal is the last portion of the Quran from "The Champers" to the last chapter. The three prostrations occur in 53:62Q, 84:21Q, and 96:19Q.

are two prostrations therein. 'Yes' said he, 'and whoso does not prostrate for them, shall not read them'. 1796

—Abu Daud, Tirmizi.

390. Ibn Omar reported that the Prophet prostrated in Zuhr prayer. Then he stood and bent. They saw that he read "the Revelation of the Adoration." 1779

—Abu Daud.

391. Same reported: The Messenger of Allah used to read the Quran to us. When he passed by a prostration, he recited takbir and prostrated, and we also prostrated with him. 1798

—Abu Daud.

392. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah read (the verses of) prostration in the year of Victory, and so all the people prostrated. There were the cavalry and the prostrating ones upon the ground, till the rider prostrated upon his hand. 1799

—Abu Daud.

سَجْدَتَيْنِ قَالَ نَعَمْ وَمَنْ لَمْ يَسْجُدْ هُمَا

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ اَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم سَجَدَ

فِيْ صَلٰوةِ الظُّهْرِ ثُمَّ قَامَ فَرَكَعَ فَرَاَوْا اَنَّهٗ

قَرَاَ تَنْزِيْلَ السَّجْدَةِ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

عَنْهُ اَنَّهٗ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم

يَقْرَأُ عَلَيْنَا الْقُرْاٰنَ فَاِذَا مَرَّ بِالسَّجْدَةِ كَبَّرَ

وَسَجَدَ وَسَجَدْنَا مَعَهٗ * (اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

عَنْهُ اَنَّهٗ قَالَ اِنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم

قَرَاَ عَامَ الْفَتْحِ سَجْدَةً فَسَجَدَ النَّاسُ كُلُّهُمْ

مِنْهُمُ الرَّاكِبُ وَ السَّاجِدُ عَلَى الْاَرْضِ

حَتّٰى اَنَّ الرَّاكِبَ لَيَسْجُدُ عَلٰى يَدِهٖ *

(اَبُوْدَاوُدَ)

1796. In the Pilgrimage chapter, these occur at the end of 22:18Q and 22:77Q. Jurists differ with regard to the numbers of prostrations. Imam Ahmad follows this tradition. Imam Shafeyi limits it to 14 excluding 38:25. Imam Abu Hanifah supports Shafeyi but excludes 22:77 and included 38:25. Malek makes it to eleven after excluding 38:25, 53:62, 84:21, and 96:19. Imam Abu Hanifah says however that in the last verses, only bending is sufficient.

1797. Tirmizi says that its chain of narration is not very strong.

1798. This is chapter 32 of the Quran. The people thought that while bowing, the Prophet read the above chapter. This shows that the Prophet did not prostrate at the time of reading the chapter. It was a mere conjecture and hence cannot prevail over positive instructions.

1799. Abu Hanifa holds that one takbir is sufficient without the raising of hands, while Imam Shafeyi holds that there are two takbirs—one at the time when hands are raised up, and another at the time of going to prostration.

393. Ibn Abbas reported that the Prophet did not prostrate in any verse of the last chapters since he migrated to Medina. 1800

394. Ayesha reported that the Messenger of Allah used to say about the prostration of the Quran at night: My face prostrated for One who created him and split up his ears and eyes with His power and strength. 1801

395. Ibn Abbas reported that a man came to the Apostle of Allah and asked: O Ms. of Allah! I saw myself this night while I was asleep as if I was praying behind a tree. I fell in prostration and then the tree also prostrated on account of my prostration. I heard it say: O Allah! record for me a reward near Thee for this, and put off a sin from me for this, and make it for me a hidden treasure near Thee, and accept it from me as Thou hast accepted it from Thy servant David. Ibn Abbas said: The Messenger of Allah then read a verse of prostration and then prostrated. I heard him while he was saying the like of

1804. Prohibited times of Prayer

There are three principal times in which prayer is unlawful: (1) When the sun is in the course of rising; (2) when the sun is just in the meridian; (3) and when the sun is in the course of setting. The reason has been given in 34:400. The prohibition is chiefly due to the fact that a Muslim's action must be in opposition to that of the polytheists. The object is to pluck out idolatry in any shape or form. The sun, when it rises, sets in and is in the meridian, is worshipped by may nations. If prayer is offered at these times, the people outside will take the view that Islam also sanctioned the worship of the sun. Hence it is said that the sun rises or sets in between two horns of the devil. This is also

---

180'. Ibn Majah did not mention "Accept it from me as Thou hast accepted it from Thy servant David".

1803. Bukhari says that the man was Omayyah-b-Khalf, the reason why life pictures were declared unlawful. Imam Abu Hanifa says on the basis of tradition 34:401, that prayer after the morning Farz and afternoon Farz is Makruh (abominable) while other Imams do not hold it to be so. At Mecca, this rule is not applicable. If, however, any rak'at is overtaken before the setting and rising of the sun, the prayer may be legally finished in full. This shows that when the rising or setting was not taken as the occasion of the time of worship, it is not prohibited. In Zumma prayer also, prayer is not unlawful when the sun is in the meridian—34:405.

398. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: None of you shall wish to pray at the rising of the sun, nor at its setting. And in a narration, he said: When a portion of the sun rises, leave the prayer till it is up in full; and when a portion of the sun sets in, leave the prayer till it goes in. Make not the rising of the sun the time of your prayer, nor its setting in, because it rises between two horns of the devil. —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا يَتَحَرَّى اَحَدُكُمْ فَيُصَلِّيَ عِنْدَ طُلُوعِ الشَّمْسِ وَلَا عِنْدَ غُرُوبِهَا وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ قَالَ اِذَا طَلَعَ حَاجِبُ الشَّمْسِ فَدَعُوا الصَّلٰوةَ حَتّٰى تَبْرُزَ وَاِذَا غَابَ حَاجِبُ الشَّمْسِ فَدَعُوا الصَّلٰوةَ حَتّٰى تَغِيْبَ وَلَا تَحَيَّنُوْا بِصَلٰوتِكُمْ طُلُوعَ الشَّمْسِ وَلَا غُرُوبَهَا فَاِنَّهَا تَطْلُعُ بَيْنَ قَرْنَيِ الشَّيْطَانِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

399. Oqbah-b-A'mer reported: There are three times in which the Messenger of Allah prohibited us to pray or to bury our deceased: at the time when the sun begins to rise shining till it is up in full; and at the time when the sun stands up in the meridian till the sun inclines, and at the time when the sun is invited for setting in till it sets in (completely). —Agreed.

عَنْ عُقْبَةَ بْنِ عَامِرٍ قَالَ ثَلٰثُ سَاعَاتٍ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يَنْهَانَا اَنْ نُصَلِّيَ فِيْهِنَّ اَوْ نَقْبُرَ فِيْهِنَّ مَوْتَانَا حِيْنَ تَطْلُعُ الشَّمْسُ بَازِغَةً حَتّٰى تَرْتَفِعَ وَحِيْنَ يَقُوْمُ قَائِمُ الظَّهِيْرَةِ حَتّٰى تَمِيْلَ الشَّمْسُ وَحِيْنَ تُضَيَّفُ الشَّمْسُ لِلْغُرُوْبِ حَتّٰى تَغْرُبَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

400. Amr-b-Abasah reported that the Prophet arrived at Medina. I also came to Medina and went to him and asked him : Inform me about prayer. He said : Pray Fajr prayer and then abstain from the prayer when the sun rises till it rises up, because it rises when it rises between two horns of the devil and the infidels prostrate for it at that time. Pray Afterwards because prayer is witnessed. —Till (when) the shade rests upon arrow. [1805] Then shorten the prayer because Hell is kindled at that time. When the shade returns, pray [1806] because prayer is witnessed, presented ; till you say Asr prayer. Then abstain from the prayer till the sun sets in, because it sets in between two horns of the devil, and the infidels prostrate for it at that time. I asked : O Prophet of Allah ! regarding ablution, inform me about it. He said : There is no man among you who comes near his ablution, then gurgles and throws water into nose and then washes it except that the minor sins of his face and his mouth and his nose drop down ; (when) he washes his face as

Then (when) he washes his hand up to the elbows, the minor sins of his two hands drop down from his fingers along with water; afterwards when he rubbs his head, the minor sins of his head fall down from the sides of his hairs along with water; then (when) he washes his feet up to the joints, the minor sins of his legs fall down from his toes along with water. If he stands, prays, praises Allah, glorifies Him and honours Him with what is His due, and his heart becomes free for Allah, his minor sins vanish away like his figure on the day his mother gave birth to him. 1800

So I went to them and they sent me back to Omme-Salamah. Omme Salamah said: I heard the Prophet prohibiting them. Afterward I saw him praying them. Then he entered and I sent a maid-servant to him. I said: Tell him that Omme Salamah asked: O Ms. of Allah, I heard you prohibiting these two rak'ats and I saw you praying them. He said: O daughter of Abu Omayyah, you have asked about the two rak'ats after Asr while some people from Qais came to me. They kept me occupied from thee two rak'ats after Zuhr. It has now been established on the basis of anthentic traditions that prayer after afternoon prayer is Makruh. Majority of theologians follow this rule.

1812. The House is the Holy Ka'ba at Mecca. The children of Abd Manaf were the custodians of the Ka'ba Hence the instructions were issued to them. The jurists are unanimous in holding that circumbulation round the Ka'ba is always permitted, even at the time of sun-rising and sun-setting and when the sun is just on the meridian. They however differ with regard to the time of prayer in the Holy Shrine. According to Imam Shafeyi, prayer is allowed at the above-mentioned hours. Imam Ahmad holds

1814. Congregation and its excellence

(a) Congregation. Only Farz prayers may be said in congregation, the smallest number of which is two—34:4.3. The other prayers are said singly. If a third man joins the congregation of the two, either the Imam shall move forward or the Muqtadi backward, so that the two may form a row with the Imam ahead. The Muqtadis (followers) must follow the Imam in all his movements—34:419. If the females attend, they must take the last row but come out first before the males leave the mosque. They shall not join the males in the street. No perfume should be applied by them when joining the congregational prayers. When there is pressure of hunger or call of nature, it must be first removed by one joining the prayers ; because prayerful attitude arises in a peaceful mind.

(b) Is congregational prayer obligatory ? There are differences of opinion among the famous jurists in this respect. One section like Imam Ahmad and Ata'a held on the basis of traditions 34:425, 508w that prayer in congregation is Farz Ain (strictly compulsory). Imam Shafeyi held that it is Farz Kefayah (compulsory on the community), while Imam Abu Hanifa and his disciples held it to he Sunnat Muakkadah in the neighbourhood of Wajeb. It is written in Quduri that it is Wajeb and that it can be said in indvidual houses after calling the males of the houses in one place. It is hower seen that the traditions put a great stress for Jama'at and hence Imam Abu Hanifa's opinion is reasonable and practicable.

(c) Procedure of Jama'at. After formation of rows and lines in case of more than two worshippers, the announcement is made by Aqamat that the prayer has begun. This is really an Azan produced in a lower voice with the utterance of قدقامت الصلوٰة (Prayer has just begun) twice. Immediately after, the Imam starts the payer by uttering 'Allaho-Akbar.' The followers follow him likewise as described in the note. Then in the two rak'ats of Fajr, and in the first two rak'ats of Magrib and I'sha prayers, the Imam reads Fatihah loudly followed by the reading of some verses from the Quran not less than three. The followers remain silent hearing attentively to the reading of the Imam. When the Imam reads the Quran in silence in the remaining prayers, the followers also read Fatihah in silence without the Quranic verses. After Fatihah, the Imam says "Ameen" in a loud or silent voice. Then the followers respond to him by saying in chorous "Ameen." When the Imam says "سمع الله لمن حمده Allah hears one who praises him", the followers must reply by uttering "ربنا لك الحمد O our Lord ! Thine is all praise".

(d) Merits of congregational prayers. Great rewards have been promised for congregational prayers. The Prophet said that each step towards the mosque brings reward—34:428. The greater the number of the worshippers in the congregation, the greater are the rewards—34:423. Whoso prays in the congregation for 40 days becomes free from the fire—34:489. Women are also allowed to join the congregation—34:416, 434, but their prayer in their houses is better than in congregation. Except on excuses (such as illness, weakness, blindness, excessive rain, too much heat or cold, darkness etc), prayers in congregation shall not be avoided—34:412.

409. Ibn Omar reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Prayer in conregation is superior to single prayer by twenty seven degrees. —Agreed.

I should remain behind for the people (and a narration: for those who do not come to prayer) that I may burn their houses against them. And by One in whose hand there is my life, had one of them known that he would get a (cooked) bone with meat or two excellent rams, [1315] they would have been present at I'sha prayer [1816] —Bukhari.

He asked the Prophet to give him permission that he might pray in his house. So he gave him permission. When he went away, he called him and said: Do you hear Azan for prayer? 'Yes' said he. He said: Then response. [1817] —Muslim.

This is, however, said to be a special instruction to Ibne Makhtum though he had real excuse. 1818. Prayer at the time when food has been served or when one is urged by calls of nature such as passing urine or stool, is Makruh and not prohibited. The reason is obvious, as mind cannot be concentrated at that time in prayer.

1819. It appears from this that after Aqamat, no sunnat prayer shall be said. This is the opinion of Imam Shafeyi. Imam Abu Hanifa however holds that if there is chance of joining the Imam after finishing 'sunnat' prayers, it may lawfully be done. It is said on the basis of traditions that sunnat prayer of the early morning prayer is very important.

This is supported also by the practice prevailing now in the cradles of Islam (Mecca and Medinah) where women pray in congregation in reserved compartments.

prayer with two men is purer than his prayer with one man, and what increases is more pleasing to Allah.

—Abu Daud, Nisai.

424. Abu Darda'a reported that the Apostle of Allah said : There are no three persons of a village or a desert among whom prayer is not said (in congregation) but on whom the devil prevails. So you should take to congregation, because the wolf devours the remotest flock. 1824

—Ahmad, Abu Daud, Nisai.

425. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Whoso hears a proclaimer (for prayer), no excuse should prevent him from following him. They asked : And what is excuse ? He said : Fear or illness. No prayer of him which has been prayed shall be accepted. 1825

—Abu Daud, Darqutni.

426. Abdullah-b-Arqam reported : I heard the Apostle of Allah say : When Aqamat is recited for prayer and one of you feels (the urge of) stool, let him first pass stool. 1826 —Tirmizi.

1824. Three persons form a complete congregation. If it is not formed, the devil prevails over them. In other words, they meet with destruction.

1825. He who does not pray in congregation even though he has got no excuse does not offer his prayer for acceptance by Allah. This does not mean that prayer without congregation is rendered null and void but it means that no great religious merit is achieved.

1826. Malek, Abu Daud and Nisai narrated like it.

عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم

427. Saoban reported that the Messenger of Allah said : As for three things, it is not lawful for anybody to do : A man must not be an Imam of a people and then should particularise himself besides them with an invocation. If he does that, he is indeed treacherous to them. And he shall not go into the inner side of a house before he seeks permission. If he does that, he commits with them a breach of trust. And he shall not pray when propelled by a call of nature till he clears it. [1897]

He said : The Messenger of Allah taught us the ways of guidance ; and of the ways of guidance, there is prayer in the mosque for which proclamation is made. And in a narration, he said : Whoso likes that he should meet Allah tomorrow as a Muslim, let him protect these five prayers wherever there is call for them. SECTION 24

1832 Rows in Prayer

Rows of worshippers should be arranged without leaving any space open, and the two feet of each worshipper should be placed nearly 4 inches apart. The older section of the people, the wiser and the pious should occupy the front rows and then the children. The best is the first row for males and the last row for females—34 : 442, 511w. Disorder in congregational prayer is bad and leads to differences among its votaries. Every step taken in order to be in line brings reward—34 : 445. No single man shall make a row by himself—34 : 454.

435. Nu'man-b-Bashir reported that the Apostle of Allah

عَنِ النُّعْمَانِ بْنِ بَشِيرٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ

1831. The son of Abdulla-b-Omar said : We prevent them. Abdullah said. I narrate to you from the Prophet, while you say this ! He said that Abdullah did not speak about it till he died.

used to arrange our rows straight till he made them a bow as it were, till he saw that we understood him. Afterward one day he went out and stood till he was about to recite Takbir. He then saw a man's breast going out from the line. He said: Servants of Allah! you must make your rows straight or Allah must turn your faces opposite. —Muslim.

436. Anas reported: Aqamat was recited for prayer. Then the Messenger of Allah advanced towards us with his face (turning) and said: Arrange your lines and stand shoulder to shoulder, because I see you from behind my back. Bukhari narrated it. And in what has been agreed upon, he said: Complete your lines, because I see you from behind my back.

437. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Make your lines straight, because the straightening of lines belongs to the Aqamat of prayer. —Agreed.

438. Abu Mas'ud al Ansari reported that the Messenger of Allah used to touch our shoulders in prayer and say: Be straight and differ not lest your hearts differ. Let those who are major and wise from you keep attached to me, next those who succeed them, next those who succeed them. Abu

441. Jaber-b-Samorah reported : The Apostle of Allah came out to us and saw us in groups. He said : What is the matter with me that I see you separate ? Afterwards he came out to us and said : Do you not stand in rows just as the angels stand in rows near their Lord ? We replied : O Ms. of Allah ! and how do the angels stand in rows near their Lord ? He said : They make the first rows full and stand shoulder to shoulder in the row.

1933. The Holy Prophet here sounded a note of wonderful connection between mind and body. Mind is moulded by outward movements and environments, and outward movements and environments are the results of mental thoughts. Hence, in Islam,

The Imam and his followers shall stand in a place of the same level. There shall not be any place for the Imam higher than that of the followers. But the Imam is entitled to a higher place for Khutbah (sermon). If the follower be only one man, he shall stand by the right side of the Imam just a little behind him. In case of two or more followers, they shall make a row behind the Imam. If the second follower joins after the prayer has already begun, either the Imam should go forward in order to afford opportunity to the followers to form a row or the follower should walk behind to make with the new follower a row behind the Imam. The Imam shall stand in front by the middle of the first row, next is the row of the elders, next of the boys, and next of the females. The followers shall stand shoulder to shoulder and very close to one another.

1841. Imamate (امامة)

The general rule for the Imamate is that the best man among the worshippers shall be the Imam. He is called the best according to the traditions who can read the Quran well and is well-versed in it. The next man fit for Imamate is one who is well acquinted with hadis and sunnat of the Prophet. The jurists added some qualifications for the office a man of good manners and good appearance. In case all are equal in every virtue, then the Imam shall be selected by lottery. There are some exceptions to this rule. The rulers and their officers are entitled to lead prayers within their jurisdiction. If any Imam has already been appointed for any mosque, he is entitled to lead prayer unless he gives permission to anybody—34 : 469. There is no bar of a blind man to become an Imam—34 : 470. Any major Muslim, whether virtuous or sinner, can be Imam with no injury to prayer—34 : 472. The best Imam is he who is liked by the Muqtadis and the worst Imam is he who is disliked by them—34:471.

OTHER CONTENTS : Zihad with a commander is wajeb—34 : 472. An Imam to lead prayer shall not be found before the Hour—34 : 37. The prayer of three men brings no merit : An Imam disliked by men, wife on whom husband is displeased and two contending brothers—34 : 476.

466. Abu Mas'ud reported that the Messenger of Allah said : He who is the most excellent reader of the Book of Allah from a people shall be their Imam. If they are equal in knowledge of the Quran, then he who is the most learned of them in hadis [1842] ; if they are equal in hadis, then he who is the fore most of them in hijrat, and if they are equal in hijrat ; then he who is the oldest of them in age. No man shall ever be Imam of (another) man in his rule, nor shall he sit in his house by way of respect to him except by his permission. Muslim narrated it. And in a narration reported by him : And no man shall ever be an Imam of a man in his family. [1843]

1847. Duties of the Imam

It is the primary duty of the Imam to make the prayer short, because there might be in the congregation the ill, the weak, the old, the needy, and possibly the women who left their suckling children at home. He shall neither be more hasty in prayer, nor shorter than what has been already prescribed. He should not lengthen his prayer to give time to the worshippers to join their prayers.

477. Anas reported: I did never pray behind an Imam a prayer, shorter and more perfect (than that of the) Prophet. If he heard the crying of a child, he used to make it short out of fear lest its mother would be anxious. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي قَتَادَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ

478. Abu Qatadah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Verily I enter in prayer intending to prolong it. Then I hear the crying of a child and I make my prayer short on account of what I know of the over-anxiety of its mother because of its crying. —Bukhari.

479. Qais-b Abi Ha'zem reported: Abu Mas'ud informed me that a man enquired: By Allah, O Ms. of Allah, I shall certainly remain behind from the early morning prayer on account of so and so who is used to prolong it for us. Then I did not see the Prophet more enraged in a sermon than on him at the time. Afterwards he said: Verily there are those among you who give annoyance. So whoso of you prays with men, let him he short; because there may be among them the weak, the old and the needy. —Agreed.

481. Osman-b-Abil A's reported : The last of what the Prophet instructed me was : When you become the Imam of a people, make the prayer easy for them. Muslim narrated it. And in a narration reported by him, the Messenger of Allah said to him : Be Imam of your people. I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! verily I find something in myself. [1847] He said : Come near. Then he seated me in front of him and afterwards placed his palms upon my chest between my breasts and then said : Turn. Then he placed them upon my back between my shoulders and then said : Be Imam of your people. Whoso becomes Imam of a people, let him make (prayer) easy, because there are among them the old, and there are among them the sick, and there are among them the weak and there are among them those that have needs. Then when one of you prays singly, let him pray as he likes.

1848. Duties of the followers

It is the duty of the Muqtadis (followers) not to go ahead of the Imam in standing, bowing, and prostration. If anybody joins the congregation after the prayer has begun and advanced, he must follow the Imam in the condition in which he remains in prayer at that time—34 : 489. He who gets the last rak'at gets the whole prayer provided he finishes the remaining rak'ats after the Imam closes the prayer with Taslim. Anybody who overtaken the prostration shall count the number of the rak'ats he shall have to pray from the following rak'at (bowing). When the Imam recites ضالين, the followers either in silence or in loud voice shall recite امين. When the Imam says سمع الله لمن حمده, the followers shall recite ربنا لك الحمد. When the Imam recites in prayer loudly, the followers shall listen to the reading ; but when he recites within himself the Fatihah, they may read the Fatihah in silence. In other matters, the Imam shall be followed.

482. Bara'a-b-A'jeb reported : We were praying behind the Messenger of Allah. When he said, "Allah hears one who praises Him," none of us behind him bent his back, till the Prophet placed his forehead upon the ground. —Agreed.

عَنِ الْبَرَاءِ بْنِ عَازِبٍ قَالَ كُنَّا نُصَلِّي خَلْفَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم فَاذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللّٰهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهُ لَمْ يَحْنِ اَحَدٌ مِنَّا ظَهْرَهُ حَتّٰى يَضَعَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم جَبْهَتَهُ عَلَى الْاَرْضِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

483. Anas reported : The Messenger of Allah one day prayed with us. When he finished his prayer, he turned his face towards us and said : O men ! verily I am your Imam. So don't precede me in bowing, nor in prostration, nor in standing, nor in returning ; because I see you from my front and from my back.

484. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Don't go ahead of the Imam. Recite Takbir when he recites, and say Ameen when he says "And not of those who have gone astray", and when he bows down, bow down, and when he says 'Allah hears one who praises him,'[1849] say 'O Allah Thine is all Praise, O our Lord!' —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِيْ هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم لَا تُبَادِرُوا الْاِمَامَ اِذَا كَبَّرَ فَكَبِّرُوْا وَ اِذَا قَالَ وَلَا الضَّالِّيْنَ فَقُوْلُوْا اٰمِيْنَ وَ اِذَا رَكَعَ فَارْكَعُوْا وَ اِذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللّٰهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهٗ فَقُوْلُوْا اَللّٰهُمَّ رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

485. Anas reported that the Apostle of Allah rode on a horse and had a fall from it, and consequently his right side was fractured. He prayed a prayer out of the prayers while he was sitting, and we prayed also sitting behind him. When he finished, he said: Verily an Imam is appointed to be followed. When he prays standing, pray standing; and when he bends down, bend down; and when he rises up, rise up; and when he says 'Allah hears one who praises Him,' say 'O our Lord! Thine is all praise'; and when he prays sitting, pray sitting in a body.[1850] —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم رَكِبَ فَرَسًا فَصُرِعَ عَنْهُ فَجُحِشَ شِقُّهُ الْاَيْمَنُ فَصَلّٰى صَلٰوةً مِنَ الصَّلَوَاتِ وَ هُوَ قَاعِدٌ فَصَلَّيْنَا وَرَاءَهٗ قُعُوْدًا فَلَمَّا انْصَرَفَ قَالَ اِنَّمَا جُعِلَ الْاِمَامُ لِيُؤْتَمَّ بِهٖ فَاِذَا صَلّٰى قَائِمًا فَصَلُّوْا قِيَامًا وَ اِذَا رَكَعَ فَارْكَعُوْا وَ اِذَا رَفَعَ فَارْفَعُوْا وَ اِذَا قَالَ سَمِعَ اللّٰهُ لِمَنْ حَمِدَهٗ فَقُوْلُوْا رَبَّنَا لَكَ الْحَمْدُ وَ اِذَا صَلّٰى جَالِسًا فَصَلُّوْا جُلُوْسًا اَجْمَعُوْنَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1849. Bukhari did not mention—'And when he says 'not of those who have gone astray.'

1850. Humaidi, a teacher of Bukhari, says about the Prophet's saying 'When he (Imam) prays sitting, pray sitting' that it was uttered at the previous illness of the Prophet. Afterwards the Prophet prayed sitting while the people were standing behind him. He did not still order them to sit. The last is to be followed as it was the last act of the Prophet. The above has been added by Bukhari alone to the text of this hadis. It appears from this that in case the Imam sits for some reason or other in prayer, the followers should pray standing.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ لَمَّا ثَقُلَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم جَاءَ بِلَالٌ يُؤْذِنُهُ بِالصَّلٰوةِ فَقَالَ مُرُوا اَبَا بَكْرٍ اَنْ يُّصَلِّيَ بِالنَّاسِ فَصَلّٰى اَبُو بَكْرٍ تِلْكَ الْاَيَّامَ ثُمَّ اِنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم وَجَدَ فِي نَفْسِهٖ خِفَّةً فَقَامَ يُهَادٰى بَيْنَ رَجُلَيْنِ وَ رِجْلَاهُ تَخُطَّانِ فِي الْاَرْضِ حَتّٰى دَخَلَ الْمَسْجِدَ فَلَمَّا سَمِعَ اَبُو بَكْرٍ حِسَّهٗ ذَهَبَ يَتَاَخَّرُ فَاَوْمٰى اِلَيْهِ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَنْ لَّا يَتَاَخَّرَ فَجَاءَ حَتّٰى جَلَسَ عَنْ يَسَارِ اَبِي بَكْرٍ فَكَانَ اَبُو بَكْرٍ يُصَلِّي قَائِمًا وَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُصَلِّي قَاعِدًا يَقْتَدِي اَبُو بَكْرٍ بِصَلٰوةِ رَسُولِ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَ النَّاسُ يَقْتَدُونَ بِصَلٰوةِ اَبِي بَكْرٍ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

486. Ayesha perorted that when the Apostle of Allah was seriously ill, Bilal came to call him for prayer. He said: Direct Abu Bakr to lead the prayer of the people. So Abu Bakr led the prayer for those days. Afterwards the Holy Prophet felt better and so he walked supported by two men, while his feet were putting steps on the ground till he entered the mosque. When Abu Bakr heard his movement, he went behind. The Apostle of Allah hinted at him not to go behind. Then he advanced, till he sat by the left side of Abu Bakr, and Abu Bakr was praying standing and the Messenger of Allah praying in sitting. Abu Bakr was following the prayer of the Messenger of Allah, and the people were following the prayer of Abu Bakr. [1851] —Agreed.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اَمَا يَخْشَى الَّذِي يَرْفَعُ رَاْسَهٗ قَبْلَ الْاِمَامِ اَنْ يُّحَوِّلَ اللّٰهُ رَاْسَهٗ رَاْسَ حِمَارٍ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

487. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Does he who raises up his head before the Imam not fear that Allah will exchange his head for the head of an ass? [1852] —Agreed.

1851. In a narration, Abu Bakr read Takbir to the hearing of the people. There is difference of opinion whether Abu Bakr led the prayer when the Prophet arrived or the Prophet himself. This was consequent upon Abu Bakr's following the Prophet, as no Imam can lawfully follow his follower. Some say that it was special in case of the Prophet.

1852. In other words, Allah will make him devoid of common sense like an ass which is the weakest of all animals in intellect. Mulla Ali Qari says that it was said by way of threat and warning.

1855 Praying the same prayer twice

If a man performs a prayer and then wishes to say it again in another place, he can lawfully do it, the latter being considered as an optional prayer. In case a prayer is said in congregation and a worshipper witnesses it after previously he said the same prayer elsewhere, he has been directed to join the congregation and not to leave it. Imam Malek held that this direction is with regard to prayers other than sun-set and morning prayers. Imam Abu Hanifa adds Asr prayer to them. According to Imam Shafeyi, there is no distinction in prayers.

Then he stepped forward and prayed four rak'ats; when he was at Medina, he prayed Zumma prayer and then returned to his house and prayed two rak'ats without praying in the mosque. It was questioned to him. He replied that the Messenger of Allah used to do it. Abu Daud narrated it. And in a narration of Tirmizi, he said: I saw Ibn Omar praying two rak'ats after Zumma prayer and then he prayed four (rak'ats) after that.

1869. Tahajjud Prayer

(a) Tahajjud. In this section, the night prayer means the Tahajjud prayer. Tahajjud is derived from Hujud meaning sleep. Tahajjud literally signifies giving up of sleep. This prayer was observed by the Prophet from the mid-night up to the appearance of the early dawn. This prayer was specially ordained for the Holy Prophet by the following verses: And forsake sleep by it during a part of the night, being optional for you. Perchance thy Lord will send thee to the Praised Abode—12:79Q. The Prophet was asked to stand up in prayer at night to seek nearness to God by the following verse: O thou who hast wrapped up thyself! rise to pray in the night except a little or add to it, and recite it with a little or add to it, and recite the Quran well-arranged. Surely the rising by night is the firmest way to tread and most impressive in speech—73:1–6Q. According to this direction of the Almighty, the Prophet imposed upon himself the additional prayer of Tahajjud and spent the major portion of his night in divine service. To this effect, the Quran says: Surely thy Lord knows that thou passest in prayer nearly two-thirds of the night and (sometimes) half of it, and also a party of those who are with thee—73:20Q. These risings of the Prophet were generally interrupted by short naps for few minitues In this prayer at night, the Prophet unrevealed his mind before his great Maker with his entire self-surrender, and remained standing so long in prayer that his feet used to get swollen—31:559. Was this the Prophet who was villified by some European writers for his many marriages?

1868. Baihaqi added something to this tradition as reported in Shuabul I'man,

There is no fixed number of rak'ats in Tahajjud prayer. It is generally a prayer without any fixity of rituals and verses. The great object is to outpour one's heart before his Maker most submissively and with the utmost self-surrender and self-effacement in the worshipper's own language and preferably with the verses of the Quran which he likes most. The number of rak'ats varies from three to thirteen including the Witr prayer. The Prophet used to awaken his wives and the people of the House to come to God by praying at night—34:561.

(b) Excellence of night prayer. Great rewards and merits have been promised for night prayer. Allah descends to the lowest heaven in the latter part of the night and invites invocations and petitions—34:562. Therefore the latter part of the night, specially the middle of the latter half of the night is the opportune moment for acceptance of prayer—34:570. There is a moment in the night in which the prayer of a devotee is accepted —34:563. Night prayer expiates and prevents sins—34:566. The honourable of the Muslims are the learned in the Quran and those that pray at night—34:521w.

527. Ayesha reported that when the Messenger of Allah read two rak'ats of Fajr prayer, he used to talk with me if I were awake; and if not, he used to go to bed.[1870] —Muslim.

When the Muazzen remained silent at the Fajr prayer and the dawn appeared for him, he used to stand up and pray two light rak'ats and then go to lie down upon his right side, till the Muazzen used to come to him for Aqamat, and then he used to come out. 1871

534. Ibn Abbas reported : I passed one night near my maternal aunt Maimunah [1873] while the Prophet was near her. The Apostle of Allah talked with his wife for one hour and then fell asleep. When one-third of the latter portion of the night or a portion therefrom passed away, he sat down and looked towards heaven and said : Verily in the creation of heavens and earth, and the changing of night and day, there are surely signs for those who possess understanding—till he finished the chapter. Then he went to the water skin, opened its mouth and then poured water in a pot. After that, he made ablution well between two ablutions without making excess. He stood and then prayed. Then I got up and made ablution and stood on his left side. He caught my ears and led me to his right side. Then he completed thirteen rak'ats of his prayer and after that fell asleep. Then he slept till he snored ; and whenever he slept, he snored. Bilal called him to prayer and then he prayed without making ablution. And there was (the following) in his invocation : O Allah ! give light to my heart, and light to my sight, and light to my ears, and light to my right,

He awoke, cleansed the teeth and made ablution, while he was saying: Verily in the creation of heavens and earth —till he finished the chapter. Afterwards he stood and prayed two rak'ats wherein he prolonged standing, bowing and prostration. Then he went away and slept till he snored. After that, he did it thrice for six rak'ats, making ablution, and reading these verses. Then he prayed Witr with three (rak'ats).

With regard to the number of night prayers, this hadis differs from that of Ayesha. The Prophet's prayer was different at different times. This supplication as in this tradition should be recited after Tahajjud. Imam Sheik Shihabuddin Suhrawardy greatly recommanded this invocation.

Then he raised up his head from the bowing, and his standing was as long as his bowing. He was saying: Praise be to my Lord! Next he prostrated, and his prostration was as long as his standing, and he was saying in his prostration: Glory to my Lord, the Highest! Next he raised up his head from prostration, and he was seated between the two prostrations as long as his prostration, and he was saying: O Lord! pardon me! O Lord! pardon me. 548. Humaid-b-Abdur Rahman -b-Auf reported that a man from the companions of the Prophet said: I said while I was in a journey with the Apostle of Allah: By Allah, I must watch the Messenger of Allah over his prayer till I see his action. When he prayed the I'sha prayer (and that is Atamah), he slept for a portion of the night and then awoke and looked towards the horizon and: O our Lord! Thou hast not created this in vain—till he reached up to—verily Thou dost not break promise.' Afterwards the Prophet inclined to his bed, took tooth brush therefrom, then poured water to a pot from a jar near him, made ablution and then stood and prayed till I said: He has prayed as long as he slept. Then he went to bed till I said: He has slept as long as he prayed. Then he got up from sleep and did just as he had done before and prayed like what he had prayed. Thus the Apostle of Allah acted thrice before the early dawn.

The best of affairs, whether worldly or religious, is the most continuing one though it be little—4:142, and the best of affairs is the mean between the two extremes—4:142w. In praying at night, all should remember that it is entirely optional. In observing it, no obligatoty duties shall be sacrified. Health should not be neglected entirely for worship at night because there is a duty also on body—4:146. The Prophet said : When one of you inclines to sleep while he prays, let him lie down till sleep goes away from him—4:143. Let one of you pray cheerfully —4:141. SECTION 35

1891. Witr Prayer

Witr prayer is practically a night prayer. The Holy Prophet used to observe it along with Tahajjud prayers and hence it is found mixed with them. Sometimes he prayed it at the end of I'sha prayer. Later on, the practice came into vouge to say it at the end of I'sha prayer, because it may not be said by the majority of the people at the latter part of the night. Imam Abu Hanifa held the view that it is Wajeb prayer while the three other Imams held it to be sunnat. Regarding the number of rak'ats, there is also difference of opinion. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, it is observed in three rak'ats which is now the general observance, while according to the other three Imams it is only one rak'at.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم صَلٰوةُ اللَّيْلِ مَثْنٰى مَثْنٰى فَاِذَا خَشِيَ اَحَدُكُمُ الصُّبْحَ صَلّٰى رَكْعَةً وَاحِدَةً تُوْتِرُ لَهٗ مَا قَدْ صَلّٰى * (متفق عليه)

576. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Prayer at night is by two rak'ats each. When one of you fears the dawn, pray one rak'at, praying Witr of what he has prayed. [1892] —Agreed.

577. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Witr is one rak'at at the latter part of the night. —Muslim.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ يُصَلِّيْ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ ثَلٰثَ عَشْرَةَ رَكْعَةً يُوْتِرُ مِنْ ذٰلِكَ بِخَمْسٍ لَا يَجْلِسُ فِيْ شَيْءٍ اِلَّا فِيْ اٰخِرِهَا * (متفق عليه)

578. Ayesha reported that the Apostle of Allah used to pray 13 rak'ats at night, of which he prayed Witr of 5 rak'ats without sitting in any rak'at except in the last of them. [1893] —Agreed.

عَنْ سَعْدِ بْنِ هِشَامٍ قَالَ انْطَلَقْتُ اِلٰى عَائِشَةَ فَقُلْتُ يَا اُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِيْنَ اَنْبِئْنِيْ عَنْ خُلُقِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم قَالَتْ اَلَسْتَ تَقْرَأُ الْقُرْاٰنَ قُلْتُ بَلٰى قَالَتْ فَاِنَّ خُلُقَ نَبِيِّ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَانَ الْقُرْاٰنَ قُلْتُ يَا اُمَّ الْمُؤْمِنِيْنَ اَنْبِئْنِيْ عَنْ وِتْرِ رَسُوْلِ اللّٰهِ صلعم فَقَالَتْ كُنَّا نُعِدُّ لَهٗ سِوَاكَهٗ وَطَهُوْرَهٗ فَيَبْعَثُهُ اللّٰهُ مَا شَاءَ اَنْ يَبْعَثَهٗ مِنَ اللَّيْلِ

579. Sa'ad-b-Hisham reported: I went to Ayesha and asked: O mother of the Faithful, inform me about the morals of the Apostle of Allah. She asked: Do you not read Quran? 'Yes' replied I. She said: Verily the morals of the Prophet are the Quran. [1894] I asked: O mother of the Faithful! inform me about Witr prayer of the Prophet. She said: We used to prepare his tooth stick and his ablution, and Allah would arouse him as He pleased to rouse him at night. Then he 1892. Imams Shafeyi, Abu Yusuf and Muhammad hold that night prayer is to be said by two rak'ats and not by four.

1893. The jurists are unanimous in holding that five rak'ats at a time may be prayed lawfully. Imam Abu Hanifa extends it to 8 rak'ats without Makruh, and beyoud that with Makruh.

1894. This undoubtedly bespeaks of the Holy Quran as the best illustration of the Prophet's life. Whatever he preached, he did; and whatever he did, he preached. Therefore ths Quran is the monument of commemorating the morals of the Prophet.

used to use tooth stick, make ablution and pray nine rak'ats without sitting therein, (except at the eighth rak'at), remember Allah, praise Him, call Him and then get up without greeting. Then he used to read the ninth rak'at, and after that sit, remember Allah, praise Him, call Him and then make Taslim to our hearing. Then he used to pray two rak'ats after he greeted in sitting. These are eleven rak'ats, O darling. When the Prophet grew in years and became fleshy, he prayed Witr with seven, and he did in the two rak'ats like his action in the first, and these are nine, O darling. When the Prophet prayed a prayer, he desired to continue it, and when slumber or pain prevailed over him for (long) standing at night, he prayed 12 rak'ats at day time; and I know not whether the Prophet read the whole Quran in a night, or prayed the whole night up to the dawn, or fasted a whole month besides the Ramadhan. 1895

عَنْهُ عَنِ النَّبِيِّ صلعم قَالَ بَادِرُوا الصُّبْحَ بِالْوِتْرِ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

1895. This hadis indicates that there is no 'Sunnat' prayer after Witr, but many traditions contradict this. Imam Malek says that this hadis is not genuine.

582. Ja'ber reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Whoso fears that he is unable to stand up (in prayer) at the latter part of the night, let him pray Witr at the first part of it; and whoso has desire to stand up at the latter part of it, let him pray Witr at the end of the night, because prayer at the end of the night is witnessed and that is better. —Muslim.

583. A'yesha reported that in every night the Holy Prophet used to pray Witr at the first portion of the night, or its middle or its last, and he extended his Witr up to pre-dawn tiffin.

عَنْ عَائِشَةَ قَالَتْ مِنْ كُلِّ اللَّيْلِ اَوْتَرَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم مِنْ اَوَّلِ اللَّيْلِ وَاَوْسَطِهٖ وَاٰخِرِهٖ وَانْتَهٰى وِتْرُهٗ اِلَى السَّحَرِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

584. Abu Hurairah reported: My friend gave me three instructions: Fasting for three days in each month, praying two rak'ats of Zuha [1896] and praying Witr before I sleep. —Ageerd.

585. Gudaif-b-al Hares reported: I said to A'yesha: Inform me whether you have seen the Apostle of Allah taking bath from impure state at the first of the night or at its last? She said: Sometimes he took bath at the first part of the night

عَنْ خُضَيْفِ بْنِ الْحَارِثِ قَالَ قُلْتُ لِعَائِشَةَ اَرَاَيْتِ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم كَانَ يَغْتَسِلُ مِنَ الْجَنَابَةِ فِيْ اَوَّلِ اللَّيْلِ اَمْ فِيْ اٰخِرِهٖ قَالَ رُبَّمَا اغْتَسَلَ فِيْ اَوَّلِ اللَّيْلِ

1896. Zuha is a prayer of two rak'ats said when the sun is high in the eastern horizon. It is also called ISHRAQ prayer by which name it is commonly knowh in this part of the country. These two rak'ats are the lowest number of Zuha, and 6 rak'ats are the highest. Abu Hurairah was engaged in preserving traditions. Therefore he was advised to read Witr at the early part of the night, as he could not get up early owing to over-engagement at night. This indicates that occupation in religious learning is better than optional prayers.

and sometime at its last. I said : Allah is greatest ; all praise is for Allah who has granted ease in affairs. I asked whether he used to read Witr at the first part of the night or at its last. She said : Often he read Witr at the first part of the night and often at its last. I said : Allah is Greatest. All praise is for Allah who granted ease in affairs. I asked : Whether he used to be loud in Quran-reading or low She said : Sometimes he was loud and and sometimes low. I said : Allah is Greatest, all praise is for Allah who granted ease in affairs. [1797]

—Abu Daud, Ibn Majah.

586. Abdullah-b-Ali Qais reported : I asked A'yesha : With how many (rak'ats) did the Prophet pray Witr ? She said ; He used to pray Witr with four and three, six and three, eight and three, ten and three, and he used not to say Witr with less than seven, nor with more than thirteen. [1898] —Abu Daud.

587. Abu Ayyub reported that the Apostle of Allah said : Witr is incumbent upon every Muslim. [1899] Whoso likes to pray Witr with five, let him pray ; and whoso likes to pray Witr Shafeyi explains it as 'ordained' or sunnat. Sufyan Saori has preferred five rak'ats for the Witr prayer.

593. Obay-b-Ka'ab reported that when the Apostle of Allah returned greeting in Witr, he used to say: Glory be to the Holy King. —Abu Daud, Nisai.

1900 In this case, Witr may be prayed after Fajr prayer.

1901. Nisai narrated from Abdur Rahman and Ahmad from Obay-b-Ka'ab. Darimi also narrated it from Ibn Abbas.

1902. There are three differences for recitation of this supplication. Firstly—whether it should be read in the first rak'at of Witr prayer or at its end. Seccondly—whether it should be read throughout the year or at the latter part of the fasting month; thirdly—whether it is exclusively for Witr prayer or for other prayers as well. With regard to the first question, Imam Shafeyi says that it should be read at the end

598. A'yesha reported that the Apostle of Allah was praying in sitting and he was reading while he was sitting. recourse to various supplications were as proper under each circumstance. This distictly shows that rituals are secondary, while spirit in prayer is primary. Companions agreed with the formula as recorded in the tradition of Hasan (34 : 592), but other formulas may lawfully be recited. Those who do not remember any of these formulas should read 'O our Lord ! give us good in this world and good in the hereafter, and protect us from the fire.'

1907. Qunut

Qunut means obedience to God. Technically it means an invocation of humility. It is offered at the time of a great disaster, in order to avert it. It is specially used in Witr prayer in the third rak'at. The form of supplication has been noted down in 34:592 according to Imam Safeyi. According to Imam Abu Hanifah, the following is the invocation of Qunut and is now followed by the Muslims in general:—

اللهم انا نستعينك و نستغفرك و نؤمن بك و نتوكل عليك و نثني عليك الخير و نشكرك ولا نكفرك و نخلع و نترك من يفجرك اللهم اياك نعبد و لك نصلي و نسجد و اليك نسعى و نحفد و نرجوا رحمتك و نخشى عذابك ان عذابك بالكفار ملحق *

"O Allah! we beseech Thee for help, and we seek Thy forgiveness, and we put faith in Thee, and we resign to Thee, and we extol Thee for good, and we are grateful to Thee and we are not ungrateful to Thee, and we forsake and leave him who disobeys Thee. O Allah! Thee do we worship, and for Thee do we pray and prostrate, and to Thee do we betake ourselves, and we are quick and hope Thy mercy, and we fear Thy chastisement. Verily Thy chastisement will overtake the unbelievers." The Holy Prophet prayed with Qunut for punishment of some particular persons or tribes who butchered and tortured the innocent Muslims as in case of the murder of 70 Muslim missionaries by a tribe. On this occasion, he was prohibited by God to invoke curse upon anybody by the verse: You have got no right in this affair. After that, the Prophet had recourse to the above-mentioned invocations in Witr.

602. Abu Hurairah reported that when the Apostle of Allah wished to supplicate against anybody, or to supplicate for anybody, he used to read the Qunut after bowing; and sometimes he used to say when he uttered 'Allah hears one who praises Him: O our Lord! Thine is the praise, O Allah! save Walid-b-Walid, and Salamah-b-Hashem and Ayyash-b-Abi Rabiyah. O Allah! bind Thy loin (to fight) against the Modars and make it full of droughts like the drought of Joseph', calling out loudly with that.[1908] And he used to say in some of his prayers: 'O Allah! curse so and so of the tribes of the Arabs'—till Allah revealed: You have got no right in the affair—the verse. —Agreed.

1908. Walid-b-Walid was brother of Khalid-b-Walid. At the time of the battle of Badr, he was taken as a captive by the Prophet and was let off on a ransom of 4000 dirhams. Afterwards he accepted Islam. Salamah-b-Hisham was brother of Abu Jahl. He was one of the early converts and was therefore subject to severe persecutions. He was imprisoned at Mecca and tortured to abjure the new faith. He somehow escaped and fled to the Prophet. Ayash-b-Abi Rabiah was also brother of Abu Jahl, and was one of the early converts. Being persecuted, he migrated to Abyssinia. Afterwards he returned to Medina. Abu Jahl by a false trick took him to Mecca and imprisoned him. He also escaped and fled to Medina.

603. A'sem al Ahwal reported: I asked Anas-b-Ma'lek about Qunut in prayer, whether it is before the bowing or after it. He said: Before the bowing. Verily the Prophet read Qunut after bowing for one month. He sent a people known as the Quran-readers of seventy men. Then they were attacked. The Apostle of Allah then read Qunut for a month after the bowing, praying against them.[1909] —Agreed

604. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah read Qunut for one month in succession in the Zuhr, Asr, Magrib, I'sha and Fajr prayers. When he said, "Allah hears one who praises Him" in the last rak'at, he supplicated against the tribes of Banu Solaim, Re'el, Zakwan, and Osayyah; and those who were behind him were saying Ameen. —Abu Daud.

1909. At the time of the curse on the tribes of Modar, the Prophet was prohibited from doing so by Allah as he came as "a blessing for the whole of mankind." Imam Abu Hanifa holds according to this tradition that Qunut after the bending has been abrogated. These seventy persons were inmates of Suffah lodged in a corner of the mosque for exclusive devotion to Allah. Their whole-time business was divine service, learning of the Quran and tenets of Islam. The Prophet sent 70 persons who committed the Quran to memory towards Najd to preach Islam. When they reached Bire-Ma'unah, a place between Mecca and Asfan, A'mr-b-Tofail, Re-el and Zakwan killed them. Only Ka'ab-b-Zaid al Ansari escapted from being killed. This skirmish took place in 4 A. O my father, verily you prayed behind the Messenger of Allah, Abu Bakr, Omar, Osman, and Ali at Kufa at present for nearly five years. Did they invoke Qunut? He replied: O my darling! it is an innovation.[1910]

When there came the last ten (days), he used to remain behind and prayed in his house. So they were saying: Obay has fled.

1911. Tarawih prayer

This prayer is called Tarawih meaning the act of taking rest. It seems that because the worshippers take a little rest after every four rak'ats, it is called Tarawih usually said in the month of fasting. The number of rak'ats at first was eleven and it was increased to twenty with an addition of three rak'ats of Witr prayer. The Holy Prophet fixed no time at night wherein it can be said, but it must be after I'sha and before Fajr prayers. The Prophet himself generally prayed it at the latter portion of the night after taking rest in the early part, and sometimes when one-third of the night passed away. At the time of the Holy Prophet and of Abu Bakr and of Omar, Tarawih prayer was said separately in respective houses. Then it was Omar who introduced the system of congregation in Tarawih and added it after the I'sha prayer—34:615. The Holy Prophet said this prayer in congregation only thrice or four times in his life. He recommanded that such prayers should be said at home. After the completion of every 4 rak'ats, the following invocation is now read by the Muslims :—

سُبْحَانَ ذِى الْمُلْكِ وَالْمَلَكُوتِ سُبْحَانَ ذِى الْعِزَّةِ وَ الْعَظَمَةِ وَ الْهَيْبَةِ وَ الْقُدْرَةِ
وَ الْكِبْرِيَاءِ وَ الْجَبَرُوتِ - سُبْحَانَ الْمَلِكِ الْحَيِّ الَّذِي لَا يَنَامُ وَلَا يَمُوتُ اَبَدًا اَبَدًا -
سُبُّوحٌ قُدُّوسٌ رَبُّنَا وَ رَبُّ الْمَلَائِكَةِ وَ الرُّوحِ *

"Glory be to One having kingdom and power. Glory be to One possessing honour, greatness, power, might and prowess. Glory be to the living King who neither sleepeth, nor dieth for ever and forever ; and He is Glorious, Holy, our Lord, and the Lord of angels and Spirit.

After that the following Monazat is recited :—

اَللّٰهُمَّ اِنَّا نَسْئَلُكَ الْجَنَّةَ وَ نَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ النَّارِ يَا خَالِقَ الْجَنَّةِ وَ النَّارِ بِرَحْمَتِكَ
يَا عَزِيزُ يَا غَفَّارُ يَا كَرِيمُ يَا سَتَّارُ يَا رَحِيمُ يَا جَبَّارُ يَا خَالِقُ يَا بَارُّ اَللّٰهُمَّ اَجِرْنَا مِنَ النَّارِ
يَا مُجِيرُ يَا مُجِيرُ يَا مُجِيرُ بِرَحْمَتِكَ يَا اَرْحَمَ الرَّاحِمِينَ *

"O God ! we seek to Thee of Paradise, and we seek refuge to Thee from the Fire, O Creator of Paradise and Hell, through Thy grace, O Almighty, O Great Forgiver, O Generous One, O Great Coverer (of sins), O Merciful, O Powerful, O Creator, O Pious One, O God, protect us from the fire, O Protector, O Protector, O Protector, through Thy grace, O Merciful of the merciful."

Night of the Middle Sha'ban. This is generally known as Shabe-Barat (Blessed Night). This takes place on the 15th night of the lunar month Sha'ban. Though there is little mention of this night in the holy traditions, still undue importance has been attached to this night. It is said that this importance was first given in the year 448 at Jerusalem when it was celebrated with pomp and grandeur (Mazhari Hoq, P 435, 1st. Vol.). Traditions 655 to 657 refer to the merits of this night. The pious Muslims should not attach undue importance to this night.

609. Zaid-b-Sa'bet reported that the Prophet reserved a room in the mosque made of date leaves and prayed therein during some nights, till the people gathered around him. Then they missed his voice one night and thought that he slept. Some of them began to make row in order to take him out to them. He said : What I saw of your actions might continne for you [1912] till I feared lest it should be ordained for you. If there is ordinance for you for what you have stood up (in prayer), then pray, O people, within your houses ; because the best prayer of a man is in his house except the prescribed prayers. [1913] —Agreed.

عَنْ زَيْدِ بْنِ ثَابِتٍ رَضِيَ اللّٰهُ عَنْهُ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ صلعم اتَّخَذَ حُجْرَةً فِي الْمَسْجِدِ مِنْ حَصِيرٍ فَصَلَّى فِيهَا لَيَالِيَ حَتّٰى اجْتَمَعَ عَلَيْهِ نَاسٌ ثُمَّ فَقَدُوا صَوْتَهُ لَيْلَةً وَظَنُّوا أَنَّهُ قَدْ نَامَ فَجَعَلَ بَعْضُهُمْ يَتَنَحْنَحُ لِيَخْرُجَ إِلَيْهِمْ فَقَالَ مَا زَالَ بِكُمُ الَّذِي رَأَيْتُ مِنْ صَنِيعِكُمْ حَتّٰى خَشِيتُ أَنْ يُكْتَبَ عَلَيْكُمْ وَلَوْ كُتِبَ عَلَيْكُمْ مَا قُمْتُمْ بِهِ فَصَلُّوا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ فِي بُيُوتِكُمْ فَإِنَّ أَفْضَلَ صَلٰوةِ الْمَرْءِ فِي بَيْتِهِ إِلَّا الصَّلٰوةَ الْمَكْتُوبَةَ *

1912. This was in case of Tarawih prayer during the month of fasting. The Prophet took a corner of the mosque as he was under I'tikaf (whole-time divine service). He went to his room after praying obligatory prayers. In the mean time, the people thought that he was asleep. He wanted to show by this that Tarawih is sunnat.

1913. This applies in case of optional and Sunnat prayers. The reason is that mind can be engaged in thoughts of divine love much more at home than in the mosque where there is assemblage of many persons. Standing would always refer to standing in prayer. In subsequent traditions, standing in this sense would occur.

610. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah was giving stimulus for standing (in prayer) at the fasting month without ordering them for that with compulsion.[1914] He was saying: Whoso stands up in the fasting month, out of faith and hopeful of reward, his sins he sent before are forgiven. The Holy Prophet died, and the injunction rested upon that, and the injunction rested upon that in the Khilafat of Abu Bakr, and half of the Khilafat of Omar was upon that.—Muslim.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُرَغِّبُ فِي قِيَامِ رَمَضَانَ مِنْ غَيْرِ اَنْ يَّاْمُرَهُمْ فِيْهِ بِعَزِيْمَةٍ فَيَقُوْلُ مَنْ قَامَ رَمَضَانَ اِيْمَانًا وَّاحْتِسَابًا غُفِرَ لَهٗ مَا تَقَدَّمَ مِنْ ذَنْبِهٖ فَتُوُفِّيَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم وَالْاَمْرُ عَلٰى ذٰلِكَ ثُمَّ كَانَ الْاَمْرُ عَلٰى ذٰلِكَ فِيْ خِلَافَةِ اَبِيْ بَكْرٍ وَّصَدْرًا مِّنْ خِلَافَةِ عُمَرَ عَلٰى ذٰلِكَ * (مُسْلِمٌ)

611. Ja'ber reported that the Apostle of Allah said: When some one of you performs prayer in his mosque, let him say a portion of his prayer in his house, because Allah does good to his house on account of his prayer therein.[1914] —Muslim.

612. Abu Zarr reported: We fasted with the Apostle of Allah but he did not stand up with us for any portion of the month, till there remained only seven (days). Then he stood (in prayer) with us, till one third of the night passed away. When there was one sixth, he did not stand with us; when there was one-fifth he stood with us, till half the night passed away. I asked: O Apostle of Allah: Would that you were to pray optional prayers with us by standing up this night! He said: When a man prays with an Imam till he departs, the standing up of one night is reckoned for him. When there was one-fourth (of the night), he did not stand up with us till one-third of the night remained. When one-third of the night came to pass, he gathered together his family members, his wives and the people. Then he stood with us. I asked: And what is Falah? He said: Predawn tiffin. After that, he did not stand up with us in the remaining month. 1916 —Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Nisai, Ibn Majah.

1916. Tirmizi did not mention the last sentence. Ibn Majah's wording is slightly different. 'Falah' means success. It is so called because, by pre-dawn tiffin, strength is acquired for fasting which leads to success.

1917. (i) Baqiy is the famous grave-yard at Medina where all the martyrs of Islam lie buried. (ii) Razin added the following to this tradition: Out of those who are destined for the fire. Tirmizi said that he heard Bukhari say that it is a weak tradition. (iii) Razin added also to this tradition. He said that forgiveness also concerns those who have done hellish acts.

614. Zaid-b-Sa'bet reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Prayer of a man in his house is better than his prayer in this mosque of mine except the obligatory prayer.[1918]

615 Abdur Rahman-b-Abdul Qa'riy reported: I came out one night with Omar-b-al Khattab to the mosque, when lo! the people were separate and quite apart from one another. One man was praying for himself, and another man was praying while a party was praying his prayer. Omar said: Verily if I could have gathered these (people) under one Quran reader, it would have been better. Then he firmly resolved and gathered them together under Obay-b-Ka'ab. He narrated: Then I came out with him another night, while the people were praying the prayer of their Quran reader. Omar said: Good is this innovation! Those who sleep away from it is better than those who stand up, wishing (to pray) at latter part of the night, and the people were standing in its first part.

used to read it in the mosque. It was Hazrt Omar who introducted congregation in Tarawih.

1919. Ahmad narrated this hadis from Abdullah-b-Amr-b-al A's. In his narration, the following exception was mentioned "One having malice and a murderer of a person." Disloyalty to God is the greatest sin, as disloyalty to a crown is the greatest crime. No amount of good to men can save a disloyal subject or a rebel. Similarly no amount of good works can save a man if anything is set up in the worship of Allah or Allah's existence is denied. The other sins incurred for breach of duty towards His creation is not so great, but they may be pardoned after full repentance. Some of the following sins come under this catagory: Sin of murder, malice, letting loose of trousers, disobedience to parents, drinking, adultery, unjust tax collecting, oppression, sorcerey, foretelling. About there subjects, traditions will be found in this work.

1920. There are different traditions showing different rak'ats of Tarawih prayer, namely, 11, 13, 20 etc. These numbers were initiated to suit the people at the changed circumstances.

528w. Sa'yeb-b-Yezid reported that Omar ordered Obay-b-Ka'ab and Tamin ad-Dari to lead the people's standing (in prayer) during Ramzan with eleven rak'ats, and the Quran-reader used to read 'The Distinction' till we were about to lean against staff on account of prolonged standing. We did not depart except at the rising of dawn. 1921

529w. A'raj reported: We found no people who did not but curse the infidels during Ramazan. He narrated: And the Quran-reader used to read the chapter 'Cow' in eight rak'ats. When he stood therein with twelve rak'ats, the people saw that he was short.

530w. Abdullah-b-Abi Bakr reported: I heard Obay say: We used to depart from prayer at Ramadhan 1922 and hasten to feed the servants, being fearful of the missing of the pre-dawn tiffin (and in another narration: being fearful of the dawn).

531w. A'yesha reported that the Prophet said: Do you all know what is in this night, that is the night of the middle Sha'ban?

1921. (i) 20 rak'ats are said to have been generally accepted by the companions. (ii) To lean against staff in optional prayer is allowed when necessary.

1922. Tarawih prayer was so prolonged that it reached the time of pre-dawn tiffin.

She said: What is therein, O Apostle of Allah? He said: Therein there is written every child that will be born of the children of Adam in this year, and therein there is written every man of the children of Adam who will die in this year, and therein their actions are raised up, and therein their provisions are made to come down. She asked: O Ms. of Allah! Is there nobody who will enter Paradise except with the mercy of the Almighty Allah? He repeated thrice: There is none who will enter Paradise except with the mercy of the Almigty Allah. I asked: Nor you too, O Apostle of Allah? Then he placed his hand over his forehead and said: Nor I, except that Allah has kept me covered with His mercy. He uttered it three times. 1923 —Baihaqi.

1924. Fore-noon Prayer

The forenoon prayer comes between the rising of the sun up in the eastern horizon and a little before midday. It is again of two kinds one is called the prayer of Ishraq (early forenoon) and another 'Chasht' (latter forenoon). The former takes place when the sun is nearly in the mid eastern sky and the second a little before noon. The Ishraq consists of 2 to 6 rak'ats and the Chast 2 to 12 rak'ats: This prayer 1923. These are the questions of Tqdir. From this, it should not be understood that it closed the doors of actions. The Quran says: And that is Paradise which I would cause to be inherited on account of what you do.

has got a great merit though it is not Farz, wajeb or sunnat. In order to gain excellence and high divine morals, this prayer has been recommanded. Nearly all the Prophets used to observe this prayer—Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses, Jesus and others. Great rewards for this prayer have been promised in the traditions, of which a few have been given here.

618. Omme-Hani reported that the Holy Prophet enterned her house on the day of the Conquest of Mecca, took bath and prayed 8 rak'ats. I did never see a prayer shorter than this except that he completed the bending and prostration. And she said in another narration: And that was fore-noon prayer [1925]

620. Abu Zarr reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Charity comes to pass at dawn on every bone of one of you. Every Tasbih is a charity, every Tahmid is a charity; every Tahlil is a charity, every Takbir is a charity, and enjoining good is a charity, and prohibiting evil is a charity; and there is compensation of that in two rak'ats which are said at fore-noon. 1931. Optional Prayers

These are Nafl prayers which the Holy Prophet said at option and occasionally; they are important than the prayers of Sunnat Gair Muakkadah. The more important of these prayers are the following :— (1) 2 rak'ats for sanctity of ablution after ablution is performed; (2) 2 rak'ats on entry into mosque, (3) two rak'ats for seeking good and warding off evils called Salatul Istakharah attended with the supplication as recorded in 34:629; (4) 2 rak'ats to ward off griefs and sorrows, (5) 2 rak'ats of prayer for fulfilment of some particular need as laid down in 34:633; (6) 2 rak'ats for rain, (7) and other prayers at the option of the worshipper. If, on the Resurrection Day, anything falls short from obligatory paryers, rewards from this optional prayers will be taken—34:635.

628. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said to Bilal at the time of Fajr prayer: O Bilal! inform me about the most covetous act you have done in Islam, because I heard the step of your shoes in front of mine in Paradise. He said: I have done no act which was the most covetous to me. Verily I did not make ablution in an hour of night or day but I prayed with that ablution what was ordained for me that I should have prayed.

629. Ja'ber reported: The Apostle of Allah used to teach us Istikharah (to seek good) in all affairs, as he used to teach us a chapter of the Quran, saying: When one of you is going to do a work, let him say two rak'ats, not being an obligatory prayer, and then let him say: O Allah! I seek good from Thee with Thy knowledge, and seek power from Thee with Thy power, I seek from Thee Thy abundant grace. Verily Thou hast got power and I have no power; Thou knowest and I know not, and Thou art the Greatest Knower of the unseen. O Allah! if Thou knowest best that this affair will be better for me, for my religion and my livelihood and the ultimate result of my affairs (or he said: for affairs of the world and of the next world), give me power and make it easy for me. Then give me blessing therein. And if Thou knowest best that this affair will be bad for me, for my religion and my livelihood and the ultimate result of my affairs (or he said: for my affairs of the present as well as of the next world), then remove it from me and turn me therefrom, and give me good wherever it might be. Then give me satisfaction over it. He narrated: He used to name his needs. 1932 —Bukhari.

He said: I heard the Apostle of Allah say: No man commits a sin and then stands, makes ablution and afterwards prays and thereafter seeks forgiveness of Allah, except that Allah forgives him. Next he read: As for those who, when they commit an indecency or are unjust to themselves, remember Allah and seek forgiveness for their sins. 1933 undertaking of importance, such as marriage, trade, compilation of a book etc. There is no Istikhara in compulsory, sunnat or Mustahab prayers, nor in minor duties of daily routine such as eating, drinking etc. Two rak'ats of prayers should be said for Istikharah with the above supplication. There is no fixed hour for this prayer except the prohibited times. If, however, the long formula cannot be recited, the simple form is:—O Allah! choose for me, and select for me and surrender me not to my choice.

1933. Ibn Majah did not mention the verse. The remaining verse is the following: And who is there to forgive sins except Allah? And they do not persist in what they did while they know it. These are they whose reward is forgiveness from their Lord and a Paradise beneath which rivers flow.

1934. This prayer is quite in accordance with the injunction of the Quran in the following verse:—O those who believe! seek help with patience and prayer (2:153Q). The significance of this prayer is that when a man is engaged in prayer, his mental out-look becomes broad and he looks to the affairs of the Next World. The world thus becomes insignificant to him with all its sorrows. Such a prayer thus gives solace to the troubled heart.

I did never proclaim Azan except that I prayed two rak'ats; and no event afflicted me except that I made ablution at its advent; and I considered that there is over me two rak'ats for Allah. 633. Abdullah-b-Abi Aufa reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso stands in need of something to Allah or to anybody from the children of Adam, let him make ablution and make it well, and let him next pray two rak'ats, and let him next praise the Exalted Allah, and let him send blessings on the Holy Prophet, and let him next say: There is no god but Allah, the Forbearing, the Generous, Glory be to Allah, Lord of the Mighty Throne, and praise be to Allah, the Lord of the worlds. I seek from Thee the granting of Thy mercy, and the firm resolve of Thy forgiveness and profit from every virtue, and freedom from every sin. Leave not any sin for me but Thou hast pardoned it for me, nor any anxiety but Thou hast removed it, nor any need which is a pleasure to Thee but Thou hast decreed it, O Merciful of the merciful. —Ibn Majah, Tirmizi (Rare).

1940. Prayer in Journey

Islam as a natural and perfect religion of mankind did not forget to give concession to the travellers in matters of prayer and fasting. The Quran says : And when you are in a journey in the earth, there is no blame on you if you shorten the prayer if you fear that those who disbelieve will cause you distress ; surely the unbeleivers are your open enemies—4:101Q. It appears, therefore, from this verse that the traveller has got option either to shorten the prayer or to complete it fully. Imam Shafeyi sponsors this view ; but according to Imm Abu Hanifah, to shorten prayer in a journey is Wajeb in as much as it is a gift from God which should not be denied. His view is based on tradition 639. The Zuhr, Asr and I'sha prayers are shortened to two rak'ats, and the Sunnat prayers are dropped with the exception of the two rak'ats before the Fajr prayer. If anybody wishes to pray Sunnat and Nafl prayers attached to each obligatory prayer, he may do them by signs and gestures in walking, sitting or riding. If the Imam is a traveller, he is allowed to shorten prayer but the Muqtadis (followers) who are not travellers shall pray the remaining rak'ats in full. If, however, the Muqtadi is a traveller, he must follow the Imam and not shorten prayer. It is not necessary to face the Ka'ba when praying on riding though it is necessary at the time of the Niyyat. In the midst of prayer, the worshipper shall not move irrespective of the movements of the riding animal or conveyance.

1938. Imam Ahmad narrated this hadis from another narrator. In another tradition, murder has been said to be the first thing to be asked on the Resurrection Day. The contradiction is met in the way that among the duties towards Allah, prayer will be the first thing, and among the duties towards His creation, murder will be the first thing.

1939. In other words, there is nothing like the Quran-reading, either in prayer or outside it, which can bring us nearer and nearer to Allah.

What is the extent of journey in which a man is entitled to shorten a prayer? There is difference of opinion among the Imams. The Quran is, however, silent on the point. The differences are based on different traditions on the subject. It appears from the traditions that the main object of the Prophet was not to make hard and fast rules but to keep the rules always elastic adaptable to particular circumstances of each case looking to the convenience and inconvenience of the particular traveller himself. For information, the main differences have been laid down below. Imam Abu Hanifa says that the required distance is three stations, the distance between the two stations being a journey from morning to mid-day. Imams Shafeyi, Ahmad and Malek fixed the journey of one day, the journey of nearly 50 miles. There are also differences of opinion in case a man breaks a journey abroad for some days. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, if a man stays at a place for at least 15 days with a previous intention, he is to be regarded as a Muqim and is required to pray in full from the beginning of his stay, but he is not required to pray in full if there is no previous intention to stay without having any regard to time for stay. According to Imam Shafeyi, the time limit is 4 days' stay with previous intention and 18 days without intention. In case of further stay, it is wajeb to pray in full.

Amalgamation of Prayers. In journey, amalgamation of Zuhr and Asr prayers, and Magrib and I'sha prayers, are allowed. According to Imam Shafeyi, Asr may be said along with Zuhr and vice versa. According to Imam Abu Hanifa, Zuhr and Asr may be prayed at the latest time of the former and the beginning of the latter, and the same case is with the Magrib and I'sha.

It seems, however, that a traveller is free to choose his own line of action for his prayer in a journey provided he is put in inconvenience or trouble for performing his divine service.

637. Anas reported that the Apostle of Allah prayed Zuhr at Medina by four (rak'ats) and prayed Asr at Zul-Hulaifah by two rak'ats. —Agreed.

عَنْ اَنَسٍ اَنَّ رَسُوْلَ اللّٰهِ صلعم صَلَّى الظُّهْرَ بِالْمَدِيْنَةِ اَرْبَعًا وَصَلَّى الْعَصْرَ بِذِى الْحُلَيْفَةِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

639. Ya'la-b-Umayyah reported: I said to Omar-b-al Khattab: Verily the Almighty Allah said: You should shorten prayer provided you fear that those who are unbelievers may put you to trial. The peoele have certainly become secure. Omar said: I wonder at what you have wondered. Then I asked the Apostle of Allah. He said: It is a 1941. This journey was undertaken after the Farewell Pilgrimage. Though there was peace and no fear, prayer was shortened by the Prophet. The provision in the Quranic verse was therefore explained in this way. In other words, irrespective of the proviso, prayer must be shortened as denial of God's gift is a sin.

639a. Anas reported: We came out with the Apostle of Allah from Medina to Mecca. He was praying each prayer by two rak'ats, till we returned to Medina. It was questioned to them: Have you stayed for some (days) at Mecca? He replied: We stayed there for ten (days). 1942 —Agreed.

640. Hafs-b-A'sem reported: I accompanied Ibn Omar on the way to Mecca. He prayed two rak'ats of Zuhr with us. Then he came to his camel and sat. He saw some people standing (in prayer). So he asked. What do these people do? I replied: They are reading 'Tasbih'. He said: Had I said prayer of Tasbih, I would have perfected my prayer. I accompanied the Apostle of Allah, and he used not to pray more than two rak'ats in journey, and Abu Bakr, Omar, and Osman did in a similar way. —Agreed.

641. Ibn Abbas reported that the Apostle of Allah used to combine Zuhr and Asr when he was on the back of a journey, and combine Magrib and Isha. 1943 Bukhari.

عَنْ حَفْصِ بْنِ عَاصِمٍ قَالَ صَحِبْتُ ابْنَ عُمَرَ فِي طَرِيْقِ مَكَّةَ فَصَلّٰى لَنَا الظُّهْرَ رَكْعَتَيْنِ ثُمَّ جَاءَ رَحْلَهُ وَجَلَسَ فَرَاٰى نَاسًا قِيَامًا فَقَالَ مَا يَصْنَعُ هٰؤُلَاءِ قُلْتُ يُسَبِّحُونَ قَالَ لَوْ كُنْتُ مُسَبِّحًا اَتْمَمْتُ صَلٰوتِي صَحِبْتُ رَسُولَ اللهِ صلعم فَكَانَ لَا يَزِيْدُ فِي السَّفَرِ عَلٰى رَكْعَتَيْنِ وَاَبَا بَكْرٍ وَعُمَرَ وَعُثْمَانَ كَذٰلِكَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللهِ صلعم يَجْمَعُ بَيْنَ صَلٰوةِ الظُّهْرِ وَالْعَصْرِ اِذَا كَانَ عَلٰى ظَهْرِ سَيْرٍ وَيَجْمَعُ بَيْنَ الْمَغْرِبِ وَالْعِشَاءِ * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

1942. This occurred at the time of the Farewell Pilgrimage. This hadis indicates that even in case of 10 days' stay in one place, prayer shall be shortened. This is contrary to the view of Imam Shafeyi who holds that in case of four days' stay in one place, to say prayer in full is wajeb.

1943. The prayers of glolification were said after 'Qasar' prayer by some men.

642. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah used to pray I'sha with signs in journey upon his riding camel towards a place where she turned with him with the exception of the obligatory prayers, and he used to pray Witr upon his riding camel. 1944 —Agreed.

عَنِ ابْنِ عُمَرَ قَالَ كَانَ رَسُولُ اللّٰهِ صلعم يُصَلِّي فِي السَّفَرِ عَلَى رَاحِلَتِهِ حَيْثُ تَوَجَّهَتْ بِهِ يُومِي إِيمَاءً صَلٰوةَ اللَّيْلِ إِلَّا الْفَرَائِضَ وَيُوتِرُ عَلَى رَاحِلَتِهِ: (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

643. Ibn Abbas reported that the Holy Prophet undertook a journey and stayed for 19 days praying each by two rak'ats. Ibn Abbas said: So we prayed each by two rak'ats in what is between us and Mecca for 19 days. When we stayed more than that, we used to pray four. 1945 —Bukhari.

عَنِ ابْنِ عَبَّاسٍ قَالَ سَافَرَ النَّبِيُّ صلعم سَفَرًا فَاَقَامَ تِسْعَةَ عَشَرَ يُومًا يُصَلِّي رَكْعَتَيْنِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ قَالَ ابْنُ عَبَّاسٍ فَنَحْنُ نُصَلِّي فِيمَا بَيْنَنَا وَبَيْنَ مَكَّةَ تِسْعَةَ عَشَرَ رَكْعَتَيْنِ رَكْعَتَيْنِ فَاِنْ اَقَمْنَا اَكْثَرَ مِنْ ذٰلِكَ صَلَّيْنَا اَرْبَعًا * (اَلْبُخَارِيُّ)

644. Imran-b-Hussain reported: I accompained the Prophet in a holy fight and witnessed victory with him. He stayed at Mecca for 18 nights without praying each but by two rak'ats, عَنْ عِمْرَانِ بْنِ حُصَيْنٍ قَالَ غَزَوْتُ مَعَ النَّبِيِّ صلعم وَشَهِدْتُ مَعَهُ الْفَتْحَ فَاَقَامَ بِمَكَّةَ ثَمَانِيَ عَشْرَةَ لَيْلَةً لَا يُصَلِّي إِلَّا

Ibn Omar prohibited it on the ground that the reason for which obligatory prayer has been shortened will be frustrated by the additional prayer. In such a case, it is better to give up optional prayer. With regard to 'sunnat' prayers, the case is somewhat different.

1944. Imam Shafeyi follewes the express meaning of the hadis. In other words, Zuhr and Asr prayers may be said either at the time of Zuhr or Asar. This is the case with Magrib and I'sha. Imam Abu Hanifa explains this hadis to the effect that Zuhr may be said at the fag end of its time and Asar at its earliest time. So it the case with Magrib and Isha.

1945. At the time of the first Takbir, a Muslim shall stand facing the Ka'ba. Thereafter he is not responsible for the direction of the conveyances. It is lawful to read sunnat and optional prayers on riding conveyances. Imam Abu Hanifa excepted the morning sunnat. Without excuse, it is not lawful to pray compulsory prayers on conveyance. If there is any lawful excuse, it is lawful. These rules have been laid down for actual journey. Regarding Witr prayer, Imams Abu Hanifa and Malek rely on other traditions and hold that it shall be said on landing. Imam

645. Ibn Omar reported: I prayed Zuhr by two rak'ats along with the Prophet in a journey, and after that by two rak'ats. And in a narration, he said: I prayed with the Prophet in habitation and in journey. I prayed with him four rak'ats of Zuhr in habitation, and after that two rak'ats; and I prayed with him in journey two rak'ats of Zuhr and two rak'ats after it, and two rak'ats of Asr. And he did not pray anything after them; and the sunset prayer in habitation and in journey is equal—three rak'ats, and it is not diminished either in residence or in journey. It is Witr of the day, and there are two rak'ats after it,

—Tirmizi.

646. Mu'az-b-Jabal reported that the Holy Prophet was in the battle of Tabuk. 1947 When the sun inclined a little before he started, he combined Zuhr and Asr. If he started before the sun inclined, he delayed Zuhr

647. Anas reported that when the Apostle of Allah undertook a journey and wished to pray optional prayers, he used to turn his face with his she-camel towards the Ka'ba and recite Takbir. Afterwards he used to pray to whichever direction his riding camel turned him. —Abu Daud.

1952. Zumma Prayer

(a) Excellence of Zumma prayer. Great rewards have been promised in the traditions about divine service on Friday which commences on the previous night and ends with sunset. Of course there is no day in Islam like Chrsitianity and Jndaism for exclusive devotion in a day of a week and work for the remaining six days, still Islam laid down that Friday is the best day of the week (31:662) and that there is an hour on Friday which is an opportune moment for acceptance of supplication. There are different traditions relating to different times as the best hour, but it seems from the spirit of the traditions that the hour was not fixed and it may be searched for in the whole of Friday. If a man dies on Friday, he will be saved from the punishment of the grave—34:664. The verse of perfection (5:3Q) was revealed on Friday, Adam was created on Friday and the Hour shall occur on Friday.

(b) Conditions of Zumma prayer. Zumma prayer is Wajeb and takes the place of Zuhr prayer. It consists of 2 rak'ats prayer may be said in short or in full according to the desire of the worshipper. This is however said to be a weak tradition and cannot prevail over other traditions of authenticity.

1950. One postal station was nearly 18 miles off from another. The distance between Mecca and Tayef is 4 stations, and between Mecca and Jeddah nearly 50 miles. No fixed standard of a journey has been clearly laid down by the traditions. The Jurists and the Imams deduced by Istihad some criterions.

1951. See note 1945.

always said in congregation of three according to Imam Abu Hanifa and forty according to Imam Shafeyi. The Quran, however, says without any distinction of number: O you who believe! when the call is made for prayer on Friday, then hasten to the remembrance of Allah and leave off traffic; that is better for you if you know. But when the prayer is finished, then disperse abroad in the land and seek Allah's grace, and remember Allah much that you may be successful—62:9Q. It appears from the above verse that Zumma is obligatory upon all Muslims except those who are ill, women, slaves and boys under age (34:671). But all are allowed to join congregational Zumma prayer including women. Before actually starting for Zumma prayer, a Muslim should pair off nails, shave the objectionable hairs, cleanse the teeth, have a bath, put on the best dress available (34:683) and use scent (34;690) to remove the offensive smells. These are intended to foster habits of cleanliness and to make the assembly as little offensive as possible.

(c) Khutbah (sermon). Before the prayer begins, the Imam is to deliver Friday sermon calling the whole congregation as regards their duties towards Allah and their duties towards His creation and reminding them of the hereafter together with a prayer for the welfare of the community as a whole. In order to keep the solidarity of the community, the language of the sermon must be that of the congregation with the following exceptions: (a) Kalima must be recited; (b) at least one verse of the Quran must be read; (c) the blessings on the Prophet must be sent and (d) Allah is to be glorified and praised.

(d) Some rules and Sunnat Prayers. (i) Silence must be observed at the time of the sermon by the audience who shall listen to the words coming out from the pulpit. (ii) If anybody misses the last rak'at of Zumma prayer, he is to pray singly four rak'ats of Zuhr—34:540w. (iii) He who comes first is entitled to sit in the front rows (note 1972), and none shall commit the sin of joining the front rows by overstepping the necks of other worshippers. There is therefore no reserved place in the mosque for the rich and the poor, for the clergy and the laity. (iv) Nobody shall sit in the temporary vacant seat of another (34 : 680).

There are four rak'ats of sunnat before the Farz prayer, and four rak'ats of sunnat Muakkadah and 2 rak'ats of sunnat Gair Muakkadah after the Farz prayer. There are other optional prayers, such as two rak'ats for Wuzu and 2 rak'ats of entry into mosque before the Farz, and two rak'ats after the sunnat Gair Muakkadh.

654. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: We are the latest generation which will come first on the Resurrection Day, except that they were given the Book before us, and we have been given after them. Then this was certainly their day which was made obligatory on them, that is the Zumma day. Then they differed therein, and so Allah guided us for it, and the people will follow us therein, the Jews tomorrow, and the Christians the day after tomorrow. Agreed upon it. And in a narration of Muslim, he said: We are the latest generation which will come first on the Resurrection Day, and we will be the first who will enter Paradise. except that (etc.)—and he mentioned up to its last. And in another report of his and of Huzaifah: They reported that the Ms. of Allah said at the end of the tradition: "We are the latest generations out of the inhabitants of the world and we are those who will come first on the Resurrection Day to have a decision for our actions before all the creatures." 1958 service. The true interpretation has been given by Islam, namely, divine service shall be held everyday, and there is congregational prayer only on Friday.

194 There are nearly 35 traditions relating to the fortunate hour on Friday in which prayer is acceptable.

Ka'ab-b-al Ahbar, and sat with him. He talked with me about the Torah, and I talked with him about the Apostle of Allah. Of what I talked with him, there was this that I said that the Messenger of Allah had said: The best day that the sun rises on is Friday. Therein Adam was created, and therein he was brought down, and therein his repentance was accepted, and therein he died, and therein the Hour shall come to pass. And there is no beast that does not cry on Friday, from the time of dawn till the sun rises, out of fear for the Hour except Jinn and man. And therein there is an hour which no Muslim servant overtakes while he is praying seeking anything from Allah but Allah gives it to him. Ka'ab asked: Is it a day in every year? I replied: Rather in every week. Then Ka'ab read the Torah and said: The Apostle of Allah spoke the truth: Abu Hurairah said: I met Abdullah-b-Salam and communicated to him my meeting with Ka'ab al Ahbar, and what I had informed him on Friday. I asked him: Ka'ab said: That is a day in every year. Abdullah-b-Salam said: Ka'ab spoke falsehood. I asked him. Then Ka'ab read the Torah and said: Rather it is in every week. Abdullah-b-Salam said: Ka'ab has spoken the truth. Afterwards Abdullah-b-Salam said; I have indeed known which that hour is. Abu Hurairah said: I asked; inform me about it, and don't be miser to me. Abdullah-b-Salam said: That is the last hour on Friday. Abu Hurairah said: I asked—And how can it be the last hour on Friday? Indeed the Apostle of Allah said: No Muslim servant praying therein shall miss it. Abdullah-b-Salam saked: Has not the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso sits in an assemblage waiting for prayer, is in prayer till he prays? Abu Hurairah said: I said: Yes. He said: It is that.

So increase blessings on me therein, because your blessings are presented to me. They asked: O Apostle of Allah! and how are our blessings presented to you while you will be swollen? 661. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: The promised day is the Day of Resurrection, and the witnessed day is the day of Arafat, and the bearer of witness is Friday. The sun has neither risen, nor set on a day better than it. There is therein an hour in which a believing servant praying to Allah for good, does not but find Allah responding to him, nor does he seek refuge from anything but He gives him refuge therefrom. 197 —Ahmad, Tirmizi (Rare).

196. Darimi and Baihaqi in his Da'watul-Kabir narrated this hadis. In other words, earth has got no power to consume the bodies of the Prophets. It is due either to strong frame of body created by Allah or due to some supernatural agency. In Egypt, the tomb of Tutakhanem was dug and his body which is said to have been buried 4000 years ago has been discovered with no sign of decay. If that is true, it is not beyond reason that the Prophet's body would be preserved. It is unanimously held that the Prophet regained life in his grave after his burial.

197. This hadis is called garib, because one of its narrators Musa-b-Obaidah was weak (in memory). The words explained here occur in the Quran in the following verse: Consider the heaven full of stars, and the promised day, and the bearer of witness, and one against whom witness is borne (85 : 1—8Q).

662. Abu Lobabah-b-Abdul Munzer reported that the Apostle of Allah said: Verily Zumma day is the best of the days and the greatest near Allah, and it is greater than the day of Sacrifice and the day of Fitr near Allah. Therein there are five characteristics. Therein Allah created Adam, and therein Allah sent down Adam to the earth, and therein Allah caused Adam to die, and therein there is an hour in which no servant seeks anything but He gives it to him so long as he does not seek an unlawful thing, and therein the Hour shall occur. And there is no angel near by, and no heaven, and no earth, and no wind, and no mountain, and no sea except that it fears Friday. 1958 —Ibn Majah.

1960. Zumma Prayer is Compulsory

(See note 1952).

666. A woman of Banu Abd al-As'hal reported : I asked : O Ms. of Allah ! verily there is a rotten way for us to go to the mosque. So how shall we proceed when will rain overtake us ? He asked : Is there no way better than this ? 'Yes' replied I. Then the latter is (to be preferred) to the former. —Abu Daud.

1962. This is a partial expiation of the sin of not praying Zumma prayer.

1963. This means that Zumma is obligatory upon all persons including men who live in such a distance from the mosque that if they attend the mosque for Zumma, they are in a position to return to their wives at night after due performance of the prayer. Tirmizi says that the chain of narration of the hadis is weak.

1964. It is evident from this tradition that without congregation, Zumma prayer is not lawful. There are, however, differences of opinion among the Imams as to the number of persons who are to form a congregation in order to make Zumma prayer binding. Imams Abu Hanifa and Muhammad held that a congregation consists of three persons besides the Imam. Imam Abu Yusuf limits it to two besids the Imam. Imams Shafeyi defines it as a congregation of 40 persons. Zumma is not binding on women, boys under age, the mad, the travellers, the blind, the lame, and the extremly old.

677. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso makes ablution and makes ablution well, and the comes to Zumma and hears and remains silent, he is forgiven what comes to pass between it and another Zumma, and three days in addition, and whoso touches a stone, prays in vain. 1968 —Muslim.

1967. It means that in the mosque one should not make his space for prayer after separating two men who were sitting together previous to his arrival.

1968. This is quite significant about the spirit of prayer in Islam. The outward forms are only means to an end, and not endsin themselves. A prayer without remembrance of Allah is nothing but touching a stone or a ground in prostration.

1969. In other words, the first comers will get great rewards from Allah. The foremost one will get a reward of sacrificing a camel at Mecca, the next one will get a reward of sacrificing a cow at Mecca, and thus the rewards decrease according to the position of the rows.

1970. The Reminder means the Quran which reminds the people of the directions and prohibitions of Allah.

682. Aus-b-Aus reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso gives bath [1972] on Friday and takes bath, and wakes up and awakens at the early dawn, and walks on foot and does not ride, and comes near the Imam and hears without vain talk, there is for him for every step the action of a year, the reward of fasting it and standing therein (in prayer). —Tirmizi, Abu Daud, Nisai, Ibn Majah.

1974. Malek narrated it from Yahya-b-Sayeed. It is not against asceticim that one takes up new clothes on festive occasions like I'ds and Zuma-days. The Prophet himself used to put on clothes other than his clothes of daily use on Zumma-day and the days of I'ds. This is not because Allah likes this, but because people are pleased with a man of decent dress.

1980. Khutbah (Friday sermon)

Khutbah is Farz in Zumma prayer. After the second call for prayer generally uttered in a lower voice than the first call, the Imam stands up on the pulpit facing the audience to deliver sermon. This consists of two parts with the provision of a little rest for the Imam in the middle of the two. This sermon is primarily meant to export the audience towards Allah and His Apostle and to remind them once in every week the transitory nature of this world and the everlasting rewards in the hereafter. Any subject relating to the welfare of the community may be dealt with in the Khutbi. It is therefore necessary that the masses should know what the preacher preaches. In other words, it must be delivered in the language of the worshippers. See note 1952 (c) for further light.

1982. Azan began first on Friday at the time when the Imam sat on the pulpit. There was no azan before that. This was the practice all along till Osman introduced a third azan. It was first said at Jaora'a ubazaar in the market of Medina before the first Azan. It is called third as one Azan precedes Khutba, and another before Khutba for prayer. This is now considered as the first Azan.

1980. Prayer of Fear

So great an importance was given by Islam to prayer that even in battles and places of fear, prayer must be said towards the remembrance of the Almighty who alone can dispel all calamities. The Holy Prophet himself with his devoted followers used to pray and prostrate before the Glorious Allah in the midst of the enemies. The enemies were not unmindful of their divine acts and were naturally disconcerted to see the band of angels who fought with them. About this prayer, the Quran says : And when you are in a journey in the earth, there is no blame on you if you shorten the prayer if you fear that those who disbelieve will cause you distress, for the disbelievers are your open enemies. When Thou art among them and keepest up the prayer for them, let a party of them stand up with thee and let them take their arms ; then when they have prostrated themselves, let them go to your rear and let the other party who have not prayed come forward and pray with them—4:102. In case of a great danger it is permitted to say prayer either on foot or on riding. The Quran says : But if you are in danger, then say your prayers on foot or on horse back—2:239. This is prayer by Ima i.e. by signs and gestures. It appears from the above verses that the congregation must be divided into two batches, one batch to face the enemy and the other to pray one rak'at only behind the Imam. The first batch will then take the place of the second batch and the latter will proceed to pray the remaining one rak'at with the former Imam who is not to break the prayer but to fulfil two rak'ats. This sort of prayer will give an idea in the mind of the enemies that it is a manœuvre of armies and not prayer.

There are different traditions regarding the modes of this prayer but the above method has been generally accepted.

The Holy Prophet prayed this prayer of fear in four places, at Zatur-Reqa'a, at the valley of Nakhl at Asfan and at Zufard. This shows that this prayer is allowed only in journey. Imam Abu Hanifa says that it is allowed in case of danger in journey as well as in residence.

710. Salam-b-Abdullah reported from his father who said: I joined the Apostle of Allah in a battle towards Najd. We encountered the enemy and then we drew up ranks for them. The Prophet stood to pray for us, and there stood a party with him and another advanced towards the enemy. The Prophet bowed down with those who were with him and prostrated twice, and then they departed to the place of the party who did not pray. Then they came, and the Prophet bowed down with them one bowing and made two prostrations and then greeted. Everyone of then then got up and bent down for himself one rak'at and made two prostratins. Nafe narrated a similar tradition, and he added: If then there comes a fear severer than that, pray walking, standing upon their feet and riding, facing the Ka'ba or without

711. Yezid-b-Ruman from Sa'leh-b Khawwat from one who prayed with the Prophet the prayer of fear on the day of Zatur Reqa'a reported that a party closed up a rank with him, and a party were facing the enemy. He prayed with those who were with him one rak'at. Then he jumped up on his feet and they completed for themselves and then they went away. They then formed a rank facing the enemy, and another party advanced and prayed with them the rak'at of the prayer which remained due. Afterwards he sat at ease and they prayed in full for themselves and then he greeted with them. 1901

712. Ja'ber reported: We came with the Messenger of Allah till we were at Zatur-Reqa'a. When we came to a shade-giving tree, we left it for the Messenger of Allah.

1900. On fact is clear from this tradition that congregation is not to be given up even in case of fear and dread. Imam Malek says that in journey, prayer of fear may be said but Imam Abu Hanifa holds that both in journey and residence it is allowed in case of fear. It is said that the Holy Prophet prayed this prayer in four places—Zatur-Reqa, valley of Nakl, Asfan, and Zufard.

1901. The man was Sahal-b-Abi Hasma. Zatur Reqa' is the name of a battle which took place at 5 A. H. between the Prophet and the infidels The Prophet returned victorious without fight. The battle is so called as the Muslims had received wounds in feet and there were sores. Imams Shafeyi and Malek follow this tradition.

Then a man out of the the polytheists advanced, while the sword of the Apostle of Allah was hanging with a tree. He took the sword of the Holy Prophet and brandished it. He asked the Prophet: Do you fear me? 'No' said he. He asked: Who will then protect you from me? "Allah" reported he, 'will protect me from you.' 1992 Then the companions of the Prophet threatened him, snatched the sword and kept it hanging. Then Azan was proclaimed for prayer, and he prayed two rak'ats with a party. Next they made delay, and he prayed with two rak'ats with another party. So for the Apostle of Allah, there were four rak'ats and for the people two rak'ats. —Agreed.

713. Same reported: The Apostle of Allah prayed the prayer of fear with us, and we arrayed two lines behind him while the enemy was between us and the direction of the Ka'ba. The Prophet recited Takbir and we all did so. Then he bent down and we all bent down. Then he raised up his head from the bending, and we all raised up. Then he went 1992. At the time of this talk, his companions were not there. During this talk, the sword fell down from the hand of the unbeliever and it was taken up by the Prophet. Afterwards the companions came and the man was pardoned. This was said before the verse for shortening prayers at the time of journey was revealed. It was said at Asfan.

When the Prophet finished prostration, and the row which was next to him stood, the last row went to prostrtion and then they stood and the last row advanced forward and the first row retraced backward. Then the Prophet bent down and we all bent down, then he raised up his head from the bending, and we all raised up. Then he went down to prostration and also the row which was next to him which was the last in the first rak'at; and the last row stood in the midst of the enemy. When the Prophet finished prostration, and the row which was next to him departed, and the last line went to prostration, they prostrated. Then the Prophet greeted with all. —Muslim.

714. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah landed (at a place) between Zajnan [1938] and Asfan. 1996. I'd Prayers

I'd comes from And meaning to return and Fitr means breaking fast. I'dul Fitr means the festival of breaking fast after Ramazan. I'dul Azhr means the festival of sacrifice which occurs on the day following the haj. Islam has got no festival except these two which are also celebrated with a view to demonstrate happiness after performance of duties like fasting. They teach that there is real happiness in the performance of religious duties. These are also practical examples of Islamic brotherhood in which all men irrespective of caste and creed should join these prayers. The prayer of I'ds is performed in the same manner as the 2 rak'ats of Zumma prayer with the exception of Aqamat or Azan. I'd prayers may be said in fields, or in mosques if the congregations are not great. In this prayer, there are seven takbirs in the first rak'at and five in the second, and

724. Bara'a reported: The Holy prophet addressed us on the day of sacrifice. He said: Verily the first thing with which we should begin in this day of ours is that we should pray and then return and sacrifice (animals). 1993. It is admitted that anything that is sacrificed before rising of the sun on I'd day is not lawful. According to Imam Shafeyi, it is lawful if the sun rises to the extent of an arrow in the horizon. Imam Abu Hanifa holds sacrifice as wajeb on a man possessing nisab after prayer: It extends up to 12th date of the moon. Nahr means sacrifice of a camel or an animal by an arrow.

In other words, night and day became equal in the midst of the two days. They held festivals on these two days from ancient times. These were replaced by the Prophet by the two I'd days.

2004. Sacrifice of I'd-ul-Azha.

(a) Sacrifice is universal. Sacrifice is prevalent in every religion and community. It was believed that sacrifice was adopted to appease some angry deity or to seek favour. This is entirely a pantheistic idea begotten by a belief in the plurality of gods. Islam, while maintaining the institution of sacrifice, introduced in it a meaning which was not recognised before. The Quran says: Their flesh and their blood will not reach Allah, but self-denying practice will reach Him (22:37Q). "And to every nation we appointed acts of sacrifice that they may mention the name of Allah on what He has given them of the cattle quadrupeds. So your God is one God, therefore to Him should you submit, and give good news to the humble ones whose heart tremble when Allah is mentioned and those who are patient over that which afflicts them"—22:34Q. The act of sacrifice of an animal is an act which thus teaches self denial, submission to one God at the risk of the dearest things in the world, humbleness of heart and patience under sufferings. When these acts of piety are analysed, we find the following. The dearest thing should be sacrified in the name of Allah. Cow is held by a people as one of the dearest things in the world. The only property of the Arabs are the cattles, sheeps, goats and camels. These are the most valuable sources of income of the Arabs. Sacrifice of these animal causes the greatest mental suffering of this people and a great loss to them. Sacrifice was therefore ordered as a very effective way of driving out love of property from the soil of mind. Therefore this is a thing which teaches surrender to the Almighty. Secondly, cow is regarded as a god by a section of the people. Indeed, it was taken as an object of worship by the Israilites at the time of Moses. Therefore this cow is more reasonably to be sacrified for the Great Ma'bud (object of worship). Thirdly, sacrifice of an animal is a natural phenomenon. We see around us that some animals such as lion and tiger live by eating other lower animals. Therefore there is the rule of the survival of the fittest. It is but natural therefore that man will sacrifice animal for the purpose of food. In water, there are innumerable worms having breath. Do we not kill these animals? In ether, innumerable worms are floating. Do we not kill them every moment by inhaling and exhaling? Taking the question of vegetables, we see that there is life in them. Do we not kill them by taking them daily in our food? Therefore we come to this proposition that everything in the world is more or less necessary for us and without sacrificing these things, it is not possible for us to live. It cannot be said that man is to be sacrified for animal. The fact is that everything in the world has been created for man, and man for worshipping God. The object of animal life is to administer comforts to human beings. An animal will reach its goal in this way. We use therefore their milk, their backs for riding, their flesh for food etc. So sacrifice of animals is natural and no animal should be regarded as an object of worship. There is another reason. That is obedience to divine command even if no reason is understood. Another reason is that the sacrifice of Azha commemorates the surrender of Abraham to divine command—84:753,

(b) Some rules. Knife should be sharpened before hand and animal should not be kept waiting for sacrifice before other animals that have already been sacrificed. Sacrice extends to two days following the I'd day—84:545w. In the act of sacrifice, the supplication as recorded in 84:747 and Allah's name should be recited. One goat or ram suffices for one man ; and one cow for seven, and one camel for seven. This sacrifice is Wajeb upon those who have got nisab according to Imam Abu Hanifa and sunnat Muakkada according to other Imams. It should be remembered that in accordance with the spirit of sacrifice, the animal must be stout and strong without any defect in ear, horn, leg or in any other limb. Each camel for sacrifice must not be less than 5 years old, and each cow not less than 2 years, and each goat not less than one year and each ram or sheep not less than 6 months old.

739. Anas reported that the Messenger of Allah made sacrifice of two stout rams having horns. He sacrified them with his own hand and took the name of Allah and recited Takbir. He said : I saw him putting his one foot upon their buttocks and saying : In the name of Allah, and Allah is Greatest. [2005]

2023. Prayer of Eclipse

The word Khusuf properly signifies lunar eclipse and Kusuf solar eclipse, but the former has been used in the section in a loose form to mean both lunar and solar eclipses. According to the majority of the learned jurists, prayer on the occasion of an eclipse is sunnat. According to Abu Hanifa, there are two rak'ats of prayers for solar eclipse in congregation without any sermon, and two rak'ats for lunar eclipse without congregation. According to Imam Shafeyi, the prayers shall be said in congregation with Khutbah (sermon).

764. Ayesha reported : Verily the sun eclipsed at the time of the Prophet. He sent one to proclaim "congregational Prayer." He came and prayed four rak'ats by two rak'ats and four prostrations. Ayesha said : I did never make a bending or a prostration more prolonged than this. 2024

Then he rose and made prostration, and then he went away, while the sun shone bright. He said: Verily the sun and the moon are two signs of the signs of Allah. They do not eclipse for death of anybody or for his life. So when you see that, remember Allah. They asked: O Ms. of Allah! we saw you that you took something in this place of yours, and then we found that you stepped behind. He said: Verily I saw paradise and I intended to take

202. Prostration of gratefulness.

The kind of prostration is made on the receipt of a good news or for avoiding harms. Imam Shafeyi says that it is sunnat, while Imam Abu Hanifa and Malek hold it to be Makruh. It is said that the Holy Prophet fell in prostration when he heard the murder of Abu Jahl; Abu Bakr also did likewise when he heard the murder of Musailamah, and Ali when he heard the murder of the Kharijites. This prostration takes place not in prayer but outside it.

775. Abu Bakrah reported that when a happy news reached him or he was pleased with it, he used to fall down in prostration by way of gratefulness to Allah, the Almighty.

2028. Prayer for rain

According to Imam Shafeyi, Abu Yusuf and Muhammad, prayer for rain is just like prayer for I'd. There are two rakats of prayer for this according to Imam Malek, but there is no prayer for rain according to Imam Abu Hanifa, except supplication, seeking of forgiveness and glorification. Hazrat Omar is said to have only supplicated for rain, but the Hanifi mazhab follows not Abu Hanifa but his disciples on this point. They gave a decision for prayer for rain as there are traditions in support of it. It has been suggested that it is better to read chapter Qaf (50Q) in the first rak'at or chapter (57Q); and in second rak'at the chapter (54Q) or chapter (88Q).

عَنْ عَبْدِ اللهِ بْنِ زَيْدٍ قَالَ خَرَجَ رَسُوْلُ اللهِ صلعم بِالنَّاسِ اِلَى الْمُصَلّٰى يَسْتَسْقِي فَصَلّٰى بِهِمْ رَكْعَتَيْنِ جَهَرَ فِيْهِمَا بِالْقِرَاءَةِ وَاسْتَقْبَلَ الْقِبْلَةَ يَدْعُوْا وَرَفَعَ يَدَيْهِ وَ حَوَّلَ رِدَائَهُ حِيْنَ اسْتَقْبَلَ الْقِبْلَةَ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

777. Abdullah-b-Zaid reported that the Apostle of Allah came out with the people to the praying place to pray for rain. Then he prayed two rak'ats with them wherein he was loud in Quran-reading. He faced the Ka'ba for supplication and raised up his hands and turned his sheet when he faced the Ka'ba. —Agreed.

He passed order for a pulpit and it was put in the praying-place,and he gave a promise tothe people that (rain would fall on a day on which) they should come out. Ayesha said: Then the Messenger of Allah came out when a portion of the sun had appeared. He sat upon the pulpit,read Takbir, praised Allah and then said: Verily you complain about famine in your houses and the belating of rain for you frcm its appointed time while Allah directed you to call Him and promised you that He will respond to you. Then he prayed: "All praise is due to Allah, Lord of the universe, the most Compassionate, the most Merciful, Lord of the day of Judgment. There is no deity but Allah. He doeth what He wisheth. O Allah! Thou art Allah; there is none to be served but Thee, (Thou art) rich and we are poor. Send rain upon us,and make what Thou sendest for us a power and a provision for a time." Then he raised up his hands and did not give up raising till the whiteness of his armpits was seen. Then he turned towards the people his back and turned or changed his sheet with his hands raised

And when heaven became cloudy, his colour became changed. He came out, entered, advanced and retraced back. When it was raised up, he was pleased with it. Ayesha recognised that and asked him. He said: O Ayesha! perchance it is as the people of A'd said: When they saw it advancing and coming towards their valleys, they said: This is a cloud which will rain over us. CHAPTER XXXV

2035. Fasting

(a) Fasting is an universal institution. Fasting is one of the five fundamental articles upon which Islam stands. It is an universal institution in as much as all the religions of the world and all the great religious personalities adopted fasting as the principal method of controlling and killing passions. The Celts, the Romans, the Babylonians, and the Assyrians practised it. The, philosophers, either Cynic, Stoic, Pythogorean or Neoplantonic, left advice for fast. The followers of Hinduism, Jainism, Confucius and Zoroaster practised it. The Jews observe an an nual fast on the Day of Atonement in commemoration of the descent of Moses from Sinai. The prophet Moses qualified himself to receive revelation from God after forty days of fasting. Jesus fasted for forty days in the desert and commanded his followers to faste (Mathew 4 : 16). Therefore the institution of fasting is universal and existed in some form or another till it fell into disuse owing to want of method, regularity and time. That there was fasting previously is supported by the following verse : The fasting was prescribed for those who were before you—2:183Q.

(b) Fasting gained perfection in Islam. The injunction about fasting was revealed in 2 A. H. in Islam. It gave the institution of fasting a finishing touch and introducted therein method, regularity, and meaning which go together to make it perfect and everliving. Fasting will not die a natural death in Islam. Like prayer, the institution of fasting is kept alive as it is observed every year in the world of Islam and forms the regulating principle of their lives. Fasting was previously resorted to as a sign of grief or mourning or for commemoration of a great event. The underlying idea was to propitiate an angry god. Islam abolished this pantheistic idea and introducted a highly developed significance. The object is that you may guard against evil—2 : 183Q. In other words, the chief object of fasting is to generate power in a man which can control unruly passions just as a beast is brought under control by keeping it occasionally hungry and then by giving it food. The same principle has been expressed by the following traditions : 'The castration of my people is fasting'—34 : 473w. 'Whoso is not able (to marry), keep fast, and verily it is (as it were) castration for him'—27 :3. Thus fasting has been introduced as it kills the animal propensities in a man. Secondly in Islamic fasting, there is nothing to be eaten or drunk from the early dawn till the setting of the sun. If anything, say even water, is taken, it produces no appreciable effect on mind as a result of hunger. It is then a misnomer of fasting. Thirdly, in order to put an effective check on passions, even intercourse with wife in the hours of fasting has been prohibited. In other religions, this has not been so prohibited and therefore there has been no effective check on passions. Fourthly, fasting is methodical in Islam as in every month of Ramzan, the young and the old, the rich and the poor, the literate and the illiterate, all have to fast with the same spirit of common fatherhood of God and universal brotherhood of man ; while in other religions, it is not so. Islam has not forgotten to reserve provisions for optional fasting at the choice of every Muslim. It has therefore kept the door of voluntary fasting open to all. Because of the want of any provision for compulsion, fasting in other religions is practically dead. Islam saved this institution by making it obligatory. This seasonal fasting is natural as the world also undergoes such a fasting in particular season of the year. From Falgun to Baisakh in India, the earth is dried up by God but He gives it food after that period. Thus the drying up of the body is also required in some particular time of the year. For these reasons, fasting has reached perfection in Islam.

(c) Results obtained by fasting. (1) As already stated, fasting brings passions under control. Passion is the root of all evils, and this can be regulated by the method of fasting. In case of excessive food and drink, it rises its head and commits tremendous havoc in the spiritual world. It is a natural law that the more is the physical weakness of the body, the more is the weakness of passion. For example, a man having a strong urge of sexual passion is ordered to fast—27:3. Daily practice of such fast with a little quantity of food taken at regular intervals will completely annihilate the sexul urge. Similar is the case with other evil tendencies. The Almighty Allah created man and his passions. He knows the best medicines for passions and therefore he has prescribed fasting. Our fasting does not profit God, nor does our eating; but when in His wisdom, He decreed fast, He did it that we may be given health of body and soul.

(ii) It makes the soul shining. Fasting invigorates the soul and enlivens it from its lethargic state, while excessive eating makes it blind and dark just as excessive water destroys crops. Excessive eating makes a man dull and stupid and deprives a man from the power of thinking. A hungry belly is, however, a fountain of wisdom. This has been the experience of many pious divines.

(iii) Fasting gives taste in Prayer. By the practice of fasting, taste in prayer is enjoyed. A full belly can never taste the sweetness of prayers and invocations. His prayer ends only in tounge and does not enter heart which is full with food.

(iv) Fasting removes false sense of prestige. It removes pride because a hungry man finds himself weak and naturally turns towards One who is strong. Hunger thus makes a man modest and turns the mind towards the Almighty for help.

(v) It saves time and trouble. Fasting reduces the period of sleep and thus a great deal of time is saved for works. Excessive eating keeps a man engaged very often in taking food and responding to the frequent calls of nature while this time can be saved by fasting.

(vi) Fasting saves money. Fasting saves expenditures and thus helps economy. This is no less useful to a worldly man having small means.

(vii) It greatly contributes to the preservation of health. Health improves a great deal by fasting. The great American-physician Dr. Dewey said: 'Take the food away from a sick man's stomach, and then you have begun to starve not the sick man but the disease. The digestive organs are given some rest to work with redoubled energy and vigour just as a land which was left without cultivation for one year brings abundant crops in the year following, or just as a man can work with redoubled vigour after some rest. Spiritual progress depends on healthy mind which again depends on healthy body. Therefore the value of fasting for preservation of health is very great.

(viii) Fasting teaches democracy. It teaches democracy which is not even witnessed in prayer. A king may pray with a beggar in the mosque but at home he may lead quite a different life by taking foods at pleasure and by having sexual relations with women. Fasting, however, places all men, rich and poor, on the same pitiful plight of hunger and does not allow anybody to take food and drink or to have sexual relation in day time.

(ix) Fasting teaches sympathy for the hungry. Fasting is the only thing which gives a sense of pangs of a hungry man in the mind of the rich. Thus this sense enkindles a spirit of kindness to the poor and the distressed. It also gives rise to the thought how the people will fare on the Resurrection Day when they will feel the greatest urge of hunger and thirst.

(x) Fasting teaches moral discipline. Fasting is a training ground for the lesson that man, whatever is his rank and position, is prepared to suffer the greatest privation and the hardest trial. This lesson is learnt from day to day. This practice really contributes to the moral development of man. Fasting accustoms a man to face the hardshihs of life and increases his power of resistance.

(xi) Fasting keeps faith in God a living force. A fasting man can easily satisfy himself by taking food or drink in the inner recesses of his house. There is none to see him if he pours down some drops of water to his thirsty throat but he feels that Allah is near him and so he restrains himself. Thus the existence of Allah is felt closer and closer. This is not for once or twice but regularly for a whole month. In this way, faith in God is kept alive and a new consciousness of a higher life is awakened. For this, the Quran says : Only the patient will be paid back their rewards in full without measure—39:10Q.

(d) Compulsory Fast. In all the principal ordinances of Islam

there are two sides, compulsory and optional. Here we are discussing about the compulsory fast. Farz or compulsory fast comes to pass only in the month of Ramzan. It commences with the new moon of Ramzan and ends with the appearance of the new moon of Shawwal. The Quran says with regard to this compulsory fast: O you who believe! fasting is prescribed for you, as it was prescribed for those before you, so that you may guard against evil, for a fixed number of days, but whoever among you is sick or on a journey, then a like number of other days; and those who are able to do it may redeem it by feeding a poor man. So whoso does good spontaneously, it is good for him; and that you fast is better for you if you know. The month of Ramzan is that in which the Quran was revealed.....; therefore whoso of you is present in the month, he shall fast therein—2: 183 to 185. Eat and drink until the whiteness of the day becomes distinct from the blackness of the night at dawn, then complete the fast till night—2:187. The Quran was revealed in the month of Ramzan and therefore it is fitting that this month should be observed for spiritual training.

Exceptions: In case of inability to fast, there is no compulsion. Those who are ill, or in journey, or those women who are in the course of menstrual discharge, or pregnant, or have suckling children at breast have been exempted from fasting the Ramzan but they are required to keep fast for the equal number of other days.

(e) Expiatory Fast. The following fasts have been enjoined as an expiation for breach of divine commandments.

(i) Two months' successive fasting in case a Muslim killed a Muslim by mistake and the killer has not the means to free a slave (4:92Q).

(ii) Two months' successive fasting when the husband puts away the wife by saying: Thou art to me as the back of my mother (58:3-4Q).

(iii) Three days' fasting as an expiation for breach of an oath (5:89Q).

(iv) Fasting if a Muhrim kills a game (5: 95Q).

(v) Two months' fasting for breach of one fast of Ramzan without lawful excuse.

(f) Compensatory Fast. Fasting has also been recommended for breach of certain minor duties as compensation.

(i) In default of charity or sacrifice of an animal, a Muhrim is required to fast for 3 days for breach of certain duties (2:196Q).

(2) If one breaks the Ihram before Haj though he observed Ihram by combining Umrah ahd Haj together, he is required to fast for three days during the pilgrimage and seven days after the pilgrimage (2:196Q).

(3) In case of breach of a vow, there is fast.

The above fasts assume a binding character on the occurrence of certain circumstances and in default of certain expiations.

2036. Excellence of Fasting.

In this section, there are traditions relating to the virtues and merits which a man gets from God by fasting the month of Ramadhan. In this month, the doors of mercy, forgiveness and kindness are specially opened and the doors of punishment are closed up. So whoso wishes to have these blessings will at once take up to fasting at the advent of this month. God says: It is for Me and I shall certainly compensate it —35:3. The Prophet said: The fragrance of the mouth of a fasting man is more pleasant to Allah than the smell of musk—35:4.

عَنْ اَبِي هُرَيْرَةَ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ اللّٰهِ صلعم اِذَا دَخَلَ رَمَضَانُ فُتِحَتْ اَبْوَابُ السَّمَاءِ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فُتِحَتْ اَبْوَابُ الْجَنَّةِ وَغُلِّقَتْ اَبْوَابُ جَهَنَّمَ وَسُلْسِلَتِ الشَّيَاطِيْنُ وَفِي رِوَايَةٍ فُتِحَتْ اَبْوَابُ الرَّحْمَةِ * (مُتَّفَقٌ عَلَيْهِ)

1. Abu Hurairah reported that the Apostle of Allah said: When Ramzan comes, the doors of heaven are opened, [2036a] (in a narration: The doors of Paradise are opened), and the doors of Hell are shut up, and the devils are put under chains. And in a narration: The doors of mercy are opened. —Agreed.

عَنْ سَهْلِ بْنِ سَعْدٍ قَالَ قَالَ رَسُوْلُ

2. Sahl-b-Sa'ad reported that the Messenger of Allah said: In Paradise, there are eight

---

2036a. Mercy and blessing of Allah descend in Ramzan just as in Paradise; and supplications duly made therein are generally granted. 'The doors of Paradise are opened' means that the people are given in Ramzan the means of carrying on good and pious actions. 'The doors of Hell are shut up' means that those who fast are free from such actions as will lead to Hell, and that minor sins are forgiven. 'The devils are put under chains' means that devilish natures are kept under control owing to self-denial from food, and drink and sexual intercourse.

doors of which there is a door named Rayyan. [2037] None but those who fast will enter it.

—Agreed.

3. Abu Hurairah reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Whoso fasts Ramzan out of faith and hopeful of reward, all his past sins will be forgiven for him; and whoso stands up (in prayer) in Ramzan out of faith and hopeful of reward, all his past sins will be forgiven and whoso stands up (in prayor) at the Blessed Night out of faith and hopeful of reward, all his past sins will be forgiven.

—Agreed.

4. Same reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Every good action of the son of Adam shall be multiplied to ten times like it up to seven hundred times. The Almighty Allah said: Except-fasting, [2038] because it is for Me, and I shall Myself compensate it. He gives up his passions and food for Me. For a fasting man, there are two rejoicings, one rejoicing at the time of his breaking fast, and one at the time of meeting his 2037. Similar sense has been expressed in tradition 8:1. Therein it has been stated that fasting men will enter Paradise by the door of Rayyan.

2038. Merits of fasting are manifold and can not be counted in numbers. This is for two reasons. Sincerity of purpose in fasting is greater than all other divine acts as it is a secret worship done absolutely for Allah. Secondly, it is a great medicine for human passions and evil tendencies. A virtue can increase up to 700 virtues just as a paddy-seed can grow up to 700 paddy seeds.

2041. Sight of new moon.

A lunar month consists of 29 or 30 days. According to this calculation, a lunar year is less than nearly 12 days of a solar year. Hence the month of Ramzan rotates in every season and comes back to its starting point during the course of nearly 29 or 30 years. The people of every climate gets advantages by that. If the moon is visible on the 29th Sha'ban, the Ramazan begins on the following day. If not, from the day following the 30th day of Sha'ban. This is the case with the I'd day.

8. Ibn Omar reported that the Messenger of Allah said: Don't fast until you see the new moon: and don't break it until you see it. If then there is cloud over you, count in full. In a narration, he said: The month is of twenty nine nights. So don't fast until you see it; if then there is cloud over you, wait and complete the number thirty. —Agreed.

2042. Fasting on the previous day of Ramazan is generally disallowed. There is an exception in the case of a man who is accustomed to fasting on that day. If a man habitually fasts on Zumma-day which accidentally coincides with the previous day of Ramazan, he is allowed to fast that day. This is however said to be Makruh.

2043. The Holy Prophet told it out of compassion for his followers, as by too much fasting a man may lose his health. If however a man is capable of keeping fast, he is not prohibited as the Prophet is said to have kept fast throughout the month of Shaban (65:16)

He said : O Bilal ! proclaim among men that they should keep fast tomorrow. [2045] —Abu Daud, Tirmizi, Nisa,i Ibn Majah.

2044. Father of Qasem is the Prophet himself. This doubt refers to the fasting of the day which has not been proved to be the 1st Ramazan owing to the absence of the new moon from general view. If there is no cloud and nobody sees the moon, there is no doubt that the day is not first Ramazan. Doubt occurs in the opposite case.
